Warehouse Spokesman Ties $500,000 Fire To Labor Dispute Against I-J

A three-alarm fire, which investigators say was deliberately set, destroyed over a million pounds of newsprint — some destined for the Independent-Journal — and several trucks and trailers at a San Jose warehouse today.

A spokesman for Garden City Transportation Co., whose warehouse was leveled by the fire, linked the blaze to San Francisco Typographical Union 21's strike against the I-J, and I-J publisher Wishard A. Brown today announced a $5,000 reward would be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arsonists.

The San Jose fire was the eighth case of suspected arson since April to be linked to the typographical union's strike against I-J.

Ralph Dequine, operations manager for Garden City, estimated damage at $500,000. The firm was firebombed last May and has been vandalized by stinkbombs and tire slashing in the last few weeks, Dequine said.

A federal court injunction was issued in February ordering the typographical union to cease picketing a San Francisco pier where Garden City picked up shipments of newsprint bound for Northern California newspapers, including the I-J.

In asking for the injunction, the National Labor Relations Board said that typographical union pickets had solicited Garden City truck drivers to refuse to transport the newsprint.

Firemen fought the blaze for nearly two hours before bringing it under control, and they remained on the scene throughout the day as giant rolls of newsprint continued to smoulder.

A witness said the frame warehouse "was completely gone." The corrugated steel roof had collapsed, delaying arson investigation, Inspector F. Michael Devitt of the San Jose Fire Department said.

But "it was an arson set fire," Devitt said flatly.

He said the building had been checked at 3:15 a.m. by a security guard who found everything in order.

Fifteen minutes later, the entire building was in flames when the alarm was turned in

FROM PASSIVE STREAM TO 'CONCREEK'

"Concreek" is what College of Marin students have labeled it, but Kentfield homeowners adjacent Corte Madera Creek consider the flood control work a blessing. All that remains to be done is some minor brushing up to be completed Wednesday. Prior to construction of the new concrete channel, the creek most winters turned into a raging torrent, often spilling its banks and flooding adjacent homes. Before and after photos above show the creek as viewed south from the Lagunitas Road Bridge in Ross (top left and right) and south from the pedestrian footbridge at the center of the College of Marin (lower left and right.)

$25 Million Bus, Ferry System Plan

Golden Gate Bridge Board Votes Compromise Proposal

Approval came in a series of near-unanimous votes with virtually no dissent. The board had been bitterly divided between bus and ferry advocates for almost two years, with neither side able to get its way, until today's compromise.

The system will include $9.3 million for 152 buses linking communities from Sausalito to Santa Rosa with San Francisco. Up to 15.3 million will be spent on four high-speed ferryboats to serve Central Marin and Sausalito.

Funds for the system are to come in part from district reserves, expected to total about $11.5 million by the end of this fiscal year. The remainder, about $13 million, is expected to come from federal grants and additional bridge revenue by the time the two systems are in full operation.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring said the Central Marin ferry service could be opened in 1972. The bus system will take about eight months to get started, he said.

Three of the four vessels will serve the Central Marin terminal, with the fourth supplementing present Sausalito service.

The three serving Central Marin will be 165 feet long, carry 636 passengers and cruise at 25 knots. No decision was made on what type of vessel will be added to the Sausalito service.

The board action included a request to the district staff to make recommendations on financing, terminals and selection of a naval architect to provide a design and bid specifications for the new vessels.

Philip F. Spaulding, the district's consulting naval architect, drew the plan upon which

Nixon To Condemn San Jose Violence

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

President Nixon responded today to one of the most violent demonstrations by Americans against a president by promising to "take the gloves off" and condemn such actions.

(See related stories, pages 15 and 20.)

Nixon's limousine and other cars in a presidential motorcade were subjected to a barrage of eggs, stones and other missiles as the President left an auditorium Thursday night in San Jose, Calif., after a speech to a Republican rally.

Later the President issued a statement from the Western White House at San Clemente, saying he would "speak to this kind of behavior in a forthright way" at another rally tonight in Anaheim, Calif., near Los Angeles.

In Washington, Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien issued a statement saying "all Americans, regardless of party or political philosophy, must deplore and condemn" the San Jose demonstration.

"President Nixon was correct when he described these violent dissenters as extreme antidemocratic elements of our society," O'Brien said. "The office of President of the United States commands and deserves respect and dignity. These ugly tactics must not be allowed to obscure the real issues in America today."

One missile barely missed Nixon, officials said, and his car was struck by at least one egg. Some windows in other vehicles were smashed and a Secret Service agent suffered a leg injury in a fall from one of the cars. Hundreds of shouting youths took part in the demonstration.

Sen. George Murphy, who was in Nixon's car, said today he is "God damn mad" about the violence President Nixon faced in San Jose.

"This was as vicious a crowd as I've ever seen in my life. I'm ashamed of what has happened in our state," Murphy told newsmen in Anaheim after flying with Nixon aboard Air Force One from San Jose to El Toro Marine Corps Air Station.

The 68-year-old senator, his Irish temper up, branded the demonstrators "wild-eyed, tough, angry revolutionaries" and said "I think the ringleaders ought to be identified and isolated."

"I just think it's shocking. I'm God damn mad about it. I mean to tell you I'm so mad and angry at what the President of the United States was subjected to," Murphy said.

Aides compared the San Jose incident with the attack by a

Biking Path Bottleneck Is Solved

A major bottleneck in Marin County's bicycle path system, at Waldo Point, is being unsnarled by a lease-contract agreement with the railroads, the county director of parks and recreation announced today.

Pierre W. Joske said that a contract is being drafter with the Southern Pacific Railroad for a lease of a 10-foot strip on the bay side of the tracks. A six-foot bicycle pavement will be installed from the Sausalito Bait Shop to Richardson Bay Bridge, with a four-foot fence between the path and the tracks.

With this bottleneck eliminated, cyclists will be able to pedal all the way from Golden Gate Bridge to Sonoma County, although the bike path will not parallel Highway 101 all the way. For example, at Pachero Hill between Miller Creek Road and Nave Drive, the cyclist must use bypass roads through Marinwood to get over the hill.

The Marin Municipal Water District yesterday hiked the lease rate for the Meadow Club by 1,650 per cent and gave notice that leases with two hunting clubs will not be renewed. (Another water district story, page 38.)

The rate hike from $480 per year to $8,400 ended a seven-month controversy over the rental price of the 162 acres of water district land leased to the private golf club.

Facing more drastic action from the board are the Big Trees Hunting Camp and the Redwood Gun Club.

Big Trees Camp near Kent Lake leases 5,000 of the district's 17,000 acres for $625 per year and Redwood leases 850 acres near White's Hill for $350 per year, but board members indicated the one-year agreements will be allowed to lapse.

They asked Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger to inform them at the next meeting the date the leases will expire.

Board president Robert G. Anderson who recommenedd the move, said, "My opinion is that when the county had a 40,000 population, something like this could be accepted."

However, given the existing population, he said there remains no justification for barring the public from the land. He also cited a danger of accidental shootings.

Directors Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. and William A. Marcus voiced support for the move and Director John M. MacPhail suggested studying the district's lease agreements with conservation camps as well.

Dr. Leo L. Stanley took no stance on the issue, but director-elect Eugene A. Miller said, "I think that's most certainly the way the water district should go."

Although the Meadow Club lease terms were passed almost without comment yesterday, those terms had been the subject of two appraisals and five months of discussion and public criticism.

Alterations in the 44-year-old lease which runs until the year 2000 provide that the lease price will fluctuate in accord with the assessor's market value of the golf club land and allow the district to review the contract every 10 years.

Mideast Cease-Fire Extension Proposed

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— The United States has proposed the Middle East cease-fire which expires a week from today be extended another 90 days. The Soviet Union claimed the proposal had "no significance."

U.S. ambassador to the United Nations Charles W. Yost made the request for a cease-fire extension in the U.N. General Assembly Middle East debate Thursday. The discussions continued for the fifth day today.

In his resolution Yost also proposed the General Assembly help restore the confidence between Israel and Egypt necessary for resumption of the Middle East peace talks. "We want serious discussions which will permit rapid progress toward a settlement," Yost said. "We pledge ourselves to do everything possiblee to help get such talks started and to promote their successful conclusion."

Soviet Ambassador to the U.N. Jacob A. Malik said that when Yost had brought up the proposal at a meeting of the Big Four ambassadors "I said that ony such unilateral prolosals, if not supported by the four participants in the consultations, would have no significance. If there was no support it would just hang in the empty air."

Only hours before Yost introduced the resolution, the Soviet Union and Britain also called for an extension of the cease-fire. They made the request in a joint communique issued following a visit of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to London.

France criticized the United States for not getting endorsement of the United Notions or of the Big Four powers for the cease-fire and standstill agreement it negotiated last August between Israel and Egypt.

French Ambassador Jacques Kosciusko-Morizet told the Assembly:

"Neither the four nor the Security Council nor the United Nations have ever had to take cognizance of this cease-fire, of these arrangements which, w are told, have been violated and it is deeply regrettable. There lies the basic error.

"A cease-fire, a halt of military preparations under the guarantee of the four acting within the framework of the Security Council, would have had a completely different value."

He said he deplored any failures of the cease-fire but "it

Note To Dobrynin: Release Generals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, underscoring a deterioration in Soviet-American relations, has demanded in a formal note that Moscow promptly release two U.S. Army generals it has held since Oct. 21.

The protest accused the Soviets of the first violation of a two-year-old consular agreement between the two countries. It pointed out the pact provides that a consul must have access to accused no more than four days after they are detained and that an American representative was not allowed to see the U.S. officers until they had been held five days.

The Soviets are holding in Soviet Armenia three American officers and a Turk whose light plane crossed the Turkish border and flew over Soviet territory. They were inspecting Turkish military installations along the frontier at the time. They said their aircraft was blown off course by a "freak gust of wind."

Dobrynin said after the State Department meeting the officers "might" be released but that this depended upon the outcome of a Soviet investigation. The Soviets earlier had protested a violation of their air space, saying the flight of the plane over their territory was a "hostile act" that illustrated increased U.S. activity in the region.

"It is better that (the) generals stay where they belong," Dobrynin told reporters. "The general consensus is that is better not to let this happen again."

The U.S. note said there was "no justification for any further delay by the Soviet Union."

The incident has demonstrated increased tension between Washington and Moscow that has included disputes over Soviet support of Egypt in the Middle East crisis and Soviet naval activity in Cuba.

The United States has requested permission to send a consular officer to visit the officers again Nov. 2. They are being held at Lenianakan in Soviet Armenia, which is about 20 miles from Kars, Turkey, the destination of their small U8 plane. Their quarters have been described as a "comfortable" guest house.

WHAT'S THE FUSS — Eighteen-month-old Tobias Duenzl, held by sheriff's deputy Bob Rosa, was too tuckered out for an interview yesterday after his hairbreadth rescue. The youngster was found hanging precariously from a 300-foot cliff overhanging the Pacific near Salinas in Monterey County. (UPI Telephoto)

Baby Rescued After Hanging From Cliff

CARMEL, Calif. (UPI)—Beth Foley was in her home near a cliff jutting over the Pacific Thursday when she heard something that sounded like a baby crying.

She went outside and the sounds became louder as she neared the cliff. Then she saw what it was.

"It was a sheer drop," Miss Foley said. "I was terrified I might scare him so I worked my way slowly towards him. Somehow he scrambled towards me."

Sheriff's deputies, who picked the blond lad up from Miss Foley and took him to the county hospital, first speculated he had been abandoned.

But the baby's distraught mother, Peggy-Jean Duenzl, 23, called the sheriff's office several hours after the rescue. She told officers she had been staying with friends in the area and her son had wandered away.

Mrs. Duenzl said she had been searching for the baby since 6 a.m. The child was found about 8 a.m. about a quarter of a mile from where his mother was staying.

Miss Foley, an employe of the Monterey County antipoverty council's family planning program, said she gave Tobias a bath after she pulled him from the cliff.

"He was happy and gurgling," she said, "but his vocabulary is limited to 'da-da' and things like that."

Campaign Buttons Come From Greece

OAKVILLE, Conn. (UPI) — The use of campaign buttons in elections has a tradition dating back to the age of Pericles when ancient Greeks painted their fingernails bright colors to attract followers to their cause.

So say researchers at the Scovill Manufacturing Co., which makes the P-shaped pin found in every campaign button. The buttons were first used in America by Andrew Jackson's followers in the 1828 election, the researchers say.

Frazier Is Arraigned; Media Hit

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)—A superior court judge, citing widespread coverage which he said contained some incorrect information, has imposed stringent pretrial rules in the case of a young man accused of slaying of five persons at a fashionable hilltop mansion.

Judge Charles Franich ordered all parties, including the defense, Thursday not to discuss the case of John Linley Frazier, 24, who was arraigned on murder charges in the heavily guarded courtroom.

INDICTMENT CHARGES

Frazier was indicted Wednesday in the slayings of Dr. Victor Ohta, 74; his wife, Virginia, 43; his sons, Derrick, 12; and Taggart, 11, and his secretary, Mrs. Virginia Cadwallader, 38, on Oct. 19.

Frazier has been ordered to make a formal plea in the case Nov. 16, the same day the defense is to receive a transcript of the grand jury's deliberations. Frenich said the news media would not be given copies of the transcript, however.

Franich said he regretted "the necessity of imposing the silence order on attorneys and principals." But he pointed to "extensive local, statewide and national coverage by the mass media" as a reason for the order.

'I have received reliable information that in at least two instances, the press made statements that are incorrect and could be prejudicial to the defendant," Franich added.

"LEGALLY SUFFICIENT"

District Attorney Peter Chang, when asked if the grand jury vote was unanimous, said it was "legally sufficient."

Ohta and the other victims were found bound, shot and dumped into the swimming pool at the doctor's $300,000 home which had been set on fire. Frazier was arrested four days later in his small shack within a mile from the Ohta residence.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Violent Outbreak

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops fired water cannon and nausea gas volleys today during a sharp increase in Roman Catholic-Protestant violence. Bomb attacks damaged a police station and an office of Aer Lingus, the Irish republic airline.

A British army spokesman said the civilian was wounded accidentally when the rifle of a Royal Marine commando went off as his patrol of 41 troops halted in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne area of the city in a hail of stones.

The civilian, whose name was not disclosed, suffered a slight wound and was hospitalized.

Space Dock Plan

WASHINGTON. (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says American and Soviet officials will meet next spring to work out a system to dock spacecraft of the two countries.

A workable system would make it possible for space vehicles of one nation to come to the aid of the other should there be a disaster in space, spokesmen said Thursday.

The two nations agreed to hold further discussions at a meeting in Moscow this week. Arnold W. Frutkin, assistant NASA administrator, described the session as "very straightforward, open and forthright."

Drug Problem Up In U.S. Army

LONG BINH, Vietnam (UPI) —Hospital admissions of U.S. soldiers in Vietnam because of drug abuse were nearly 42 per cent greater during the first nine months of this year than all of last year, the U.S. Army reported today.

The U.S. Army Command in Vietnam said, "The drug abuse problem continues to be a matter of grave concern."

Last year 527 soldiers were admitted to hospitals because of drug abuse, the Army said. Through September of this year, the total was 746 and some 241, or one-third, of this year's total were admitted in August and September.

Viet Cong Letter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators have been told that Bernardine Dohrn, now on the FBI's Most-Wanted List, allegedly received a letter from a Viet Cong woman congratulating her for antiwar activities.

Charles Siragusa, chief investigator of the Illinois Crime Investigating Commission, submitted a letter written by Pham Than Van, a woman on the Viet Cong delegation to the Paris talks, to a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

The letter, dated Jan. 9, 1969, recalled a meeting with Miss Dohrn in Budapest and said: "I do hope you'll always keep high-spirited and continue your work as we are continuing ours until no GI is left in our land. I am looking for the day we can meet again, not in Saigon yet but in another country, France, for example."

SST Said Vital

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—The chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board believes an American supersonic transport is not only economically feasible, but also is vital to the nation's future.

Secor Brown expressed his support for the big plane Thursday at a news conference in Seattle, where the Boeing Co. is awaiting the financial go-ahead from Congress for continued development of the SST. He said that competition and growth in air travel will make supersonic flights common in the future.

"The first time (Najeeb) Halaby (president of Pan American Airways) looks out the window of a 747 and sees a JAL (Japan Air Lines) TU104 streaking by, he's going to have to go out and buy an SST," Brown said.

400,000 Jobless

DETROIT (AI)—The United Auto Workers strike against General Motors Corp. drifted toward the end of its seventh week today with increasing prospects of a jobless Thanksgiving for thousands of workers.

GM and UAW bargainers were to meet again today, with both sides and numerous bystanders feeling the financial pinch. No main table negotiations took place Thursday.

As of late Thursday, 400,013 GM employes out of work and thousands more were laid off in supplying industries. In Pontiac, Mich., home of GM's Pontiac division, the city cut 21 more employes, bringing to 136 the number of jobs cut from July's total of 634.

Agnew On Anarchy

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Thursday the concept of political power residing with the people has been sullied by a handful of anarchists who want to destroy America and rule over its remains.

Agnew, at the end of an extended campaign swing, earlier said the federal government has become too strong and "it's time to reverse this flow of power to Washington."

But he later lamented "how the slogan 'power to the people' has been twisted into a radical rallying cry."

"When the radicals scream this slogan, they don't mean it as you mean it, or as I mean it," he told a GOP fund-raising dinner in Wichita. "Instead they are thinking of ways of placing that power in the hands of an elite. They want to smash the system, and they want to rule over the shattered remains."

ANGRY MOB PELTS NIXON'S LIMOUSINE IN SAN JOSE

In what has been described as the largest and noisiest anti-Nixon protest since he has become President, angry fists are waved behind a police cordon and a placard is thrown at the presidential limousine. The action came last night as President Nixon, accompanied by Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. George Murphy left the San Jose Civic Auditorium following Nixon's political speech in support of reelection of Murphy. Following the speech, Nixon boarded Air Force One for a flight to his San Clemente White House. (See story, page 1.)

They Made A Federal Case Out Of It

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Alfred E. Fuller of Santa Rosa only wanted the California Physician's Service to pay what he says is a $3.20 debt, but now he finds himself with a federal case on his hands. Fuller, 71, a retired insurance executive and Medicare patient, believes the CPS owes him $3.20 for visits he made to his internist. After three unsuccessful letter requests for payment, Fuller filed suit for the disputed $3.20 in the Small Claims Court in Santa Rosa.

Shortly after he filed the suit, Fuller received a big envelope with 20 pages of legal documents telling him that his claim had been transferred into U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

If Fuller wants to continue his pursuit of that $3.20, he will have to appear today before Chief Judge Oliver J. Carter.

In addition, Fuller was told that the U. S. government wants the case dismissed, arguing the government has not consented to be sued.

Fuller didn't intend for his Small Claims Court suit to wind up in Federal court. But since the CPS administers the Federal Medicare Program on behalf of the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, who is an agent of the government, Fuller has sued the government.

Faced with arguing his case in Federal court, Fuller said, "This is sort of a Charlie Brown situation. I'm like the person who signs up for a Little League team and then learns that in my first game I'm supposed to pitch in the World Series.'

Turkish Chief Hopes Relations Not Ruined

ANKARA (UPI)—President Cevdet Sunay, in a message to the Soviet Union, expressed the hope today that two hijackings to Turkey of Russian planes in the past two weeks would not damage good neighborly relations between the two nations.

Sunay's message shrugged off a Soviet demand for the extradition of two Lithuanians who shot a stewardess to death while hijacking an Aeroflot AN24.

"The incident is under the consideration of Turkish judicial authorities and the government has no right to interfere," Sunay's message to President Nikolai V. Podgorny said.

The Soviet Embassy had applied for permission immediately after the aircraft landed. Diplomatic sources said the Turks withheld permission until the Soviet Union, in return, granted permission for Turkish diplomats to visit their colonel held with two U.S. generals and a Major in the Soviet Union after straying accidentally across the border in a light aircraft.

In his message to Podgorny, Sunay said, "I sincerely hope that such incidents (hijackings) will not damage good neighborly relations between Turkey and the Soviet Union that have been built by great efforts."

Press Center Operator Dies

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Jay Vessels, the Army major who operated the famous press center for war correspondents in Africa, Italy and France during World War II, died Thursday. He was 73.

Vessels, a close friend of Ernie Pyle and many other American war correspondents, had been hospitalized since Oct. 1.

A native of Owensboro, Ky., Vessels attended Sioux Falls, S.D., High School and the University of Minnesota.

Vessels was in charge of the press camp during World War II, supplying the war correspondents with transportation, living quarters and news connections.

Eight-Year-Old Boy Found On LSD Trip

BERKELEY (UPI) — Police say they discovered an 8-year-old boy on a screaming, shouting "bad trip," who told them he has taken LSD on five occasions.

After the youngster was discovered Tuesday, he was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital for observation. Doctors said he went into a state of terror, shook violently and breathed in gasps. They said his pulse rate jumped to 120.

The boy is now being held in juvenile hall while authorities are conducting an investigation of his family.

According to police, the boy has three brothers — all under 12 — and roams the streets without supervision. The children live with their 29-year-old mother in a basement apartment she shares wih two men associated with a taxicab company, police said.

Officers arrested Richard Flett Acree, 20, Wednesday on charges of furnishing a dangerous drug. Acree denied having given the boy an LSD tablet.

This Might Help In Voting Booth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A tip to those with bifocals who have trouble reading listings at the top of voting machines: wear your glasses upside down.

This helpful hint came Friday from Nelson H. Cruickshank, president of the National Council of Senior Citizens and himself a bifocals-wearer.

"Putting bifocal glasses on upside down makes it easy to look upward through the near vision portion of bifocals," he said in a statement.

Shelley Has Hip Surgery; Doing Well

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ex-Mayor John F. Shelley was reported doing "very well" at St. Mary's Hospital, where he is recovering from hip surgery.

Shelley, 65, underwent surgery early Thursday on a condition which had forced him to walk with the aid of a cane for more than a year.

BEFORE YOU VOTE ON MEASURE H
(RUSSIAN RIVER WATER BOND)
PLEASE CONSIDER THESE FACTS:

1. The Marin Municipal Water District (MMWD) claims that water from the Russian River will be added to our water supply. The fact is that for every drop of Russian River water delivered, MMWD may be required to deliver an equal amount of MMWD water from its Nicasio Reservoir to portions of West Marin located in the North Marin County Water District.
2. Increased availability of water in West Marin will cause it to become blighted by suburban sprawl.
3. Increased land values may jeopardize the completion of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore in the dimensions originally proposed.
4. Tremendous ecological damage may occur in the Russian River Basin if the long range plans to build 20 dams in that area are completed.
5. Only a small portion of the Russian River Aqueduct will be constructed with the proceeds of this bond issue you will be irrevocably "committed" to finish a project which will cost in excess of $30,000,000.
6. Massive increases in utility services encourage and promote massive urban and suburban development with all their accompanying problems, i.e., increased auto congestion, smog, crime, higher insurance rates and taxes, overcrowding, and water pollution.

Conservation practices such as recycling of waste water and desalinization of sea water should be used to augment local water supplies before water is imported from great distances.

Sporadic Boycott Continues In Marin

The sporadic boycott of Marin County by labor unions sympathetic to striking San Francisco Typographical Union 21 entered its 22nd day today with pickets at one store masquerading as aggrieved workers from Redding.

As the boycott continued, commercial carriers again today reported drivers being stopped and told to get out of Marin.

For Montgomery Ward and Co. in Corte Madera, it was the fourth day of picketing by workers carry ing signs proclaiming them to be members of Retail Clerks Union Local 1364 of Redding. Most of the pickets, however, were identified as members of San Francioco Typographical Union 21, on strike against the Independent-Journal since Jan. 7.

The strike in Redding, according to Montgomery Ward spokesmen, involves the union's rejection of the store's request that student part-time employees working less than 15 hours per week not have to join the retail clerks union. The company argues union membership, with its initiation fees and dues, would make part-time help unattractive to students and others.

Montgomery Ward's Redding store is the only one with a contract with the retail clerks union, according to management, which said that the Corte Madera store is the only other being picketed in the company's 89-store Western Region. A Chico store was briefly picketed last week.

Donald W. Gillis, manager of the Corte Madera store, said the tire service section as well as the main store was being picketed.

Pickets were carrying signs stating that they were acting with the sanction of Teamster Joint Councils 7 and 38, repreeenting the San Francisco Bay Area and the Redding Area respectively.

The Montgomery Ward store in Corte Madera said several trucks were stopped today from delivering goods at the main store and one at the tire service center.

The manager said the trucks were stopped by the same pickets, who had claimed to be teamsters whi'e stopping deliveries since the sympathy boycott began.

Elsewhere, a driver for Alltrans Express of California was reportedly told to get out of Marin by a man in an auto. A spokesman for the firm said his driver eluded the man and continued on h's deliveries.

Since the boycott of Marin began Oct. 8, many stores have been receiving only sporadic deliveries.

Supermarkets and large chain stores such as Disco, Safeway, Wards, Lucky Store and Marin markets such as Petrini's have been affected.

However, since Tuesday, the Corte Madera Montgomery Ward store has been the focal point of union activity.

Four unions, including the teamsters and typographical unions, were cited last week by the National Labor Relations Board in a petition charging criminal and civil contempt of court by the unions for illegal secondary boycott activity aimed at forcing neutral employers to cease doing business with the Independent-Journal.

Such boycotts have been enjoined by an order handed down by the U. S. District Court in June.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

'Privileged' Information

What you tell your psychiatrist is "privileged." No court order can make him report what you told him without your permission. The right to keep those talks confidential is yours, the patient's not the psychiatrist's.

If you yourself break that confidence or do not claim the privilege, a court may then order the psychiatrist to testify.

If the patient himself makes his mental condition an issue in a law suit, then the court may order his psychiatrist to testify if the other side wants him to. But what if the psychiatrist nevertheless refuses to testimy!

Take Pete. He sued Matt Muscle for physical harm, pain, and emotional distress. In his defense Matt tried to show that Pete was unbalanced and prone to exaggerate his suffering. To this end Matt has the court order Pete's psychiatrist's records but the psychiatrist would not testify or release his records.

The court then ordered the psychiatrist to testify. When he refused, the court jailed him for contempt of court. The doctor claimed his records were private, and their disclosure would undermine the public confidence in the psychiatric profession, and thereby impair their ability to help people.

Besides, the psychiatrist said, no clergyman had to disclose confessions. To give a clergyman that privilege and not to a psychiatrist would be to deny him the equal protection of the law.

Still, the court could order the psychiatrist to testify if the testimony is relevant. It is up to the Legislature, not the courts, to exempt any group from obeying such a court order.

The law protects husband and wife confidences, but not if one of them defrauds or sues the other, for example, for abusing their children.

Attorney and client relations are privileged; but not always, for example, not if the client wants his lawyer to tell him how to commit a crime or how to escape prosecution. (Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Cologne Police Use Subterfuge To Lick Gangs

COLOGNE, GERMANY — Reputed to be the "Chicago of West Europe" just 10 years ago, Cologne is on the wane as a center of gangsterism —thanks to the foxy tactics of its criminal police. The city's crime rate has fallen so rapidly in recent years, that Cologne now ranks way back in eighth place among Europe's wildest and wooliest metropoles.

The Cologne police force has achieved its success by literally outfoxing the foxes. Their Pandora's box of surprises has called for a lot of acting talent.

Undercover agents, in an old ruse, have spread into the city's underworld dives to become gang members and expose rackets, plans and names.

In another scheme, the police have used phony messages over their communications system to lull gangsters about to be captured into a false sense of security. Cologne police have also devised a number of gimmicks to catch burglars off balance.

Cologne's gangsters are slowly concluding the city's getting too hot for comfort. Many have already pulled up stakes and moved on. Others are now behind bars.

HAROLD ALLISON
'Not happy' as principal

Principal Harold Allison To Resign

Harold Allison, principal at Sir Francis Drake High School, said today he will resign the post he has held for 17 ears.

He announced his plans to the school's faculty this morning, according to Edward J. Neumeier, adminstrative assistant for the Tamalpais High School District.

Allison gave no specific reason except that "he was not happy being principal any more." He said he would give district trustees a letter Monday, asking reassignment in the district after next June, Neumeier said. Allison said he would remain as principal until the end of the school year.

Allison was the second principal in Drake High's history. He was assistant principal for the school when it opened in 1951, and took over the top job in 1953.

Allison, who resides at 111 Marinda Drive, Fairfax, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the University of California at Berkeley. He returned to Tamalpais High in 1942 as a mathematics and science teacher.

After three years' service during World War II as a Navy officer, he returned to Tamalpais High as teacher and counselor, moving to Drake when it opened.

remains an illusion to believe that, in such an explosive situation, one country, or even two, however powerful, could be a guarantee."

Yost also denied Egyptian charges the United States was pouring arms into Israel to enable the Israelis to keep the occupied territories. He said the United States sought on several occasions to persuade Moscow to slow down arms shipments to the Arabe but was rebuffed.

He said the United States finally stepped up aid to Israel because of the Egyptian buildup of Soviet-made missiles in the Suez Canal cease-fire zone.

"We considered ourselves obliged, in view of the violations and the shifting military balance, to provide some additional arms to Israel," Yost told the U.N. "We continue to favor restraint but restraint cannot be one-sided."

The Americon resolution did not specifically call for the pullback of missiles moved into the Suez standstill zone.

In the Middle East, Arab guerrillas and Jordanian troops fought with heavy machineguns in downtown Amman Thursday, killing two persons. Egypt accused the new Jordanian premier, sworn in less than 24 hours before the fighting, with instigating last month's civil war.

The fighting with 50 caliber machineguns continued for 20 minutes and according to Palestinian sources one guerrilla and one Jordanian security man were killed.

The fresh fighting came after King Hussein named a new 17-man cabinet headed by Wasfi Tel, a veteran politician knows for his toughness and rightist views.

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said Tel was the "real power" behind the military cabinet of Brig. Mohamed Daoud, whose appointment touched off the civil war. It said Tel also was the "moving power" behind the cabinet of Ahmed Toukan which took office after Daoud resigned.

Al Ahram reported that President Anwar Sadat had recalled its ambassador from Jordan, Osman Nouri, for consultations. Such a recall is sometimes used to show a government's displeasure. Nouri conferred Thursday in Amman with King Hussein on the new premier.

the ferry system will be modeled and he is expected to be selected to design the new vessels.

Objecting to the ferry action today was Director Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco, who argued that Spaulding's recommendations should be evaluated by a second expert.

The action on the buses included authorization to staff to negotiate with Greyhound Lines to lease 20 buses built since 1965. Voting on the bus transactions was unanimous.

Parliamentarians Of Bonn, Moscow May Have Talks

BONN, GERMAN Y — Moscow and Bonn are eying the possibility of formal, bilateral contacts between parliamentary deputies of the two capitals. This was the substance of recent talks in the German capital between Bundestag Presiden Kai Uwe von Hassel and Jurij Schukov, emissary of Moscow's parliamentary body, the Supreme Soviet. The two men met in Bonn.

In the West German capital, prospects are held good for a formal agreement on the contacts within the next few months.

Based on the Bonn talks, the contacts would not be limited to deputies of Bonn's present ruling coalition of Social and Free Democrats.

mob on Nixon in Caracas, Venezuela, in 1958 when he was Vice President.

"This was no outburst by a single individual," Nixon said in a statement issued on his arrival here at the Western White House. "This was the action of an unruly mob that represents the worst in America."

White house aides and guests of the President riding in a bus behind his limousine huddled in seats and aisles as rocks and bottles smashed four windows. Newsmen in another bus were splattered with glass from five smashed windows.

One youth whipped a large belt form his waist and lashed the top of a car containing H. R. Haldeman, Nixon's chief of staff.

"It was just like Caracas," said Rose Mary Woods, the President's long-time personal secretary, who was sitting nest to one of the smashed windows.

"I have been careful to point out that these are the actions of a violent few. It is important that all Americans keep this perspective," the President said.

"But the time has come to take the gloves off and speak to this kind of behavior in a forthright way. Freedom of speech and freedom of assembly cannot exist when people who peacefully attend rallies are attacked with flying rocks.

"Tonight at Anaheim I will discuss what America must do to end the wave of violence and terrorism by the radical, antidemocratic elements in our society."

Nixon was campaigning for Murphy, who is said to be running behind Rep. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., in his bid for reelection. Pollster Mervin D. Field said today his latest survey showed Tunney with a lead of 48 per cent to 41 per cent.

Nixon's younger daughter, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, in Harrisburg, Pa., where she was appearing for the Republican gubernatorial candidate in Pennsylvania, labeled the attack on her father's car as "the lowest of the low."

Boy, 9, Is Victim Of Gang Slaying

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A 9-year-old boy was shot to death in what police said was an execution-style teen-age gang slaying on the pavement sidewalk outside a schoolyard-playground Thursday night.

"They just ran up to the boy and shot him," said Detective Edward Kessner of the homicide squad.

"We don't know why they picked out this kid. We don't have him listed as a gang member," Kessner said. The police department here keeps lists of all known gang members.

Members of the 21st and Norris Street gang were sought in the slaying. Kessner said the killers "went into the area of the 25th and Diamond Gang" where the victim was standing on the pavement talking with some other boys.

"When they saw the 21st and Norris Street gang members all these kids ran. This kid started to run too but they ran up and got him before he could get away," Kessner said.

Wheeler is not the youngest gang war victim here. Last summer Antoinette Williams 7, was hit by a bullet between the eyes when she was caught in the crossfire of two warring gangs as she sat on the front steps of her home, coloring in her coloring book.

A city hall rally was held here Wednesday to call attention to gang deaths, which then numbered 62 in the last 18 months.

Within an hour after the rally there was another death, a 15-year-old boy.

Soviets Seeking Berlin Settlement

FRANKFURT, Germany (API)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko paid a seven-hour visit to West Germany Friday and left the impression the Soviet Union wants a "positive result" from current negotiations on the Berlin issue.

Gromyko's visit, the first made to West Germany by a Soviet foreign minister since World War II, followed up talks he held with Communist East German leaders in East Berlin Thursday.

OBITUARIES

Rites Set For Michael L. Owens

Outdoor memorial service for Michael L. Owens will be held on the Marin coast, adjacent to Point Reyes National Seashore at noon Sunday.

Owens, 19, died Monday in a fall from a cliff at Pinnacle National Monument, San Benito County, while on a camping trip with two friends. He was a College of Marin student, living at 4 College Court, Larkspur.

Born in Fall River Mills, Shasta County, Owens lived 13 years in Marin County. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Cynthia Baker Dickson of the home in Larkspur, and his father, Louis L. Owens of Redding; two sisters, Judith Knight and Rebecca Owens and a half-brother, James Dickson of Larkspur.

Friends may call the family for exact location of the memorial service. The ashes will be scattered.

FLOYD VINCENT

Word has been received in Marin of the death of Floyd R. Vincent, 47, of Clarkston, Mich., a native of San Rafael who attended San Rafael High School.

Vincent, brother of Lela Pelkey of San Rafael, died Oct. 17 in a Clarkston hospital after a long illness.

After graduation from San Rafael High School, Vincent served in the Navy during World War II and took a bachelors degree in accounting and law from Ferris Institute in Big Rapids, Mich.

He also earned a master's degree in marketing and economics and worked in the field accounting section of General Motors Truck and Coach before going to work for Clarkston Community Schools in 1954.

He first taught in the school district, then became administrative assistant to the superintendent.

Vincent had served on the Independence Township Planning Commission for three years. He was also a member of the Central United Methodist Church and the Pontiac Elks Club 810, both in Michigan.

Also surviving are his wife, Barbara; two sons, John and David Vincent, and two daughters, Julie and Lisa Vincent, all of the family home.

Burial was in Ottawa Park Cemetery in Clarkston.

HELEN ROBERTS

Helen Roberts, mother of William G. Roberts of San Rafael, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 74.

Born in San Francisco, she lived there until moving to Marin last year.

She was a retired secretary.

Also surviving are a daughter, Helen Krause of San Francisco, and six grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at N. Gray and Co. Divisadero and Post streets, San Francisco, followed by inurnment at Woodlawn Memorial Park, Colma.

HERBERT SIMON

Herbert Simon, maitre d'hotel in several of San Franciscos' major restaurants from 1926 until his retirement eight years ago, died yesterday in San Rafael. A native of Germany, he was 84. He had lived in Marin County for seven years.

During his long career, he officiated over dining rooms of the Palace Hotel, Olympic Club and at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel. His family recalled that when the Drake opened, Simon wore Elizabethan garb and was depicted as Sir Francis Drake in advertisements announcing the opening.

Simon, who lived at 260 Merrydale Road, is survived by his wife, Marie Simon of the home; a daughter, Marion R. Maginnis of Terra Linda, principal of a San Francisco school; two sons, Howard Simon, director of art for San Francisco city schools, and Herbert R. Simon of Alexandria, Va., dean of the Community College of North Virginia, and a sister, Martha Kurz of New York.

He was a member of the Bartenders and Waiters Union Local No. 30 in San Francisco.

The funeral will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow in Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by private inurnment.

LACY FROCHEN

Funeral for Lacy M. Frochen of Corte Madera will be Monday at 11 a.m. in Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Ms. Frochen, 86, died Wednesday in a local hospital following a long illness.

A native of Missouri, she had lived in California 83 years and 65 years in Marin County, residing at 58 Golden Hinde Passage.

Mrs. Frochen is survived by two sons, Melvin Frochen of Corte Madera and Marvin Frochen of Westwood, Lassen County; seven grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

JEFFREY JOHNSON

Private funeral for Jeffrey K. Johnson of Fairfax will be held tomorrow in the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rfael.

Johnson, 21, a draftsman and former art major at College of Marin, died Wednesday after a two-year battle with leukemia. In April 1969, the Independent-Journal carried a story from the American Cancer Society, reporting that chemotherapy seemed to have halted the disease in the youth.

The family has established a Jeffrey Johnson Memorial Fund, care of the Medical-Cancer Service at Mount Zion Hospital, San Francisco.

Johnson, a native of San Rafael, lived at 54 Creek Road, Fairfax.

He is survived by his parents, Robert A. and Peggy M. Johnson and a brother, Dana D. Johnson, all of Fairfax.

MRS. D'AMICO

Muriel M. D'Amico, a nine-year resident of San Anselmo, died today in Ross General Hospital, where she was admitted yesterday after falling ill in her home. Today was her 48th birthday.

Mrs. D'Amico, who lived at 54 Oakland Avenue, had been ill all day yesterday and was taken to the hospital in the afternoon, according to the Marin coroner's office.

The cause of death was undetermined.

Born in Kearney, Neb., Mrs. D'Amico moved to San Francisco as a child and to San Anselmo in 1961.

She was married to Richard D'Amico in 1951. She worked in a San Francisco bank until 1958.

Also surviving are two sons, Vincent and Guy of the family home; a daughter, Michele Silverman of Fairfax; two sisters, Doris Smith of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Patricia Gray of Hollywood, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

EDNA BARTLETT

Edna Bartlett of Kentfield died yesterday in a local hospital following a long illness. Cause of death has not been determined, according to Coroner's Investigator Keith C. Craig. She was 48.

A native of Hayes, Kan., she had lived in California 25 years and in Marin 12 years, residing at 55 Berens Drive. Her husband, Olen Bartlett, was a co-owner of the former Top Hat Market in Mill Valley and she was employed at the store as a clerk. She was a member of the Retail Food Clerks, Local 1119 of San Rafael.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Bartlett is survived by a daughter, Olenna Dahl of Bakersfield and a son, Robert Bartlett of Chico and three grandchildren.

A Requiem Mass will be offered tomorrow at 9 a.m. in St. Sebastian's Church, Greenbrae. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

EDITH SMITH

Private funeral has been held for Edith Smith, 87, of San Rafael, who had lived for 28 years in Marin County.

Mrs. Smith died Oct. 22 in a local convalescent hospital. She had made her home with her daughter, Hilda Shaw, at 245 Solano Street, San Rafael. She was a member of senior citizens organizations.

Mrs. Smith also is survived by two sons, Frank and George Smith, both of Los Angeles.

Racial Unrest Hits 2 Eastern States

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—All public and parochial schools were closed in Rhode Island's largest city today to prevent further outbreaks of fighting between black students and whites.

Superintendent of Schools Richard C. Briggs, and The Rev. Edward Mullen, head of the city's Catholic school system, announced the closing Thursday.

Briggs said there had been several violent incidents during the past few days and intelligence reports indicated more trouble might be expected. "The possibility, in my judgment, of endangering the safety and welfare of students in school and going to or from school during this time of severe unrest makes it necessary to take this action," he said.

Tension has been high in Providence's 51 public schools since Sunday when a fight broke out during a double feature horror movie in a downtown theater.

Black youths allegedly demanded money and slugged about 20 whites, some of them girls, who were leaving the theater. Seventeen persons, including five policemen, were injured.

Black students refused to attend Thursday classes at Central High School and gathered in front of the building while officials said a gang of white students threw rocks and allegedly tried to club a group of blacks outside the school Thursday afternoon.

In Trenton, N.J., all traffic was banned from the streets of this capital city in a dusk-to-dawn curfew imposed because of mounting racial tension over school busing.

Police held 50 persons, 21 on curfew violations and the rest for offenses during the day of disturbances. Forty-one persons suffered minor injuries in the fourth day of disorders apparently sparked by the forced busing of 113 elementary school pupils.

All schools were closed at noon Thursday until Monday morning where fighting and rock-throwing broke out around Central High School and Washington elementary school. After dark, gangs of black youths threw rocks in the city's predominantly black North section.

Dad's Advice Changes Son On Induction

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Confronted with a dramatic letter from his father, the son of a retired Army general changed his mind in U.S. District Court Thursday and agreed to report for induction into the Army rather than go to jail.

Seldom do most young men appearing before Judge Robert R. Merhige accept the last-minute option to serve their country, but the charges were dropped after Thomas Ernest Stanwix-Hay, 23, of Falls Church, was accepted by the Army at a nearby induction center following a brief court hearing.

Allen Thomas Stanwix-Hay, a retired major general and former deputy assistant Secretary of Defense, released the contents of a letter he had written Oct. 5, the day his son offered no defense to the draft evasion charge.

"From us who spent all our life in the military service of our country, we cannot understand, nor do we condone his refusal to serve," the letter said in part. "On the other hand, our inability to understand does not make him morally wrong or right. It makes him legally wrong.

"He, his conscience and his God, at some time must face each other, with the good of the nation of people in view.

"I cannot say if his ideals of social justice and government police are 'dangerous,' for I am unsure myself of what the majority of democracy will want in five years or 10 years; and we shall have what the majority want."

Stanwix-Hay noted that his son held the "belief that personal rights of a purely personal nature transcend certain legal requirements, such as Selective Service."

"I do not agree, but for 37 years I was prepared to defend with arms the right of disagreement, without recognizing to what lengths these positions could be strained," the father said.

Threat Admitted On Lives On Onassises

LONDON (UPI)—A former car dealer admitted today he threatened to kill or kidnap Aristotle and Jackie Onassis unless they paid $2.4 million to finance his electromagnetic device for solving the world's problems.

John Humphrys, 58, of Crofthendry, England, pleaded guilty to the charges in London's Old Bailey. The court ordered him detained indefinitely for mental treatment.

Prosecutor Kenneth Richardson said Humphrys was convinced he could solve the world's problems by harnessing energy from electromagnetics. But he was crippled by arthritis, unable to work, and broke.

To finance his project, Richardson said, Humphrys—calling himself Tom Jarvis—telephoned John Newnham, managing director of Lambert Brothers Insurance Ltd., last July with a threat to kidnap or kill Mr. and Mrs. Onassis within 24 hours unless the money was paid.

Newnham said he received written confirmation of the threat in a letter the following morning.

Earlier, Richardson said, Humphrys had telephoned Lloyds of London to find out what firm handled Onassis' insurance affairs. He was told the Lambert firm.

Chiang Remains Active As He Approaches 83

TAIPEI (UPI)—Age and a car accident have failed to slow down President Chiang Kai-shek, who will be 83 Saturday.

After ruling Nationalist China for four decades, two of them in exile here on Taiwan, Chiang today holds a tighter reign on his people than ever.

There is no challenge to his control of the destiny of the 13.5 million people of Nationalist China and still no word whether he plans to retire when his fourth six-year term as president ends in March 1972.

If he does retire, there is only one man in the running for his successor as head of state: Vice President and Premier C. K. Yen. Yen's probable successor as premier would be Chiang Ching-kuo, Chiang's eldest son and currently vice premier.

Chiang Ching-kuo likely would wield the power as premier that his father does as president, but as long as Chiang Kai-shek lives he will be the most powerful and most respected man in Nationalist China.

Chiang still is spry and healthy and almost unchanged in appearance since he was forced from mainland China by the Communists in December, 1949. He still rises at 6 a.m., meditates for half an hour, then 20 minutes of calisthenics followed by a breakfast of papaya, a bowl of noodles with chicken and ham, a pancake and a glass of fruit juice.

After a morning at the office, he returns to his home at Shihlin (Forests of Scholars) in suburban Taipei. After lunch and a nap he works at home until dinner, taking time out for a walk of 30 minutes to an hour with his wife or one of his grandchildren.

In the evening he works or reads, mostly his heavily-underlined Bible (he was baptized a Protestant in October, 1930) or Chinese and Western history or the classics.

In September, 1959, he and his wife were badly shaken up when their car rammed another on a mountain road. Mme. Chiang, 15 years his junior sustained facial lacerations and concussions which kept her in bed for a month.

Chiang was not hurt, and though doctors watched closely for months he showed no after-effects, and no sign of reneging on his playde to return to mainland China.

Judge Convicts Union Local On Contempt Counts

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Three Teamsters Union members and Local 495 were convicted of contempt of court Thursday for violating an injunction issued last Aug. 31.

Superior Court Judge Leonard Diether convicted the local on 18 counts of contempt and fined it $9,000.

Union members Alexandro Corral of Pico Rivera was fined $500 with $300 suspended while Clarence Bagley of Huntington Beach and Manuel Hernandez of Los Angeles were each fined $100.

The Injunction, issued by Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer, prevented the local from mass picketing, trespassing or threatening violence or acts of sabotage against the Crow Coach Corp.

Head And Internal Injuries In Wreck

Jacqueline Johnson, 36, of 707 English Street, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head and internal injuries suffered in an accident yesterday at 9:50 p.m. on Highway 101, a mile north of the Marin County line.

The California Highway Patrol said her car went into a ditch and struck a utility pole.

Bomb Blasts Rip Armories, Police Station In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three homemade pipebombs exploded within 10 minutes of each other early today, damaging two armories and a police station.

There were no injuries in the explosions, which occurred shortly after one of the armories received a warning telephone call.

Police spokesmen said the blasts were "very closely associated" and it was "highly unlikely" that three bombing attacks could be planted coincidentally by different groups or unassociated persons in such a brief time. The FBI was called in almost immediately.

One guard, a Vietnam veteran who escaped just before one of the armory blasts, said the explosion sounded "like an 81mm mortar."

The first bomb went off at 3:12 a.m. EST at the U.S. Naval Reserve Center in Whitestone, Queens. Three minutes later, a second explosion went off in a motorcycle precinct headquarters in the Bronx. At 3:22 a.m., the third blast went off at the U.S. Army Reserve Center in the Jamaica section Queens.

Before the first explosion, a woman caller told a guard at the armory, "you'd better get out of the armory because a bomb is going off in five minutes. Go out the front door and get at least 50 feet away," according to police.

The caller did not claim credit for the bombings or suggest that any particular group was responsible for the attacks.

The bombs, which one police investigator described as "sophisticated," were all placed on windowsills of the buildings.

'Enteritis' Halts Class Schedules

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A University of San Francisco spokesman said classes in most divisions would be canceled today due to an outbreak of gastro-intestinal disorders among students and university employes.

The students complained of headaches. Many vomited.

An Unofficial Burglary Case

A Larkspur planning commissioner may have been the victim last week of Marin County's only unofficial burglary, it was learned today.

The burglary, the existence of which the Larkspur Police Department declines to acknowledge, was said by Commissioner Charles Curley to have taken place at his home at 52 Olive Avenue sometime between 8:30 a.m. and noon on Oct. 20. Personal possessions of undetermined value were taken, according to Curley.

The commissioner today said he had reported the matter to the police and had been asked to say nothing about it.

Police Capt. Charles J. Mattos today told the Independent-Journal, "there is no report."

Sebastopol TIMES OCTOBER 15, 1970

Ernest V. Joiner

We don't endorse political candidates lightly. When we do, it is without regard for partisan politics and strictly on individual merit. We have supported Gov. Reagan, a Republican; Sen. Randolph Collier, a Democrat; and now Glenn A. Bernd, American Independent Party, against William Bagley, Republican (?) incumbent Assemblyman for the 7th District. I can't see that Bagley has provided Sonoma county with the representation it deserves. The Democratic candidate, Mr. Forest, is another attorney--and I quit voting for lawyers for public office a long time ago, given a choice. Bernd is a refreshing person on the local political scene. He's a far cry from the pompous, legalistic asses who maim each other in the scramble to the public trough in Sacramento every season. Bernd is young, intelligent, honest. He has uncommon love for his country and doesn't hide it. He doesn't have a lot of pat solutions, like Cong. Tunney, for everything from bad water to bad breath. He's religious (unphoney type). I don't think anybody running on the AIP ticket is going to win any office this year, but it should make voters sleep better to know they voted for a man of high moral and ethical character, Glenn Bernd.

ARSON SUSPECTED — Firemen attack a pre-dawn warehouse blaze today ni San Jose which destroyed more than one million pounds of newsprint, valued at $500,000, stored for delivery to 16 Northern California newspapers, including the San Rafael Independent-Journal. Following the blaze, investigators said it was "definitely arson." (UPI Telephoto)

Big Warehouse Fire —Arson Is Suspected

Five truck tractors and 10 trailers were destroyed in the fire, Devitt said.

He said there were no suspects, but investigators were seeking the occupants of an automabile which was seen driving slowly by Garden City's warehouse several times shortly before the fire was reported.

"It is also interesting to note," Devitt said, "that a Molotov cocktail was thrown through a window of the firm's office last May and caused about $5,000 damage."

Dequine said that since harassment of truck drivers in Marin began three weeks ago, Garden City drivers have reported themselves "sick" when ordered to drive I-J newsprint to San Rafael.

Garden City trucks picking up goods near the San Francisco waterfront have had tires slashed and stinkbombs placed in the cabs in the last two weeks, he said.

Criminal and civil contempt charges arising from driver harassment in Marin were sought against four labor unions, including the typographical union, in San Francisco last week. A petition filed by the NLRB charges the unions with illegal secondary boycott activity aimed at preventing neutral employers from doing business with the I-J.

Because of Garden City drivers reporting "sick," two I-J security guards yesterday picked up a shipment of newsprint at the warehouse. They were to have returned for more today.

Dequine said he thought the fire was set "because we have this stuff in storage" for the I-J.

Arson was first linked to the typographical union's 10-month-old strike against the I-J April 22 when homemade kerosene firebombs were thrown through windows of two Marin residences — one belonging to an I-J employee and the other to a 93-year-old Tamalpais Valley man who was apparently mistaken for an I-J employee with a similar name.

On June 15, an auto belonging to an I-J employee was set afire in a carpot of his Novato residence.

Two gasoline firebombs were thrown at the San Francisco residence of I-J employee Allan W. Daly on June 16, less than three weeks before Daly was slain by two intruders.

Two San Bruno youths have been sentenced to longterm commitment by the California Youth Authority in connection with Daly's death, and a San Bruno member of a union affiliated with the typographical union is awaiting trial on a murder charge in San Francisco.

Two other I-J employees narrowly escaped death July 8 when a Molotov cocktail was tossed through a window of the Petaluma residence of one of the employees.

Refuse was set on fire July 27 in garbage cans at the rear of the I-J's Novato office, damaging the exterior of the building.

Surrender Leaflets

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese curio dealers are buying up leaflets dropped over Japan by U.S. bombing planes in 1945 urging Japan to surrender. Dealers are paying 3,000 yen, $8.33, each for surrender leaflets.

Auto Industry Big User Of Rubber

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — The automotive industry alone now consumes more rubber than the entire nation did just a decade ago, according to The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

The company estimates that 5.8 billion pounds of rubber are being used in the United States in 1970, 3.6 billion pounds of it in motor vehicles. Ten years ago consumption was 3.5 billion pounds with 2.25 billion going into vehicles.

Teamster Is Arraigned On I-J Stinkbombing; March Trial Set

A member of Teamster Local 85 of San Francisco was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on two misdemeanors stemming from the stinkbombing of the Independent-Journal plant in San Rafael.

Ricardo Garcia, 38, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent to both counts and a jury trial was set for March 11. A pretrial conference at which lawyers will attempt to settle the case without it going to trial was set for Feb. 24.

Van Gogh's House

CUESMES, Belgium (UPI) — Cuesmes Town Council is seeking state and private aid to renovate the simple two-story farmhouse where painter Vincent van Gogh lived briefly in the late 1870s.

Garcia is charged under one code section which carries a mandatory three-month jail sentence for depositing nauseous material on a place of business and another similar section. He is accused of throwing a stink bomb on Monday and spraying a tree with nauseous material the next day.

CONGRESSMAN DON CLAUSEN:

HIS INDEPENDENCE IS ON THE RECORD

Thus far in the 91st Congress of the Nixon Administration, Don has voted in opposition to the Administration on 31% of all legislative proposals.

Of the four revenue bills vetoed by President Nixon during the First Session of the 91st Congress, Don voted to override the President twice, and to sustain him twice.

Any analysis of Don's voting record since 1963 will reveal that he is "his own man", when it comes to legislation and programs. Don does not vote any "party line" . . . he votes his conscience for the Nation and for the Redwood Empire and its people.

Co-Ed Found Slain; One Slim Clue

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York University graduate student, Patrice Leary, 22, was found slain in her Manhattan apartment Thursday. Miss Leary, whose body was clad in panties and a brassiere, had been strangled and stabbed repeatedly.

The body of Miss Leary, of Okoboji, Iowa, was found by two girl friends, Nancy Paul, 24, and her sister, Betsy, 23. The door was shut but not locked. The two girls looked inside, saw the body and ran, screaming, downstairs. The building's managing agent called police.

Miss Leary shared the apartment with Cathy Duchen 22. Other tenants described the victim, who moved into the building last month, as quiet.

Detectives said the apartment was a shambles and there were signs the victim had put up a fight.

"It's a mystery, it's a big mystery," a detective said. "We don't know if it was an outsider, an insider, or what." He said there was no sign of forced entry, but would not rule out burglary. Police said early today she had not been sexually assaulted.

Detectives said the only possible clue was a man seen near the apartment. "All the men in the squad are working on this one, and all her friends and acquaintances tell us the same thing—this was a nice, good, kid, who didn't fool around."

Police said in addition to her studies she worked as a teacher at a private school in Manhattan.

Miniature Saws

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Within the next decade technology may produce mini-chain saws weighing os little as four pounds that can deliver two horsepower from tiny gasoline engines, according to Omark Industries. The Oregon cutting chain maker sees chains that will cut both wood and metal.

Heavy Rains Hamper William Tell Meet

TYNDALL AFB, Fla. (UPI) —Heavy rains hampered the William Tell aerial weapons meet and forced cancellation of several missions scheduled for this the final day of competition.

California, North Dakota and Oregon units took leads Thursday in the F-106 F-102 and F-101 aircraft categories respectively. But final scores and standings will undoubtedly change after competition is completed later today.

First in the F-101 Voodoo category is the 119th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron from the North Dakota National Guard with 9285 points, second is the 409th All Weather Fighter Squadron from Comax Canadian AFB, B.C., with 7285 points, and third is the 60th Fighter Squadron from Otos AFB, Mass., with 5,130 points.

The 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Hamilton AFB, Calif., leads the F-106 Delta Dart competition with 10,348 points, second is the 318th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from McCord AFB, Wash., with 10,248 points, and third is the 71st Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Malmstrom AFB, Mont., with 6,488 points.

F-102 Delta Dagger competition is led by the 412th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Portland, Ore., with 10,500 points, second is the 148th Fighter Group from Duluth, Minn., with 9,972 points, and third is the 124th Fighter Group from Gowen AFB, Boise, Idaho, with 9,581 points.

Final missions will be flown today with the best air crews, ground crews and flight controllers awards announced Saturday.

American Airlines Studies Western

Westren flies over an area ranging from Minneapolis to Honolulu and Alaska and up and down the West Coast and had revenues of almost $250 million in its most recent fiscal year. It lost more than $11 million last year and has operated at a loss this year.

American said rumors of the merger talks were responsible for unusual activity in Western common stock on the stock market Thursday.

Halloween Parade Starting Point Reset

The previously announced starting point for tomorrow's Greenbrae Halloween parade has been changed to the Eliseo Drive entrance north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Stewart Boxer, chairman of the parade sponsored by the Greenbrae Property Owners Association, said yesterday the starting point was first scheduled for the firestation but was changed because it would have required children crossing Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Citizen News Goes Bankrupt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Attorney Allan L. Levine said Tuesday the Los Angeles Evening Citizen News was unable to come up with a $400,000 deposit and a plan for an arrangement to pay its debts.

Bankruptcy referee Russell B. Seymour then adjudged the paper bankrupt.

Levine blamed bad economic conditions for the paper's failure to raise the money and requested a 30 day extension, which was denied.

George T. Goggin, receiver for the paper, said possible bids for the assets has been received from the "Sen. Knowland group," presumably referring to owners of the Oakland Tribune and several other California newspapers.

The paper, formerly known as the Hollywood Citizen News, filed bankruptcy proceedings last August, two weeks before it suspended publication.

Guilty Plea To Indecent Exposure

He had earlier been accused of a felony charge of the same offense which took place in Novato on May 25.

He is to be sentenced on Nov. 19.

Teachers In Novato Ballot On Pay Stand

Novato teachers, thwarted in their bid for a 9 per cent pay increase, balloted yesterday and today to decide whether to give the Novato Unified School District board a week to meet their demands.

If their request is not fulfilled, according to the ballot proposal, sanctions would be applied against the district by the Novato Teachers Association.

Gregg W. DeGear, association president, said he was uncertain when the results of the vote would be known. Balloting was held at San Marin High School.

In a second vote, the 450 members of the teachers association are being asked whether they favor a strike, which has been threatened by some instructors.

DeGear said the scope of possible sanctions was unknown at this time, although he believed noncontracted services, chaperoning, bus duty, clerical tasks and other miscellaneous chores might be affected.

The teachers have refused a 6 per cent wage boost offered by the school district board.

The voting was approved at a teachers' meeting Wednesday on a recommendation from the association's representative council.

Teachers also hove complained about overcrowded classrooms, shortage of instructional materials and deterioration of morale.

Bomb Report To Superior Court

Patricia Lawler Coy, 46, of Strawberry, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of making a false report of planting a bomb at the Hall of Justice.

She is to appear in court for arraignment next Friday.

Mrs. Coy is accused of calling a sheriff's deputy on Oct. 8 hours after a real bomb exploded in a courtroom and saying she had planted a bomb in a waste basket on the court floor.

Her call caused the Civic Center to be evaluated for about half an hour. She was arrested later at her home after she had identified herself to the deputy on the phone.

Weather Could Help GOP In Texas Voting

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The weather Nov. 3 conceivably could determine if Texas will send two Republican Senators to the 92nd Congress next year or keep them split between the two parties as they are now.

The Senate race in Texas between Democrat Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., who ousted veteran Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the primaries, and Republican George Bush has developed into an old-fashioned "horse race."

The other senator is John C. Tower, a Republican, whose term expires in 1973.

If the weather is bad on election day, there is likely to be a low voter turnout. If this develops, Republican Bush's chances become brighter.

Both sides, with just days of campaigning left, are convincingly claiming to have the lead, although both admit that the race is very, very close.

The same situation, however, does not exist in the Texas governor's race. Incumbent Democrat Preston Smith is generally conceded to have a narrow, but relatively safe margin over challenger Paul Eggers.

Smith received an unexpected boost a couple of weeks ago when a few militant students booed him off the stage at the University of Houston. There was a sympathetic reaction in favor of the governor and Smith's campaign staff said the incident "put us ahead in Houston where we needed it most."

Eggers may again be the victim of another race upstaging his own. Two years ago he ran a credible campaign against Smith, but Texas Republicans put so much more emphasis on the Presidential race that Eggers appeared to suffer a good deal in the backwash.

This year the GOP theme has concentrated on winning enough U.S. Senate races to capture control of that body (they need seven more) and Eggers again appears to be taking second fiddle. The Texas Senate race has been branded by the GOP as one of the seven "musts."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has come to Texas twice to help Bush's Senate campaign, and seemed each time to give some attention to Eggers as an afterthought.

Nixon himself went to the Lone Star State this week on behalf of Bush. And there is no question that he is much more interested in winning Senate races than he is in winning gubernatorial ones.

Bush is trying to profit by a liberal-conservative split among Democrats as a result of Bentsen's defeating the liberals' only real friend in Texas—Ralph Yarborough.

"There is a wide split among the Democrats, and we're going to gain as a result," Bush said. But Bentsen disagrees over the extent of the division.

"We're getting Yarborough supporters back by the droves," he said this week. "They're turning up at nearly every place where we are campaigning." Former President Lyndon Johnson has made a few appearances for the Democrats trying to reunite them.

Both Bush and Eggers are waging low key campaigns and are generalizing on most of the issues. Bush uses the slogan "he can do more," and Eggers tries to sell the idea that Smith is a colorless governor who really is not too highly regarded by the average Texan.

Republicans traditionally do better in statewide elections in Texas where there is a low turnout. The low key campaigns of Bush and Eggers are designed to keep from stirring up too many Democrats in hopes they will "go fishing" on election day.

But he told a gathering of supporters in Midland, Tex., a key Republican stronghold, that "I hope the Gulf of Mexico is like a millpond on election day so labor can go fishing."

Labor and minority groups were the main strength of Yarborough, and Republican strategists hope that large numbers of them will not take the trouble to vote, thus eroding the traditional Democratic strength.

Other races in Texas have paled somewhat as a result of the hot Senate election. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, generally touted as the heir-apparent of Texas Democrats, should have no trouble overcoming token opposition by Republican Byron Fullton in his re-election bid.

The Texas congressional delegation—now made up of 20 Democrats and three Republicans—is expected to maintain that margin. The GOP is making strong bids in a few areas, but are not given much chance of picking up any new seats. They will re-elect Rep. Bob Price of Pamla who is unopposed, Rep. Jim Collins of Dallas, and Bill Archer of Houston, the GOP candidate for Bush's congressional seat.

The Texas legislature is expected to remain solidly Democratic. Republicans now have three of the 31 Senate seats: and eight of the 150 house seats. They may gain a few House seats, but that's about all.

Hearing Scheduled In Bad Check Case

A perliminary hearing has been set for Nov. 9 in Marin Municipal Court for Charlene Betty Zaro, 35, of Tamalpais Valley, charged with possessing a bad check with intent to defraud.

Mrs. Zaro was arrested Oct. 17 after she reportedly tried to cash a stolen check in a Mill Valley bar.

Mexican-Americans Blast Two Parties' Candidates

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new Mexican-American group said Thursday neither the Republican or Democratic parties has worked in the best interests of the Spanish-speaking people.

Abe Tapia, of the Mexican-American Political Association, said both parties discriminate against Spanish-speaking people and "gerrymander our people at election time."

"Jess Unruh has never been a friend of the Spanish-speaking people," Tapia said. "He has never sought solutions to our problems—problems of high unemployment, undereducation, high dropout rate, and poor housing, which we as a people rank high in this state.

"Instead, Unruh has authored a reapportionment bill which has sliced up our communities in Los Angeles, thus taking away our only block voting power in that area."

As for the Republican Party, Tapia said, "At least we know clearly where they stand..."

"Governor Reagan and Republicans have continually opposed Cesar Chavez' efforts to organize farm labor, and they've made no attempts to draw upon our people for governmental jobs," said Tapia. "Reagan has cut back funds for college Educational Opportunity Programs (EOP) under which most of our children are now getting into the colleges."

MAPA has endorsed Ricardo Romo of the Peace and Freedom Party for governor at its February convention in Los Angeles.

"We're supporting Romo, not the party," said Tapia. "It's the only way a La Raza (The Race) person can seek office these days.

"I can assure the standing political parties one thing, by 1972 this state will see a new power base made up of 1.5 million Spanish-speaking Californians," Tapia said. "At that point, we will begin to determine our own destiny."

Hearing Slated On Pesticides

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Assembly Agriculture Committee will hold hearings on pesticiedes in Sacramento in November and December, chairman William M. Ketchum announced.

Ketchum said that at its Nov. 23 meeting the Committee will be looking to the farming industry and the Department of Agriculture for a report on how two measures passed at the 1969 and 1970 session have worked out.

Kettenhofen Best

TWO MARIN County men. Democrat William M. Bennett and Republican Ernest N. Kettenhofen, are competing for election as Third District member of the State Board of Equalization.

The winner will replace Democrat Paul Leake of Woodland, who is retiring after many years of effective service.

It has always seemed to The Press Democrat to be highly ridiculous that this strictly financial-management job should be a partisan rather than nonpartisan office, but that's the way the law reads.

The Press Democrat recommends Mr. Kettenhofen for the job. As a Marin County businessman who also operates a working farm in Lake County he has a dollars-and-cents interest and understanding of the high cost of taxes, and an appreciation of the problems peculiar to the Third District.

Mr. Bennett, on the other hand, is an attorney at law whose office is in San Francisco, which has its own member on the Board. As a Marin resident he is fully eligible to be elected from this district, but it seems to The Press Democrat that his opponent, whose own problems and interests are in the Third District, should be the one to represent us

EQUALLY important, as a farmer and as a businessman, Mr. Kettenhofen has first-hand experience with what California's lopsided tax structure, with its grass-roots emphasis on property taxes, is doing to farmers, to homeowners and to small business. His would be an expert voice in working to sensibly overhaul a tax structure that badly needs it.

Kettenhofen Has Ideas For Real Tax Equalization

There is an air of lethargic bureaucracy about the California State Board of Equalization's main office at 1020 N Street, Sacramento. We predict it will disappear in a hurry if Ernest N. Kettenhofen of San Anselmo wins election to that board on Nov. 3.

Kettenhofen is the Republican candidate for board member from the 25-county Third District, to succeed veteran Paul R. Leake of Woodland, who is retiring at the end of this year.

HE HAS SOME definite ideas about what should be done to make California taxation policies more equitable. He has been hammering at them in his campaign, which has taken him repeatedly to each of the 25 counties, stretching from San Francisco Bay and Sacramento to the Oregon line, which make up the Third District.

Tax relief through incentive credits.

Kettenhofen believes that those who make property improvements that reflect to the general good should not be penlaized for doing so by immediate tax hikes, but given a write-off as incentive to improve. This could be especially valuable in promoting environmental improvements, he notes.

Abolition or major revision of the inventory tax.

This tax is levied on inventory held by business firms each March. Kettenhofen calls it "the most unfair and inefficient tax now on the California statute books" and "a bonus to cheat." It results in warehousing in neighboring states to "clear out inventory" for the due date, he claims. It should either be abolished or based on average inventory throughout the year, he contends.

Revision of the Williamson Act.

This is the act that permits acreage to be placed in "agricultural preserve" for assessment unaffected by increased value through change in use of surrounding lands. In some counties, it has been used as a tax dodge by owners of small parcels of undeveloped land, contrary to its purpose. Kettenhofen would seek to enforce uniform application — a function of the board of equalization.

Uniform taxation of timber lands.

Some counties, contends Kettenhofen, are virtually forcing destruction of forests by taxing timber lands on the board footage of standing trees Others tax only that timber which is harvested — which Kettenhofen believes should be the uniform practice to encourage forest conservation. Again, uniform assessment falls within the jurisdiction of the board of equalization.

THESE ARE SOME specifics in "Kett's" campaign for the little-noticed state board that has wide powers over California taxation and assessment practices. As he proved while on the Marin County Board of Supervisor, "Kett" is a man who works hard for what he believes, so he can be depended on to do more than pay lip service to such reforms.

Running against Kettenhofen for the office is another Marinite, Democrat William M. Bennett of Kentfield. Bennett, a former California Public Utilities Commission member, is campaigning as a "friend of the consumer." But when it comes to specifics, he has proposed nothing comparable to Kettenhofen's platform.

We believe the people of Marin and the 24 other counties of the Third District will be best served by electing Ernest N. Kettenhofen to the board of equalization. And we think they will do it.

Kettenhofen Best Choice

After carefully considering the qualifications necessary for a member of the State Board of Equalization the publisher of this newspaper is convinced that Ernest Kettenhofen is the best-qualified to serve our county as a member of that most important body.

Now serving his third term as a member of the Board of Governors of our California Maritime Academy, of which he twice has been chairman, Mr. Kettenhofen has established himself as a successful businessman, rancher and property owner who knows what taxation is all about.

Campaigning as the spokesman for the taxpayer, he is able to draw on his vast experience and knowledge of the 25-county Third District which he seeks to represent when discussing taxes and tax reforms.

Ernest Kettenhofen knows the problems of the property owner, large and small, and the problems of government as well. He speaks for the taxpayer because he knows at first hand the growing burden he bears. He has the knowledge and know-how to do something about the tax burden.

Most importantly, Ernest Kettenhofen knows this area well, through his long association with the Maritime Academy, of which he is a prominent graduate, as well as his ownership of property in Lake County and his familiarity with Solano and Napa County and their tax problems.

Mr. Kettenhofen has devoted his life to public service, as a member of several boards and commissions, including the Board of Equalization in Marin County, county supervisor, Marin College Foundation president, co-chairman of the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All (CASA), hospital board director and chairman of a fund drive which raised $350,000 from private sources to help build the Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital, and Northern California chairman for successful passage of the proposition which created tax incentives for the maintenance of open space.

His background establishes him as a proponent of economy and equality in government and tax administration. He proposes to seek tax relief through incentive programs. He believes that those who make property improvements which generally benefit the public should not be penalized by immediate tax increases, as is presently the case.

Mr. Kettenhofen would abolish or revise the annual inventory taxes what he calls "the most unfair and inefficient tax now on the California statute books."

At present the inventory tax results in millions of dollars on inventories being warehoused in other states—notably Nevada — to await the California due date. He believes if this tax is not abolished, at least it should be based on an average annual inventory.

He also advocates revision of tax regulations under the Williamson Act which permits some lands to be placed in "agricultural preserves" to guarantee uniform application of provisions of the law, which is a function of the State Board of Equalization.

For these and many other reasons, we believe Ernest Kettenhofen to be the best qualified candidate to succeed retiring Paul Leake as Member, Third District, State Board of Equalization. A man who gets things done, an experienced and successful businessman, a rancher and property owner and a proven public servant of highest caliber, Ernest Kettenhofen should be everyone's choice for the Board of Equalization.

Tiburon Acts On Drainage Problem

The Tiburon City Council, stymied Monday in its attempt to award a contract for an interim solution to drainage woes in the downtown basin, took the step last night.

It awarded a $23,522 contract to J. R. Peters Engineering and Construction Co. of Santa Rosa to install a pump at a pond near Tiburon Boulevard and Mar West Sreet and dig a ditch across the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property.

Once completed, the pump will convey floodwaters through the ditch to an existing culvert under Paradise Drive near Mar West and out to Raccoon Strait.

The council had met in special session Monday to award the contract, but found it could not when City Atty. Robert I. Conn said that the two agreements needed were not ready.

Needed were documents from Belvedere promising to bear one-third of the cost of the work, and from the railroad giving the city permission to build the ditch on its land.

The agreements were in hand last night, and the council voted 3-0 to award the contract. Councilmen Branwell D. Fanning and M. Carlisle Becker were absent.

Assist. City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said Belvedere will pay $7,841, leaving Tiburon's share at $15,681. Of this, $7,500 will come from $10,000 budgeted by the city for flood control, and $8,181 from a special drainage fund put up by developer Fred G. Zelinsky when he built the Safeway market on Tiburon Boulevard.

A spokesman for J. B. Peters said the firm could begin work Monday and promised to complete the project by the end of November, before heavy winter rains hit the Tiburon Peninsula.

In other action last night, the council met with its planning commission to hear Marin County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell describe a new state requirement that cities must include a housing element in their general plans.

The county planning department is acting as a coordinator in preparing a first phase housing element for the county as a model for the cities.

Tiburon's housing element will define what shelter needs exist in the city and how construction of moderate income housing can fill them.

Planning Director Wayne E. Moody said the council agreed to take steps to appoint a citizens task force committee to develop goals and policies concerning housing in Tiburon.

Moody said he was asked to conduct an inventory of potential sites for moderate income housing.

The council adjourned to its next regular meeting Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Pay Hikes For Hillcrest Employees

Salary increases for Hillcrest Hospital employees were approved last night by the board of directors to be financed from savings in operational costs.

Administrator Joseph E. Horner said the increases reflected salary adjustments for individual employees to bring the scale up to standards of comparable hospitals. He said the average increase would be 2 to 3 per cent.

The salary adjustment costs will total $27,000 which Horner said is, in effect, being returned to the employees from operational savings brought about by greater employee efficiency.

Horner said that when he became administrator in June, a survey showed the hospital was operating at a 67 per cent productivity rate. He said that figure has been increased to 91 per cent productivity through new procedures and a recapturing of wasted time.

The Hillcrest Hospital board also:

REFURBISHING — Approved a six month schedule for refurbishing at an estimated cost of $25,000 to $30,000. Plans include painting the interior, installing carpeting, new lighting, cubicle curtains and revamped nursing stations.

GUARDS — Approved the concept of providing security guards during evening hours for better safety of employees. Horner said a private security agency would be employed on an hourly basis.

PHARMACY — Asked Horner to explore the establishment of a community emergency drug service in the district. The board said that at least one pharmacy should be open on a 24 hour basis.

EMERGENCY — Approved a plan to have a physician on duty in the emergency room around the clock on weekends. Horner said the new practice will start Nov. 28.

Monsoon Rains Take Heavy S. Viet Toll

SAIGON (UPI) — Torrential monsoon rains sent the Da Nang River on a rampage today, halting the war in that area and causing heavy loss of civilian life. But the heaviest fighting in months broke out in the Central Highlands, the Mekong Delta and Cambodia.

Phnom Penh dispatches said government troops today launched an amphibious assault across the Mekong River to root out Communist concentrations near Moat Krasas, 12 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, where the Communists ambushed a government convoy Thursday night and killed 14 men.

Reports from the field said a force of 1,500 Cambodians made at least three landings from World War II vintage landing barges along a stretch of riverbank running 10 to 20 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. One attempted landing was driven back by heavy Communist fire.

It was one of the largest operations mounted by government forces on the perimeter of Phnom Penh, and officials said government troops, thwarted in their attempts to land, crossed elsewhere and were moving along the riverbanks. Air support was called in and a spokesman said indications were the Communists suffered heavy losses.

Irrigation canals were used more than 6,000 years ago in Egypt and Babylon.

The rains in the Da Nang area where 20 inches of rain fell during a 26-hour period sent water up to 14 feet deep rolling across some highways. Four major highway bridges were washed out and the Da Nang River, swollen hundreds of yards wide and rushing along at 20 miles an hour, swept away hundreds of houses.

The river ripped away docks and mornings in the harbor area of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, and threatened to crush the German and American hospital ships Helgoland and Hope against their wharves behind a mass of debris.

There simply were no figares available on casualties, but military sources said they could be high.

The monsoon rains reduced American air activity to a new five-year low — only 19 air strikes were flown Thursday—for the second consecutive day.

However, heavy B52 bombers kept up their marathon pounding of the Ho Chi Minh trail with another 950 tons of bombs dropped in Laos, the U.S. Command reported. Bombing of the Ho Chi Minh supply trail has been heavier than at any time during the war, apparently in fear the Communists are trying to buildup for future offensives to strengthen the hand of their Paris negotiators.

The monsoon season is over in the Central Highlands and the southern tip of South Vietnam and heavy fighting was reported there. Communist forces said the Viet Cong carried out a series of vicious assaults in the Mekong Delta, the Central Highlands and in Cambodia.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said Viet Cong artillerymen killed 14 Allied troops and wounded 50 others Thursday night in an attack against a Cambodian troop ship convoy approaching Phnom Penh on the Mekong River.

Warrants Issued In Airport Arson Case

Warrants charging four Santa Rosa youths with burglarizing Gnoss Field and one of them with starting the Oct. 12 fire there were issued yesterday by the Marin County District Attorney's office.

Charged with arson is William P. Nance, 19, who is presently in the Sonoma County Jail on a stolen property charge.

Nance along with Wayne Armstrong, 19; Manuel Mosher, 15, and Charles Joseph Molina, 16, is accused of burglarizing the building.

Armstrong is also charged with attempting to commit petty theft.

Sheriff's officers have said that the youths apparently went to the airport to steal gasoline. After breaking the lock on a pump, they discovered they had to go inside the building to release the pump.

Once inside, they stole a tape recorder and a radio, according to officers. In order to cover fingerprints the building was then set on fire, officers theorized.

The fire burned a cafe, office and parts department as well as the $150,000 twin engine plane rented by cosmetics magnate William Penn Patrick and used by Sen. George Murphy in his campaign.

Waxwork Branch

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Madame Tussaud's, world famous London waxworks, has opened a branch in Amsterdam. The 50 wax figures displayed include the late Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, the Dutch painters Rembrandt and Van Gogh, and Anne Frank, the 13-year-old Jewish girl noted for the diary she kept during the Nazi occupation of Amsterdam.

Santa Ana Publisher Hoiles Dies At 91

Hoiles succumbed at Santa Ana Community Hospital where he was being treated for diabetes and uremia.

Tuberculosis Toll

MANILA (UPI) —Tuberculosis remains one of the top killer diseases in the Philippines, a country with 38 million population. Each year, tuberculosis claims an average of 27,000 lives.

9 Months' Jail For Air Hijack

BEIRUT (UPI) — Christian Belon, a 26-year-old Frenchman, was released from prison today shortly after a Lebanese court sentenced him to nine months in prison for hijacking an American airliner to Beirut last January.

Belon spent 21 days more than his nine-month sentence in jail awaiting trial. The court ruled this time should be counted off his sentence and ordered authorities to release him.

Belon said he hijacked the Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 because "I love Lebanon and the Arabs."

BACK IN VIETNAM — Lt. William Calley Jr., charged with the murder of 102 civilians in the 1968 My Lai massacre, loads his briefcase in a military Jeep in DaNang, South Vietnam. Calley arrived yesterday to interview witnesses of the alleged slayings near his old base at Chu Lai. (UPI Radiophoto)

Combat Units On Withdrawal List

SAIGON (UPI) — Combat troops will make up close to half of the 40,000 Americans to be withdrawn from Vietnam between now and Christmas, the U.S. Command announced today.

Spokesmen said that two brigades of the 25th Infantry Division, which works in the provinces surrounding Saigon, and a brigade of the 4th Infantry Division, stationed in the central highlands about 250 miles north of the capital, would be pulled out before Dec. 25.

The withdrawal, when it is completed, will leave 344,000 Americans in the war zone. That number will be reduced, under orders from President Nixon, to below 284,000 by next May 1.

The Command said that in addition to the approximately 15,000 combat troops in the three brigades to be pulled out, another 25,000 men would come from "numerous small combat and support elements and activities of the Army, Navy and Air Force."

Spokesmen refused to name the exact units to be pulled out on security grounds.

Other announcements from the Command today did name five specific units that have "stood down," or stopped their assigned activities to prepare to withdraw.

The five units include four helicopter companies and an infantry battalion from the 4th Division. In all, spokesmen said, 1,980 men are involved in the pullouts.

Unruh Plans Stop In San Rafael

Assemblyman Jess Unruh of Inglewood, Democratic nominee for governor, will address a rally at about 3 p.m. Sunday at Carpenters Hall, 647 Lindaro Street, San Rafael.

The rally, planned by the Marin Unified Democratic Campaign, will begin at 1:30 p.m., and will feature entertainment, refreshments and appearances by local Democratic candidates.

Unruh's San Rafael appearance will be part of a motorcade through the East Bay, Marin and San Francisco. He is to speak in San Francisco at 3:30 p.m., a half an hour after his scheduled San Rafael speech.

Democratic headquarters in Mill Valley, San Rafael and Novato are handling arrangements for persons who want to join the motorcade to San Francisco by bus.

Calley Taking Statements From Vietnamese On My Lai Massacre

CHU LAI, Vietnam (API)—Lt. William Calley, charged with murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians in March 1968, took statements today from two Vietnamese men apparently connected with the alleged My Lai massacre.

Military officials at Chu Lai refused to identify the men either by rank or title, and would not say what connection they have with the Calley case.

Other sources said that one man was a civilian, and the other a Vietnamese army sergeant.

Calley returned to Chu Lai, headquarters of the Army's Americal Division, Thursday to gather defense evidence for use at his Ft. Benning, Ga., court-martial on the murder charges.

This huge American base was Calley's headquarters when he served in Vietnam as a platoon leader with the Americal Dvision at the time of the alleged massacre.

He continued to maintain his self-imposed rule of not talking to newsmen, despite numerous requests from reporters at Chu Lai for interviews.

Calley and his military attorney, Maj. Kenneth Raby; and the assistant prosecutor, Capt. John Partin, had planned to travel to Quang Ngai city, a provincial capital 18 miles south of Chu Lai, to gather depositions from Vietnamese witnesses and officials involved in the investigation of the My Lai affair.

But military sources at Da Nang, the major military headquarters for the northern sector of South Vietnam, said the torrential rains might continue until Tuesday or Wednesday.

All aircraft in and out of Chu Lai and Quang Ngai have been grounded. Quang Ngai airfield, just outside the city, is reportedly under three feet of water, with the level rising hourly.

Highway 1, which runs north and south from Chu Lai, was reported cut in both directions by the rising flood waters. In some places on the road, water was reported to be 14 feet deep.

Securities Theft Suspect Arrested

NEW YORK (UPI)—The FBI announced the arrest of a Las Vegas automobile salesman for allegedly transporting about $170,000 in stolen securities across state lines.

The federal agency said that James Levoy Satcher, 37, was arrested on a midtown street Thursday night after arriving from London.

The securities were stolen from a New York securities firm last August. Stacher will be arraigned in the southern district. If convicted he could get up to 10 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Charges Against Magazine Dismissed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Federal Trade Commission hearing examiner has dismissed charges that the Saturday Evening Post violated the law by offering its subscribers other magazines instead of refunds when it went out of business.

The examiner, Edgar A. Buttle, said refunds would have cost the post $20 million to $40 million and thrown the company into bankruptcy. His decision is subject to review or appeal by the full commission.

This Is The Season For Many Little Changes At Restaurants

This seems to be a season for restaurant changes.

Not big changes — but the brisker weather apparently inspires new ideas — in the menu, in remodeling, entertainment or hours and days of service. After the winter is over you can look for more changes — perhaps with some of the present ones being reversed.

IF YOU NOTICE some remodeling going on at Franchini's Chateau at Highway 101 and Lucas Valley Road, Niki Franchini has in mind installing a piano bar. This will be located at the right of the main doorway.

At the moment there is no telling how soon work will be completed and an entertainer selected — probably not until after Friday night crab cioppino dinners get well under way around the middle of November.

STARTING MONDAY, Don Johnson at the London Arms on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile will remain open seven days a week. This should extend at least through the winter when hot mulled wine is one of the season's specialties. Try it sometime when the weather is damp.

London Arms is the type of place you can visit many times and not lose interest in the people and the food — which speaks well for Don's fish and chips, Cornish pastries and friendly atmosphere. Any night you choose to take a count should show about 85 per cent of the customers as "regular visitors."

NEW ENTERTAINMENT is being featured at Holiday Inn at Terra Linda — the Lori English Duo. This is carried Wednesday through Saturday nights, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and starting earlier on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Lori English sings and plays the drums. Her pianist Bull Bullard has been working with her for the past 18 months. They have appeared at the Hungry I and Miako Hotel in San Francisco and Lori has been featured at the Petroleum Club in Calgary, Canada.

SAL IACHINO has a new trio of dinner specials at Romulus Italian Restaurant in San Rafael on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

These are prime rib at $4.25, veal scallopini at $3.50 and roast chicken $3.25. Prices are for a complete dinner, including antipasto, soup, salad, coffee and dessert. These specials are in addition to the regular dinner menu, which includes steak and lobster and a variety of Italian dishes. Baked lasagne is one of the biggest sellers here.

Romulus features two lunch specials every day at $1.50 — $1.75. They are changed from day to day and may include skirt steak, veal saute, stuffed bell pepper or any one of a number of dishes.

STARTING NEXT WEEK, Ramona's on C Street, San Rafael will start serving lunches again — but only on Tuesdays and Thursdays for the time being. This may be extended later. Hours of service those days will be straight through from noon to 10 p.m.

Ramona Stalling has just about decided to hold a Posadas ceremony again this Christmas season. But if she does, it won't include a "floor show." Says Ramona, "This is meant to be a religious ceremony for the children and can get out of hand if not handled right."

We'll know more about her plans in another two or three weeks.

BOOBY'S at 3741 Highway 101 north of San Rafael, which has been known primarily for its hamburgers at reasonable prices over the past three years, is now extending its food service to the morning hours.

Breakfast eaters will find a $1.50 repast served from 6 to 9 a.m. Mondays through Fridays which includes three eggs, link sausages, bacon and Idaho potatoes, plus hot buttered English muffin and jam. Coffee milk is 15 cents extra, but coffee refills are on the house. This may be extended into the weekends soon.

RON BRANDES, who operates the Bib 'n' Rib on the San Anslmo Miracle Mile and now has his own Missouri barbecue sauce featured in over 50 retail outlets in Marin County and San Francisco, recently had one case order from as far away as Saipan in the Marianas Islands. It just shows how word gets around. He plans now on expanding his marketing program. Who wouldn't, with such a potential?

Ron will have a new item for the holiday season — not his own product, but one straight from the Ozarks — a dry-cured country smoked ham. Hams will run about 12 pounds in weight and need not be refrigerated. In the Ozarks they are prepared by rubbing the cure into the meat by hand — not injecting it with a needle. You'll be able to try it out at the restaurant.

ANOTHER ANNIVERSARY PARTY (the eighth) will be held by McKee's in San Rafael Monday and Tuesday nights.

Jim and Jean McKee will serve a special anniversary dinner at $1.95 from 5 to 9 p.m., supervised by chef Don Caseldine, who has been off work recently because of illness but is returning for this special occasion. Entertainment will be by Gary Schneider at the Baldwin organ and although Tuesday is Election Day, closing the bar at that time is no longer necessary.

GORDON JONES informs me that Rubini's in Fairfax is not a member of the two-for-one coupon package — Marin Passport to Gourmet Dining.

Apparently there has been some misunderstanding as to the participating restaurants and the list is being checked by our display advertising department. I am told that an ad in tomorrow night's paper should give the correct information.

Rubini's is now featuring its Happy Hours period from 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesdays through Fridays. Double-size bar drinks go for $1 and hot and cold hors d'oeuvres are served.

GEORGE LOIZOS expects to open his new restaurant (where Cafe Bon Vin in San Anselmo has been located) the first of December. This is assuming that his wine and beer license is cleared by then and Fred Cherry has moved his Wine Discovery Shop to Sausalito.

George hasn't yet selected a name for his new operation but has several choices in mind. No lunches will be served for awhile and he'll be featuring dinners Wednesdays through Sundays. Dishes will be Mediterranean — Greek, Turkish, Italian, with perhaps some other specialties.

He will be assisted by his wife Bonnie and his father Angelo. All three are well experienced in the food business and this should turn out to be a pleasant and interesting family-type restaurant.

NO DOUBT you have eaten dinners at Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia and have enjoyed them. But have you ever tried the lunches here?

The chef's special is a juicy London broil with rice and salad at $2.25 and a number of fine omelets are featured — French onion, cheese, mushroom, with herbs and Basque style. With salad, French fries and coffee these run $1.95 — except the Basque omelet, which is more elaborate and $2.20. Another popular item is the chopped sirloin with onions.

Other selections for the midday meal include both hot and cold sandwiches, salads and crabs or shrimp louies.

Czech Leader Is Reported Removing Ultra-Leftists

VIENNA (UPI) — Czechoslovak Communist Party leader Gustav Husak is removing ultra-leftists from top posts in order to strengthen his own position, diplomatic sources said today.

After ousting supporters of his liberal predecessor Alexander Dubcek, Husak now is trying to get rid of hard line opponents who consider the earlier purges "too lenient", they said.

In a still-secret speech to district party officials last month Husak said the purges of Dubcek supporters should end, the sources said. He complained that some party organization—including the one in the Interior Ministry—overstepped its mark in the purges.

A total of 400,000 of the country's 1.4 million Communists were purged from the party this year, because of their support of the reformist Dubcek's course.

Husak has already fired two prominent hardliners, the sources said. Czech Interior Minister Josef Groesser, a leading leftist, was replaced by moderate Josef Jung. A few days later, Gen. Otakar Rytir, a staunch opponent of the reformists, was ousted as liaison officer with the Soviet troops temporarily stationed in Czechoslovakia.

The sources said Husak also rejected the leftist demands to try eight prominent intellectuals who had attacked the 1968 Soviet military intervention in leaflets. The trial, scheduled for Oct. 15, was postponed for "an indefinite period" at the last minute.

Ludek Pachmann, a chess grand champion and two other defendants—historian Jan Tesar and sociologist Rudolf Battek — were released last week from jail where they had been kept for more than a year.

Husak has pledged repeatedly that there would be no political trials in Czechoslovakia.

The sources said Husak is expected to demand further purges of Orthodox Communists in the next central committee meeting to strengthen the position of his own moderate supporters. The meeting originally was scheduled for September but was postponed twice.

It is expected now to convene in the second half of November.

5,000 Extra Tanks Stockpiled By NATO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-priority administration review has turned up the fact the United States and its NATO allies have about 5,000 more tanks in Europe than Pentagon officials knew about, the Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said the extra tanks had been stockpiled in West Germany for years as potential replacements for operational tanks knocked out in battle. It said they had not been included in Pentagon planning estimates of NATO armored units, however.

Consequently, the newspaper said, the Pentagon had considered the NATO allies to be badly outgunned by the forces of the Soviet Union and its Eastern European Warsaw Pact allies.

The reserve tanks, most of which are the latest models, could almost double NATO's tank strength, the report said.

The Post said discovery of the dimensions of the reserve tank force was said to have "stunned civilian and military defense officials at the highest levels."

SOMEWHERE IN ISRAEL

Beard Posts Bail After Arraignment

Black Panther Brian V. Beard, unsuccessful candidate for the Sausalito School District board in June, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a robbery charge.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. reduced Zeard's bail from $12,500 to $1,500. Beard posted it and was released from jail.

Beard and another Marin City man, Richard Charles Hamilton, 25, are accused of robbing two Ohio men in Sousalito Oct. 22.

The out-of-state pair said that Beard and Hamilton offered to drive them to a restaurant when they couldn't find a taxi. In the parking lot of the restaurant the men said that when one of them pulled out his wallet to pay Beard and Hamilton for the ride, Beard grabbed the wallet and pulled off the man's wrist watch.

The victims managed to grab Hamilton ond call police, but Beard fled and was later identified from pictures.

Trio Nabbed In Novato As Pot Suspects

Three people were arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana in two separate cases today, Novato police reported.

Stephen Wayne Stewart, 20, of 223 San Felipe Way, Novato, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $215 bail to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Cuzner and Stewart were found asleep in their car at the end of San Jose Boulevard at 2:10 a.m. today, police reported, saying they found a substance thought to be marijuana in the car. Police also held Stewart on suspicion of possession of a fraudulent document or identification card.

Kathy Rucker was arrested when police found a plastic bag with a substance thought to be marijuana in her car stopped on Center Road at Wilmac Court at 2:03 a.m. today, according to police reports.

Tear Gas Weapon Arraignment Held

Terrence D. Maguire, 24, of San Francisco, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of having a tear gas weapon when arrested by the California Highway Patrol Saturday.

His case was continued to next Thursday for entry of plea to the felony.

Maguire was first booked into jail on outstanding traffic warrants and a search revealed a pen containing tear gas, officers said.

Blaze At White House West Routs President

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon was routed from his bedroom in his pajamas Thursday night by a minor fire which spread smoke throughout the Spanish style villa which serves as the Western White House.

White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon moved to a guest house on the five-acre estate and spent the night there.

"At no time was the president in any danger," Ziegler said.

The press secretary said the fire, which he described as "very minor," was started by an overheated fireplace which ignited a wooden portion of the thick dining room wall.

Ziegler said the fire broke out at 11:25 p.m. PST, shortly after Nixon had gone to bed following an exhausting day of compaigning which included a shower of stones, eggs, and bottles hurled at the president by demonstrators in San Jose.

Other members of the Nixon family were not at the Western White House when the blaze broke out. Mrs. Nixon spent the night in Washington and flew this morning to California to join the President at a rally tonight in Anaheim. Julie Nixon Eisenhower also was in Washington.

Tricia Nixon made an unscheduled overnight stay at Grand Forks, N.D., because of tire trouble on the plane that was to return her to Washington Thursday night.

Ziegler said the fire was detected by Mrs. Fina Sanchez, the wife of Nixon's personal valet. Fire trucks from the San Clemente and Camp Pendleton Marine Corps fire departments responded within six minutes and extinguished the flames, Ziegler said.

Ziegler said damage was minor, charring only a small portion of the dining room ceiling and wall but he added, "there was extensive smoke throughout the president's residence."

Ziegler said the fire apparently started from the fireplace in the President's second floor study. The fireplace overheated and ignited part of the common wall which runs from the first floor dining room up to the study on the second floor.

Arraignment On Felony Battery Count

Carl Ove Smith, 21, of 1290 Leafwood Drive, Novato, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of battery upon a police officer during a fracas following an auto accident earlier in the day.

Novato police said that while they were investigating an accident which occurred at 12:35 a.m. at Grant and Railroad avenues, Smith unaccountably punched Sgt. Richard H. Rudy in the face.

Smith and a companion, James F. Pate, 23, also of Novato, had been thrown from the rear of a pickup truck as it was turning a corner at the intersection.

Pate suffered a concussion and was treated at Novato General Hospital, but Smith was uninjured. The alleged attack on the officer occurred when an argument broke out between Smith and an unidentified witness.

The officer said that when he asked the witness to stop cursing, Smith hit him.

Yippies Say Leary Will Slip Into U.S.

PARIS (UPI)—A delegation of the Youth International Party (Yippies) just returned from Algiers said today that fugitive drug advocate Timothy Leary would appear at a Black Panther meeting at New Haven, Conn. next Tuesday.

The Yippie representatives laughed when asked at a news conference how Leary would slip in and out of the United States and said: "We're not going to tell you that."

They said Leary had "definitely" been granted political asylum in Algeria and would make his living from writing books.

Three members of a 12-man Yippie delegation which has been touring Europe and the Middle East and Africa appeared at the news conference at the American Students and Artists Center near Montparnasse.

They were Jerry Rubin, 30, of Cincinnati, Ohio, awaiting an appeals trial from a contempt of court sentence growing out of the 1968 Chicago riots; Stew Albert, 31, and Brian Flanagan, 27, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Folksinger Phil Ochs, of Cincinnati, played the guitar, sang antiwar songs, but did not speak. Another delegation member, Abbie Hoffman, reportedly sick with bronchitis in his hotel room, did not attend. He also is awaiting an appeal trial stemming from the 1968 Democratic convention riots.

Rubin said he himself did not go to Algiers because U.S. authorities would not allow him to travel to countries with which the United States does not have diplomatic relations, pending his appeal.

The Yippies said they were traveling around Europe to enlist students as Yippies in an international plan "to defeat American imperialism." Rubin said they were working closely with the Black Panther Party and that they regarded Eldridge B. Cleaver, "information minister" of the party in Algeria, "as our ambassador."

British Lethal Gas Stockpile—100 Pounds

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's entire stockpile of nerve gas consists of about 100 pounds stored in an old underground air raid shelter separated from the world by a series of filters and a rabbit named Joe.

And none of the lethal gas has been manufactured in the country in more than two years.

This was the picture painted for newsmen Thursday when the Ministry of Defense, mindful of the recent uproar over nerve gas in the United States, opened its chemical warfare plant to the press for the first time.

It is located on an 800-acre former Royal Air Force base at Nancekuke on the Cornwall Coast, about 100 miles southeast of London. A high security fence shields it from the outside world.

Nevile Gadsby, director of the Chemical Defense Establishment of the Defense Ministry, said the ministry decided to hold the tour to allay anxiety about what he described as "extravagant rumors.'

Newsmen were told that the 157 employees at Nancekuke spend most of their efforts on evaluating products developed outside Britain that are a potential threat in the hands of an enemy and in producing CS nausea gas and an antidote to nerve gas.

Nacekuke, operating on an annual budget of about $799,200 produced its last batch of nerve gas in February 1968, Gadsby said.

The plant is actually a number of metal buildings, each with one or several high chimneys through which carefully filtered fumes from laborotories are released.

About 100 pounds of nerve gas — Britain's entire stockpile according to Gadsby — is stored in special drums underground in a former air raid shelter.

Ventilation from the shelter is continually monitored by a rabbit named Joe through whose glass-walled house any fumes must pass.

Scintists examine the rabbit every couple of hours for any unusual signs indicating that there may be a leak.

"He is the most important thing on this site," said one ministry official. "He is an invaluable asset."

Homing Pigeon Tells When Junior's Safe

HOUGHTON, England (UPI) —Ten-year-old Stuart Griffiths' mother has a unique way of knowing that he arrived in school safely after bicyling four miles from home. She just waits for the homing pigeon the boy carries in his school bag and releases immediately upon his arrival.

"I must say it's a source of relief to us," says Mrs. Griffiths.

Times, News Face Imminent Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Newspaper Guild Thursday night set Monday at 6 a.m. as a strike deadline against either The New York Times or the Daily News, the city's only morning newspapers. The target for the pre-Election Day walkout will be decided "at the last minute."

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the guild, said the union would strike the paper with the most unsolved problems in the current contract negotiations. He said there would be no walkout if agreements were reached at both papers.

But Murphy described the outlook for a settlement as "very bleak" and added, "As of today, I've got to believe there's no way out of a strike."

War Relic Used

FUKUOKA, Japan (UPI) — The two sections of a Japanese destroyer which was split in half by U.S. torpedoes during World War II now serve as the foundation for a 2,296-foot breakwater at the entrance to the Hibikinada Sea off Northern Kyushu, Japan's southern island.

Army Reverses Murder Count

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army said Friday that the judge advocate general will appoint an officer to determine whether Green Beret Capt. John J. McCarthy Jr. will be retired for the 1967 murder of an alleged Vietnamese "double agent."

McCarthy, who was sentenced to 24 years in prison after his 1968 conviction, is now stationed at Ft. Huachuaca, Ariz.

McCarthy's conviction was invalidated Thursday by a three-judge Army court of military review.

Quentin Alerted For Election Day Strike

San Quentin State Prison was alerted today for a possible general strike by inmates on election day in response to a list of demands that have circulated throughout the state prison system.

However, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said that rumblings of strikes go through the prison four or five times a year and only about one in 10 develops into anything.

The document listing 31 demands — some calls for reform and others revolutionary propaganda according to Park — calls for a strike by California's 25,600 state prison inmates on Nov. 3.

Such a strike would not disrupt the functioning of the prisons, Park said, since the inmates have the day off anyway. Park said prison officials are prepared for any trouble.

Apparently the document was prepared somewhere in Sacramento by students and militants and released early this week, Park said. "We have not yet seen any demands and so forth for our prisoners," he said.

Demands in the document range from more black counselors to freeing all condemned men and political and war prisoners to Communist countries. Twelve of the 15 prisoners named are not in California State Prisons, Park noted.

Park said the list circulated through the prisons named Huey P. Newton of the Black Panther Party, attorney Charles Garry and Sal Candelaria, reportedly a Brown Beret, as a team to negotiate the demands.

Richardson Bay Red Tide Is Mass Of Harmless Dye

Alarmed citizens who called the San Francisco Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board to report a red tide in Richardson Bay will be relieved to learn the mass of color is harmless dye.

The board, with assistance from the federal and state governments, is discharging the dye through the Mill Valley and Richardson Bay sewage treatment plants.

The purpose of the study, according to Fred H. Dierker, the board's executive officer, is to determine "the sewage dispersion characteristics and dilution capability of Richardson Bay."

Its results, he said, will help the board define dispersal problems and permit more adequate regulation of waste discharges into the bay.

The dye, which is nontoxic and will not harm the environment, will be released through next week, Dierker said.

Staggering Amount Of U.S. Driving

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Americans drove enough miles on the highways last year to equal more than 2 million round trips to the moon.

The staggering total, as reported by the National Automobile Club, is 1,070,000,000,000 — one trillion, 70 billion miles. Two years ago the nation's motorists broke through the trillion mark for the first time and in 1969 topped that by 5.4 per cent.

Innocent Plea On Drug Counts

Donald Joseph Padilla, 23, of Tamalpais Valley pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing LSD for sale and possessing marijuana.

Padilla was arrested Wednesday after he sought to reclaim a sack containing what appeared to be $30,000 worth of LSD as well as some marijuana which had been found in shrubbery near his home.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—One week before the election, Gov. Ronald Reagan continued to hold a big lead over Assemblyman Jess Unruh, while Rep. John Tunney appeared to be pulling away from Sen. George Murphy, the California Poll reported today.

Pollster Mervin D. Field also reported that the Max Rafferty-Wilson Riles race for state school superintendent is a toss-up, while Evelle Younger continues to cling to a narrow lead in the fight for the attorney general's job.

Field said that a three-day cross-section survey completed Tuesday night showed Reagan with 49 per cent and Unruh with 37 per cent. The rest were undecided or supporting other candidates.

The figures are identical to those of last May, although Reagan had widened his margin in between.

The poll showed that while Reagan maintains his huge margin among Republicans (83-9), it is the fact that he only trails Unruh 58-25 among Democrats that may bring him victory.

"His (Unruh's) poor showing in this campaign has been due primarily to his inability to muster anything like the full potential voting strength of the Democratic party in California," Field asserted.

Tunney leads Murphy 48-41 in the U. S. Senate race. Since Murphy held a 45-41 lead last May, successive polls have showed the scales swinging slowly but steadily toward Tunney.

In the race for school superintendent, the poll reported that it called "one of the most dramatic shifts in voter opinion ever measured by the California Poll in a quarter century ..."

It gives challenger Riles a 43-42 edge over Rafferty. Only last August, Rafferty led 54-29. The poll suggested that an endorsement by San Francisco State College President S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley was a major boost to Riles' campaign.

Calvin Peck, 47, of 443 Calle De La Mesa, Novato, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital yesterday for head cuts suffered in an accident on D Street extension near El Rose Drive, Petaluma.

Unruh Calls Reagan Guard Order 'Political Grandstanding' Tactic

HUNTINGTON BEACH (UPI)—Democratic challenger Jess Unruh says it's "political grandstanding" by Gov. Ronald Reagan to order up National Guardsmen election night to protect candidates. Unruh planned today to fly to Fresno, San Francisco and Sacramento for campaign discussions of higher property taxes. (See Reagan story, page 20.)

The Democratic gubernatorial candidate reacted indignantly Thursday when told that the governor was summoning the guardsmen to duty.

"Neither the governor, nor the governor's staff nor anyone else has bothered to tell me that candidates were in any trouble, that there was any threat on anyone's life," he said.

"I think the governor had an obligation to have called us first," he said. "regardless of the necessity or not, it's political grandstanding."

Reagan told a Sacramento news conference that because of "the general atmosphere and the threats from radical groups" he was calling up guardsmen — in plainclothes with protection experience—to watch political candidates.

"I would have thought that if there were threats that necessitated calling out the National Guard that the governor would have had the decency to call me and to call the other candidates," he said.

"I have no evidence of any intent of violence," Unruh added. "If he has the evidence, then we should have been told about it before."

The Democratic nominee also said that the National Guard "has not offered us any protection at this point," but declined to say whether he would take it if it was offered.

"I have absolutely no evidence that that's necessary," he said, "but on the contrary, I don't have access to those facts."

Reagan Expresses Contempt For Anti-Nixon Protesters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today condemned violence that broke out at President Nixon's visit to San Jose and said "there is absolutely no justification for such intolerable behavior."

The Republican governor called the incidents "another example of the tactics used by those who refuse to recognize that ous system is the last remaining bulwark for freedom. They seek to tear down and destroy, rather than build a better world for all of us."

He said they "cast a shadow upon the hundreds of other young people who participated with respect at the rally for President Nixon and Senator (George) Murphy."

"As for the others—the relatively small band which engaged in the violence, I express my contempt on behalf of the citizens of California."

Reagan issued the statement early today at his hotel after arriving from San Jose. The incidents occured at the San Jose Municipal Auditorium where Nixon and Reagan appeared Thursday night at a rally to boost Murphy's reelection campaign.

About 1,000 protestors were outside the auditorium, chanting anti-war slogans. Eggs, rocks and bottles were thrown at the presidential car.

Petition Drive To Call Vote On Dope

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A group known as LUCHA, the League of United Citizens to Help Addicts, said Thursday it has collected 97,000 signatures on a petition calling for a special election to reform the state penal code.

LUCHA, which means "fight" or "battle" in Spanish, wants to revise narcotics laws to classify drug addiction as a socio-medical disease.

Spokesman Edward Aguirre said addicts need a complete educational, vocational and job placement service.

In order to qualify for the ballot, LUCHA must obtain signatures of 500,000 registered voters.

- I believe, that contrary to the current trend, it is time that people who choose to violate the law must be held accountable for their actions!
- Bail and probation are a constitutional right and a valuable tool toward rehabilitation; but once an individual has chosen to violate the terms of his probation or he fails to appear as directed by the court, I believe that he has forfeited the right to consideration of additional bail or again being granted probation.
- The apprehension of repeat offenders in our Marin County drug sub-culture stands as a frightening testimony to the urgent need for re-evaluation.
- I firmly believe that the Court has a dual responsibility in protecting the constitutional rights of the accused, WITHOUT jeopardizing the safety and well-being of society as a whole.

Clausen Asks Balance In Land Acquisition

The Point Reyes National Seashore is "one of the great conservation successes" of all time, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, told the Marin Property Owners Association yesterday.

But he said Congress must toil to standardize property acquisition procedures and make condemnation actions uniform nationwide. "What happens now, if you're condemned and try to go out and pick up comparable acreage?" he cautioned the 175 property owners in the audience.

He said the revisions must apply not only to highway rights-of-way, but to all acreage acquired for public use. Clausen offered to let public officials in the audience use material uncovered at Congressional hearings on the problem.

Turning to other recent Washington action, Clausen reported that up to $13 billion has been committed for mass transit development within the next 10 years. He said $3 billion was authorized in a bill passed just before Congress adjourned.

"We will not get involved in rolling stock," Clausen explained, but the program does include designation of special bus lanes on federal highways, and programs for building terminals and other facilities, for such problems as "the traffic crunch on the Golden Gate Bridge."

However, "I'm very disenchanted with the way the current leadership of Congress has been conducting its affairs," Clausen said. He criticized holding Congress in session until less than a month before election day, and said the lawmakers will have to return next month to work on highway, rivers, and harbors and other key 1970 legislation.

Clausen said one of the most urgent problems is "what kind of priority can we set to get the maximum good out of the tax dollar. We need not only tax reform but also revenue allocation revision . . . the property tax burder is at the limit."

Declaring, "I don't know how we can be nonpartisan," Clausen rapped "fantastic escalation" of federal spending programs in the 1960s. He warned the $5 billion welfare outlay nationwide in 1970 will mushroom to $12 billion by 1975 unless programs are launched to "make tax eaters into taxpayers."

He decried the fact that crime is costing the U.S. $51 billion, and stressed his opposition to communist and socialist efforts in the U.S. "If people . . . want those sort of things, I suggest we give them a one-way ticket to the country of their choice," Clausen said.

Special awards were presented to retiring Supervisor William A. Gnoss and former county planning commission chairman Niels Schultz Jr., for their long public service.

Random House Sets John O'Hara Book

NEW YORK (UPI)—Random House has commissioned Matthew J. Bruccoli, an authority on Ernest Hemingway and F. Scott Fitzgerald, to write a 300,000-word biography of the late John O'Hara.

Bruccoli is a professor of English at the University of South Carolina and is editor of the Fitzgerald-Hemingway Annual. The book is scheduled for completion in 1972 and will be edited by Albert Erskine, O'Hara's editor.

Ecology Backers Unearth Auto; Will Be Crushed

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—The same San Jose State ecology activists who buried a new Ford Maverick in February dug it up Thursday.

The students unearthed the car with a large crane and placed the hulk of the once shiny body on a flat bed truck.

It was sent off to a scrap metal company to be crushed into a compact block of metal to be used as the cornerstone for the first rapid transit station in the county.

Project leader Rich Beadle said "the original concept was good, as far as it went. We pointed out, somewhat sensationally, the ecological evils of the automobile and the necessity for an alternative mode of transportation. However, we didn't go far enough."

Beadle said crushing the car represented the need for a yes vote on a local measure that would establish a rapid transit system.

Besides, the school had asked that the car be dug up so that the space could be used for an air conditioning unit.

Guild Members That Weave Together

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Tamalpais Weavers' Guild is celebrating its 10th anniversary this fall — thanks largely to the efforts of its founder and first president, Mrs. Betty Holcombe of San Anselmo.

"On our 10th anniversary," Mrs. Holcombe says, "there are still 12 of the original 31 members active in the guild, which I organized by inviting students in the late Marianne Rauschnabel's weaving class at the College of Marin to a pot luck picnic at the home of Mrs. Stanley Purdom in Nicasio. Our first official meeting was held on Aug. 16 at the College of Marin, and in September membership was opened to all interested."

REVIEWING THE accomplishments of the guild, Mrs. Holcombe said, "The guild has participated in the Conference of Northern California Handweavers annually since 1961 and was also hostess to the conference in 1963 and 1968. Since that year we have participated in the fair at the Marin Art and Garden Center, winning quite a few blue ribbons for our garden, including the top award this year for 'Best of Show in Amateur Gardens.' We have also participated in the Sausalito, Mill Valley and San Francisco Art Festivals.

"Though our main purpose is to promote interest and high standards in weaving, we are a very congenial social group, with special parties planned in the summer and at Christmas that include husbands and friends.

"We are eager to welcome new members," Mrs. Holcombe says, "and invite anyone interested to attend our meetings. We meet the third Tuesday of each month at 7:45 p.m. at Terra Linda High School. Mrs. Richard Kirkendall is our current president."

One is not likely to meet anyone devoted more single-mindedly to a hobby than Betty Holcombe, who keeps abreast of weaving interest through membership in many weaving guilds in this country, Canada, Australia and England.

LOCALLY SHE is a member of the Gravander Spinners in Mill Valley, where she formerly lived, the Loom and Shuttle Guild of the Bay Area and the Cruickshank Tapestry Weavers, which meets in Marin.

She organized the last group, naming it, as a result of a workshop with the late Ronald Cruickshank, for the Scottish weaver who worked in both Gobelin and Aubusson factories in France.

"We use the Gobelin techniques and vertical looms in our work in this guild," Betty says.

The weaving enthusiast has developed her skill under leading weavers, such as Malin Selander of Sweden, Else Regensteiner of the Chicago Art Institute, Stanley Zielinski of Quebec, Canada, Polly Yuri of Lake Almanor, Ida Grae of Mill Valley, and at the Penland School of Crafts in North Carolina and the College of Marin.

SHE HAS been a chairman of the Conference of Northern California Weavers and was co-chairman and program chairman for the conference in San Francisco in 1968.

Presently on the board of directors of the new National Weaving Organization, Handweavers Guild of America, she is chairman of its steering committee.

"I'm a weaver, spinner, dyer and my newest hobby is bobbin lace,' Betty says. "I hope eventually to form a Marin group of " 'Bobbin Lacers'."

MRS. BETTY Holcombe, founder and first president of the Tamalpais Weavers' Guild, which is celebrating its 10th anniversary, is a leader in many weaving organizations. She is working on an abstract black and white tapestry using the same techniques as those employed in the famed Gobelin tapestries.

Marin Women

Status Of Asian Women Compared

A report on the status of women in Japan, Korea and the Philippines was of special interest in her talk on international problems given by Mrs. Russell E. Wallace yesterday afternoon for the Sausalito Woman's Club.

World problems chairman both the California State and national organizations of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Wallace, who lives in Mill Valley, escorted the group of 26 American university women who joined members of the International Federation of University Women for seminars and a tour of the above named countries and Hong Kong.

The women they visited were the "Creme De La Creme of their countries," she said, for only a small percentage of women go to college, and most of them had master's or doctorate degrees and were leaders in government, education, business, law or medicine.

For the most part, women in Japan are thought of as "delicate sweet-scented flowers who are always at the man's side, largely in the home," she remarked.

The role of women in Japan and Korea, she noted, is affected by the social structure throughout the Orient that is built on inequality rather than equality, according to a higher and lower echelon for all aspects of life and relationships. This, she believes, is a result of Confucianism.

SHE SAID the distinctions are integrated into the language, which expresses by different verb endings and other means such relationships as younger-older, boss-secretary and the like. She found there is even a special "women's language," which has more expressions of politeness which men do not use. It is a more flowery dialect, she said.

Mrs. Wallace said she was amused by one fourth generation Christian woman — about 45 to 55 — who said, "I do not use the women's language. My friends are shocked about this."

Mrs. Wallace explained that Japanese women seem to want to be modern and to be modern means to emulate the United States.

"This woman," she observed, "said she was very Americanized. I didn't ask her what she meant by Americanized, fearing it might mean being quite rude and leaving out all the polite expressions."

The women, especially a group of members of the Japanese Association of University Women who met the Americans graciously at 5:30 a.m., impressed her with how open, friendly and emotional they were.

"They were, however, very touchy about the lack of information about Japan among their visitors since they knew everything about the United States." Mrs. Wallace attributed this to the early show of English in their schools, the American post-war occupation and the fact that so many were graduates of American universities.

Her conclusion was that the role of women in Japan is changing but more slowly than might appear from the first glimpse you get of Japan.

"THE POSITION of Korean women," Mrs. Wallace said,

Little Goblins Of Tiburon And Belvedere Are In For A Treat

By MOLLY MARIN

A big open house for little goblins (just those who live in Belvedere or Tiburon and are under 10 years old) will be held on Halloween at Mr. and Mrs. Mark Noble's home on Crest Road in Belvedere. For the fifth year, they will welcome costumed spooks to bob for apples and then dry off with a huge stack of towels, taste the apple cider, converse with a skeleton which rises from an old trunk (voice by Mark Noble), visit a witch brewing a cauldron of dry ice and explore a spook house.

Holly Noble, who will serve hot cider and brandy to the goblins' parents, explains the haunt evolved as a means of attracting more Halloween fun to her house, because the first Halloween they lived on Crest Road only a few children came. About 300 people are expected on Saturday night!

Thinking of her daughters, 4 and 6, Holly says, "Adults forget how much Halloween means to children, but it's almost as important as Christmas."

A WITCH will serve the punch from a steaming cauldron when the children who live in the apartment building at 260 Canal Street in San Rafael arrive for the building's third

ANIMAL PORTRAITIST

She Insists On A Live Interview

By PAT BALMES

Lily Fast, nationally known animal portraitist, moved to Marin last May and began to paint horses for the first time. She is exhibiting her oil paintings of Marin horses at the 1970 Grand National Horse Show at the Cow Palace this week.

"You get to know horses if you sit around on them and move them when you're little," she says.

Teaching herself to paint horses, Lily studied them in their pastures and made clay models to experiment with bone structure.

"HORSES' BONES cannot be disguised by fur, as dogs' sometimes are," says Mrs. Carl Fast, who until now has specialized in dog portraits.

"I want to get an impression of the horse's personality," the artist explains. "I insist upon seeing the animal."

She trudged through deep mud to interview a stolid black Morgan.

"I make a polaroid picture and then a pencil sketch. From these I paint the oil portrait in my studio in my home."

Lily takes her finished painting back to the pasture to check the color of the coat. She finds horses are quiet in their homes. Her dog subjects were much more nervous when brought to her studio.

ONE OF Lily's first horse portraits hangs in the office of the San Francisco police chief. Her subject was Fred, a Morgan prized by the San Francisco mounted police for his courage in dashing into the surf to save drowning swimmers. In April, 1962 Sgt. Frank Rafferty dashed Fred, the surfer, into the ocean to throw a lariat to a 15-year-old swimmer. Fred dragged the boy back to the beach.

LILY FAST puts finishing strokes on an oil painting of two Arabian horses owned by Mrs. Ted Draper of Santa Rosa, which is part of her exhibit this week at the 1970 Grand National Horse Show at the Cow Palace. A nationally-known portraitist of almost every kind of animal, Lily moved to Marin in May. Here she became interested in specializing in horses.

Television Sells Store Goods; Kids Downgrade Homemade Gifts

DEAR HELEN:

With Christmas not too far away, perhaps you could print something about the relative value of gifts. Our society tends to place a monetary value on everything, so it's no wonder kids pick it up. Have you noticed how every kiddy television program promotes the most expensive toys, dolls, games — even cereal — not necessarily the best?

We operate a foster home and on birthdays and holidays we run into the problem of how to help these youngsters select gifts for their families — with whom there are often close ties. Now, maybe the fact that they've been kicked around a bit has something to do with it, but we're constantly surprised at how much emphasis they place on the monetary tag.

The other day our little foster daughter was worrying about Christmas presents for her mother and dad and six brothers and sisters, all scattered in foster homes. I suggested that she get busy early and make cookies or candy. Helen, she laughed in my face. She would rather not give anything, she said, than "cheap homemade stuff." (As you know foster money is limited —we can afford ingredients for baking, but not $5.00 gifts.)

For years our own family has had fun with Christmas cooking. Some of our nicest memories are of opening those boxes of fancy gingerbread men and other treats. Should I try to persuade our foster child that gifts from the heart are better than those from the pocketbook? My husband says we have offered, and been refused, so now we should forget it and let her search for store-bought things she can't afford. We love her as one of our own. At age 11, are her values set beyond change? — OLD-FASHIONED

DEAR O.F.:

Argument doesn't rub in values, but you'll be surprised how fast they rub off on your foster daughter as she watches the fun of Christmas giving at your house.

I'll bet a gingerbread man to a snickerdoodle that by the middle of December she'll be as involved in holiday cooking as you are. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm shocked at you, Helen. You seemed to condone an adulterous live-in arrangement between a soon-to-be-divorced man and the woman he intends to marry "when he's free." When the man's father wouldn't speak to him because of this, you agreed with his mother that the attitude is hypocritical, inasmuch as he had always liked and approved of his son's future bride.

Adultery is adultery, whether it's an "adult decision that harms no one vitally" or not. That father has more sense than the rest of you combined. — SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED:

Sorry, you read me wrong. To condone or condemn wasn't the question, since the decision had already been made.

I simply agreed with the wife that her husband should not expect to resume friendship after the marriage with a son he had all but disowned before. Snubs aren't that easily erased.

How much less hypocritical to say, "While I'm disturbed about your choice, I care for both of you very much . . . and here's to an early wedding! Right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This letter about father and son marrying daughter and wife reminds me of "Mark Twain's Puzzle": He wrote — I married a widow with a grown daughter. My father fell in love with my step-daughter and married her, thus becoming my son-in-law and my step-daughter became my mother because she was my Dad's wife.

My wife gave birth to a son, which was, of course, my father's brother-in-law and my uncle for he was the brother of my step-mother. My father's wife became the mother of a son. He was, then, my brother and also my grandchild for he was the son of my daughter.

Accordingly, my wife was a grandmother because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time. And as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather — I AM MY OWN GRANDPA READER

"is much farther behind than that of the Japanese women. The birth rate in Korea is one of the highest in the world. The women have large families, not because of religion but because women with large families are traditionally honored. Birth control programs are making headway very slowly.

"It is an agrarian culture. Daughters are put over the wall of orphanages to be brought up until they can come back to work on the farm or get money for the family somehow."

Mrs. Wallace described one young woman, a Fulbright scholar at the University of Chicago, who had been forced to come back to a marriage arranged by her family — just like the Chinese system.

"Fortunately her husband was a little bit more modern," she commented. "When she had two sons, the family was allowed to have their own home. Our meeting that she attended was the first time she had been allowed out at night."

Many bright young women like this have received help through the international fellowships program of the AAUW. The situation was somewhat different in the Philippines, Mrs. Wallace found.

THERE THE average family has seven children, and there are many of 13 to 15, she said, but women have a much greater role than in other Asian countries. — MPS

Computer Monitor Tells Company To Keep Hemlines Below Knee

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — A fashion firm that follows the dictates of customers via continuous computerized-monitoring is keeping hemlines over the knee, at the midcalf, and, sometimes, down to the floor for spring.

The obedience to computer reports on customer tastes was reflected throughout the spring collection of the Joan Leslie Fashions Inc., designed by Kasper.

John Pomerantz, president of the Joan Leslie division of Leslie Fay Inc., a fashion conglomerate with nine subdivisions, said the midcalf and below-the-knee hem lengths were also in the Jasper designated fall and winter offerings.

"We've been great," he said, making note of the fact that this variety of lengths hasn't hurt business in the current fashion season.

Pomerantz said in its price range, $75 to $225, the firm is the biggest in the market.

"Via our computers we know what is selling and what is selling well in various sections of the country," he said.

He indicated that the modus operandi must be correct for the firm's stock hasn't slumped like those of some other fashion houses.

For spring, the Kasper collection reflects also the effect of flower children in their granny dresses — shaping up as one influence for late afternoon and evening clothes.

The high necked, long sleeved, floor sweeping dresses are reminiscent of styles worn by women at the turn of the century. In other fashion shows during the last several weeks, the old fashioned style made new fashioned by the flower children cropped up repeatedly. Fashion accents with these and other country girl outfits included white boots with floral patterns appliqued on them, shoulderwide straw hats—and more.

Evening Handbags

Handbag designer Hilde Walborg believes in sending off evening dresses in a blaze and she has created a group of glittering bags to do just that. A cyclinder, both small and large, is completely paved in rhinestones and has a lift-up lid that is a delicate expression of open-work metal. A pouch, also rhinestone paved, has a lift-up frame for easy interior access and a rounded fluid appearance.

Gold Meters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Among the more than 38 million residential gas customers of utility companies, there probably are fewer than 100 customers with genuine gold-plated meters. According to meter-maker Rockwell Manufacturing Company, gold meters are installed only to honor "milestone" customers. These may be the 10,000th 100,000th or half-millionth customer added to company lines, depending on the size and age of the utility involved.

ON BEING BLACK

First Black On The Job Is Expected To Be Perfect

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

Black firsts are happening in all fields. The first black big league quarterback, the first black mayor, the first black congresswoman, the first black television series star, the first black beauty queen, the first black Nobel Prize winner, the first black President (whoops, scratch that last one).

Locally, there are such firsts as the first black salesman in a department store, the first black secretary for a local firm, the first black secretary for a local firm, the first black teacher or principal in a school and the first black family in a neighborhood.

Black firsts are an interesting phenomenon, an attention-drawing special attraction. Like the dancing bear in a side show. People watch this curiosity dance and are surprised and even applaud the fact that he performs — just like a human.

This should not be considered unusual, for we Americans have long applauded firsts — the first man to walk on the moon and so on. It just so happens (for obvious reasons) that America's first firsts have been whites. Blacks, at this late date, are second firsts.

The fact that such a category exists says a great deal about the depth of our racial complex.

ONE CANNOT deny that firsts are necessary to get any project into motion. Not only that, firsts precede seconds, thirds and so on. So the need for black firsts cannot be dismissed.

But many of those who fall into the first-black category — unimpressed with the distinction — made some interesting statements about their prestigious positions:

A secretary — "My coworkers are overly polite and cautious around me. It makes me nervous."

A salesman — "Everyone is waiting for me to make a mistake. Man, I wouldn't give them the satisfaction. During business hours I definitely TCB (take care of business)!"

A major league ball player — "I know the second or third black can do just as well as I'm doing. Maybe better. I guess that's what all the black-white hullaballoo is about. Whites know this, too."

A manager — "I still hate the thought of white paternalism. It's kind of hard on your ego. Even when you're prepared and qualified, you can't help but wonder if you are just that sought after 'black ornament.'"

AN ENTERTAINER — "The responsibility to other blacks is overwhelming. When I know my people dig me, I think twice about what I do and say. I'd hate to let these people down."

A young executive — "I'm an odd cat. I do my job and well, I think. But there's no one else — black or white — out from my mold."

There's a general feeling here that "how I perform may affect the chances of those blacks coming after me." These folks don't want others to form opinions about all blacks based upon them.

It's unfortunate that society has placed such a heavy burden upon the shoulders of these black firsts.

Clean Over Door

Self-cleaning ovens are a work saver, but remember that the area around the outside of the door heat seal is not cleaned automatically. A sponge soaked in hot soap or detergent suds is needed to keep this part of the range as spotless as the shiny oven.

ON THE AGENDA

'Girls As Human Beings' Is Leadership Training Topic

"Girls as Human Beings" will be the topic of Charles Lavaroni, who will speak at the Thursday meeting of the Tamalpais District of Camp Fire Girls and its leadership training group. The meeting will take place at 9:30 a.m. at the Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

All Camp Fire Girl leaders and interested parents are invited to attend.

Director of teacher training at Dominican College, Lavaroni has been a teacher, principal and assistant superintendent in public schools.

District chairman Mrs. Donald Miller will preside. Mrs. Henry Bigall, chairman of the leadership training group, arranged the program. Assisting are Mmes. Jack Feldman, Blue Bird chairman; Gerald Gustafson, Camp Fire chairman; and Robert Stager, junior high chairman.

TWENTY-YEAR pins have been presented to seven members of the Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary 7816, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Mrs. Ward L. Peters of Carl H. Krey Auxiliary 1123 of Vallejo made the presentations.

Mmes. Marie Westlund, Ralph Eckhardt, George Scherba, Charles Thompson, Grover Owen and Harold Harker, all charter members of the auxiliary were given the pins.

J. F. HUFFAKER and C. W. Kuhn will be guest speakers at the Weeders and Seeders Group of the Novato Newcomers Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Carl Ferreira in Novato at noon Monday.

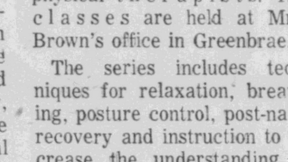
Their topic will be "How We Grow Our Vegetables" and chairmen are Mrs. Daniel Lyons and Mrs. Carl Ferreira.

"LIVE AND LEARN" is the theme of the Tuesday evening program planned for the November seminar of Operation Lace. Guest Speaker will be Glen Roberts of the Redwood Empire Insurance Agency, whose subject is "Telephone Techniques." Another special feature will be a workshop on Lexicology by Ione Wilson, member of San Rafael Toastmistress Club.

The meeting, sponsored jointly by the Insurance Women of Marin and Sonoma Counties, will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Bank of Marin in San Rafael.

NOVATO GARDEN Club members have chartered a special bus to attend the annual holiday show at the Oakland Auditorium on Monday and will leave the Community House at 9 a.m.

Reservations are being accepted by Mrs. H. B. Beadle, bus tour chairman. Members will stop at Jack London Square for lunch.



The club will have an entry in the show and three members will also have individual exhibits.

A five foot tree made entirely of the dried heads of lily of the Nile will be flocked and have ornament on it. The tree will also be exhibited later at Novato's holiday show on Dec. 4 and 5. Mrs. George Whitten heads the committee working on this exhibit.

Mmes. Fielder Nordstrom, Anthony Jurkus and Mrs. Whitten will have exhibits in the miniature tree division.

EDUCATION FOR Childbirth announces a nine week series of classes in November for expectant parents. There will be a Tuesday and Thursday evening class beginning next week. Both classes meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Instructors will be Mrs. Gunhild H. Brown and Mrs. Margaret B. Farley, registered physical therapists. The classes are held at Mrs. Brown's office in Greenbrae.

The series includes techniques for relaxation, breathing, posture control, post-natal recovery and instruction to increase the understanding of the processes of pregnancy, labor and birth. Husbands are invited to attend six of the sessions, which include films on childbirth.

Expectant parents must have written permission from their physicians to enroll. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Brown's office.

THE MARIN County Women's Bowling Association will sponsor a luncheon party Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael.

Proceeds will go to the Bowlers Victory Legion which provides wheelchairs, therapy materials and recreation equipment for Veteran Hospitals. Mrs. Ronald Baccei is the committee chairman and is assisted by Mmes. Al Hoffmann, Herb Twillman, Marion Ray, and Tom Chu.

Extent And Demand Of Day Care Centers In Marin Told In Report

Throwing a spotlight on Marin's need for adequate child care facilities, newly-formed Marin chapter of National Council of Jewish Women announced results of their study describing how young children of working mothers are cared for in Marin and extent of the demand for facilities.

Mrs. Sydney Bloch of Mill Valley, who has a master's degree in public health education, compiled the analysis. Her findings will be added to a national survey conducted by 100,000 council volunteers across the country. It will be presented in December to the White House Conference on Children and Youth by Mrs. Muriel Dublin Keyserling, former head of the Women's Bureau of U.S. Department of Labor. NCJW is the only non-professional group invited to submit material.

Mrs. Bloch's report points out a phenomenon which seems to be occurring in Marin since 1959, a polarization of population into high and low income families. Possibly due to high cost of individual home ownership, she says, it is causing middle income families to disappear. Working mothers from homes where two parents work contribute to the high incomes and the need for more child care facilities. Workers from one-parent homes have an even greater need, the report states.

According to her report there are three types of day care facilities in Marin: Marin County Childrens' Centers, licensed day care facilities and group day care programs.

The director of Marin County's Children's Center pre-school programs, Joseph Denhart, heads three sections. Head Start, a federally-financed program available to three and four-year-olds from low income families, cares for pre-schoolers four hours daily during the school year. No fee is charged families receiving public assistance.

His second section is State Pre-school Education. Certified by the Department of Social Social Services, it is a state Head Start program with similar eligibility.

The third section is Children's Centers which provide day care for children of working parents. About 10 per cent of Head Start children remain for the day care program.

About 150 children are served. The waiting list is long. This program is planned to enable low income parents to enter special training programs which will enable them to get off welfare. Eighty per cent of these children come from one-parent homes. For the most part parents are of low income or on assistance or entering special training programs. Children of public school teachers are eligible also. Cost is from five cents to 56 cents an hour, according to ability to pay. Centers are open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Bussing is coordinated with school districts where children study. The three Marin Centers are in Marin City, San Rafael and Novato. The San Rafael center's plant is so small they can offer no Head Start program, only day care.

Day care at Children's Centers for two children for a month might cost about $40. Denhart points out that two bills are now before the State Assembly to drastically cut funds to day care centers, which he believes are necessary because they are a bridge between being on assistance and working.

Since training programs for low income workers pay $1.65 per hour, private day care fees would be prohibitive, according to the report.

Day Care Centers do not take infants or sick children. Denhart feels the answer to day care problems may come from industry which is beginning to provide day care as a fringe benefit.

Marin's second type of facility is county licensed day care homes for less than 10 children. (There are numerous, but uncounted, women in every neighborhood who take care of children without benefit of licensing.) Fees are roughly $5 a day on drop-in or weekly basis. A low cost facility which would take infants is needed.

Day care homes are recruited by pamphlets left in public places. Applicants are interviewed, fill out applications and submit references. Their homes are inspected for fire safety. A medical report is submitted on husband and wife. Fingerprints of both are taken to check against child molestation records and drunk offenses files. Chest X-rays are taken. Applicants are questioned about attitudes on discipline and toilet training. But there are no education requirements. Licenses are renewed once a year. Two preannounced visits are made annually to the licensed home. There is no formalized training program for licensed women or basic health and food handling training.

"There are only three social workers for the whole county to supervise these day care mothers, in addition to their other social services duties," says Mrs. Bloch, who advocates more formalized training.

The third category, Group Day Care Programs, provides day care for 10 or more children. Programs are licensed by the State Department of Social Welfare which also regulates ordinary nursery schools. Full day care is given children of employed parents from morning to late afternoon. Extended Day care refers to care for school-age children before and after school.

State standards for these larger day care facilities require more legal and financial responsibility, more rigid requirements of physical plant and qualifications for staff. The "going rate" is about $100 a month for full day care. In Marin in June, 1970 there were 36 day nursery schools; only five provided all-day care.

The council emphasizes the need for more all-day care facilities including infant care programs. They plan to be the catalyst to bring all interested in day care together for a workshop, according to president of the Marin chapter, Mrs. Murray Rayden. — P.B.

Halloween Night Parties Planned

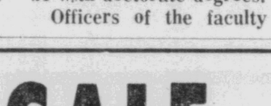
annual Halloween party Saturday.

Spooky green and black lights, ghosts, a scarecrow and Dracula will haunt, along with the witch, Mrs. Mary Green, who has been visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Robert Altomare, one of the organizers of the party.

Approximately 20 children from 2 to 12 years old will attend. Also involved in the party planning are Mrs. Joseph Emanuele, Mrs. Elizabeth Bourne and Mr. Altomare.



TRAVELING IN the Soviet Union, Mrs. Ursula McCarthy of San Rafael has visited the city of Samarkand and writes that the people are colorful in their native garb, warm and smiling.

"I strolled into a school yard at beli time," she writes, "and was invited in and had a delightful conversation with the principal and a 16-year-old student."

She stayed on the seventh floor of a three-day-old hotel with no working elevator or hot water yet — and even sometimes no cold water, she says.

NEW SONOMA State College faculty members and their spouses will be honored at a cocktail party Sunday from 4 to 7 p.m. at Los Robles Lodge in Santa Rosa.

The annual event is sponsored by the officers of the faculty. Sixty-two new faculty members came to Sonoma State in September, including 24 with doctorate degrees.

MR. AND MRS. Albert F. Budde of Petaluma recently returned from a one-month tour of Europe, where they visited rural areas of France, Switzerland and Northern Italy.

DOUGLAS STUART Thompson of Claymont, Del., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart M. Thompson of San Rafael, will wed Ann Elizabeth Sloan of Newark, Del., Nov. 27 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Siler Sloan of Raleigh, N. C.

Mrs. William T. Stephen of San Rafael is the future bridegroom's grandmother. He is a graduate of Richmond Union High School and the University of California, received a Ph.D from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and was an instructor and did post doctoral study in chemistry at the University of California at San Diego. Douglas is a research physical chemist at the experimental station of the E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co. in Wilmington, Del.

The future bride is an assistant professor in the college of home economics at the University of Delaware.

CLAIRE E. POYNTER

Miss Poynter Is Engaged

Announcement of the engagement of Claire E. Poynter to Richard H. Dougan has been made by her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Poynter of San Rafael.

Claire is a graduate of San Rafael High School and attended the College of Marin. She is employed by Herb's Pool Service in San Rafael.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dougan of Nicasio and the brother of Sandy, Kathy and Bonnie Dougan. Mrs. Margaret Dougan of Bolinas is his grandmother.

A graduate of Terra Linda High School, he attended the College of Marin and is stationed at Ft. Rucker, Ala., with the Army.

Rising Property Tax, Welfare Cost Linked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported today that property taxes in 46 of California's 58 counties rose during the last fiscal year primarily because of rising welfare costs.

The tax hikes, Flournoy said in a statement, ran "as high as 56 per cent, with several over 40 per cent, and a 20 per cent increase common."

The controller said action must be taken at the state level "to direct these welfare costs away from the local property tax and bring about a more equitable distribution of the tax burden."

Flournoy said Yuba County reported the largest rate increase, $1.88, which pushed its rate to $5.21 per $100 assessed valuation—the highest in the state outside of the $12.82 total city-county rate applying to San Francisco.

Mariposa County dropped its rate 26 cents to lead the counties reporting decreases and to achieve the lowest rate among all the counties, $1.64.

Flournoy said other rate cuts were in Colusa, Del Norte, El Dorado, Lassen, Nevada, San Benito, Sierra and Tuolumne counties.

The rates were unchanged in Placer, Siskiyou and Tehama counties.

Crocodile Held On The Way Out

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Kenya's chief game warden says the African crocodile may soon go the way of the dodo and the bison unless poaching is contained in the Lake Rudolf area.

"Here we have several species of animals and birds, and unless poaching is controlled now, lots of them are going to disappear, especially crocodiles," said Peter Jenkins, passing through San Francisco on his way to a wildlife conference at Lake Tahoe.

Crocodiles are sought after for their hides.

Plea Of Guilty To LSD Charge

Edmund Peterson, 19, of Sonoma, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing LSD. A second count of having marijuana was dismissed.

Peterson, who had originally been accused of two felony counts, is to be sentenced on Dec. 11.

He was arrested last June while hitchhiking in Novato. Officers who picked him up on a traffic warrant said they found a bag of vegetable material as well as 24 pink tablets.

Innocent Pleas In Pot Case

Three men charged with possessing marijuana for sale arrested in raids on houses in Lagunitas and Sleepy Hollow Monday entered innocent pleas yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday for Ellsworth Roy Smith, 23, and Richard Evans Cannings, 27, both of no fixed address, and Earl James Pitchford, 29, of Lagunitas.

Durg agents said they seized over 150 kilos of marijuana in the raid as well as equipment which seemed to indicate the group may have been involved in dropping marijuana into Marin from airplanes.

Out of 23 religious albums made by Tennessee Ernie Ford, six have earned him gold records for high sales.

National Guard Slated To Protect Candidates

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan today said National Guardsmen have been called on to protect candidates on election night.

The governor told a news conference that the guards, who will be in plain clothes, were called "because of the general atmosphere and the threats from radical groups that are surrounding this particular period."

"There has been a strengthening of security for a great many people and this has been offered to our opponents also," he said.

"There is no general alerting of the guard," Reagan said. "I don't wish we should get into details."

He told newsmen that there have been threats "on the part of these radical groups nationwide" that election time "was going to be a time for increased activity on their part." He said the threats have been made "for over a year."

Asked if he took the threats seriously, Reagan said, "In the job I'm in I'd be a darned fool not to." He compared it to a bomb threat, saying, "It may be a phony, but who can ignore it? You have to empty the building and search."

No Charge Filed

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against David Brown, 23, of San Francisco, arrested Saturday in Mill Valley on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

ONE CANDIDATE WE CAN ALL AGREE ON

ROBERT smallman FOR JUDGE

Endorsed by Marin's leading newspapers . . .

DAILY Independent Journal Est. 1861
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

18 EDITORIAL PAGE San Rafael, Calif. Tuesday, October 20, 1970

Experience And Approach Qualify Smallman For Judge

Thirteen candidates entered the non-partisan primary scramble for the Marin Municipal Court judgeship being vacated at year's end by Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. From this confused and confusing contest, the two who emerged as top vote-getters for a November runoff were Robert A. Smallman and Ernest C. Zunino.

In the primary, it was exceedingly difficult to assess the candidates. Few issues developed among the 13, and with such a large field of contenders, those issues that appeared were not sufficiently explored.

Smallman and Zunino have now campaigned long enough so that issues have appeared, and where the two stand on them has become established. Still, many voters have not heard either candidate, do not know either candidate, and do not understand the workings of the municipal court.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT handles misdemeanor criminal cases. These are the cases carrying maximum penalties not to exceed one year in county jail. It also handles preliminary hearings on the more serious crimes, which go to superior court for trial. In addition, it is the traffic court — and traffic cases, principally parking tickets which scarcely ever go to trial, make up most of the amazing total of some 150,000 filings per year which pass through Marin Municipal Court.

Aside from traffic, the business of municipal court - the cases likely to come to trial — consists about half-and-half of misdemeanor criminal cases and of civil cases involving damages not to exceed $5,000. The bigger civil cases go to superior court.

A municipal court judge, then, needs experience in both civil and criminal matters, since he will handle about as many of one as of the other. Traffic cases, despite their volume, take up relatively little of the court's time.

SMALLMAN HAS BEEN in legal practice in Marin County for 18 years. He served two years as a deputy district attorney (prosecuting criminal cases) and five years as a deputy county counsel (handling civil cases for the county and the school districts).

Zunino has practiced law in Marin for six years, all as a deputy district attorney.

BOTH CANDIDATES feel that Marin judges have been too lenient.

Zunino's solution to this is simple. He would, he says, hand out tough sentences in his court, whatever the other judges did.

Smallman's solution is more practical. He would try to get all the municipal court judges to agree on more uniform and more severe sentencing. Otherwise, he points out, attorneys simply will get their cases transferred away from the one "tough judge."

Smallman also stresses the power of the judge to prevent delays that thwart justice — instead of contributing to them, as some Marin judges do. A judge does not have to delay trial to consider frivolous motions. He does not have to grant continuances just because the defense asks for them. Smallman feels (as does Chief Justice Warren E. Burger of the U.S. Supreme Court) that such delays destroy confidence in the legal process — besides needlessly overloading the courts.

IN HIS APPROACH to the job he seeks, Smallman shows greater understanding of its powers and its limitations that does Zunino.

Both on experience and on his approach to law, order and justice, Robert I. Smallman deserves election to the municipal court bench.

Ross Valley Reporter

THE PRACTICE OF ELECTING JUDGES, and sheriffs, fire chiefs, police chiefs, and county schools superintendents, is hopelessly out of date and against the best interests of John Doe. But here we are again, charged with filling a seat on the Marin Municipal bench, an appointment that should be made by some kind of non-partisan judicial council. Anyway, Robert Smallman gets our endorsement, overwhelmingly. Smallman is qualified for the job, and his opponent, Fairfax's Ernest Zunino, is not. Smallman has 18 years of law practice behind him, including the DA's office, county counsel's office, and a private law practice involving criminal, civil and municipal law. Zunino, an attorney for eight years, has worked only as a criminal prosecutor, but of course the Municipal courts have to handle all kinds of matters, most of them unconnected with criminal law.

The Terra Linda NEWS

Vote Smallman for judge

The unfortunate events this fall at the Marin County Hall of Justice spotlighted by national news coverage has thrust the judgeship election into the critical category.

Robert A. Smallman is the candidate who seems best equipped to inspire confidence and provide judicial leadership at a time when the preservation of law and order and the efficiency of the court system have come under attack from all quarters.

He combines a mature appreciation for law and order with a clear understanding of the problems and causes that precede an individual's courtroom appearance to defend his innocence. Smallman believes that the American judicial system is sound and that breakdowns in its efficiency to deliver verdicts without intolerable delays rests with the failure of judges themselves to be decisive.

He is dedicated to improving the courts by exercising stern, but fair, judgement that will exercise the weight of society's disapprobation for lawbreakers. His 18 years of broad legal experience in all facets of the law - criminal, civil and municipal - including service as a deputy district attorney, give him a distinctive background in both prosecution and defense which his opponent lacks.

In Smallman, Marin County voters have the opportunity to vote for a man who combines the qualities of a firm judge with a fine human being, dedicated to the U.S. Constitution and Constitutional safeguards for the individual. Smallman deserves your support.

PACIFIC SUN - October 21, 1970

Sun endorses Smallman for judge

The Sun endorses the candidacy of Robert Smallman for municipal judge in the November election. In doing so the Sun joins a substantial list of Smallman's opponents in the June primary who have also endorsed him. They include Leonard Bjorklund, Howard Morehouse, Charles Best, Harry Rice and Frank Solomon.

Among Smallman's principal qualifications is the fact that he has served on all four sides of the legal fence. As a deputy district attorney he prosecuted criminal cases, as a deputy county counsel he prosecuted civil cases and as a practicing attorney he has defended in both criminal and civil actions. As a consequence Smallman would bring to the bench an understanding of varied approaches to court work.

Smallman is qualified to serve as judge. His opponent is not. The most charitable thing one can say of Ernest Zunino is that he is not of judicial stature.

MILL VALLEY RECORD

For judge of the municipal court we cast our vote for Robert A. Smallman, an attorney who has had diversified experience in the field of law which should qualify him as a fair judge. It is perhaps significant that several of the candidates for the judgeship who lost in the primaries are supporting Smallman for the post they wanted.

CLAUDINE CARLSON
To sing Tuesday

Claudine Carlson To Give Concert For Dominicans

Mezzo soprano Claudine Carlson will present a concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

The concert will be a benefit for the Isaac Stern Music Scholarship Fund established by the violinist at Dominican College in 1962.

The Paris-born singer is a member of the New York City and Washington, D.C. Operas and the Manhattan Opera Theatre. She divides her time between the East and West Coasts, performing in oratorios, song cycles and operas. She has appeared internationally with orchestras from Japan and France to Hollywood and with the San Francisco Symphony under Arthur Fielder.

$9.5 Million Airport Called Pentagon Waste

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon wasted more than $9.5 million in a crash program to build an airfield in South Vietnam in 1966, the General Accounting Office has charged in a report to Congress.

The money was wasted in the construction of a fighter plane base at Tuy Hoa, the report said. It quoted the Defense Department as saying it departed from normal construction procedures because the base was urgently needed during the American buildup in Vietnam. Pushed to completion within a year, the project cost $52 million.

The accounting office said the waste resulted from duplication of construction equipment already on hand in Vietnam, from purchase of equipment without competitive bids, and from contractors' fees that were double the going rate in Southeast Asia.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine, unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"On A Clear Day You Can See Forever" — Lively, entertaining musical with Barbara Streisand playing several parts.

"It's A Mad, Mad, Mad World" — Five strangers learn of hidden wealth from a dying gangster. This triggers the greed within each and a hilarious carnival of chases ensues. Fantastic slapstick comedy with huge cast of characters.

"2001: Space Odyssey" — Far reaches of outer space are explored in this highly imaginative science-fiction production. Over-long but astounding sights and sounds. It is subject to any interpretation the viewer may put on it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Adam at 6 A.M." — A film about young people, made by young people presents this drama about a young man's quest for a more meaningful way of life. It captures something of the gap and polarities dividing us as a nation.

"Airport" — Outstanding star-studded cast in this gripping story of the working of a large airport during a paralyzing blizzard. Build up very intense and may be too exciting for the younger children.

"Dr. Zhivago" — With magnificent scenery and music the story of Dr. Zhivago's life in Russia during the revolution is told in flash back. A momumental version of prize winning novel.

"Grand Prix" — The lives and loves of four international racing drivers are contracted as film follows them through a season of racing. Very long but superbly photographed.

"Jenny" — An unwed pregnant woman and a man reclassified by Draft Board decide on a marriage of convenience. She does not fit in with his artistic, pot smoking friends so the quarreling begins.

"Monte Walsh" — That time in American history when Eastern progress came rolling over the old wild West. It is a serio-comic study of lonely dispossessed men with no job market for their skills.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. A strong film makes use of violence and frequent profanity.

"Sicilian Clan" — Head of a Mafia clan arranges a jail break. The contrast between their profession and personal morals is well dramatized. Film travels slowly over too familiar roads. English subtitles.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bird with Crystal Plumage" — In this Italian made film one terrifying sequence after another creates sustained terror and horror as a psychopathic killer with a knife stalks his women victims. Some very bloody death scenes.

"Blood Rose" — The leading character is an eccentric painter and botanist who specializes in beautiful women and plants that are poisonous to touch. He wife is disfigured and goes insane. Lovely young women are lured to the chateau to provide living skin for transplants, etc. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"C.C. and Company" — Motorcyclist is caught between two worlds when the degenerate gang he rides with turns against him after he falls in love with a high-fashion photographer. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Lovers and Other Strangers" — Amusing, well acted comedy about a couple who have been roommates and decide to marry. A series of vignettes about their relative's marital affairs are inter cut into the wedding preparations. Bedroom scenes abundant.

"Waterhold #3" — Crime pays off well in this offbeat, bawdy satire of the great American western. A man whose motto is "get what you want before the other fellow does" does just that. Lively cast supplies a steady stream of unabashedly sexy humor.

"Passion of Anna" — A compelling story, well acted and masterfully photographed. Ingmar Bergman crystallized the basix dilemmas of existence in a complicated relationship of four complex people on an isolated island. English titles.

ADULTS ONLY

"Boston Strangler" — Semi-documentary film deals with investigation leading to the arrest of a psychopath who mutilated and murdered 13 women in Boston between 1962 & 64. Grim subject treated with restraint.

"Joe" — Chilling but excellent tragi-comedy about today's dangerous polarization of life styles. Language and explicit sex shocking, but ring regrettably true as do film's implications about violence in America. Memorable performances.

"M-A-S-H" — Hillarious, subtle anti-war comedy of three army surgeons who develop outlandish life-styles to survive the gore that passes before their eyes. Sex, nudity and profanity.

"Stolen Kisses" — Sophisticated French film about a young man, a misfit, who finally gains maturity through many failures and experiences.

"Thomas Crown Affair" — A sophisticated tale of a female insurance sleuth becoming an intimate companion of a thrill seeking millionaire to trap him for masterminding robberies of banks.

Ross Players Set New Play

"Absence of a Cello," a comedy popular on Broadway and in London last year, will open a run on the Ross Valley Players stage Nov. 13.

Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through Dec. 5 in the Barn at Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross. Mona Horwitz will direct.

The play by Ira Wallach details the complications encountered by a music-loving scientist trying to convince a potential corporate employer that he is no frivolous "effete intellectual."

Artists' Workshop To Open Show On Sunday

Eighteen members of the Dorothy Williams Artists' Workshop in Kentfield will open a month-long exhibit Sunday at Peacock Gap Country Club. Works will be shown in a wide variety of styles and media.

Hours for the gallery and restaurant are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Low Work Bidder

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO —Low bidder at $149,782 for reconstructing four-tenths miles of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Route 17 and the west gate of San Quentin State Prison was Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael, the California Division of Highways has reported.

THIEVERY?

Trumpeting About A Brash Bray

The donkey stole the elephant.

That was the indignant charge yesterday by the vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, Elizabeth Rowen of San Rafael.

What angered her was what she termed the unauthorized use of the Republican Party's official symbol on a mailer for a Democratic candidate. The stylized symbol of the elephant, with three stars on its back, was copyrighted and patented by the Republican National Committee, and its use required written permission from the national committee, she said.

The symbol was used on a mailer from a group calling itself Republicans for Responsible Government, and backing the election of Michael R. Peevey, Democratic nominee for state Senate.

James Dougan, of San Rafael, chairman of the group, conceded that he did not have any permission to use the symbol, but argued no copyright or patent had been infringed upon because it was in black and white only, whereas it is in color on official Republican Party literature. Deletion of the colors, he said, was supposed to have made it clear that there was no official Republican approval of his group's backing of Peevey.

Symphony Guild Auction: Dinner Party With Tullah

An evening with Tullah Hanley, the millionaire belly dancer who donated part of her fabulous art collection to the De Young Museum, will be the most extraordinary of many things to be sold in a public auction Nov. 7 at the Babcock Mansion in San Rafael.

"The Whole Works" auction starting at 6 p.m. is a major fund-raising project sponsored by the Marin Symphony Guild in support of its many activities. Entertainment, unusual services and whimsies, as well as objets d'art, will be offered according to the cochairmen, Mrs. Alan Jarach and Mrs. John Collette.

Buyer of the evening with Tullah must agree to give a dinner party for her as guest of honor. She will bring her own Indian band and do her specialty dance.

Among unique services to be auctioned for private parties or clubs are performances by musical groups, such as a trio composed of Jean and Lucien Mitchell and Charles Meacham, a program of Scandinavian music featuring Mabel Pittenger, a 10-piece dance band led by Meacham and the Big Time Operators, a barbershop quartet.

Extraordinary things to be auctioned will be consultations with psychiatrists, interior decorators and architects; drawing of a will, a vasectomy, a gourmet dinner cooked in the home, a 10-foot garden sculpture; a pie, cake, soup or casserole every month for a year; and a chance to conduct the Marin Symphony in one number in its annual spring pops concert.

Also auctioned will be a guided horseback ride, a dinner for 20 with entertainment, use for a weekend of ski houses and a tennis lesson by tennis pro Barry Mac Kay.

Music by the Las Galinas Sanitary District Non-Marching Band will be the kick-off for the event, and other entertainment will be marches played by the 35-member Terra Linda Band.

The Third floor of the 25-room mansion at 16 Culloden Park road will be a cabaret with entertainment by folk singer Betsy Chapman, the Sweet Adelines and the Big Time Operators.

Special prizes offered will be a ski weekend in Squaw Valley, two tickets to an Arthur Rubenstein concert and a bidet.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Harold Becker, 226 Magnolia Avenue, San Rafael.

$10,183 Robbery Of Bank America Branch

HARBOR CITY (UPI)—A Bank of America branch here was robbed of $10,183 Thursday.

Police said two bandits entered the bank through a rear door shortly before noon and demanded money from a teller. The bandits, apparently unarmed, fled in a red automobile.

Unmanned Satellite Launched By Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today orbited an unmanned earth satellite, Cosmos 375, the news agency Tass said.

The craft was placed into an elliptical orbit ranging from 1345 miles to 333 miles above the earth. Tass said it was making one complete revolution every 112.4 minutes at an angle of 63 degrees to the equator.

Invading Bandit Kills Bartender

LINWOOD (UPI)—A shotgun-wielding bandit walked into a bar here early this morning, lined the patrons up against a wall and killed the bartender when he tried to resist, police said.

Clifford A. Wilkinson, 45, the bartender at the Clover Room, reached for a sawed-off pool cue when the bandit had his back turned. The gunman wheeled and allegedly fired once, the blast catching Wilkinson in the face, neck and chest, killing him outright.

Police said the man took about $50 from the seven partrons, and another $250 from the cash register. He allegedly clubbed patron Joe Williams, 54, across the head with the butt of the gun and escaped out the rear door.

Silver Harmonica Worth $500

SINGAPORE (UPI) —Hong Ching Wing, 36, owns a 13½-ounce solid silver harmonica worth $500 and claimed to be one of the three of its kind in the world.

The two others are believed to be owned by professional harmonica players Tommy Reilly of Britain and Sigmond Groven of Norway.

War Critic Belittles Nixon's Troop Pullout

A free lance writer, who covered the Vietnam war for 18 months, last night called the United States' continued involvement in Indo-China "an exercise in all-American idiocy."

The writer, Helen Lawlor Emmerich, had been scheduled to speak jointly with Tevenick Koujakian, but ended up speaking alone when the expert on China employed by the Stanford Research Institute failed to appear.

Mrs. Emmerich, who said she trained for several months with South Vietnamese troops and made five combat jumps with paratroopers during her 18 months overseas as a free-lance writer, blamed the U.S. involvement on ". .glib information officers and military 'lifters' " who are misleading the citizens and government officials on the war's status.

Speaking to a slim turnout of about 30 persons at the College of Marin, Mrs. Emmerich — who says she has spent "more time on the front lines than most GIs" — said she was "100 per cent behind any young man who resfuses to put on a uniform that represents the U.S. military."

She said she would support her 22-year-old son, recently classified 1-A in his decision to leave the country rather than be drafted.

She attacked President Richard Nixon's troop pullout, saying that there are 14 support troops for every combat soldier in Vietnam. "Therefore, its easy to withdraw lots of troops without really affecting the actual fighting war," she said.

Mrs. Emmerich's appearance was sponsored by the Marin Professionals for Peace, headed by Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt of Ross. The group formed after the U.S. invasion of Cambodia.

Conviction On Manslaughter

SANTA MONICA (UPI)—A former California Highway Patrolman was convicted of voluntary manslaughter Thursday in the stabbing of a 50-year-old woman.

John R. Rupert, 26, who was a CHP officer for 18 months, was convicted of the slaying of Mrs. Mary McNeil. He was also found guilty of assault in the beating of Mrs. McNeil's daughter Linda, 22. He reportedly hit her with a coffee pot.

Superior Court Judge Lawrence J. Rittenband set a Nov. 19 sentencing date for Rupert.

Measure A's Author Is Not Forest

An advertisement for Joseph A. Forest, Democratic candidate for state Assembly, claims that Forest is the "author" of Measure A, the peace referendum, but this is not accurate, his boss said yesterday.

Forest is a deputy under County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who said Anne West of San Anselmo had written the measure calling for troop withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

When the board of supervisors asked the county counsel to draft the measure, Forest did the drafting and therefore is the "draftsman" for Measure A, explained Maloney.

The question of authorship was raised by Mrs. West because she is afraid measure A will be taken as a partisan issue.

"I am grateful that candidates on both sides of the political fence have endorsed Measure A, and I make this correction in the hope that voters will continue to consider it on its merits," said Mrs. West.

She said her statement is nothing personal against Forest. "In fact, I'm going to vote for him. But I just wanted to make sure Measure A would remain nonpartisan."

Mammoth Cave in Kentucky played an important part in the War of 1812, providing saltpeter to make gunpowder.

Aide Reports Red Tape Is Hurting HUD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is a bureaucratic weakling in urban renewal projects, a federal official said today.

Norman V. Watson, acting assistant HUD secretary for renewal and housing management, said the department has been choked by red tape. Watson said major reforms are needed, if HUD is to meet the critical needs of cities.

Watson said there are so many legislative and administrative restrictions to follow in considering urban renewal proposals that flexibility is lost.

"We have taken on a Herculean mission in trying to eliminate slums and blight," Watson said. "But then we proceed through a series of legislative and administrative restrictions to create a bureaucratic weakling to do the job."

Watson made the remarks a speech prepared for t National Association of Housi and Redevelopment Officials.

He said the most importa change would be the reductio of program requirements.

There should also be a method to ensure money fo housing will be available when and in the amounts needed t complete approved renewal plans, he said. Many projects are slowed or stopped entirely after they begin because of a shortage of funds, he said.

THE GREAT PUMPKIN GOES TO SCHOOL

Restaurant Splits Mill Valley

By GEORGE NEVIN

What would appear to be a simple question for Mill Valley's city government has stirred a storm of controversy among residents who feel that the question is really, "Whither Mill Valley?"

That question will be answered Monday when the Mill Valley City Council decides whether to allow two young businessmen to open a restaurant-bar in the empty building that once was Brown's furniture store.

Probably few local issues have aroused so much interest in Mill Valley in recent years. About 450 persons signed petitions and letters against the plan, while supporters gathered 200 signatures.

Opponents ask, "Should the sound of music and cars be allowed to disturb the peace and tranquility of Mill Valley? Should a nightclub atmosphere be allowed to intrude on what essentially is a quiet residential community?"

The opposing forces first collide Oct. 19 before the city's planning commission. After a stormy three-hour public hearing, during which charges of "Eastern money," "Mafia-controlled interests" and "another Trident" were heard, the commission voted 4-2 to issue a use permit.

Opponents of the plan promptly appealed the permit to the city council, which will consider it Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

In the middle of the controversy, and somewhat puzzled by it, are two 28-year-old men, Michael Lerner and Philip Needleman, who say they never anticipated any trouble.

"We just wanted to do a community service for Marin and Mill Valley," Needleman said. "We had driven by this old building and seen it empty and had thought, 'Wouldn't it be nice to put a groovy restaurant there where all kinds of people could come and enjoy good food at a reasonable price?' "

But while Lerner and Needleman were making their plans, thinking the use permit was a mere formality, rumors were circulating. These said the two long-haired men were going to import "Eastern money," were controlled by gangsters and would make Mill Valley a hangout for dope addicts and criminals.

On the night of the planning commission hearing, the applicants went to the hearing expecting to find, as Lerner said, "an informal meeting with eight or 10 people sitting around a table."

Instead they found a gallery full of hostile citizens drawn to city hall to protest something, though they didn't know exactly what.

"We were naive," Needleman said. "We thought we were doing something good for Mill Valley. We didn't think anyone would be against us."

Jeffory S. Morshead, who made an impassioned plea against the restaurant that night, said "their mistake was in not selling the community on their idea. Some public relations would have made a big difference."

Just what do Lerner and Needleman want to create at the old furniture store at 38 Miller Avenue? What has moved 450 persons to protest so vigorously?

As they describe it, the restaurant-bar will seat 400 and feature live music twice a week. On other nights music will be piped in. Folk, jazz and rock will be presented, much of it by local groups.

On the second floor, an art gallery will be built. Local artists will be given a chance to display and see their wares.

"But the main thing," Needleman said, "will be the restaurant. We want it to be the nicest thing in Mill Valley. The interior and tables will all be wood."

To those who have said the restaurant will be another Trident, Lerner replied, "It will have a nice interior and be softly lit, but that's the only similarity. We don't want a hip Playboy Club."

One of the most frequently heard charges is that loud rock music will blast forth every night.

Needleman: "The building is soundproofed, and we'll put in more soundproofing. Besides, it's hard to eat with loud music going all the time, and the main thing is the restaurant, not the music."

As for the other contentions, they can't imagine how they have been linked with the Mafia, but the "Eastern money" charge apparently stems from the fact that both men came to Marin from New York three years ago.

"Our investors are all local people," Lerner said simply.

On the other side of the issue, Normand Black, owner of El Marin Florist, feels that no matter how many objections Lerner and Needleman answer, their restaurant still will be "out of character with Mill Valley."

The city's planning commission and architectural advisory committee "have been trying to preserve the character of the community for years. They've gone against the oil companies and the food stores because they feel Mill Valley's charm has to be protected," he said.

Black, one of the prime organizers of the drive that netted the petition signatures, said he does not oppose the restaurant because Needleman and Lerner have long hair.

"If Frank Lloyd Wright himself wanted to have this operation, I'd still say no," he maintained.

Although "the times are changing and we have to make room for young people and their ideas," Black said this can't be done at the expense of other people.

With the main issue still to be decided, a spinoff from the controversy has developed. Many citizens bitterly attacked the planning commission, and especially chairman Robert E. Burton, for granting the use permit. Several have called for resignations.

Even the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce has got into the act. The chamber's businessmen's committee issued a statement saying that Burton "used his position with prejudice."

"We don't know Mr. Burton, and he wasn't prejudiced for us," Needleman said. "We felt it was a fair hearing, and Burton just dealt with the facts. He wouldn't be led into emotionalism like the people wanted him to be."

Lerner said he hopes "Burton doesn't lose his job just because of us." Both pointed out that the string of conditions imposed on them before the commission granted the permit proves that the group was trying to do its job for Mill Valley.

The conditions include a promise to soundproof the building, valet parking for 60 cars, a private security force and closing by 2 a.m.

The two say they have met the terms of the city's zoning ordinance and legally cannit be denied the permit. "If we lose the appeal," Needleman said, "it will be on emotional and not legal grounds." He said they would take the city to court if the council turns them down.

"Our mistake," Lerner said, "was being too honest with them (opponents). We could have sent a lawyer to represent us, but we went ourselves and let everyone see what kind of people we are. And legally, we didn't have to say we were going to have live music — the restaurant ordinance allows that."

Needleman said he doesn't think "the people are against our plan, because it's a good one. They're against our long hair. They fear the unknown. But we're businessmen just like them."

If the planning commission later finds that Needleman and Lerner violated the terms of the use permit by creating a nuisance with noise or traffic, it can revoke the permit.

"We stand to lose everything if that happens," Lerner said, "so you can be sure we'll work to see that it doesn't. If we make too much noise, we'll be closed down for disturbing the peace.

"If we don't provide all the things we say, it's our headache. We'll be driven out of business and lose thousands of dollars. We're not about to see that happen."

Chain Crash Injures Four Near Novato

Four persons, injured in a five-car chain collision on Highway 101 north of Novato yesterday, said they would see their own doctors for minor injuries, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the accident occured one-half mile north of San Marin Drive at 5:30 p.m. when an unidentified motorist slowed to make a left turn.

Three cars stopped in time, officers said, but were hit by two others.

The patrol identified the first three drivers as Pedro L. Villa, 35, of Geyserville, John J. Wagner, 45, of Santa Rosa, and Gloria W. Johannsen, 22, of 94 Candlewood Drive, Petaluma.

Their cars were struck by one driven by William A. Bearn, 53, of 411 Stuart Drive, Petaluma, officers said. The vehicles then were struck again by the fifth, driven by Robert A. Trombetta, 48, of Santa Rosa.

Wagner and Miss Johannsen complained of neck pain, as did a passenger in the Johannsen car, Rosemary Hoffman, 39, of 211 Basset Street, Petaluma. Bearn suffered a small cut on his lower lip.

Apartment Application Is Rejected

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night rejected an application to build 48 apartments on two acres between Olema and Sir Francis Drake boulevards.

The commission said the project density, as proposed by the builders, Oak Creek Corp., was too high, according to secretary Ernestine Healy.

The commission told the developer it would accept 36 units on the plot, Mrs. Healy reported.

The Fairfax Planning Commission also:

BUS HUT — Recommended that the city council allow the Fairfax Lions Club to build a bus stop shelter on city land at the Manor stop on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

High Speed Chase Ends In Arrest

A 23-year-old man was booked at Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of car theft following a high speed chase by police in downtown San Rafael.

George Edward Myers, of no known address, was arrested on suspicion of car theft, reckless driving and attempting to evade arrest.

San Rafael police said the arrest came after an officer saw Myers driving on Fourth Street with no lights on at 8:25 p.m.

An officer pulled his patrol car behind the vehicle Myers was driving and turned on his red lights. Myers, according to police, quickly accelerated, turning right onto Lootens Place, right again onto Third Street where he ran a stop sign and careened off a curb, then left onto Brooks Street again hitting the curb, and finally left onto Second Street where another bounce off a curb wrecked the car.

After the chase, San Rafael police received a call from John E. Jackson Jr. of 6 West Hillside Avenue, San Anselmo, who reported his car had been stolen from near Fourth and C Streets.

Myers was held in lieu of $1,200 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Another Name On Stone Plaque

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Another name—the fourth one this year—has been cut into the stone plaque at the Hall of Justice honor roll of San Francisco policemen who have been killed in the line of duty.

Stonecutter Joseph Vierhaus Thursday chipped the name of Harold L. Hamilton into the plaque. Hamilton, who becomes the 78th name on the list of fallen officers, was killed Oct. 19 while breaking up a bank holdup.

Police Chief Alfred J. Nelder and Officer Sam Hamilton, brother of the slain policeman, were present for the ceremony. Also paying tribute to Hamilton, the father of four young children, were 40 police recruits and members of the Police Officers' Wives Auxiliary.

Carlton Tells Of Order To Disperse

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — A San Rafael police lieutenant testified yesterday in Solano Superior Court that he was certain a shouting mob behind the Independent-Journal on Valentine's Day could hear his repeated commands to disperse given over a loudspeaker located a block away.

The testimony of Lt. James Carlton came in the eighth day of the trial of seven men accused of 36 felonies and misdemeanors during a violent demonstration outside the newspaper plant.

"There's no doubt in my mind they (the commands) could be heard on Julia Street," said Carlton, who was jointly in charge of a force of police which had been summoned to control the demonstration.

Defense attorneys read from testimony given by Carlton in another court case that there was "some question," apparently by other officers, as to whether his commands to disperse could be heard, but Carlton would not alter his testimony yesterday.

Carlton said he gave the dispersal order numerous times over a 50-minute period from his command post atop the Fidelity Savings and Loan Association at Fifth Avenue and B Street.

Although conceding he could not see the noisy mob which had gathered outside the I-J delivery entrance, Carlton had testified earlier the loudspeaker, obtained from the state disaster office, carried "tremendous amplification."

The crowd gathered after a car attempted to enter the delivery area, despite barrricades set up at the mouth of Julia Street, and Carlton admitted yesterday he was "upset" over the arrival of the vehicle and wanted it removed.

(The defense contends the car's arrival caused the outbreak of violence which led to the arrest of the seven defendants.)

One defense attorney, Robert Y. Bell, tried to show that one of his clients, Alvis Dean Bailey, 43, was arrested prior to the orders to disperse. Carlton testified yesterday he began giving the commands about 12:50 p.m., although he had told a grand jury commands began about 1:25 p.m.

Carlton said he had decided 12:50 p.m. was correct after "reviewing my memory and researching the incident."

On trial, besides Bailey, are Nimmes H. Shelton, 41, Charles P. Vance, 56, and James S. Brooke, 36, all from San Francisco; Joe E. Reese, 32, of Hayward; Terry W. Lansing, 20, of Berkeley, and John J. DeMartini, 47, of Mill Valley, vice president of International Typographical Union 21.

It was in support of DeMartini's union, on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7, that the Valentine's Day protest was called.

The trial, switched here after the defense claimed it couldn't get a fair trial in Marin, is to resume Monday. No court was held today because of dedication ceremonies in the Solano Hall of Justice, converted from a high school.

Five Use Permits Get Approval By Sonoma Board

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Five use permit requests, including mobile homes, kennels, a service station and building addition, were approved yesterday by the Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. received approval for an addition to its communications equipment building on Mill Street in Valley Ford.

Mobile homes to house agricultural employees were approved for Ted and Lee Brains, 8250 Petaluma Hill Road, Penngrove, and Robert J. Dowds, 954 Liberty Road, Petaluma.

ROLLINS-Garrison Assoc. received a permit for a gasoline service station and living quarters at 3438 Petaluma Boulevard North, and Robert M. McCulach was permitted to construct kennels for breeding and boarding at 3606 South Ely Road, Petaluma.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Less-Discussed State Propositions Also Deserve Careful Vote

Some of the 20 state propositions before the voters next Tuesday have received relatively little attention. Some of them are of relatively little importance, but all deserve careful consideration.

PROPOSITION 2 would put into the state constitution a provision that in case of the incapacity of the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, controller, secretary of state, treasurer, or superintendent of public instruction, the state Supreme Court could name a person to fill the office.

We see no need for such a provision. Further, we suspect it would produce harassment of these officials through filing of suits by malcontents claiming they were incapable of continuing to serve. Vote "NO" on Proposition 2.

PROPOSITION 3 would move ahead the dates for submission of the state budget and its passage by the legislature. We see little that would be acomplished by this. No recommendatoin on Proposition 3.

PROPOSITION 4 is in a different class. It would move ahead the date for action on the state school appropriations bill, so that it would be passed earlier than the budget. This would be of great help to the school districts, whose budgets must be prepared before they know how much they will get from the state. Vote "YES" on Proposition 4.

PROPOSITION 6 would allow investment of part of the State Teachers' Retirement Fund in common stocks — which is permitted for other state retirement funds under an amendment passed in 1966. There is some danger in such investment; however, it would enable the fund to increase and, if care were taken, reduce the load on taxpayers. With some reservations, we suggest a "YES" vote on Proposition 6.

PROPOSITION 8 would give the state superintendent of public instruction an additional non-civil service assistant. We see no need for this; it merely adds another job. Vote "NO" on Proposition 8.

PROPOSITION 10 would remove the ceiling from interest rates on loans of $100,000 or more. This would merely add to inflation. Vote "NO" on Proposition 10.

PROPOSITION 11 would give the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners additional powers to regulate the educational requirements of chiropractors. This should not be in the constitution, but since it already is, the change can be made only there. Vote "YES" on Proposition 11.

PROPOSITION 12 would allow county supervisors to set their own salaries. As things stand, the salaries are set by the legislature, but it takes its cue from the county supervisors, who then are able to pass the buck for a raise by saying "the legislature did it." Propositon 12 would put the responsibility where it belongs. Vote "YES" on Proposition 12.

PROPOSITION 13 would increase from $5,000 to $10,000 the tax exemption of completely disabled veterans, and extend the exemption to their widows until they remarried. We feel this is justified. Vote "YES" on Proposition 13.

PROPOSITIONS 14, 15 and 17 make minor changes in the state constitution by briefer language and elimination of obsolete sections. Proposition14 would give the lieutenant governor appointive power he now lacks in his own office. All three deserve "YES" votes.

PROPOSITION 16 is a rerun of the proposed revision of requirements for calling a constitutional convention which lost in June. As we pointed out then, it is so poorly drawn that it does not serve the purpose for which it was intended. Vote "NO" on Proposition 16.

PROPOSITION 19 would make usury by a non-licensed lender a felony — yet it would not apply to licensed lenders even though they charged equally high interest. This is discriminatory legislation and should be rejected. Vote "NO" on Proposition 19.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Backer Explains Zunino Stand

You have been speaking of the leniency of courts in your paper from time to time in the past and now you choose someone who will surely perpetuate the present attitude found in the Marin courtroom.

On the other hand, we have a choice on Nov. 3 of a gentleman, Mr. Ernest Zunino, who has said and will do if elected this: 1. Uphold the laws of the state and land and issue firm but fair sentences within these laws regardless of what a county judge plebiscite or lawyer plebiscite may decide. 2. Initiate positive programs for reducing the case backlog within the courts, realizing this backlog is both costly and unfair to defendant and the peoples' court . . .

Don't Short-Change College Of Marin

Mr. L. Wellington's recent blind attack on Propositions B and C was both unreasonable and unfair.

Wellington asks us to jettison the College of Marin on the basis that taxes could possibly go up sometime in the next 16 years.

In fact, the new proposal is less than we are paying now. The college staff has come up with a proposal that eliminates the current 35-cent override for construction and replaces it with a 25-cent override for operations.

With the passage of Proposition C, construction could begin on the long-awaited Novato campus. To delay would be to place the burden on the old override and triple expenses.

To shortchange an institution so thoroughly dedicated to this community would be to shortchange ourselves. . .

The things I learned at the College of Marin have made the most important difference in my life. Please, let's not let these hard-working people down.

Law And Order Need More Support

What and where is "law and order"?

I quote from last Saturday's (Oct. 24) I-J:

"Squads of armed Negro men drove up to the Cairo (Ill.) police station and opened fire three times in six hours late Friday and early today. In the third attack, hundreds of rounds of gunfire ripped into the police station for 35 minutes. Police gunfire drove the men back for the third time."

Can we, everyday citizens who are fortunate enough to live in Marvelous Marin, stand by quietly and passively, watching our neighbors' troubles quickly becoming our own? We profess to be rational men and women who are able to recognize an inequity in our lives and take positive steps to cure it. Can we not now justifiably demand stability in the land which we admire so greatly?

Congressmen await the opinions of the electorate. Law enforcement personnel yearn to know they have the people's backing.

Turn on, tune in, act today — law and order depends upon each and every one of us.

Program Coverage Lack Deplored

It astounds me that your paper did not cover one of the most enlightening political events in Marin County I have seen in a long time.

Proposition "A", the peace referendum, sponsored a program at Drake High School which drew over 250 people. Candidates for office, Mike Peevey, Peter Behr, Joe Forrest and Bill Bennett appeared on the program and endorsed the proposition. United States Congressman George Brown gave a complete and fascinating talk about the history of our involvement in Southeast Asia. The evening was concluded by a powerful and convincing film made by Bess Myerson Grant entitled "You Don't Have to Buy War Mrs. Smith." The film which was produced by "Another Mother for Peace" should be seen by anyone who is interested in where our country is going and where our tax dollars are going.

I noted that on that same evening (Oct. 19) the I-J gave wide coverage to a dinner held for George Murphy. I realize that the dinner had news value but surely the I-J can cover more than one news event at a time — it is the only daily around these parts.

Payroll Listing Invades Privacy

Brickbats and Hiss Boo to the I-J. . .

In your attempt to "inform" the taxpayers of how their money is being spent by listing the various county payrolls, you are invading the privacy of all Marin County "public servants." Is it really necessary to list names, position and salary? If you need fillers why not just list position and salary?

Many Assisted U.N. Observance

The members and friends of the Marin Chapter of the United Nations Association of the U. S. A. all join in expressing gratitude to all those who made possible the solemn observance in Marin County of the 25th anniversary of the United Nations.

We offer thanks to the I-J for the thoughtful editorial and coverage of Dianne Feinstein's address to an attentive audience, to Judge Joseph G. Wilson who served as honorary chairman, to the San Anselmo Police Department, to the Festival Theater Foundation, and to all others who contributed talent and support in many different ways.

THE DRUMMONDS

United Nations' Weaknesses Born At San Francisco Charter Session

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The best thing that can be said for the United Nations on its 25th anniversary is that it is still around.

That's good. We need the United Nations, however cumbersome and impotent. It is encouraging that, according to Gallup, 87 per cent of the American people consider its preservation "important."

THE REASON the United Nations is weak is because it was born weak in San Francisco in 1945.

It has not been allowed to become stronger because the nations who might want it so can't agree to on how to do it. And those nations which want to keep it weak have a veto over any amendment to the charter.

The consequence is that the United Nations has become bigger and bigger, which is good; and weaker and weaker, which is bad.

The shortcomings of the United Nations evident during the past quarter-century are things which have not suddenly and unexpectedly developed. Its shortcomings were embedded into the structure of the United Nations by the charter itself.

TO APPRECIATE the United Nations' present plight, it is necessary to look briefly at what went on in San Francisco.

The Soviet Union insisted that all power to keep the peace be vested in the U.N. Security Council. It then insured that it could immobilize the Security Council by demanding a Big Power veto over any action the council might want to take. The council wasn't even allowed to offer peaceful proposals for any problem unless all the Big Powers could agree.

The Soviets have used the veto relentlessly from the beginning until today the Security Council is a hollow shell.

MOSCOW's POSITION at San Francisco was: Take the United Nations as we want it or we'll go home. Nobody wanted that.

The charter calls for a multi-national U. N. peace-keeping force. The United States has been urging it for years, but the Russians have continously vetoed it.

THERE WAS ONLY one tiny breakthrough in the veto-wall at San Francisco.

Until the last days of the drafting, the Soviets demanded that no issue was to be allowed to come before the General Assembly without prior approval by the veto-controlled Security Council. Under that provision the Soviet Union not only could stop the Security Council from acting; it could stop the General Assembly from speaking.

Moscow finally yielded because most of the nations showed they would rather abandon the United Nations than abandon free speech.

THE UNITED NATIONS survives and has done some useful things.

In its first year it provided the forum which enabled President Truman to focus enough world pressure on Russia to cause Josef Stalin to withdraw Soviet troops from Iran.

Because The Soviets were unwisely boycotting the Security Council at the time, the United Nations was able to put itself behind the defense of South Korea.

Under the venturesome leadership of the late Dag Hammarskjold it helped maintain the sovereignty and unity of the Congo.

More than ever, because of its ever-enlarging membership, the United Nations is today a microcosm of the world. It reflects faithfully its turmoil and conflicts. That is its weakness — and its strength. This is why it would be well to have Red China in the United Nations if its admission is not used as an excuse to force any other nation out of the United Nations.

Best Fight In Senate: Birch Bayh Vs. Sam Erwin

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Had they met for the heavyweight championship of the world, the match would have been a promoter's dream and a sportswriter's heaven.

In this corner, Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina, the 74-year-old veteran of countless legislative bouts. A crowd pleaser with a southern style. A spotty record with many wins, many losses, but never stopped.

And in this corner, the young challenger, 42-year old Birch Bayh from Indiana. Ambitious, talented, hoping to use the match as a stepping-stone to bigger things.

WITHIN THE LAST two years, these two senators — Bayh and Ervin — have clashed head-on four times on four vital issues.

Round one: In the fall of 1969 President Nixon asked the Senate to confirm the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court.

Ervin, along with all southerners, immediately embraced and endorsed Haynsworth, a conservative neighbor from South Carolina. Bayh led the opposition.

ROUND TWO: Rejected on Haynsworth, President Nixon submitted the name of another southern—Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida—as his choice for the Supreme Court.

Again Ervin placed his legislative skill, influence, and oratory at Carswell's disposal. At first reluctant, Bayh again led the fight to defeat the nomination.

Again the Senate rejected the nomination. Score round two for Bayh.

ROUND THREE: After a long delay, the Senate began consideration of a constitutional amendment calling for direct popular elections of presidents. For the first time, Bayh was on the defensive. As floor manager of the constitutional amendment, the Hoosier senator was forced to pick up a two-thirds majority, not only to pass the amendment but to kill the filibuster.

Three times Bayh sought to bring the amendment to a vote with a cloture petition. Three times, Ervin rounded up enough votes to deny him.

Finally, the constitutional amendment was put aside — dead for the year. Score round three for Ervin.

ROUND FOUR: Defeated on popular elections, Bayh turned to another constitutional amendment—this one designed to prevent discrimination between the sexes.

Using the same tactics which served him so well before, Ervin prevented the Senate from voting. In fact, he added an amendment — specifically exempting women from the draft—which Bayh said would kill everything.

Round five: After the elections, Bayh plans to make a new effort at passing a constitutional amendment with a revised version designed to elemeniate some of the objections. There was no immediate indication whether Ervin would countr-punch.

Mill Valley's $70,000 Problem: Pile Of Dirt On Miller Avenue

The slide is hopelessly tangled in legal issues, partly because the land involved is not in Mill Valley but in county territory, and partly because the land's owner, Thomas Collison, now lives in Spain.

In almost two years, the city council, although enormously concerned about the mess on Miller Avenue, has done little to make it go away. Monday night the councilmen balked at spending $3,500 to hire a soils engineer to study the slide and determine its cause.

Such a study is needed if City Atty. Leland H. Jordan is to take Collison to court and recover the cost of removing the slide. If the engineer testifies that the slide was caused by Collison's land, the city can collect.

In the meantime, City Engineer Stanley M. Bala repeated his warning that a prolonged rain could cause further sliding. If a major storm hits, he said, he would again advise the council to close Miller Avenue in the slide's vicinity.

He pegged the cost of removal at $70,000, but it appears that no one — Collison, Mill Valley or Marin County — has that kind of money to spend on a lot of mud.

IN A STEP that should prove that government can be very responsive to the people, both Belvedere and Tiburon have established official committees to work toward saving the environment.

Belvedere's committee for the environment and Tiburon's ecology committee, both recently formed, are joining in an effort to provide residents of the communities with a central site to which they could bring recyclable materials.

Although plans aren't firm, the groups hope to accept Fred Zelinsky's offer of a recycling depot at the Safeway store on Tiburon Boulevard.

These two committees are the first real steps taken by any city in Marin to attack the ecological crisis. Other cities should follow suit.

MILL VALLEY dog owners, take note — the city council soon will pass a law requiring that you keep your dog on a leash whenever you take him to a school, park or downtown.

This is how I read the intent of the council, which has been deluged with complaints from downtown merchants and shoppers about packs of dogs roaming the streets.

The council has wanted to enact a leash law for some time, but was held up by legal questions. These appear to have been resolved.

The councilmen recognize, however, that a leash law won't solve the problem. "Enforcement is the big hang-up," Councilman Robert H. Andresen said. But the Marin County Humane Society has promised to round up unattended dogs if Mill Valley so chooses.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Some Strange Things Suggested In 'Controlled Land Use' Approach

Fusselman

A number of strange situations come to mind when one considers the several statements made by the speaker at the Marin Conservation League's recent meeting (the basis for the column last week).

For instance: The gentleman was reported as saying that housing developments create corresponding service requirements such as schools, sewers and police which cost taxpayers money. Also he was quoted thusly: "The contention that houses do not pay their own way we found is correct", basing his conclusion on a long-term benefit to the taxpayers on a study his firm recently concluded in Palo Alto. He further predicted the same result if a land use study were undertaken in Marin County.

IT WOULD BE interesting for him to spell out just who the taxpayers are in his estimation. It seems to me that most of the houses in Marin are occupied, most of them with taxpayers.

Does he mean that the fat little tax bill just received must be charged to other elements of the property than the house? Or is he saying that the combination of house and lot doesn't pay its way? Who is the patsy? The owner of unimproved land — land which because it is unimproved is not assessed as high as the lot with a house on it, unless it is considered "vulnerable."

Now, just where does he end up with his values? He recommands stalling by zoning "volnerabe" land into acre lots to kill sales. The owner will then demand and probably get a reduction in assessed value.

His remark, "Our program is a selective one . . ." sounded a little like he was making a pitch. If he was, I wonder where he has been?

FIVE OR SIX years ago something like $40,000 was paid to three people for a land use survey of West Marin. Now, add to that the following:

The planning department spent, for the five years ending June 30, 1970, $1,546,612 and was reimbursed $158,833 in fees, leaving a net outlay of $1,387,774. To this add $336,797 estimated to be spent by June 30, 1971, a total of $1,724,570.

It is reasonable to assume that this last amount plus the West Marin layout constitute six years of land use study, as the small amount of reimbursement is a reflection of a practical stand-still of bulding. You may recall that the planning staff built a small replica of Marin showing hill and valley. (It was said that they had miniature houses which they moved around to study where traffic would originate under various use of the land.

It appears that if the speaker was making a pitch, he is up against a worked-out mine. "There ain't no more gold in them thar hills".

THIS BOARD of supervisors has fallen into the same trap as the others. Harken to this; it is a condition that is becoming constant: In addition to abdicating, they are making work for the little hand that leads them.

They were told on Tuesday that homes along Ocean Parkway at Bolinas will slide into the ocean unless repairs are made immediately. Bud Baar wanted to have soil tests made to determine the cause. The others wanted to know about legal responsibility and cost. So what was done? You guessed it. Chairman John McInnis asked the administrator to have ready for the next meeting the county counsel's opinion and a cost estimate of a soil test.

This is how they make work for the administrator, the high priced one. He will write a letter to the county counsel. He will dictate the answer to a secretary, as had the administrator. The same thing will take place at the public works department. This all keeps the administrator busy for he will than dictate a report to the board.

THE SECRETARY taking the board's minutes could have simply sent a memo to the two departments, who then could address their answer to the board for its netx meeting. This, of course, would be all too easy and would not help to make work for the gent.

One day that whole phony setup will blow up in their faces, and won't they be red!

Probe Fragments Will Be Returned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department says fragments of a Russian satellite that fell on parts of the Midwest last month will be returned to the Soviet Union.

Officials said arrangements still are being made for Russian officials to officially identify the fragments, one of which weighs 600 pounds.

The State Department did not specifically identify the satellite, but presumably it is Cosmos 316, chunks of which dropped Sept. 28 near Beaver, Okla., and Pratt, Kan. The fragments are being returned under a multilateral treaty which provides for the return of space objects or astronauts who land on foreign territory.

Geothermal Hearing Full Transcript Due

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Joint Committee on Atomic Development and Space will publish the full transcript of last month's hearings on geothermal resource development in California, chairman John Briggs announced.

The Fullerton Republican said that geothermal sources may provide a clean source of energy for electric power generating plants, desalted water and vast mineral development.

Last month's hearings, held in conjunction with the Geothermal Resources Board, focused on recent steam well research in the Salton Sea area, and witnesses testified to the availability of technical knowledge to use steam from natural wells.

Testimony was to the effect that there are enough natural steam wells in California to provide power for the next two hundred years.

Briggs says the natural steam wells in the Imperial Valley are the largest in the world, and that they could begin to provide water and power for the entire desert within the next 10 years.

"The need for fossil or nuclear power plants could possibly vanish if we are willing to pay for the research," Briggs said." The cost of electricity and water could be substantially cut also.

"The value of lithium and other recoverable minerals from the geothermal brine may well reduce the cost of power and water to nearly zero."

Briggs said Reykjavik, Iceland, and Bardello, Italy, rely on geothermal steam to heat their cities and provide power for generation of electricity.

Molotov Bombs Into Motor Pool

EL TORO MARINE CORPS AIR STATION (UPI)—Two men tossed Molotov cocktails into the motor pool area at this Marine base early Thursday then escaped under fire from military police.

Authorities said the firebombs caused no damage. They were thrown over a chain-link fence into the area.

Two MP's on duty fired three shots at the suspects, but apparently missed.

Sociologist To Give Lectures

Dr. T. C. Esselstyn, chairman of the sociology department at San Jose State College, will speak Monday night and Tuesday morning at training sessions for Marin County Probation Department volunteers.

The class will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Adaline E. Kent School, Kentfield, and 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church, San Rafael. The sessions are open to the public.

Esselstyn will discuss impact of law enforcement and probation officers on current criminal problems.

We're Democrats. And, we're proud of it.

We're Californians. And, we're proud of that, too.

Up until recently, what our party wanted was generally good for our State. That's why we worked hard for our party. But, this year, in the big race, what our party offers is not what California needs.

Governor Reagan is an honest man. An effective leader. He's not afraid to meet the hard issues head-on. He's got guts. And good, common sense. He's not just another politician.

Drop us a line. Let us know that you, too, are a Democrat—or an Independent—who is supporting Governor Reagan.

Blood Donor Who Had Jaundice Can Transmit Serum Hepatitis

Van Dellen

A. M. writes: "Why can't a person who has had jaundice donate blood? P. S. I believe he is cured."

Serum hepatitis is a form of liver disease that develops in a person who has received blood serum from a victim who had viral hepatitis. Or to put this another way, serum hepatitis is the most serious complication of blood transfusions. Jaundice (yellow discoloration of skin and whites of eyes) is a common symptom of hepatitis. More important, the causative viruses remain in the bloodstream for a year or more after the desease is apparently cured.

THIS IS why blood banks do not want donations from a person who had jaundice, even though there are causes other then hepatitis. What really bugs blood centers is that many people with viral hepatitis do not have jaundice. The disease is mild and easily passed off as a cold. When these individuals donate blood the recipients run the risk of developing serum hepatitis. Estimates show that, in this country, there are 30,000 cases of transfusion-induced hepatitis a year.

A solution to the problem may be near. Tests have been devised for detecting hepatitis-associated antigen (HAA) in blood that is likely to cause transfusion hepatitis. Under the electron miscroscope, HAA appears to be a virus-like particle. Following its discovery, a rapid test was devised to detect blood containing the HAA. Although the tecnique is less than 100 per cent perfect, it should prevent considerable disability and death from transfusions.

ROUTINE screening of donor blood for HAA is now urged. Preliminary tests show only one to two units out of 1000 prints are positive. The incidence varies with the source of the blood. It is highest in paid donors (one in 20) and lowest in volunteer donors (one in 200).

The main obstacle to detection is the short supply of the reagent needed for testing and which comes from hemophiliacs who have received hundreds of transfusions. They have a considerable supply in their blood to counteract the Australia antigen.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

OUT OF PLACE

S. L. writes: I have had vaginitis and cervicitis. The doctor thinks that my uterus is out of place (turned). He advises an operation to put the uterus back in its normal position. Is this procedure dangerous?

REPLY

It is a major operation and many physicians recommend a pessary to determine whether repositioning the uterus will eliminate the cervical infection. I assume your physician has made microscopic studies of the secretions and you have had the usual treatments for cervicitis and vaginitis.

BAD FOR ARTHRITIS

L. C. writes: I've had arthritis for years and have taken different kinds of medicines that are supposed to be good for it. Why doesn't somone develop a medicine that is bad for arthritis and maybe it will go away.

REPLY

This is the first unusual suggestion that has come our way for a long time. Your sense of humor and a few aspirin will keep you well.

HOME CANNED BEETS

B. B. writes: Is it dangerous to use beets that were canned in the home?

REPLY

No, provided they were canned properly.

Cambodian City Sleeps In The Midst Of War

By BARNEY SEIBERT

Its once busy docks — Cambodia's only deepwater port facility — are virtually empty. Its vast harbor one recent day was occupied only by two unemployed tugboats and a small Cambodian naval craft. Its waterfront park has grass knee deep. Its beautiful broad beach is almost deserted.

Hillside villas where rich Cambodians and foreigners once came to relax, swim and breathe the salt air are empty and the paint is fading.

The city remains one of the showplaces of Southeast Asia but the thriving trade it enjoyed when it was a major Viet Cong supply source before the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk last March 18 is gone.

The anesthesia that induced Kompong Som's slumber was induced by the Viet Cong.

Its highway link with the capital, Phnom Penh, Highway 4 — the U.S.-built "Friendship Road" — has been intermittently cut by the Communists throughout the six-months-old war.

In the first two weeks of October the highway was closed for five days and unsafe for travel the rest of the time.

Highway 4 serves Cambodia's only oil refinery. Fuel trucks make the run whenever they can, bringing petroleum to Phnom Penh, which on the average has only a 30-day supply on hand and is forced to dip into reserves whenever the highway is closed for any length of time.

In convoys of two or more trucks, each pulling a trailer, the fuel tankers make their way slowly and gingerly past the spot in the Kirirom Pass, 58 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, where two fuel trucks were bush whacked by the Communists earlier in the month. The rusting, burnt-out hulks of blasted trucks lay in the ditch alongside the highway.

There is military traffic on the highway, too, when it's open —including trucks laden with logs for Cambodian security posts. The timber is used to bolster existing bunkers or to build new ones at the bridges and check points along the route.

When they feel it's safe, Peugeot taxis which ply the rural roads of Cambodia buzz back and forth, picking up and discharging passengers and cargo. There are occasional buses on the road as well, but they range from empty to half filled. The country people apparently prefer to take their chances in a taxi and the city folk aren't travelling yet along Highway 4.

Highway 4 begins on the swampy plain at the edge of the Mekong River. For its first few miles in Phnom Penh it is called "Boulvard U.S.S.R." in honor of the Soviet Union which gave Cambodia some of the university buildings along the route. That end of the boulevard serves Phnom Penh's airport.

The highway skirts the provincial capital of Kompong Speu, left half in ruins by a bitter battle last spring between Cambodians, Scuth Vietnamese and the Viet Cong. Then it loops in lazy curves upward toward the 1,200-foot Kirirom Plateau, which has been in Communist hands since July 29.

From Trapeang Kralang, 42 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, to the Kompong Loeu River, 40 miles farther south, which "African Queen" style river boats ply, the Viet Cong may be on the road at any instant.

From the river crossing southwest, the road descends to a table top coastal plain solidly cultivated in rice, then climbs over a coastal range of hills along a narrow peninsula, at the tip of which sits Kompong Som.

So long as the middle third of Kompong Som's vital route to Phnom Penh remains insecure, the picture-pretty seaport's slumber is likely to remain protracted.

British Carrier Has Soviet Naval Escort

TELEVISION REVIEW

A Vibrant Starlet: Susan Saint James

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Susan Saint James, that splendid young performer on NBC-TV's "The Name of the Game," flopped on the couch of her two-room dressing suite at Universal Studios and talked for an hour about almost everything but show business. She is something special.

She is leggy, she is huskily throaty, she is funny in a vibrant manner that recalls Carole Lombard, she is contemporary, she is direct, and she loves the Los Angeles Rams. What man could ask for anything more?

To say that she is one of Hollywood's genuine free spirits is an understatement. Although she is a very nice girl who is quite happy in her work as a series regular, her life style is definitely outside the glamorous boundaries of the movietown establishment.

She drives a Volkswagen camper, and sometimes sleeps in it. Or sometimes she sleeps in her studio dressing suite; one of the rooms, the small one in back, is a bedroom. And then sometimes she sleeps at friends' or relatives' places. She does have an apartment in a marina area—but, she says, "I'm still into it there—the smog and crowds and driving.

"My dream is buying a farm while I'm working. Right now I'd like to have a little house around here and practice living, healthily.

'Being healthy is where it's all at. You've got to wake up in the morning wanting to live. You can't beat up your body when you're young and then expect to be able to get everything back by reforming in middle-age. And look at some of the kids too. I see some of the stuff they're pushing at me, and it's so unhealthy."

When the series started, she wasn't as svelte as she is now. She got into a health kick about a year ago. "I used to gain 30 pounds, then lose 20—very bad." She's cut back sharply on her smoking too.

She runs a lot. "I don't mean jogging—I mean running." She runs a mile every day. A lot of the time she runs at about 9:00 at night, at Fairfax High School in Los Angeles. "I really tear that last half mile," she says.

Whatever it is, whatever she's doing, she looks great. She wore her hair long and loose and natural, and it highlighted the fine bone structure of her face, which will do her a lot of favors when she's 40 and over. She's a natural later on for that sexy, famished look.

She was born in Los Angeles and reared in Rockford, Ill. She was a model in New York and then in Paris, and then she was an immediate hit when she did a two-hour NBC-TV movie called "Fame is the Name of the Game," from which her present series was drawn.

She knows herself pretty well. Her friends on the set, she says, treat her like a pal. "I'm not an awesome kind of girl." But it's pretty clear she wouldn't mind getting some long, low whistles and distant awe. I don't know what's the matter with those guys. I felt like whistling.

Expert Seeks Solution To Blood Waste

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An authority on frozen blood today offered a solution for a problem that plagues hospital blood banks—waste of transfusion blood that sits too long on the shelves.

Dr. Morton Grove-Rasmussen, medical director of the Massachusetts General Hospital Blood Bank, said the problem could be virtually eliminated if hospitals would use a technique to convert a portion of their liquid blood inventories to frozen red cells.

Grove-Rasmussen, who made his remarks at the 23rd annual meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks, said his hospital has been experimenting for the past seven years on the use of a hospital frozen blood center. He said that an estimated 10 per cent of blood supplies are lost after the 12-day life span of the vital red cells.

Grove-Rasmussen said the problem could be solved "if hospitals would freeze approximately the same percentage of blood as that currently wasted by outdating."

In another paper delivered to the association, two military scientists reported that blood donors who smoke within two hours before giving blood adversely affect the oxygen content of the blood they donate.

Fund Request Action Sought

Marin County Economic Opportunity Council will be asked to concur with a family planning funding request to the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, at the EOC's meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the San Anselmo city hall.

W. Robert Loma Jr., executive director for the EOC, said the Planned Parenthood of Marin has submitted the fund request.

Committee reports and council action also are on the agenda for the Marin City Worry Clinic and for prevocational and vocational office skills programs.

U.S. Medics Will Leave Jordan Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department reports most of the 200 U.S. military personnel sent to Jordan with medical help after the civil war will leave the country by the end of this week, but they will leave behind $250,000 worth of medical equipment.

The department said King Hussein had requested the equipment, including X-ray machines and two complete operating rooms, be left in Jordan for the continued treatment of war victims.

Snag Discovered In Street Digging Plan

Centro West Street in Tiburon, resurfaced only two weeks ago, may be torn up soon for a fireline extension.

The new paving job was disclosed by the Tiburon city engineer as the Marin Municipal Water District board prepared to approve routinely a request by the Tiburon Fire Protection District for the pipe under Centro West. The board tabled the plan. (For another water district story, see page 1.)

Engineer Ray W. Foreaker Jr., who is running for a water board seat, blamed the water district for failing to notify the city of the fireline plans.

District Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger replied that Tiburon Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher knew of the plan and should have notified the city.

"I think that's just an excuse, Bill," Foreaker retorted.

Seeger said, "The fire chief asked for this and I assumed he had liaison with the city."

Board president Robert G. Anderson also shunted the blame to the fire protection group. "Well, Jesus, don't try to blame the water district for somebody else's errors. Are you being critical of the water district?"

"I am being critical of the water district, yes," Foreaker replied.

The board tabled approval of the $15,214 job pending search for an alternative to digging up the street. The water district would chip in $6,010 and do the work for the fire district.

Chief Buscher told the Independent-Journal he had notified the city's director of public works orally of the work, but had thought the water district would notify the city officially.

Marin Municipal Water District Board Also:

TOILETS — Awarded a contract of $8,600 to Hayco Inc. of Greenbrae for installation of concrete block toilet buildings at Phoenix Lake and Potrero Camp.

PIPE — Awarded a $5,371 contract to Collins Pipe Inc. of Oakland for corrugated metal pipe. The estimate was $8,700.

CHECK — Accepted a check for $1,402 representing the third payment of the district's share of a $22 million award in an antitrust judgment against Anaconda American Brass Company. The district's total is to reach about $15,000.

ENCROACHMENT — Agreed to an encroachment onto water district land by a fence to be built by Thomas J. Zilka of 15 Escalon Drive, Mill Valley, near the Alto tank.

PIPE MOVE — Hired Edward P. Morphy for $300 to $450 to appraise the new rights-of-way required for the Manzanita pipeline relocation. The pipe must be moved to accommodate widening of Highway 101.

BRET HARTE — Asked Seeger to hire an appraiser to set values on three parcels of land bordering the Bret Harte tank lot so that larger tanks and an access road to Bret Harte Road can be put it.

WHITE'S HILL TANK — Accepted appraisal by Morphy that about two and one-half acres at the White Hill tank lot is worth $17,900. Budgeted to buy the properties is $25,000.

FIRE EXTENSION — Approved a joint financing effort to put a $10,856 fire line extension under Washington Avenue in Santa Venetia and decided to finance a further extension of $3,000 to eliminate the dead end in the line.

Subdivision Gets Nod Over Pleas

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 337-home subdivision in Benedict Canyon was approved by the City Planning Commission Thursday over the strenuous objections of nearby mountain residents.

Opponents claimed the development would create too much density in the mountain area, add to traffic congestion and damage the area's ecology.

Develolper William Bono, of Allied Canon Co., who has been battling for the right to put houses on 200-acres of the tract, has a $5.6 million damage claim pending against the city over the refusal of the City Council to approve a 394-acre tract map for the same property.

Mansfield Leads Effort To End ICC

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The oldest and largest of the federal government's regulatory agencies—the Interstate Commerce Commission—is facing a fight for its bureaucratic life.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana is at the forefront of efforts both inside and outside Congress to abolish the agency which regulates the multimillion dollar railroad, trucking, barge and household movers industry.

Mansfield has introduced a bill in the Senate to put the 83-year-old ICC out of existence in 18 months. "There is a need for modernization of the federal regulatory setup and the ICC is the place to begin," Mansfield says.

Ralph Nader agrees. A report by a team of his consumer investigators termed the tradition-encrusted agency "an elephant's graveyard for political hacks" that should be abolished.

The agency has also generated some bad publicity of its own.

H. Neil Garson resigned his $30,000-a-year job as ICC secretary in March after acknowledging before Congress that he falsified checks to collect payment from the government for hotel bills which already had been paid by industry groups.

Garson's admission came six months after Virginia Mae Brown, then ICC chairman, refused to allow commission members to accept payments from industries they regulate for appearances at conventions and other industry functions.

President Nixon gained authority from Congress in January to appoint a permanent chairman of the ICC as part of a move to give the agency some continuity in its policies.

Tydings Asked To Join Group

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., says he has been asked to join the "Operation Alert Board" of the American Security Council, a new political action group.

Tydings said Thursday John M. Fisher, president of the council, urged him to contribute $10 to $1,000 to the $238,000 fund earmarked to defeat liberal senators, including Tydings.

Tydings said: "it is ironic that the American Security Council, in its try to defeat me, at the same time wants me both to serve on its board and contribute money dedicated to my defeat. I must be doing something right."

What Do You Need? We Got It!!

Homecoming Game For San Rafael

The San Rafael High School Bulldogs have one more hurdle to clear before next week's Marin County Athletic League football showdown with Terra Linda. They must get by the San Marin Mustangs tonight in their homecoming game on the Bulldogs' field.

(See stories of tomorrow's games on page 40.)

The Bulldogs, like the Trojans undefeated in league play, will be favored to run their record to 4 — 0, but coach Bob Muster does not take San Marin lightly, despite the Mustang's league record of 1 - 2.

"We watched them a few times, and they have enough things to scare you. They've been in every ball game they've played," Muster said.

He feels it will be important for San Rafael, led by the running of flanker Scott Duncan and fullback Mark Farrar, to get on the scoreboard first, in order to minimize the importance of the field goal as authored by San Marin placekicker Urbano Boucsiequz.

Chances are that the Mustangs, who have had trouble moving the ball inside the 25 yard line, will not get much closer than that to San Rafael's goal; the Bulldogs have limited their league opposition to a single field goal in three games.

San Marin coach Bob Martin is not dispirited at the prospect of playing San Rafael after losing to Terra Linda last week, 21-15, but he is aware of the Bulldogs' power. "They're an explosive club. Duncan and Farrar can go all the way on you," he says.

San Marin is hurting, while San Rafael is healthy, and that doesn't do much to shorten the odds against the Mustangs. They may be without the services of ace defensive back, Marty Larsen, who twisted an ankle against the Trojans.

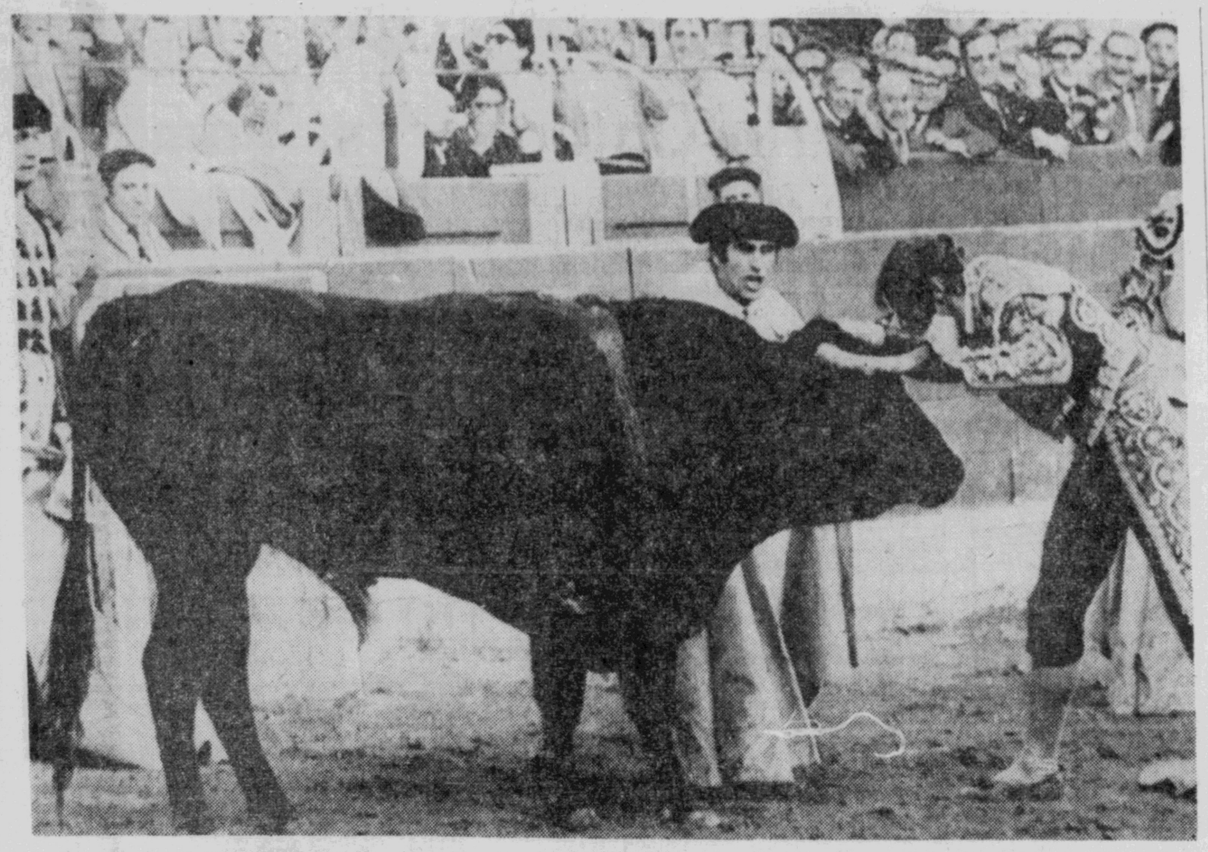
The Bulldogs, who roughed up Redwood last week, 28 - 0, will be out to stop San Marin's unpredictable quarterback, Jim Nakamine. Muster describes him as a threat on rollouts, and says, "the kid bootlegs the ball pretty good."

SHARON WALSH WINS; TO FACE ANN JONES

ABERAVON, Wales (UPI) — Sharon Walsh, San Rafael's 18-year-old junior tennis champion, reached the semi-finals of the Dewar Cup indoor tennis tournament yesterday by beating British Wightman Cup player Joyce Williams, 8-6, 6-2.

Miss Walsh was scheduled to face former Wimbledon champion Ann Jones of Britain today in the semi-finals. Miss Jones yesterday defeated Francoise Durr of France, 7-5, 6-4.

Top match yesterday in the men's competition was Briton Paul Hutchins' upset over top-seeded Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.



HARDLY THE MOMENT FOR A CHAT

In a show of bravery, Spanish bullfighter Manuel Benitez, known as "The Cordobes," came face to face with his opponent recently at the Saragossa bullring in Spain. To the delight of the crowd, he grabbed the bull by the horns and looked him straight in the eyes. (UPI Telephoto)

Marin To Host DeAnza

The Tars, whose season record stands at a single win against five losses, have every right being down psychologically after what happened to them a week ago in Vallego. Not only did they lose to the lowly Solano College Falcons, 30-21, but in the process six players from the Kentfield team were ejected from the game.

Tar coach Dick Read, who in 14 years coaching at Marin had a total of three players thrown out of games prior to last Saturday, officially protested the game this week to the Bay Area Collegiate Officials Association.

The protest was denied, however, by association director Bob Fitzhenry of Drake High School, who told Read that since no films were taken of the game, there was nothing the association could do. Read said, "Once a decision like this is made there isn't anything we can do about it."

There may not be much the Tars can do about De Anza, either. The Dons have won only two of four games this year, but they have been playing without star quarterback Jay Cruz, out since September with a broken foot.

Cruz, who directed the Dons to a 28-20 win over Marin last year, will be in the starting lineup tomorrow. How lucky can the Tars get?

To make matters worse, the Tars have come down with the flu en masse, and at least three players — end Wendel McReynolds, defeusive back Homer Hall and tackle Doug Best — are listed as doubtful starters because of it.

Read is not too optimistic, but he says, "I've got a good feeling about this one. The team's been working hard, and you can't ask for more than that."

Flood Indicates He May Sign Contract

NEW YORK (UPI) — Curt Flood indicated today that he may be the first reluctant signer of a $100,000 major league baseball contract.

The 32-year-old outfielder, who sat out the 1970 season while he challenged the reserve clause in the courts, learned Thursday that Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will not approve the contract Flood is negotiating with the Washington Senators if it does not include the reserve clause.

"I still think the reserve clause stinks," commented Flood. "But, frankly, like everybody else, I've had some business reverses and I need the money."

Flood said that Bob Short, owner of the Senators, "offered me more money ($100,000) to play with the Senators next year than I get ($90,000) for playing with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1969." His continuing negotiations with Short suggest he might reluctantly sign a standard contract with the Senators while, at the same time, continuing to challenge the reserve clause.

Kuhn indicated such a compromise was possible when he said Flood could continue to play and still sue because the district judge had said it wouldn't affect the case.

"I resitate to put myself in the position of speculating what the appeal court might say," Kuhn replied when asked if the court might rule the case no longer relevant if Flood plays under a standard contract.

Kuhn also said the Senators would not have to send a player to the Philadelphia Phillies for the privilege of negotiating with Flood if they do not reach an agreement with him. Short indicated during the World Series that he would send a player to the Phillies just for the privilege of negotiating with Flood.

Flood started his suit after refusing to report to the Phillies after being traded by the Cardinals. The Supreme Court ruled in 1922 that baseball was not inter-state commerce and not subject to anti-trust laws. The ruling has not been overturned over the years, although the definition of interstate commerce has widened.

Flood, who left his current home in Copenhagen to negotiate with Short, said he had "been under tremendous pressure for the past year while fighting the suit.

"Things are going so bad for me now," he chuckled, "that it would be just my luck to jump out of a window and live."

TOUGH DAY FOR JACK

Aaron In Golf Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Tommy Aaron has a 64 for the lead in the $100,000 Sahara Invitational and Jack Nicklaus is 12 strokes back, but the defending champion hasn't given up yet.

Nicklaus has won this event four times.

He got off to a bad start in Thursday's first round when he shot a five-over-par 76 on Paradise Valley Country Club course with a set of borrowed clubs. Nicklaus' caddy had his and didn't show up with them on time.

Aaron, 33, a smiling Georgian, shot a first round 32-32 for a two-stroke edge over Don January, the grizzled Texan, and Joe Carr, the New Englander who now calls Honolulu home. January shot 33-33 at Sahara-Nevada Country Club. Carr played the same layout in 32-34—66. Par at both courses is 36-35—71.

Nicklaus had one birdie and six bogeys on his card of 37-39—76 and he was still able to smile. He recalled that he took a 77 on one round when he won the Sahara in 1966.

In today's second round of the tournament, which ends Sunday, Nicklaus had his own clubs back and a new caddy.

Of the starting field of 160, 57 broke or matched par on a balmy day in the first round. There was little wind and the sun was bright with temperatures near 76.

Larry Hinson and Roy Pace, a couple of young pros, shot 67s and there were 11 in the 63 bracket including former Sahara winner Chi Chi Rodriguez, Tom Shaw, Terry Dill, Pete Brown, John Miller and Kermit Zarley.

There were a few name pros over par. Ken Still, winner of the Kaiser Open last weekend, took a 72 at Paradise. Frank Beard shot a 73 at Sahara-Nevada. Doug Sanders, Sahara awinner in 1959, shot a 74, three winner in 1959, shot a 74, three won the title in 1961, had a 73.

Aaron, winner of the Atlantic Classic last May, had nine birdies and two bogeys on his card of 32-32. He sank a 22-foot putt, a 17-footer and a couple of 15-footers.

"I hit a lot of good irons," he mused. "I hit the ball close to the hole. Of course, you got to get it in even when you hit it close."

Unknown In Dunlop Golf Lead

Beames shot a four under par 68 for a total of 137 in the $28,000 event.

A stroke behind were Lee Trevino of the United States, Gary Player of South Africa, Graham Marsh of Australia and Guy Wolstenholme of Britain.

FIRES 66

Trevino charged to a six under par 66 which broke the course record by a stroke.

"I'm going to stick with that small ball," he said later. "In fact, I'm going to use it in preference to the big American ball when I play in the World Cup in Buenos Aires in two weeks. I don't think you can win a tournament using a big ball if the other players are using the small ball."

Trevino was often astray with his driving but managed to play a number of remarkable recovery shots. He dropped a 20-footer for a birdie at the ninth and a 35-footer for another birdie at the 11th.

Player posted a 67 which included five birdies and the little South African later described it as "a fantastic round."

NO ZIP

Tony Jacklin complained there was no zip in his shots after finishing with a 71 for a total of 146.

Arnold Palmer came charging back to pick up two birdies and an eagle on the back nine to finish with an even par round of 72 after being three over after the sixth hole. He had a two round total of 143.

"I drove badly, the worst I've driven it for seven or eight years," Palmer said. "That wind was pretty wicked this afternoon."

Series Loot Is Divided Up; 18 Grand For Each Oriole

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Thursday the amounts of the shares earned by the victorious Orioles and vanquished Cincinnati Reds. The Reds, beaten in five games, took home $13,687.59 each.

DECREASE

Both figures represented a decrease from the amounts earned by the members of the 1969 champion New York Mets and the losing Orioles. The drop was attributed to a decrease in attendance in both the post-season playoffs and the Series. Members of the champion Mets earned $18,338.18 while each of the 1969 Orioles took home $14,904.21.

In 1969, the playoffs drew 274,001 and the Series 272,378 for a total of 546,379. This year, the playoffs drew 194,867 and the Series 253,183 for a total of 448,379.

The Orioles gave out 31 full shares and $10,200 in cash awards while the Reds awarded 32 shares plus $7,550 in cash awards. The Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost the National League playoff to the Reds, had 31 shares with $8,400 in cash awards and the Minnesota Twins, who were beaten by the Orioles in the American League playoff, gave 32 full shares with $6,950 in cash awards. The top three teams in each of the four divisions share in the playoff and Series receipts.

PIRATES, TWINS

Shares for members of the Pirates amounted to $5,913.49 while each of the Twins received $5,901.47.

The shares for the second place teams were: New York Yankees $1,179.11; Oakland A's $1,272.34; Chicago Cubs $1 064.64; Los Angeles $1,108.75.

The third place teams received: California $923.55; Boston $267.86; New York Mets $278.68; San Francisco $267.84.

Bonavena Readies For Clay With An Easy TKO Victory

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Oscar "Ringo" Bonavena, who must look Cassius Clay in the eye before the year is up, hardly ruffled his curly hair Thursday night as he pounded Brazilian Luis Fuastino Pires senseless for the third time in their three fights.

"I wasn't too worried after the third round," said the gabby Argentine.

It was no wonder.

Bonavena's vicious left hook to the Brazilian's head in the third had the loser so groggy that he couldn't defend himseld and the referee forced Pires to take an eight count, even though he didn't go down. The blow opened a bloody cut over the right eye.

Pires' seconds threw in the towel for the TKO with two minutes and 40 seconds gone in the fourth round for Bonavena's 44th victory in 53 fights, and his 35th by knockout.

Bonavena, ranked No. 1 contender for Joe Frazier's heavyweight crown by the World Boxing Association (WBA), said that he is unofficially scheduled to meet former champ Clay somewhere in the United States on Dec. 7. But he said the date is not concrete yet.

(Boxing circles in the U.S. reported that negotiations were underway for sites such as Cleveland, Boston, Miami and Atlanta).

The 28-year-old Bonavena, who owns a chain of men's clothing stores and sometimes sings and dances in a nightclub act, said Clay is "the big chance" and he will train seriously for the fight.

He said earlier this week he always has had respect for Clay and was impressed with Clay's easy victory over Californian Jerry Quarry in Atlanta, Ga., last Monday night.

The loss was the sixth in 22 fights for the Brazilian — three of them at the hands of Bonavena.

Bonavena weighed 207 to 210 for Pires.

Warriors Take On The Bulls

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It is difficult to believe but the San Francisco Warriors host the easiest of four opponents in their current home stand tonight when they meet the Chicago Bulls, 8 o'clock in civic auditorium.

The revamped Bulls, who are 4-2 and third in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division, bank on regulars Jerry Sloan, Chet Walker and Bob Love with rookie Jimmy Collins and newcomers Jim Fox and Matt Guokas supplying the reserve power.

During the current homestand, the Warriors, who have already dropped a decision to the Philadelphia 76ers (7-2), also go against the defending National Basketball Association champion New York Knicks (8-2) and Baltimore Bullets (4-3).

The Knicks and Bullets lead the Atlantic and Central divisions, respectively, while the 76ers are second in the Atlantic ond Bulls third in the Midwest.

Time To Get Cracking, Says Madden

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders face an old nemesis Sunday in Kansas City, the Super Bowl champion Chiefs, and as Coach John Madden sees it, it's time to get cracking.

The Raiders, who have come on strong of late after a wretched 0-2-1 start, have won three straight and will have to keep going if they are to survive in the American Football Conference battle.

But it's not going to be easy. In addition to two games with the Chiefs and one each with Denver and San Diego in its own division, Oakland must face Cleveland, Detroit and San Francisco. Those three teams have a cumulative record of 13-4-1.

Madden says there is one advantage of playing the Chiefs. "We don't have to spend a lot of time with the movies to get the players acquainted with the Chiefs.

"The last two weeks, we've been preparing for teams we haven't known much about (Washington and Pittsburgh)," he said. "But we know all about the Chiefs. For awhile last season, it seemed we were meeting them every other week."

In two late regular season meetings, the Raiders defeated Kansas City, 27-24 and 10-6, but lost the big one, the AFL championship to the Chiefs, 17-7.

A secret recipe. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Carl Beam, Master Distiller, is just as particular about the ingredients that go into his Bourbon as his wife is about the fruits and vegetables she puts up for winter. That's because Carl is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

Washington Probably Out Of Packer Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — As Sunday's encounter with Green Bay draws near, it appears more likely that San Francisco's Gene Washington, the No. 1 pass catcher in the National Football Conference, will miss the game.

Washington, who has a pulled hamstring muscle, was unable to participate in full-go workouts Thursday and Coach Dick Nolan has indicated that he'll keep his ace pass catcher out for at least another day.

If Washington is unavailable for duty, either Jimmy Thomas, a wide receiver in college but a running back with the 49ers, or rookie Preston Riley will fill in for Washington.

Seals To Host Sabres Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) — The California Golden Seals, inching ever so close to their first National Hockey League victory of the season, take their 0-7-2 record against the expansion Buffalo Sabres tonight.

In their last two contests, both on the road, the Seals dropped a close 3-2 decision in St. Louis and battled to a 2-2 deadlock in New York.

Buffalo comes into the Oakland Arena with a 2-6-1 mark, good enough for fifth place in the NHL East.

Tamalpais Cross Country Runners Assured Of Title

Tamalpais High School's cross country team clinched at least a tie for the Marin County Athletic League championship yesterday with a 19-36 victory over San Rafael High School.

And in the process, Tam's Mike Arago set a new Tamalpais course record by running the 3-mile course in 15:21.6, breaking Novato's Ron Elija's record by 21 seconds.

The victory closed out Tam's dual meet season and gave the Indian runners a record of five wins, no losses and one tie. Novato, the team which tied Tam, is also undefeated but has one more match remaining.

FISH AND GAME

A Fantastic Day Of Fly Fishing

By AL GIDDINGS

SMITH RIVER, Del Norte County — An unbelievable day of fly fishing!

A 42½-pound salmon for Pete Valconesi and a 37-pounder for Marty Medin, both males; a 33½-pound female for me and a 29¼-pound female for Steve Truttman. All on flies. Each salmon larger than any each of us had caught before. It's fantastic!

Last Monday Marty Medin of Woodacre, Pete Valconesi and Steve Truttman of Point Reyes, and I took off for the Smith River in Del Norte County, never realizing that we were to hit the jackpot.

WE CAME UP in two trucks plus my car, bringing along four small boats, the one-man boats for the fly fisherman, which are very maneuverable and light for easy launching, and give you enough room to move around in while battling a fish.

It was a 350-mile trip, taking most of the day. We had about an hour to look over the river, trying to figure where we would go the next morning.

Up at 4 a.m., then out to the river. We were there first, so we launched all the boats, rowing out to a spot above a very deep hole off a gravel beach where we anchored. Nothing moved, no fish were jumping, nothing looked exciting. We fished about an hour and Valonesi caught a small chub salmon, about a four-pounder.

THEN IT HAPPENED! Truttman yelled, "fish on!" About an hour later we saw him land his fish, and when he held it up from downstream, it sure looked big!

(When a fish is hooked, the angler pulls the boat anchor, rows ashore as best he can, holding the rod with his knees or in one hand. It's not easy!)

The biggest fish Truttman had ever taken in five years of fishing the Smith River was a 27½-pounder, and that was three years ago; so you can see that he was pretty happy. And then Marty hooked one! Oh, brother, did he have a time, and when he landed it, all 37¼-pounds of it, he just about passed out!

ABOUT THIS time, I feel a hit, set the hook, and being the first time fishing for king salmon on the Smith, I wonder what is going to happen. If I lift anchor, row the boat to the beach and hold the rod with my knees I figure I would be in the drink. So Marty, who is in a happy mood, came over, pulled my anchor and took me to shore.

Then it was up and down the river with my fish. Once it took off down the rapids to the next hole. Using a No. 6 fly, a golden comet, tied to a 12-pound test leader just scares you no end at times. And people! I had 20 people following me down the river, advice from every angle. I just knew that fish would get off!

TIME PASSES . . . I fret . . . get impatient with Marty when he says maybe it's foul hooked. Good grief! Then I'd have to release it. It's illegal to keep a snagged fish. Then finally it came close, and we see that it's mouth hooked, and we're all happy. Finally we land it, probably one-quarter of a mile below where it was hooked.

Then Pete hooks his big one. Can you imagine landing a 42½-pound fresh salmon on a fly with 12-pound test line? Well, Pete did! His largest previous fish had been a 31-pound, 12-ounce fish, and Marty's 29-12. Mine was probably a little old 12-pounder from Papermill Creek in Inverness.

SO HERE WE were, with four fish weighing a total of more than 142 pounds. We took the fish to the "Ship Ashore," a sportsmen's hangout here. Pete got a 40-50 pound trophy pin for his fish, and Marty and I got 30-40-pound trophy pins for ours. Pete's fish was the second of the year registered for the green and silver pin. A 58-pounder had been previously registered, but it was not taken on a fly.

YOU KNOW, we fished the rest of the day with little action. Oh, Pete caught a 25-pounder after his big one, but released it! We figured he was blowing his stack. We fished until nearly 5 p.m. — almost a 12-hour day of casting a fly. Beat? We were exhausted!

I stayed in bed this morning but those three went fishing while I'm writing this article. But just writing about it is giving me the fever.

Where's my fishing rod?

Novato To Host Drake

The Novato High School Hornets and the Drake Pirates, neither of whom figure any longer in the Marin County Athletic League football race, meet tomorrow afternoon, probably to determine third place, at 1 p.m. at Novato High School's field.

This game, originally scheduled to be played tomorrow night at San Rafael, has to be rated a tossup. Both teams have lost two games in league play (Novato is 1 - 2, Drake is even at 2 - 2), and both have suffered from the same malady - difficulty in reaching the end zone. Novato is averaging only six points a game, the Pirates just nine.

WINNERS

But both teams are coming off wins and should be "Up" for this one. Drake downed Tamalpais last week, 10 - 6, while Novato edged Salesian of Oakland, 10 -7 in a non-league bottle.

"I think he's the key to their ball club," Drake coach Bob Franceschini said of Moroski, who will be throwing to, among others, split ends Jack Straw and Dave Judnick.

INJURIES

Healthwise, Novato is in better shape, with no serious injuries, according to Scott. But Drake is less than 100 per cent. Franceshini announced on Wednesday that offensive guard Don Seward and halfback Jim Dominguez are both out for the season. Seward suffered a compound fracture of a thumb last week, and Dominguez reinjured a bad ankle.

Radio station KTIM (1510 AM) will carry the game live, with Bob Dinsmore doing the play-by-play.

Junior Hornets' Chance To Tie In Warner Grid

The Novato Junior Hornets go into this last weekend of the Marin County Pop Warner Football League season with a chance to tie the Terra Linda Junior Trojans for the league championship.

The Trojans finished their league schedule last week with a 4 - 0 - 1 record, which the Hornets could equal by defeating Drake Sunday in a 3 p.m. game at Novato High School.

In other season-ending league games Sunday, The San Rafael Junior Bulldogs meet the Redwood Junior Giants in Larkspur, and the Tamalpais Junior Indians host the San Marin Junior Mustangs in Mill Valley.

Terra Linda closes its season with a non-league game against San Carlos in Terra Linda.

LIKE LION STALKING A DEER

Trojans Cautious Of Redwood

The Terra Linda High School Trojans approach tomorrow's Marin County Athletic League football game against Redwood cautiously, much in the way a lion stalks a deer. The only question is how long the fight on the Larkspur School's field will last.

The odds are that the Trojans, undefeated in league play with four wins, will roll past the winless Giants and into a confrontation for the championship next week with San Rafael. Gametime tomorrow is 2 o'clock.

But Terra Linda coach Don Lucas is still not overly confident. "I'd rather play a team that's 6-0 than one that's 6-6," he says. He notes also that Redwood's whole season is directed toward beating his team, and, in addition to that, the game will be Redwood's homecoming.

With quarterback Larry Kerr and tailback Matt Bowman leading the way, the Trojans ran at will against San Marin in a 21-15 win last week, and should have little difficulty doing the same against the Giants.

"I know they're the toughest team we're going to play this year," says Redwood coach Phil Roark. "They're aggressive and they've got good size up front."

As if things weren't bad enough for Redwood, the Giants lost two players on one play during scrimmage Tuesday. Senior Gary Schunk, middle linebacker and offensive guard, suffered a slight neck fracture and was hospitalized, ending his high school football playing days.

Shunk suffered the injury when he slammed into quarterback Bob Brown, a junior, with Brown suffering a cracked rib. He will be out at least a week, and possibly the season. Schunk is in a body cast.

The Giants will also go without fullback Andy Anixter, who is out indefinitely with a hurt ankle, while the Trojans' will operate with a badly decimated defensive backfield. Mike Sanderson, Guy Rodriguez and Rob Mackey are all on the injured list.

Sonoma State Favored Over S. F. State

The Sonoma State College Cossacks, riding the crest of a three-game winning streak, will be favored to make it four tomorrow afternoon when they host the San Francisco State Gators at 2 p.m. at Bailey Field in Santa Rosa.

After dropping their first two games, the Cossacks from Rohnert Park have defeated Azusa Pacific, University of California at Davis and last week Oregon Tech 21-20 at Klamath Falls, Ore. S.F. State, on the other hand, has suffered six losses without a win.

Sonoma State coach Carl Peterson regards the Gators with caution. "We have the utmost respect for San Francisco State," he says. "We know that any team (coach) Vic Rowen puts on the field will be tough."

But the Gators, who dominated the Far Western Conference in the sixties, have been anything but thought this year. Their strong suit seems to be their kicking game. Punter John Jarvis is averaging 37 yards a kick.

Sonoma State, on the other hand, has been a pleasant surprise in this, only their first year of varsity competition. Freshman quarterback Ernie Simon has sparked the offense, last week throwing three touchdown passes. Two of them went to split end Jack Trujillo, who also caught three other passes.

Another hero last week, and one of the reasons the Cossacks are improving on defense each game, is freshman safety Bob Sears of Novato, who grabbed three interceptions.

Colusa Man Elected Norcal Golf Head

CARMEL (UPI) — Hugh P. Jones of Colusa was elected president of the Northern California Golf Association at its annual meeting Thursday night at Rancho Canada Club.

Other officers are Gordon J. Aulik, Stockton, first vice president; Jack Bariteau, San Jose, second vice president; and Dr. C. H. Blackstone, Castlewood, secretary - treasurer.

THIS DAY IN SPORTS

Colts, 49ers Among Favorites

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Baltimore Colts were listed as six-point favorites over the Miami Dolphins today in their Sunday battle for first place in the American Football Conference's Eastern Division.

In other pro games Sunday, San Francisco was listed as 4 1-2 points over Green Bay, Cleveland eight over San Diego, St. Louis 10 1-2 over Houston, Dallas 14 over Philadelphia, Denver one over Washington, the New York iGants nine over the New York Jets, Boston 3 1-2 over Buffalo and Atlanta seven over Chicago.

No early lines had been established on the Detroit-Minnesota and Kansas City-Oakland games while the Los Angeles-New Orleans contest is off the board.

PRIDE AT STAKE

Marin Catholic Vs. Tam

Nothing but pride will be at stake tomorrow when the Tamalpais High School Indians and the Marin Catholic High School Wildcats clash in a non-league football game at 1:30 p.m. in Kentfield.

The Indians of Mill Valley have little to lose except their pride; they've dropped three straight Marin County Athletic League games after winning their opener.

The Wildcats, however, stand to gain some pride, as well as stature that may gain them reentry into the MCAL, from which they bowed out two years ago after serving for years as the league's doormat.

An upset of previously unbeaten St. Patrick's of Vallejo last Saturday night put coach Rev. John Heaney's crew over the .500 mark with a three-win, two-loss record, and they can be counted on to be up for Tam. "The kids are enthusiastic. It's the big one for them," Heaney said Wednesday.

The pressure, however, will be on the Indians, who are coming off a tough, 10-6 loss to Drake. Marin Catholic hasn't beaten an MCAL team in eight years, and the Indians would just as soon not break with precedent.

Both Tam and Marin Catholic are predominently running teams, but the key will probably be whether Tam can stop the Wildcats' passing attack. Quarterback Steve Sherry, who is brilliant when he is right, was right last week, throwing two touchdown passes through the stingy St. Pat's defense.

The Wildcats' rushing attack is carried by fullback Pat Parnow and tailback Mark Lewis, who together are averaging 150 yards per game. Tam's workhorses are Bil Washington, who twice this year has gained more than 100 yards, and Clifford Hall, who is also a super defensive back, averaging an interception a game.

Seniors Golf Reaches Semis

Jordan and Mercer were each credited Thursday with upsets.

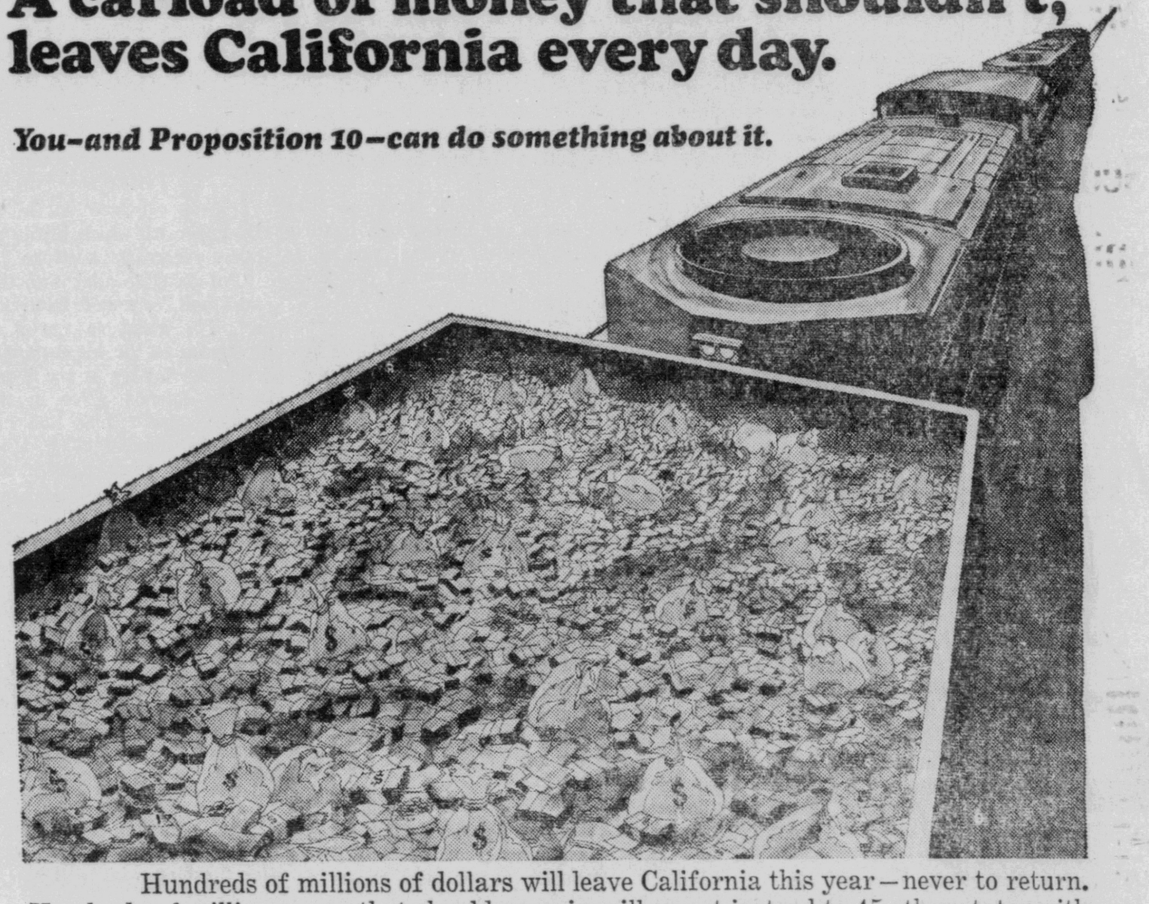
You—and Proposition 10—can do something about it.



Hundreds of millions of dollars will leave California this year—never to return. Hundreds of millions more that should come in will go out instead to 45 other states with more modern laws. About ¾ of a billion dollars in all that should be spent here for new construction—generating thousands of new jobs.

Why?

Because large business loans can earn far more interest in almost every other state in the nation. That's why New York passed a law like Proposition 10 way back in 1850.

Proposition 10 will put an end to this money drain. And do it without costing you a penny or affecting the interest you pay in any way. (In fact, it might even lower it in the long run.)

How can Proposition 10 guarantee this?

Because it only applies to loans over $100,000, made to corporations and partnerships. The kind of loans so vital to the construction industry.

The State Legislature passed Proposition 10 unanimously and Governor Reagan signed it. Former Governor Brown supports it. So do business and labor unions. But their endorsement can't make it law without your YES.

Your YES on 10 November 3rd will keep California money here, where it'll do the most good.

Paid for by Californians for Yes on 10.

Two Upset Wins At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI) — Stymied and Shining Bus scored upset wins Thursday in the Tyro and Marina-Pacific purses, the twin features at Bay Meadows.

Stymied, with Paul Caballero aboard, pulled away from Mr. Forsman in the stretch to score by two and a half lengths in the Tyro. Stymied covered the mile in 1.36 4-5 and paid $24.60 to win.

In the Marina-Pacific, Juan Gonzalez brought Shining Bush from last place to circle his field and win by three quarters of a length going away. Shining Bush sped the six furlongs in 1.08 4-5 and paid $12.20 to win.

Can-Am Finale Sunday

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — The finale of the 10-race Canadian-American Challenge Cup series — the 13th annual Times Grand Prix — is set Sunday with New Zealand's Denis Hulme and the revolutionary Chaparral 2J expected to duel for top money in the $100,000 event.

QUALIFYING

Two days of qualifying got under way today over Riverside International Raceway's 3.3-mile, 9-trn road course.

Hulme, the No. 1 driver on Team McLaren, already has wrapped up the Can-Am series this year with 112 points. That's more than twice the total earned by the No. 2 driver, Lothar Motschenbacher, who has 57.

But Jim Hall's controversial Chaporral figures to give Hulme's orange-colored Group 7 racer all it can handle.

In the ninth race of the series at Laguna Seca two weeks ago, the radical Chaparral "vacuum sweeper" set a course record of 116.327 miles per hour in qualifying. But driver Vic Elford, an Englishman, blew an engine in practice and had to miss the race.

Hulme, the defending champion here, had the fastest time of 123.109 miles per hour as 15 cars took the course for the opening of practice Thursday.

SECOND BEST

The Chaparral had the next best time of 120.977 while Chris Amon of New Zealand was clocked in 120.609 and Hulme's Team McLaren teammate, Peter Gethin, timed in at 119.758.

If the Chaparral wins at Riverside, it could be the last race for Hall's revolutionary machine. There is talk of declaring it illegal because the car utilizes a pair of rear fans to help hold it on the ground.

Delvecchio Joins Elite NHL Group

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Delvecchio became only the sixth player in National Hockey League history to score 400 goals Thursday night and then broke a 3-3 tie with his 401st regular season tally in leading the Detroit Red Wings to a fight-filled 5-3 win over Boston, The Burins' first loss.

The only other NHL action saw the Philadelphia Flyers move back into a second place tie in the West Division with the idle St. Louis Blues on a 3-1 comeback win over the Los Angeles Kings.

"Gordie stays up there with Alex and Frank Mahovlich," said new Coach Ned Harkness in abandoning his shift of the 42-year-old Howe to defense. "It's like taking Alex's right hand away from him when Gordie isn't playing on the line."

Howe, who added his 767th goal later in the third period, made his 1,000th assist on Delvecchio's fifth goal this season at 5:38 of the final period. Howe now has five goals this season.

75,000 EXPECTED AT STANFORD

It Just Might Be Deciding Weekend In Pacific-8 Race

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

UCLA, its season shattered by Stanford last Saturday, shoots for respectability against poor Washington State tonight while kicking off the weekend that could just about decide the 1970 Pacific 8 Conference football race.

The Bruins, 2-2 in the league race and 4-3 overall, lost to the front-running Indians, 9-7, last week in what coach Tommy Prothro called "our best game of the year."

Against the Cougars, 0-3 and 1-6, they are meeting the league's poorest team. Prothro and the Bruins haven't exactly given up all hope for the Pac-8 title because they figure Stanford has three tough customers left in Oregon State, Washington and improving California.

"Our chances are almost but not quite non existent," Prothro said after the Stanford loss. "But you never know about this game. Strange things happen."

Stanford, at 4-0, is the odds-on-favorite to make it all the way, unless it meets a stumbling block in Oregon State this Saturday.

The men who make the odds don't think any such thing is possible. They are so sure they refuse to quote any odds on the game.

The Beavers rely a lot on the running of fullback Dave Schilling, the league's second leading ground gainer with 634 yards, and a defense which features a six man line, a bit out of style in these days of defensive front fours.

While Stanford is hosting OSU, California is in Los Angeles against deflated USC and Oregon is at Washington. Oregon is 4-1 in the league race, California and USC are 2-2 and Washington is 1-2.

In the odds, USC is picked by 13 points over California and the Oregon-Washington game is listed as being even.

California coach Ray Willsey, despite an impressive 45-0 victory over Washington State last week, is apprehensive about the Trojans.

In the PCAA, Fresno State (3-0) plays at San Diego State (2-0), ranked 14th nationally, in the game which could decide the conference title, Fresno is 6-1 overall and has scored 19[illegible] points while the Aztecs are 6-[illegible] and have scored 199.

In the other games involving PCAA schools, San Jose State hosts Utah, Long Beach State is at home to Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, Pacific is at UC Santa Barbara and Los Angeles State is at Hawaii.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Oct. 30, the 303rd day of 1970.

The moon is new.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio.

On this day in history:

In 1941 a German submarine torpedoed and sank an American destroyer, the Reuben James, although the United States was not at war.

In 1948 an Army transport arrived in New York City from Germany with the first refugees to enter the United States under the Displaced Persons Act.

In 1965 48 South Vietnamese were killed accidentally when the wrong area was bombed by American planes.

A thought for today: American playwright George Michael Cohan said, "No matter what may happen, whatever may befall, I only know that I'm mighty glad to be living, that is all."

Total Retail Sales Are Reported Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department estimates last week's total retail sales throughout the nation were $6.9 billion, down 1 per cent from the week before.

Sales were down in most categories, except for service stations; lumber, building, hardware and farm equipment dealers; and eating and drinking establishments.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

Don't Worry About Brilliant Opponents; They're Like You

Pay careful attention to the advice that follows, because this is the only bridge column in the world that gives you the straight stuff: Stop what you're doing at the bridge table, now and then, to take a good look at your opponents. If you think you can get away with it, try pinching them. The idea is to convince yourself that they're the same fair-to-middling players you've known for years; they haven't suddenly become geniuses. This simple procedure helps you with the kind of hand shown today.

UNHAPPY RUFF

East overtook the queen of spades and continued the suit. East then led a third high spade, and South unhappily ruffed with the ten of hearts.

West was delighted to overruff with the queen of hearts, and South had to lose a club trick sooner or later. Down one.

South agonized at the third trick before he ruffed with the ten of hearts. He went through the familiar pantomime of a deep thinker doing his stuff, but he simply wasn't thinking about the right thing. If South had looked to his right he would have seen that East was a retired businessman who made his last good play at the bridge table in 1958.

OFFER CHANCE

South's best plan for the hand is to offer East the chance to make a mistake. Instead of ruffing the third spade South should discard the three of clubs.

East would look at dummy's diamond weakness and would automatically switch to a diamond, hoping to develop a diamond trick for his partner. Now South could win the diamond and lead out the ace and king of trumps to make the contract.

BRILLIANT MOVE

It's quite true that a brilliant East might see that the third round of spades had given South something to think about; that if South's trumps were solid he would ruff the third spade and go about his own plans. So a brilliant East would lead a fourth spade, and South would then have the chance to agonize about how to ruff.

Tell the truth now: How many players in your game are brilliant enough to lead a fourth spade in this situation?

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

VTR Recovering From Suspension

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. About two years ago I took a "flyer" in VTR, Inc. After a dazzling performance, the stock was suspended from trading on the ASE. I understand that the company's chances for weathering the storm have improved. Any information you can give me will be appreciated. — C.M.

A. Having successfully weathered an eight-month trading suspension in 1965-66, VTR may again be able to turn operations around. In midsummer VTR secured three loan extensions to 1980 on debts aggregating $7 million. In return the three noteholders were given the right to elect 60 per cent of VTR's directors and warrants to purchase 60 per cent of the company's stock. Sales for the first half of 1970 were $14.4 million compared with $18.6 million the year earlier. A $1.1 million deficit, equal to $0.39 a share, was also reported for the period. Take available loss for tax purposes.

Q. Would you explain the disadvantages of buying stocks in "odd lots"? Because of the penalties involved, I have been advised not to buy less than 100 shares of any one issue. What are these extra fees? — P. F.

A. On major exchanges most stock transactions involving less than 100 shares are not traded by auction. They are handled by odd lot dealers who buy or sell at the next round lot price after receipt of order, plus or minus an odd lot differential. In addition, a service fee of $15 or 50 per cent of the commission, whichever is less, is charged on all stock orders of 1,000 shares or less.

RENAULT 16 FOR 1971

California Case To Get Supreme Court Review

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has agreed to review a lower court ruling that California may not cut off unemployment insurance payments to a worker whenever his former employer files an appeal.

The court will hear arguments in the case later this term and will follow with a written opinion.

The California Department of Human Resources Development appealed to the Supreme Court after losing a "class action" brought in the U.S. District Court for Northern California by the Contra Costa Legal Services Foundation of Richmond, Calif.

Three federal judges found that California's unemployment insurance laws violated the U.S. Social Security Act by halting benefit payments to about 5,000 eligible workers annually because of employers' appeals.

In a brief filed by California Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch, the state contended California employers would lose up to $800,000 a year if the lower court decision is not reversed.

Cautious Tone Marks Light Day

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices closed mixed in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange today. Analysts said the dull session reflected general pre-weekend caution and a lack of external incentive.

Shortly before the final bell, the Dow Jones Industrial Average was up 2.05 at 755.61. But of the 1,577 issues crossing the tape, 745 declined and 514 advanced.

Turnover amounted to around 10,250,000 shares, compared with 10,440,000 shares Thursday.

Closing prices included: Am T & T 43 3-8 up 1-2; Beth St 21 up 1-4; Chrysler 24 1-2; DuPont 117 1-8 up 5-8; Ford 49 3-4; Gen El 86 up 1-8; Gen Motors 70 3-8 up 3-4; and IBM 294 off 3 1-4.

Electronics moved in both directions, although selected issues in the group came under marked selling pressure as a result of poor third quarter earnings reports.

Other leading stock groups including steels, oils, chemicals and motors also moved on both sides of previous closings.

Among thenday's most active issues were International Paper, Fairchild Camera, and University Computing. The last two reported losses for the third quarter.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

American Reserve, Penny To Merge

Directors of J. C. Penney Co., Inc., New York and the Great American Reserve Corp. of Dallas, Texas have approved agreements of a proposed merger on the basis of 51 per cent of a share of Penney common stock for each outstanding share of Great American common stock.

If Great American stockholders approve and other conditions are fulfilled, including receipt of a tax ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, the merger should be consummated by the end of the year.

Penney will open three new stores in November, increasing its retail space by more than 500,000 square feet. One store is in San Diego. Two other units in Riverside and Sherman, Texas are relocations to larger buildings.

DEL MONTE CORP. has agreed in principle with United Brands Co. (formerly United Fruit Co.) to acquire United's Guatemala banana operation. The transaction will not be completed until 1972, when the acquisition will more than double Del Monte's banana marketing. Del Monte's net income for the third quarter was 36 cents per share, compared to 20 cents for the same period in 1969.

PACIFIC SOUTHWEST AIRLINES has been granted permission by the California Public Utilities Commission to begin flight service from Long Beach to San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and San Diego. Plans are to begin with four flights daily from Long Beach to San Francisco - and possibly flights to Oakland later. Pacific Southwest has reported third quarter earnings of $1,695,000 on revenues of $27.1 million, compared to $1,229,000 on revenues of $21.3 million during the 1969 period.

DR. PEPPER CO. will increase its fourth quarter dividend to 9 cents per share from 7.5 cents per share, payable Dec. 1. In the nine months ended Sept. 30 earnings after taxes were $4.3 million compared with $3.6 million in the same period last year.

SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. opened its 12th department store in the Bay Area this week in San Bruno. Two others are under construction and will be opened next year in Santa Cruz and East San Jose. A store in the Northgate area, Marin County is projected for 1972.

DYMO INDUSTRIES, INC., Berkeley reported first quarter sales of $18.1 million compared to $17 million during the 1969 period. But net income was 11 cents per share, compared to 26 cents per share last year, attributed to depressed market conditions.

STANDARD OIL CO. of California third quarter earnings were $116.8 million or $1.38 per share, compared with $111.5 or $1.31 per share in 1969. Net income for the first nine months was $327.9 million or $3.87 per share, compared with $340.3 million $4.01 per share for the comparable period of 1969.

FIDELITY SAVINGS and Loan Association has opened its first office in Santa Clara County on Blossom Hill Road in South San Jose. Fidelity, third largest savings and loan association in Northern California, has assets of over $400 million.

U.S. STEEL CORP. earnings for the third quarter were $33.6 million or 62 cents per common share. Nine months income was $108.5 million or $2 per share, compared to $150.9 million or $2.79 per share for the first nine months of 1969.

HYATT INTERNATIONAL CORP. of Burlingame and Mercantile Industries, Inc. of Chicago have agreed to merge. Hyatt International is engaged in the development and management of hotels outside the continental United States. Mercantile Industries operates a 53-year old national finance company and a casualty insurance company, which will remain as subsidiaries of the new Hyatt International.

ROBERT PEDERSON of Lucas Valley received tribute the other day from the Golden Gate chapter of the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers "for the affection and esteem held for him by fellow members of the heating and air conditioning industry. But the testimony was somewhat diluted when his partner Lawrence E. Shea in Shea Equipment Co. of San Francisco received a certificate as Saint of the Year "for his patience and forebearance" in putting up with him.

Warehouse Spokesman Ties $500,000 Fire To Labor Dispute Against I-J

A three-alarm fire, which investigators say was deliberately set, destroyed over a million pounds of newsprint — some destined for the Independent-Journal — and several trucks and trailers at a San Jose warehouse today.

A spokesman for Garden City Transportation Co., whose warehouse was leveled by the fire, linked the blaze to San Francisco Typographical Union 21's strike against the I-J, and I-J publisher Wishard A. Brown today announced a $5,000 reward would be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arsonists.

The San Jose fire was the eighth case of suspected arson since April to be linked to the typographical union's strike against I-J.

Ralph Dequine, operations manager for Garden City, estimated damage at $500,000. The firm was firebombed last May and has been vandalized by stinkbombs and tire slashing in the last few weeks, Dequine said.

A federal court injunction was issued in February ordering the typographical union to cease picketing a San Francisco pier where Garden City picked up shipments of newsprint bound for Northern California newspapers, including the I-J.

In asking for the injunction, the National Labor Relations Board said that typographical union pickets had solicited Garden City truck drivers to refuse to transport the newsprint.

Firemen fought the blaze for nearly two hours before bringing it under control, and they remained on the scene throughout the day as giant rolls of newsprint continued to smoulder.

A witness said the frame warehouse "was completely gone." The corrugated steel roof had collapsed, delaying arson investigation, Inspector F. Michael Devitt of the San Jose Fire Department said.

But "it was an arson set fire," Devitt said flatly.

He said the building had been checked at 3:15 a.m. by a security guard who found everything in order.

Fifteen minutes later, the entire building was in flames when the alarm was turned in

FROM PASSIVE STREAM TO 'CONCREEK'

"Concreek" is what College of Marin students have labeled it, but Kentfield homeowners adjacent Corte Madera Creek consider the flood control work a blessing. All that remains to be done is some minor brushing up to be completed Wednesday. Prior to construction of the new concrete channel, the creek most winters turned into a raging torrent, often spilling its banks and flooding adjacent homes. Before and after photos above show the creek as viewed south from the Lagunitas Road Bridge in Ross (top left and right) and south from the pedestrian footbridge at the center of the College of Marin (lower left and right.)

$25 Million Bus, Ferry System Plan

Golden Gate Bridge Board Votes Compromise Proposal

Approval came in a series of near-unanimous votes with virtually no dissent. The board had been bitterly divided between bus and ferry advocates for almost two years, with neither side able to get its way, until today's compromise.

The system will include $9.3 million for 152 buses linking communities from Sausalito to Santa Rosa with San Francisco. Up to 15.3 million will be spent on four high-speed ferryboats to serve Central Marin and Sausalito.

Funds for the system are to come in part from district reserves, expected to total about $11.5 million by the end of this fiscal year. The remainder, about $13 million, is expected to come from federal grants and additional bridge revenue by the time the two systems are in full operation.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring said the Central Marin ferry service could be opened in 1972. The bus system will take about eight months to get started, he said.

Three of the four vessels will serve the Central Marin terminal, with the fourth supplementing present Sausalito service.

The three serving Central Marin will be 165 feet long, carry 636 passengers and cruise at 25 knots. No decision was made on what type of vessel will be added to the Sausalito service.

The board action included a request to the district staff to make recommendations on financing, terminals and selection of a naval architect to provide a design and bid specifications for the new vessels.

Philip F. Spaulding, the district's consulting naval architect, drew the plan upon which

Nixon To Condemn San Jose Violence

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

President Nixon responded today to one of the most violent demonstrations by Americans against a president by promising to "take the gloves off" and condemn such actions.

(See related stories, pages 15 and 20.)

Nixon's limousine and other cars in a presidential motorcade were subjected to a barrage of eggs, stones and other missiles as the President left an auditorium Thursday night in San Jose, Calif., after a speech to a Republican rally.

Later the President issued a statement from the Western White House at San Clemente, saying he would "speak to this kind of behavior in a forthright way" at another rally tonight in Anaheim, Calif., near Los Angeles.

In Washington, Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien issued a statement saying "all Americans, regardless of party or political philosophy, must deplore and condemn" the San Jose demonstration.

"President Nixon was correct when he described these violent dissenters as extreme antidemocratic elements of our society," O'Brien said. "The office of President of the United States commands and deserves respect and dignity. These ugly tactics must not be allowed to obscure the real issues in America today."

One missile barely missed Nixon, officials said, and his car was struck by at least one egg. Some windows in other vehicles were smashed and a Secret Service agent suffered a leg injury in a fall from one of the cars. Hundreds of shouting youths took part in the demonstration.

Sen. George Murphy, who was in Nixon's car, said today he is "God damn mad" about the violence President Nixon faced in San Jose.

"This was as vicious a crowd as I've ever seen in my life. I'm ashamed of what has happened in our state," Murphy told newsmen in Anaheim after flying with Nixon aboard Air Force One from San Jose to El Toro Marine Corps Air Station.

The 68-year-old senator, his Irish temper up, branded the demonstrators "wild-eyed, tough, angry revolutionaries" and said "I think the ringleaders ought to be identified and isolated."

"I just think it's shocking. I'm God damn mad about it. I mean to tell you I'm so mad and angry at what the President of the United States was subjected to," Murphy said.

Aides compared the San Jose incident with the attack by a

Biking Path Bottleneck Is Solved

A major bottleneck in Marin County's bicycle path system, at Waldo Point, is being unsnarled by a lease-contract agreement with the railroads, the county director of parks and recreation announced today.

Pierre W. Joske said that a contract is being drafter with the Southern Pacific Railroad for a lease of a 10-foot strip on the bay side of the tracks. A six-foot bicycle pavement will be installed from the Sausalito Bait Shop to Richardson Bay Bridge, with a four-foot fence between the path and the tracks.

With this bottleneck eliminated, cyclists will be able to pedal all the way from Golden Gate Bridge to Sonoma County, although the bike path will not parallel Highway 101 all the way. For example, at Pachero Hill between Miller Creek Road and Nave Drive, the cyclist must use bypass roads through Marinwood to get over the hill.

Water District Hikes Lease Rate For Meadow Club By 1,650 Pct.

The Marin Municipal Water District yesterday hiked the lease rate for the Meadow Club by 1,650 per cent and gave notice that leases with two hunting clubs will not be renewed. (Another water district story, page 38.)

The rate hike from $480 per year to $8,400 ended a seven-month controversy over the rental price of the 162 acres of water district land leased to the private golf club.

Facing more drastic action from the board are the Big Trees Hunting Camp and the Redwood Gun Club.

Big Trees Camp near Kent Lake leases 5,000 of the district's 17,000 acres for $625 per year and Redwood leases 850 acres near White's Hill for $350 per year, but board members indicated the one-year agreements will be allowed to lapse.

They asked Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger to inform them at the next meeting the date the leases will expire.

Board president Robert G. Anderson who recommenedd the move, said, "My opinion is that when the county had a 40,000 population, something like this could be accepted."

However, given the existing population, he said there remains no justification for barring the public from the land. He also cited a danger of accidental shootings.

Directors Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. and William A. Marcus voiced support for the move and Director John M. MacPhail suggested studying the district's lease agreements with conservation camps as well.

Dr. Leo L. Stanley took no stance on the issue, but director-elect Eugene A. Miller said, "I think that's most certainly the way the water district should go."

Although the Meadow Club lease terms were passed almost without comment yesterday, those terms had been the subject of two appraisals and five months of discussion and public criticism.

Alterations in the 44-year-old lease which runs until the year 2000 provide that the lease price will fluctuate in accord with the assessor's market value of the golf club land and allow the district to review the contract every 10 years.

Mideast Cease-Fire Extension Proposed

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— The United States has proposed the Middle East cease-fire which expires a week from today be extended another 90 days. The Soviet Union claimed the proposal had "no significance."

U.S. ambassador to the United Nations Charles W. Yost made the request for a cease-fire extension in the U.N. General Assembly Middle East debate Thursday. The discussions continued for the fifth day today.

In his resolution Yost also proposed the General Assembly help restore the confidence between Israel and Egypt necessary for resumption of the Middle East peace talks. "We want serious discussions which will permit rapid progress toward a settlement," Yost said. "We pledge curselves to do everything possiblee to help get such talks started and to promote their successful conclusion."

Soviet Ambassador to the U.N. Jacob A. Malik said that when Yost had brought up the proposal at a meeting of the Big Four ambassadors "I said that ony such unilateral prolosals, if not supported by the four participants in the consultations, would have no significance. If there was no support it would just hang in the empty air."

Only hours before Yost introduced the resolution, the Soviet Union and Britain also called for an extension of the cease-fire. They made the request in a joint communique issued following a visit of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to London.

France criticized the United States for not getting endorsement of the United Notions or of the Big Four powers for the cease-fire and standstill agreement it negotiated last August between Israel and Egypt.

French Ambassador Jacques Kosciusko-Morizet told the Assembly:

"Neither the four nor the Security Council nor the United Nations have ever had to take cognizance of this cease-fire, of these arrangements which, w are told, have been violated and it is deeply regrettable. There lies the basic error.

"A cease-fire, a halt of military preparations under the guarantee of the four acting within the framework of the Security Council, would have had a completely different value."

He said he deplored any failures of the cease-fire but "it

Five Candidates For Hospital Board Seats

Marin Hospital District voters on Tuesday will fill three board vacancies from a slate of five candidates.

Of the three incumbents seeking reelection, only Marion C. Ibach has faced election before. Appointed to the board in 1946, she has successfully fought for her seat five times. Mrs. Ibach, said the other day, she is basing her reelection on past experience and performance.

For directors Thomas E. Proctor and George H. Folsom, the November ballot represents their first opportunity to learn whether district voters approve of their appointments in March 1967 and May 1969 respectively.

Challenging the three are Winston R. McCall, a San Anselmo airline pilot, and Dr. Robert W. Schrier of Mill Valley, an assistant professor of medicine at the University of California Medical Center at San Francisco.

Schrier says he is running because the board has lacked leadership in meeting the problems posed in hospital expansion and community mental health involvement.

Schrier said that he was asked to run for the board by a "group of interested citizens" who feel the hospital board has been "insular and unresponsive" to community needs.

Schrier said he agrees with expansion of the present hospital facility as opposed to creating satellite hospitals but said that expansion has not been thoroughly investigated by the present board. He said the present board has not bothered to approach interested groups and individuals for their opinions of what type of medical services Marin County should be supplied by the hosptial.

Schrier is married and the father of four children.

McCall, 43, says he is running for the hospital district board because he has enough free time to delve adequately into problems faced by the hospital. Listing proposed hospital expansion and the mental health center's relationship with the county's mental health program, McCall says there are questions which have been left unanswered by the current hospital board.

He said he would like to define the center director's responsibility to both the hospital district board and the county board of supervisors.

Also he feels the proposed expansion of the hospital should receive further investigation.

A graduate of Northwestern University, McCall is a real estate speculator when not piloting a plane. The father of three children, he lives at 116 Chapman Place, San Anselmo. Folsom, a retired industrialist says like Mr. Ibach and Proctor, that he rests his reelection on his past experience on the board.

He, like the other incumbents, favors expanding the hospital at its present location as opposed to "fractionalizing services" by building other small hospitals.

Current structuring of the county's mental health program, which greatly involves the hospital district's Community Mental Health Center, is not a final solution, says Folsom, but "it is workable." What is needed, he said, is greater cooperation between the hospital's staff and the county's staff to insure the mental program does not become embroiled in another struggle similar to last year's.

He views the problems which beset the mental health program as stemming from a lack of leadership within the program. The solution, he claims, is the selection of a capable administrator for the hospital district's mental health center. (Following Proctor's statement, Dr. John S. Guerrant was selected to head the center. He was the unanimous choice of both the hospital district board and the county board of supervisors.

Pop Star Admits Adultery Charge

A divorce court granted the decree to Dunbar after Miss Faithfull, a singer and actress, dropped her petition seeking a divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

125th Starfighter Down In Germany

The pilot of the American-designed plane parachuted to safety.

'After-Fact' Contraceptive Is Under Review By FDA

HOUSTON (UPI) — An "after-the-fact" contraceptive under review by the Food and Drug Administration FDA could be on the U.S. market within three years, a drug company official said Thursday.

Dr. William N. Hubbard Jr., vice president of pharmaceuticals for Upjohn Co., said the drug could have wide-ranging effects on fertility and disease treatment.

Hubbard told the Houston Society of Financial Analysts the pill could be used once a month before the beginning of the menstrual cycle to induce menstruation.

The drug also could be used at any time to induce menstruation by women who fear they have conceived, or as a substitute for surgery in legal abortions during the first three months of pregnancy. The product would induce natural, spontaneous abortion, Hubbard said.

He said the drug still was experimental, but could be on the market in three or four years following FDA testing. The drug, based on prostaglandins also can be used to treat peptic ulcers, thrombosis, high blood pressure, heart and kidney diseases, asthma and arthritis.

A DuPont Seeks Deleware's One Congressional Seat

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI)—"I'm for Daniello," reads a sticker pasted to the dashboard of Pierre S. "Pete" Du Pont's car. It refers to John D. Daniello, the Democratic congressional candidate.

It is there, says the 35-year-old Republican Du Pont, as a "constant reminder I must work, work, work to win this election" to tiny Delaware's one congressional seat.

Pierre's great - great - great grandfather, E. I. Du Pont, founded a great industrial empire from a gunpowder mill on Brandywine Creek in 1802. He is the first Du Pont to seek statewide public office since T. Coleman Du Pont was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1924.

There was another Du Pont in Washington, Col. Henry A. Du Pont, elected by the state legislature to the U.S. Senate in 1906. But he was defeated in 1916 after the state law was changed to elect congressmen by direct popular vote.

Pierre Du Pont, who has been in the Delaware House since 1968, describes himself as a strong Nixon supporter on Indochina and the issues of crime, violence and drugs. He claims to be neither a dove nor a hawk on the war, but a "realist."

Daniello, a county councilman, advocates a planned withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina, thinks polluters should be taxed and is stressing the economic issues, especially unemployment which he estimates at 6.4 per cent in Wilmington.

Du Pont, a mechanical engineer (Princeton '56) and lawyer (Harvard Law '63), knows the DuPont name does not guarantee victory in Delaware. Some people, he says, will vote against him because of it. But he adds "there are a lot of undecideds. There seems to be no real feeling among the people one way or another."

Raids To Free Prisoners Urged

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The founder of the "Remember the Pueblo Committee" has proposed that mercenary commando raids be carried out against North Vietnam to free American prisoners of war.

The Rev Paul D. Lindstrom Thursday told a news conference here that he was given the idea by American military officers whose contingency plans for joint American-South Vietnamese raids had been supposedly vetoed by civilians in Washington.

Lindstrom, a member of the John Birch Society, said he plans to hire foreign mercenaries to carry out the riads.

iLndstrom, who formed his own church in Illinois, said the State Department is "soft" in its approach to Vietnam. He said it has made no "sincere" efforts to free the American prisoners.

Note To Dobrynin: Release Generals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, underscoring a deterioration in Soviet-American relations, has demanded in a formal note that Moscow promptly release two U.S. Army generals it has held since Oct. 21.

The protest accused the Soviets of the first violation of a two-year-old consular agreement between the two countries. It pointed out the pact provides that a consul must have access to accused no more than four days after they are detained and that an American representative was not allowed to see the U.S. officers until they had been held five days.

The Soviets are holding in Soviet Armenia three American officers and a Turk whose light plane crossed the Turkish border and flew over Soviet territory. They were inspecting Turkish military installations along the frontier at the time. They said their aircraft was blown off course by a "freak gust of wind."

Dobrynin said after the State Department meeting the officers "might" be released but that this depended upon the outcome of a Soviet investigation. The Soviets earlier had protested a violation of their air space, saying the flight of the plane over their territory was a "hostile act" that illustrated increased U.S. activity in the region.

"It is better that (the) generals stay where they belong," Dobrynin told reporters. "The general consensus is that is better not to let this happen again."

The U.S. note said there was "no justification for any further delay by the Soviet Union."

The incident has demonstrated increased tension between Washington and Moscow that has included disputes over Soviet support of Egypt in the Middle East crisis and Soviet naval activity in Cuba.

The United States has requested permission to send a consular officer to visit the officers again Nov. 2. They are being held at Lenianakan in Soviet Armenia, which is about 20 miles from Kars, Turkey, the destination of their small U8 plane. Their quarters have been described as a "comfortable" guest house.

WHAT'S THE FUSS — Eighteen-month-old Tobias Duenzl, held by sheriff's deputy Bob Rosa, was too tuckered out for an interview yesterday after his hairbreadth rescue. The youngster was found hanging precariously from a 300-foot cliff overhanging the Pacific near Salinas in Monterey County. (UPI Telephoto)

Baby Rescued After Hanging From Cliff

CARMEL, Calif. (UPI)—Beth Foley was in her home near a cliff jutting over the Pacific Thursday when she heard something that sounded like a baby crying.

She went outside and the sounds became louder as she neared the cliff. Then she saw what it was.

"It was a sheer drop," Miss Foley said. "I was terrified I might scare him so I worked my way slowly towards him. Somehow he scrambled towards me."

Sheriff's deputies, who picked the blond lad up from Miss Foley and took him to the county hospital, first speculated he had been abandoned.

But the baby's distraught mother, Peggy-Jean Duenzl, 23, called the sheriff's office several hours after the rescue. She told officers she had been staying with friends in the area and her son had wandered away.

Mrs. Duenzl said she had been searching for the baby since 6 a.m. The child was found about 8 a.m. about a quarter of a mile from where his mother was staying.

Miss Foley, an employe of the Monterey County antipoverty council's family planning program, said she gave Tobias a bath after she pulled him from the cliff.

"He was happy and gurgling," she said, "but his vocabulary is limited to 'da-da' and things like that."

Campaign Buttons Come From Greece

OAKVILLE, Conn. (UPI) — The use of campaign buttons in elections has a tradition dating back to the age of Pericles when ancient Greeks painted their fingernails bright colors to attract followers to their cause.

So say researchers at the Scovill Manufacturing Co., which makes the P-shaped pin found in every campaign button. The buttons were first used in America by Andrew Jackson's followers in the 1828 election, the researchers say.

Frazier Is Arraigned; Media Hit

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)—A superior court judge, citing widespread coverage which he said contained some incorrect information, has imposed stringent pretrial rules in the case of a young man accused of slaying of five persons at a fashionable hilltop mansion.

Judge Charles Franich ordered all parties, including the defense, Thursday not to discuss the case of John Linley Frazier, 24, who was arraigned on murder charges in the heavily guarded courtroom.

INDICTMENT CHARGES

Frazier was indicted Wednesday in the slayings of Dr. Victor Ohta, 74; his wife, Virginia, 43; his sons, Derrick, 12; and Taggart, 11, and his secretary, Mrs. Virginia Cadwallader, 38, on Oct. 19.

Frazier has been ordered to make a formal plea in the case Nov. 16, the same day the defense is to receive a transcript of the grand jury's deliberations. Frenich said the news media would not be given copies of the transcript, however.

Franich said he regretted "the necessity of imposing the silence order on attorneys and principals." But he pointed to "extensive local, statewide and national coverage by the mass media" as a reason for the order.

'I have received reliable information that in at least two instances, the press made statements that are incorrect and could be prejudicial to the defendant," Franich added.

"LEGALLY SUFFICIENT"

District Attorney Peter Chang, when asked if the grand jury vote was unanimous, said it was "legally sufficient."

Ohta and the other victims were found bound, shot and dumped into the swimming pool at the doctor's $300,000 home which had been set on fire. Frazier was arrested four days later in his small shack within a mile from the Ohta residence.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Violent Outbreak

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops fired water cannon and nausea gas volleys today during a sharp increase in Roman Catholic-Protestant violence. Bomb attacks damaged a police station and an office of Aer Lingus, the Irish republic airline.

A British army spokesman said the civilian was wounded accidentally when the rifle of a Royal Marine commando went off as his patrol of 41 troops halted in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne area of the city in a hail of stones.

The civilian, whose name was not disclosed, suffered a slight wound and was hospitalized.

Space Dock Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says American and Soviet officials will meet next spring to work out a system to dock spacecraft of the two countries.

A workable system would make it possible for space vehicles of one nation to come to the aid of the other should there be a disaster in space, spokesmen said Thursday.

The two nations agreed to hold further discussions at a meeting in Moscow this week. Arnold W. Frutkin, assistant NASA administrator, described the session as "very straightforward, open and forthright."

Drug Problem Up In U.S. Army

LONG BINH, Vietnam (UPI) —Hospital admissions of U.S. soldiers in Vietnam because of drug abuse were nearly 42 per cent greater during the first nine months of this year than all of last year, the U.S. Army reported today.

The U.S. Army Command in Vietnam said, "The drug abuse problem continues to be a matter of grave concern."

Last year 527 soldiers were admitted to hospitals because of drug abuse, the Army said. Through September of this year, the total was 746 and some 241, or one-third, of this year's total were admitted in August and September.

Viet Cong Letter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators have been told that Bernardine Dohrn, now on the FBI's Most-Wanted List, allegedly received a letter from a Viet Cong woman congratulating her for antiwar activities.

Charles Siragusa, chief investigator of the Illinois Crime Investigating Commission, submitted a letter written by Pham Than Van, a woman on the Viet Cong delegation to the Paris talks, to a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

The letter, dated Jan. 9, 1969, recalled a meeting with Miss Dohrn in Budapest and said: "I do hope you'll always keep high-spirited and continue your work as we are continuing ours until no GI is left in our land. I am looking for the day we can meet again, not in Saigon yet but in another country, France, for example."

SST Said Vital

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—The chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board believes an American supersonic transport is not only economically feasible, but also is vital to the nation's future.

Secor Brown expressed his support for the big plane Thursday at a news conference in Seattle, where the Boeing Co. is awaiting the financial go-ahead from Congress for continued development of the SST. He said that competition and growth in air travel will make supersonic flights common in the future.

"The first time (Najeeb) Halaby (president of Pan American Airways) looks out the window of a 747 and sees a JAL (Japan Air Lines) TU104 streaking by, he's going to have to go out and buy an SST," Brown said.

400,000 Jobless

DETROIT (AI)—The United Auto Workers strike against General Motors Corp. drifted toward the end of its seventh week today with increasing prospects of a jobless Thanksgiving for thousands of workers.

GM and UAW bargainers were to meet again today, with both sides and numerous bystanders feeling the financial pinch. No main table negotiations took place Thursday.

As of late Thursday, 400,013 GM employes out of work and thousands more were laid off in supplying industries. In Pontiac, Mich., home of GM's Pontiac division, the city cut 21 more employes, bringing to 136 the number of jobs cut from July's total of 634.

Agnew On Anarchy

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Thursday the concept of political power residing with the people has been sullied by a handful of anarchists who want to destroy America and rule over its remains.

Agnew, at the end of an extended campaign swing, earlier said the federal government has become too strong and "it's time to reverse this flow of power to Washington."

But he later lamented "how the slogan 'power to the people' has been twisted into a radical rallying cry."

"When the radicals scream this slogan, they don't mean it as you mean it, or as I mean it," he told a GOP fund-raising dinner in Wichita. "Instead they are thinking of ways of placing that power in the hands of an elite. They want to smash the system, and they want to rule over the shattered remains."

ANGRY MOB PELTS NIXON'S LIMOUSINE IN SAN JOSE

In what has been described as the largest and noisiest anti-Nixon protest since he has become President, angry fists are waved behind a police cordon and a placard is thrown at the presidential limousine. The action came last night as President Nixon, accompanied by Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. George Murphy left the San Jose Civic Auditorium following Nixon's political speech in support of reelection of Murphy. Following the speech, Nixon boarded Air Force One for a flight to his San Clemente White House. (See story, page 1.)

They Made A Federal Case Out Of It

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Alfred E. Fuller of Santa Rosa only wanted the California Physician's Service to pay what he says is a $3.20 debt, but now he finds himself with a federal case on his hands. Fuller, 71, a retired insurance executive and Medicare patient, believes the CPS owes him $3.20 for visits he made to his internist. After three unsuccessful letter requests for payment, Fuller filed suit for the disputed $3.20 in the Small Claims Court in Santa Rosa.

Shortly after he filed the suit, Fuller received a big envelope with 20 pages of legal documents telling him that his claim had been transferred into U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

If Fuller wants to continue his pursuit of that $3.20, he will have to appear today before Chief Judge Oliver J. Carter.

In addition, Fuller was told that the U. S. government wants the case dismissed, arguing the government has not consented to be sued.

Fuller didn't intend for his Small Claims Court suit to wind up in Federal court. But since the CPS administers the Federal Medicare Program on behalf of the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, who is an agent of the government, Fuller has sued the government.

Faced with arguing his case in Federal court, Fuller said, "This is sort of a Charlie Brown situation. I'm like the person who signs up for a Little League team and then learns that in my first game I'm supposed to pitch in the World Series.'

Turkish Chief Hopes Relations Not Ruined

ANKARA (UPI)—President Cevdet Sunay, in a message to the Soviet Union, expressed the hope today that two hijackings to Turkey of Russian planes in the past two weeks would not damage good neighborly relations between the two nations.

Sunay's message shrugged off a Soviet demand for the extradition of two Lithuanians who shot a stewardess to death while hijacking an Aeroflot AN24.

"The incident is under the consideration of Turkish judicial authorities and the government has no right to interfere," Sunay's message to President Nikolai V. Podgorny said.

The Soviet Embassy had applied for permission immediately after the aircraft landed. Diplomatic sources said the Turks withheld permission until the Soviet Union, in return, granted permission for Turkish diplomats to visit their colonel held with two U.S. generals and a Major in the Soviet Union after straying accidentally across the border in a light aircraft.

In his message to Podgorny, Sunay said, "I sincerely hope that such incidents (hijackings) will not damage good neighborly relations between Turkey and the Soviet Union that have been built by great efforts."

Press Center Operator Dies

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Jay Vessels, the Army major who operated the famous press center for war correspondents in Africa, Italy and France during World War II, died Thursday. He was 73.

Vessels, a close friend of Ernie Pyle and many other American war correspondents, had been hospitalized since Oct. 1.

A native of Owensboro, Ky., Vessels attended Sioux Falls, S.D., High School and the University of Minnesota.

Vessels was in charge of the press camp during World War II, supplying the war correspondents with transportation, living quarters and news connections.

Eight-Year-Old Boy Found On LSD Trip

BERKELEY (UPI) — Police say they discovered an 8-year-old boy on a screaming, shouting "bad trip," who told them he has taken LSD on five occasions.

After the youngster was discovered Tuesday, he was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital for observation. Doctors said he went into a state of terror, shook violently and breathed in gasps. They said his pulse rate jumped to 120.

The boy is now being held in juvenile hall while authorities are conducting an investigation of his family.

According to police, the boy has three brothers — all under 12 — and roams the streets without supervision. The children live with their 29-year-old mother in a basement apartment she shares wih two men associated with a taxicab company, police said.

Officers arrested Richard Flett Acree, 20, Wednesday on charges of furnishing a dangerous drug. Acree denied having given the boy an LSD tablet.

This Might Help In Voting Booth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A tip to those with bifocals who have trouble reading listings at the top of voting machines: wear your glasses upside down.

This helpful hint came Friday from Nelson H. Cruickshank, president of the National Council of Senior Citizens and himself a bifocals-wearer.

"Putting bifocal glasses on upside down makes it easy to look upward through the near vision portion of bifocals," he said in a statement.

Shelley Has Hip Surgery; Doing Well

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ex-Mayor John F. Shelley was reported doing "very well" at St. Mary's Hospital, where he is recovering from hip surgery.

Shelley, 65, underwent surgery early Thursday on a condition which had forced him to walk with the aid of a cane for more than a year.

Woman Treated For Overdose Of Pills

A San Rafael woman was taken to Marin General Hospital at 3:30 p.m. yesterday for treatment of an overdose of tranquilizers, San Rafael police reported.

Condition of Irmgard Abras of 16 Elaine Way, Apt. 5, was not available today from the hospital.

BEFORE YOU VOTE ON MEASURE H
(RUSSIAN RIVER WATER BOND)
PLEASE CONSIDER THESE FACTS:

1. The Marin Municipal Water District (MMWD) claims that water from the Russian River will be added to our water supply. The fact is that for every drop of Russian River water delivered, MMWD may be required to deliver an equal amount of MMWD water from its Nicasio Reservoir to portions of West Marin located in the North Marin County Water District.
2. Increased availability of water in West Marin will cause it to become blighted by suburban sprawl.
3. Increased land values may jeopardize the completion of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore in the dimensions originally proposed.
4. Tremendous ecological damage may occur in the Russian River Basin if the long range plans to build 20 dams in that area are completed.
5. Only a small portion of the Russian River Aqueduct will be constructed with the proceeds of this bond issue you will be irrevocably "committed" to finish a project which will cost in excess of $30,000,000.
6. Massive increases in utility services encourage and promote massive urban and suburban development with all their accompanying problems, i.e., increased auto congestion, smog, crime, higher insurance rates and taxes, overcrowding, and water pollution.

Conservation practices such as recycling of waste water and desalinization of sea water should be used to augment local water supplies before water is imported from great distances.

Sporadic Boycott Continues In Marin

The sporadic boycott of Marin County by labor unions sympathetic to striking San Francisco Typographical Union 21 entered its 22nd day today with pickets at one store masquerading as aggrieved workers from Redding.

As the boycott continued, commercial carriers again today reported drivers being stopped and told to get out of Marin.

For Montgomery Ward and Co. in Corte Madera, it was the fourth day of picketing by workers carrying signs proclaiming them to be members of Retail Clerks Union Local 1364 of Redding. Most of the pickets, however, were identified as members of San Francioco Typographical Union 21, on strike against the Independent-Journal since Jan. 7.

The strike in Redding, according to Montgomery Ward spokesmen, involves the union's rejection of the store's request that student part-time employees working less than 15 hours per week not have to join the retail clerks union. The company argues union membership, with its initiation fees and dues, would make part-time help unattractive to students and others.

Montgomery Ward's Redding store is the only one with a contract with the retail clerks union, according to management, which said that the Corte Madera store is the only other being picketed in the company's 89-store Western Region. A Chico store was briefly picketed last week.

Donald W. Gillis, manager of the Corte Madera store, said the tire service section as well as the main store was being picketed.

Pickets were carrying signs stating that they were acting with the sanction of Teamster Joint Councils 7 and 38, repreSeening the San Francisco Bay Area and the Redding Area respectively.

The Montgomery Ward store in Corte Madera said several trucks were stopped today from delivering goods at the main store and one at the tire service center.

The manager said the trucks were stopped by the same pickets, who had claimed to be teamsters while stopping deliveries since the sympathy boycott began.

Elsewhere, a driver for Alltrans Express of California was reportedly told to get out of Marin by a man in an auto. A spokesman for the firm said his driver eluded the man and continued on his deliveries.

Since the boycott of Marin began Oct. 8, many stores have been receiving only sporadic deliveries.

Supermarkets and large chain stores such as Disco, Safeway, Wards, Lucky Store and Marin markets such as Petrini's have been affected.

However, since Tuesday, the Corte Madera Montgomery Ward store has been the focal point of union activity.

Four unions, including the teamsters and typographical unions, were cited last week by the National Labor Relations Board in a petition charging criminal and civil contempt of court by the unions for illegal secondary boycott activity aimed at forcing neutral employers to cease doing business with the Independent-Journal.

Such boycotts have been enjoined by an order handed down by the U. S. District Court in June.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

'Privileged' Information

What you tell your psychiatrist is "privileged." No court order can make him report what you told him without your permission. The right to keep those talks confidential is yours, the patient's not the psychiatrist's.

If you yourself break that confidence or do not claim the privilege, a court may then order the psychiatrist to testify.

If the patient himself makes his mental condition an issue in a law suit, then the court may order his psychiatrist to testify if the other side wants him to. But what if the psychiatrist nevertheless refuses to testimy!

Take Pete. He sued Matt Muscle for physical harm, pain, and emotional distress. In his defense Matt tried to show that Pete was unbalanced and prone to exaggerate his suffering. To this end Matt has the court order Pete's psychiatrist's records but the psychiatrist would not testify or release his records.

The court then ordered the psychiatrist to testify. When he refused, the court jailed him for contempt of court. The doctor claimed his records were private, and their disclosure would undermine the public confidence in the psychiatric profession, and thereby impair their ability to help people.

Besides, the psychiatrist said, no clergyman had to disclose confessions. To give a clergyman that privilege and not to a psychiatrist would be to deny him the equal protection of the law.

Still, the court could order the psychiatrist to testify if the testimony is relevant. It is up to the Legislature, not the courts, to exempt any group from obeying such a court order.

The law protects husband and wife confidences, but not if one of them defrauds or sues the other, for example, for abusing their children.

Attorney and client relations are privileged; but not always, for example, not if the client wants his lawyer to tell him how to commit a crime or how to escape prosecution. (Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Cologne Police Use Subterfuge To Lick Gangs

COLOGNE, GERMANY — Reputed to be the "Chicago of West Europe" just 10 years ago, Cologne is on the wane as a center of gangsterism —thanks to the foxy tactics of its criminal police. The city's crime rate has fallen so rapidly in recent years, that Cologne now ranks way back in eighth place among Europe's wildest and wooliest metropoles.

The Cologne police force has achieved its success by literally outfoxing the foxes. Their Pandora's box of surprises has called for a lot of acting talent.

Undercover agents, in an old ruse, have spread into the city's underworld dives to become gang members and expose rackets, plans and names.

In another scheme, the police have used phony messages over their communications system to lull gangsters about to be captured into a false sense of security. Cologne police have also devised a number of gimmicks to catch burglars off balance.

Cologne's gangsters are slowly concluding the city's getting too hot for comfort. Many have already pulled up stakes and moved on. Others are now behind bars.

HAROLD ALLISON
'Not happy' as principal

Principal Harold Allison To Resign

Harold Allison, principal at Sir Francis Drake High School, said today he will resign the post he has held for 17 ears.

He announced his plans to the school's faculty this morning, according to Edward J. Neumeier, adminstrative assistant for the Tamalpais High School District.

Allison gave no specific reason except that "he was not happy being principal any more." He said he would give district trustees a letter Monday, asking reassignment in the district after next June, Neumeier said. Allison said he would remain as principal until the end of the school year.

Allison was the second principal in Drake High's history. He was assistant principal for the school when it opened in 1951, and took over the top job in 1953.

Allison, who resides at 111 Marinda Drive, Fairfax, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the University of California at Berkeley. He returned to Tamalpais High in 1942 as a mathematics and science teacher.

After three years' service during World War II as a Navy officer, he returned to Tamalpais High as teacher and counselor, moving to Drake when it opened.

remains an illusion to believe that, in such an explosive situation, one country, or even two, however powerful, could be a guarantee."

Yost also denied Egyptian charges the United States was pouring arms into Israel to enable the Israelis to keep the occupied territories. He said the United States sought on several occasions to persuade Moscow to slow down arms shipments to the Arabe but was rebuffed.

He said the United States finally stepped up aid to Israel because of the Egyptian buildup of Soviet-made missiles in the Suez Canal cease-fire zone.

"We considered ourselves obliged, in view of the violations and the shifting military balance, to provide some additional arms to Israel," Yost told the U.N. "We continue to favor restraint but restraint cannot be one-sided."

The American resolution did not specifically call for the pullback of missiles moved into the Suez standstill zone.

In the Middle East, Arab guerrillas and Jordanian troops fought with heavy machineguns in downtown Amman Thursday, killing two persons. Egypt accused the new Jordanian premier, sworn in less than 24 hours before the fighting, with instigating last month's civil war.

The fighting with 50 caliber machineguns continued for 20 minutes and according to Palestinian sources one guerrilla and one Jordanian security man were killed.

The fresh fighting came after King Hussein named a new 17-man cabinet headed by Wasfi Tel, a veteran politician knows for his toughness and rightist views.

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said Tel was the "real power" behind the military cabinet of Brig. Mohamed Daoud, whose appointment touched off the civil war. It said Tel also was the "moving power" behind the cabinet of Ahmed Toukan which took office after Daoud resigned.

Al Ahram reported that President Anwar Sadat had recalled its ambassador from Jordan, Osman Nouri, for consultations. Such a recall is sometimes used to show a government's displeasure. Nouri conferred Thursday in Amman with King Hussein on the new premier.

the ferry system will be modeled and he is expected to be selected to design the new vessels.

Objecting to the ferry action today was Director Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco, who argued that Spaulding's recommendations should be evaluated by a second expert.

The action on the buses included authorization to staff to negotiate with Greyhound Lines to lease 20 buses built since 1965. Voting on the bus transactions was unanimous.

Parliamentarians Of Bonn, Moscow May Have Talks

BONN, GERMANY — Moscow and Bonn are eying the possibility of formal, bilateral contacts between parliamentary deputies of the two capitals. This was the substance of recent talks in the German capital between Bundestag Presiden Kai Uwe von Hassel and Jurij Schukov, emissary of Moscow's parliamentary body, the Supreme Soviet. The two men met in Bonn.

In the West German capital, prospects are held good for a formal agreement on the contacts within the next few months.

Based on the Bonn talks, the contacts would not be limited to deputies of Bonn's present ruling ecalition of Social and Free Democrats.

mob on Nixon in Caracas, Venezuela, in 1958 when he was Vice President.

"This was no outburst by a single individual," Nixon said in a statement issued on his arrival here at the Western White House. "This was the action of an unruly mob that represents the worst in America."

White house aides and guests of the President riding in a bus behind his limousine huddled in seats and aisles as rocks and bottles smashed four windows. Newsmen in another bus were splattered with glass from five smashed windows.

One youth whipped a large belt form his waist and lashed the top of a car containing H. R. Haldeman, Nixon's chief of staff.

"It was just like Caracas," said Rose Mary Woods, the President's long-time personal secretary, who was sitting nest to one of the smashed windows.

"I have been careful to point out that these are the actions of a violent few. It is important that all Americans keep this perspective," the President said.

"But the time has come to take the gloves off and speak to this kind of behavior in a forthright way. Freedom of speech and freedom of assembly cannot exist when people who peacefully attend rallies are attacked with flying rocks.

"Tonight at Anaheim I will discuss what America must do to end the wave of violence and terrorism by the radical, antidemocratic elements in our society."

Nixon was campaigning for Murphy, who is said to be running behind Rep. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., in his bid for reelection. Pollster Mervin D. Field said today his latest survey showed Tunney with a lead of 48 per cent to 41 per cent.

Nixon's younger daughter, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, in Harrisburg, Pa., where she was appearing for the Republican gubernatorial candidate in Pennsylvania, labeled the attack on her father's car as "the lowest of the low."

Boy, 9, Is Victim Of Gang Slaying

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A 9-year-old boy was shot to death in what police said was an execution-style teen-age gang slaying on the pavement sidewalk outside a schoolyard-playground Thursday night.

"They just ran up to the boy and shot him," said Detective Edward Kessner of the homicide squad.

"We don't know why they picked out this kid. We don't have him listed as a gang member," Kessner said. The police department here keeps lists of all known gang members.

Members of the 21st and Norris Street gang were sought in the slaying. Kessner said the killers "went into the area of the 25th and Diamond Gang" where the victim was standing on the pavement talking with some other boys.

"When they saw the 21st and Norris Street gang members all these kids ran. This kid started to run too but they ran up and got him before he could get away," Kessner said.

Wheeler is not the youngest gang war victim here. Last summer Antoinette Williams 7, was hit by a bullet between the eyes when she was caught in the crossfire of two warring gangs as she sat on the front steps of her home, coloring in her coloring book.

A city hall rally was held here Wednesday to call attention to gang deaths, which then numbered 62 in the last 18 months.

Within an hour after the rally there was another death, a 15-year-old boy.

Soviets Seeking Berlin Settlement

FRANKFURT, Germany (API)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko paid a seven-hour visit to West Germany Friday and left the impression the Soviet Union wants a "positive result" from current negotiations on the Berlin issue.

Gromyko's visit, the first made to West Germany by a Soviet foreign minister since World War II, followed up talks he held with Communist East German leaders in East Berlin Thursday.

OBITUARIES

Rites Set For Michael L. Owens

Outdoor memorial service for Michael L. Owens will be held on the Marin coast, adjacent to Point Reyes National Seashore at noon Sunday.

Owens, 19, died Monday in a fall from a cliff at Pinnacle National Monument, San Benito County, while on a camping trip with two friends. He was a College of Marin student, living at 4 College Court, Larkspur.

Born in Fall River Mills, Shasta County, Owens lived 13 years in Marin County. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Cynthia Baker Dickson of the home in Larkspur, and his father, Louis L. Owens of Redding; two sisters, Judith Knight and Rebecca Owens and a half-brother, James Dickson of Larkspur.

Friends may call the family for exact location of the memorial service. The ashes will be scattered.

FLOYD VINCENT

Word has been received in Marin of the death of Floyd R. Vincent, 47, of Clarkston, Mich., a native of San Rafael who attended San Rafael High School.

Vincent, brother of Lela Pelkey of San Rafael, died Oct. 17 in a Clarkston hospital after a long illness.

After graduation from San Rafael High School, Vincent served in the Navy during World War II and took a bachelors degree in accounting and law from Ferris Institute in Big Rapids, Mich.

He also earned a master's degree in marketing and economics and worked in the field accounting section of General Motors Truck and Coach before going to work for Clarkston Community Schools in 1954.

He first taught in the school district, then became administrative assistant to the superintendent.

Vincent had served on the Independence Township Planning Commission for three years. He was also a member of the Central United Methodist Church and the Pontiac Elks Club 810, both in Michigan.

Also surviving are his wife, Barbara; two sons, John and David Vincent, and two daughters, Julie and Lisa Vincent, all of the family home.

Burial was in Ottawa Park Cemetery in Clarkston.

HELEN ROBERTS

Helen Roberts, mother of William G. Roberts of San Rafael, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 74.

Born in San Francisco, she lived there until moving to Marin last year.

She was a retired secretary.

Also surviving are a daughter, Helen Krause of San Francisco, and six grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m.tomorrow at N. Gray and Co. Divisadero and Post streets, San Francisco, followed by inurnment at Woodlawn Memorial Park, Colma.

HERBERT SIMON

Herbert Simon, maitre d'hotel in several of San Franciscos' major restaurants from 1926 until his retirement eight years ago, died yesterday in San Rafael. A native of Germany, he was 84. He had lived in Marin County for seven years.

During his long career, he officiated over dining rooms of the Palace Hotel, Olympic Club and at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel. His family recalled that when the Drake opened, Simon wore Elizabethan garb and was depicted as Sir Francis Drake in advertisements announcing the opening.

Simon, who lived at 260 Merrydale Road, is survived by his wife, Marie Simon of the home; a daughter, Marion R. Maginnis of Terra Linda, principal of a San Francisco school; two sons, Howard Simon, director of art for San Francisco city schools, and Herbert R. Simon of Alexandria, Va., dean of the Community College of North Virginia, and a sister, Martha Kurz of New York.

He was a member of the Bartenders and Waiters Union Local No. 30 in San Francisco.

The funeral will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow in Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by private inurnment.

LACY FROCHEN

Funeral for Lacy M. Frochen of Corte Madera will be Monday at 11 a.m. in Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Ms. Frochen, 86, died Wednesday in a local hospital following a long illness.

A native of Missouri, she had lived in California 83 years and 65 years in Marin County, residing at 58 Golden Hinde Passage.

Mrs. Frochen is survived by two sons, Melvin Frochen of Corte Madera and Marvin Frochen of Westwood, Lassen County; seven grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

JEFFREY JOHNSON

Private funeral for Jeffrey K. Johnson of Fairfax will be held tomorrow in the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rfael.

Johnson, 21, a draftsman and former art major at College of Marin, died Wednesday after a two-year battle with leukemia. In April 1969, the Independent-Journal carried a story from the American Cancer Society, reporting that chemotherapy seemed to have halted the disease in the youth.

The family has established a Jeffrey Johnson Memorial Fund, care of the Medical-Cancer Service at Mount Zion Hospital, San Francisco.

Johnson, a native of San Rafael, lived at 54 Creek Road, Fairfax.

He is survived by his parents, Robert A. and Peggy M. Johnson and a brother, Dana D. Johnson, all of Fairfax.

MRS. D'AMICO

Muriel M. D'Amico, a nine-year resident of San Anselmo, died today in Ross General Hospital, where she was admitted yesterday after falling ill in her home. Today was her 48th birthday.

Mrs. D'Amico, who lived at 54 Oakland Avenue, had been ill all day yesterday and was taken to the hospital in the afternoon, according to the Marin coroner's office.

The cause of death was undetermined.

Born in Kearney, Neb., Mrs. D'Amico moved to San Francisco as a child and to San Anselmo in 1961.

She was married to Richard D'Amico in 1951. She worked in a San Francisco bank until 1958.

Also surviving are two sons, Vincent and Guy of the family home; a daughter, Michele Silverman of Fairfax; two sisters, Doris Smith of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Patricia Gray of Hollywood, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

EDNA BARTLETT

Edna Bartlett of Kentfield died yesterday in a local hospital following a long illness. Cause of death has not been determined, according to Coroner's Investigator Keith C. Craig. She was 48.

A native of Hayes, Kan., she had lived in California 25 years and in Marin 12 years, residing at 55 Berens Drive. Her husband, Olen Bartlett, was a coowner of the former Top Hat Market in Mill Valley and she was employed at the store as a clerk. She was a member of the Retail Food Clerks, Local 1119 of San Rafael.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Bartlett is survived by a daughter, Olenna Dahl of Bakersfield and a son, Robert Bartlett of Chico and three grandchildren.

A Requiem Mass will be offered tomorrow at 9 a.m. in St. Sebastian's Church, Greenbrae. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

EDITH SMITH

Private funeral has been held for Edith Smith, 87, of San Rafael, who had lived for 28 years in Marin County.

Mrs. Smith died Oct. 22 in a local convalescent hospital. She had made her home with her daughter, Hilda Shaw, at 245 Solano Street, San Rafael. She was a member of senior citizens organizations.

Mrs. Smith also is survived by two sons, Frank and George Smith, both of Los Angeles.

Racial Unrest Hits 2 Eastern States

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—All public and parochial schools were closed in Rhode Island's largest city today to prevent further outbreaks of fighting between black students and whites.

Superintendent of Schools Richard C. Briggs, and The Rev. Edward Mullen, head of the city's Catholic school system, announced the closing Thursday.

Briggs said there had been several violent incidents during the past few days and intelligence reports indicated more trouble might be expected. "The possibility, in my judgment, of endangering the safety and welfare of students in school and going to or from school during this time of severe unrest makes it necessary to take this action," he said.

Tension has been high in Providence's 51 public schools since Sunday when a fight broke out during a double feature horror movie in a downtown theater.

Black youths allegedly demanded money and slugged about 20 whites, some of them girls, who were leaving the theater. Seventeen persons, including five policemen, were injured.

Black students refused to attend Thursday classes at Central High School and gathered in front of the building while officials said a gang of white students threw rocks and allegedly tried to club a group of blacks outside the school Thursday afternoon.

In Trenton, N.J., all traffic was banned from the streets of this capital city in a dusk-to-dawn curfew imposed because of mounting racial tension over school busing.

Police held 50 persons, 21 on curfew violations and the rest for offenses during the day of disturbances. Forty-one persons suffered minor injuries in the fourth day of disorders apparently sparked by the forced busing of 113 elementary school pupils.

All schools were closed at noon Thursday until Monday morning where fighting and rock-throwing broke out around Central High School and Washington elementary school. After dark, gangs of black youths threw rocks in the city's predominantly black North section.

Dad's Advice Changes Son On Induction

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Confronted with a dramatic letter from his father, the son of a retired Army general changed his mind in U.S. District Court Thursday and agreed to report for induction into the Army rather than go to jail.

Seldom do most young men appearing before Judge Robert R. Merhige accept the last-minute option to serve their country, but the charges were dropped after Thomas Ernest Stanwix-Hay, 23, of Falls Church, was accepted by the Army at a nearby induction center following a brief court hearing.

Allen Thomas Stanwix-Hay, a retired major general and former deputy assistant Secretary of Defense, released the contents of a letter he had written Oct. 5, the day his son offered no defense to the draft evasion charge.

"From us who spent all our life in the military service of our country, we cannot understand, nor do we condone his refusal to serve," the letter said in part. "On the other hand, our inability to understand does not make him morally wrong or right. It makes him legally wrong.

"He, his conscience and his God, at some time must face each other, with the good of the nation of people in view.

"I cannot say if his ideals of social justice and government police are 'dangerous,' for I am unsure myself of what the majority of democracy will want in five years or 10 years; and we shall have what the majority want."

Stanwix-Hay noted that his son held the "belief that personal rights of a purely personal nature transcend certain legal requirements, such as Selective Service."

"I do not agree, but for 37 years I was prepared to defend with arms the right of disagreement, without recognizing to what lengths these positions could be strained," the father said.

Threat Admitted On Lives On Onassises

LONDON (UPI)—A former car dealer admitted today he threatened to kill or kidnap Aristotle and Jackie Onassis unless they paid $2.4 million to finance his electromagnetic device for solving the world's problems.

John Humphrys, 58, of Crofthendry, England, pleaded guilty to the charges in London's Old Bailey. The court ordered him detained indefinitely for mental treatment.

Prosecutor Kenneth Richardson said Humphrys was convinced he could solve the world's problems by harnessing energy from electromagnetics. But he was crippled by arthritis, unable to work, and broke.

To finance his project, Richardson said, Humphrys—calling himself Tom Jarvis—telephoned John Newnham, managing director of Lambert Brothers Insurance Ltd., last July with a threat to kidnap or kill Mr. and Mrs. Onassis within 24 hours unless the money was paid.

Newnham said he received written confirmation of the threat in a letter the following morning.

Earlier, Richardson said, Humphrys had telephoned Lloyds of London to find out what firm handled Onassis' insurance affairs. He was told the Lambert firm.

Chiang Remains Active As He Approaches 83

TAIPEI (UPI)—Age and a car accident have failed to slow down President Chiang Kai-shek, who will be 83 Saturday.

After ruling Nationalist China for four decades, two of them in exile here on Taiwan, Chiang today holds a tighter reign on his people than ever.

There is no challenge to his control of the destiny of the 13.5 million people of Nationalist China and still no word whether he plans to retire when his fourth six-year term as president ends in March 1972.

If he does retire, there is only one man in the running for his successor as head of state: Vice President and Premier C. K. Yen. Yen's probable successor as premier would be Chiang Ching-kuo, Chiang's eldest son and currently vice premier.

Chiang Ching-kuo likely would wield the power as premier that his father does as president, but as long as Chiang Kai-shek lives he will be the most powerful and most respected man in Nationalist China.

Chiang still is spry and healthy and almost unchanged in appearance since he was forced from mainland China by the Communists in December, 1949. He still rises at 6 a.m., meditates for half an hour, then 20 minutes of calisthenics followed by a breakfast of papaya, a bowl of noodles with chicken and ham, a pancake and a glass of fruit juice.

After a morning at the office, he returns to his home at Shihlin (Forests of Scholars) in suburban Taipei. After lunch and a nap he works at home until dinner, taking time out for a walk of 30 minutes to an hour with his wife or one of his grandchildren.

In the evening he works or reads, mostly his heavily-underlined Bible (he was baptized a Protestant in October, 1930) or Chinese and Western history or the classics.

In September, 1969, he and his wife were badly shaken up when their car rammed another on a mountain road. Mme. Chiang, 15 years his junior sustained facial lacerations and concussions which kept her in bed for a month.

Chiang was not hurt, and though doctors watched closely for months he showed no after-effects, and no sign of reneging on his playde to return to mainland China.

Judge Convicts Union Local On Contempt Counts

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Three Teamsters Union members and Local 495 were convicted of contempt of court Thursday for violating an injunction issued last Aug. 31.

Superior Court Judge Leonard Diether convicted the local on 18 counts of contempt and fined it $9,000.

Union members Alexandro Corral of Pico Rivera was fined $500 with $300 suspended while Clarence Bagley of Huntington Beach and Manuel Hernandez of Los Angeles were each fined $100.

The Injunction, issued by Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer, prevented the local from mass picketing, trespassing or threatening violence or acts of sabotage against the Crow Coach Corp.

Head And Internal Injuries In Wreck

Jacqueline Johnson, 36, of 707 English Street, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head and internal injuries suffered in an accident yesterday at 9:50 p.m. on Highway 101, a mile north of the Marin County line.

The California Highway Patrol said her car went into a ditch and struck a utility pole.

Bomb Blasts Rip Armories, Police Station In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three homemade pipebombs exploded within 10 minutes of each other early today, damaging two armories and a police station.

There were no injuries in the explosions, which occurred shortly after one of the armories received a warning telephone call.

Police spokesmen said the blasts were "very closely associated" and it was "highly unlikely" that three bombing attacks could be planted coincidentally by different groups or unassociated persons in such a brief time. The FBI was called in almost immediately.

One guard, a Vietnam veteran who escaped just before one of the armory blasts, said the explosion sounded "like an 81mm mortar."

The first bomb went off at 3:12 a.m. EST at the U.S. Naval Reserve Center in Whitestone, Queens. Three minutes later, a second explosion went off in a motorcycle precinct headquarters in the Bronx. At 3:22 a.m., the third blast went off at the U.S. Army Reserve Center in the Jamaica section Queens.

Before the first explosion, a woman caller told a guard at the armory, "you'd better get out of the armory because a bomb is going off in five minutes. Go out the front door and get at least 50 feet away," according to police.

The caller did not claim credit for the bombings or suggest that any particular group was responsible for the attacks.

The bombs, which one police investigator described as "sophisticated," were all placed on windowsills of the buildings.

'Enteritis' Halts Class Schedules

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A University of San Francisco spokesman said classes in most divisions would be canceled today due to an outbreak of gastro-intestinal disorders among students and university employes.

The students complained of headaches. Many vomited.

An Unofficial Burglary Case

A Larkspur planning commissioner may have been the victim last week of Marin County's only unofficial burglary, it was learned today.

The burglary, the existence of which the Larkspur Police Department declines to acknowledge, was said by Commissioner Charles Curley to have taken place at his home at 52 Olive Avenue sometime between 8:30 a.m. and noon on Oct. 20. Personal possessions of undetermined value were taken, according to Curley.

The commissioner today said he had reported the matter to the police and had been asked to say nothing about it.

Police Capt. Charles J. Mattos today told the Independent-Journal, "there is no report."

Sebastopol TIMES OCTOBER 15, 1970

We don't endorse political candidates lightly. When we do, it is without regard for partisan politics and strictly on individual merit. We have supported Gov. Reagan, a Republican; Sen. Randolph Collier, a Democrat; and now Glenn A. Bernd, American Independent Party, against William Bagley, Republican (?) incumbent Assemblyman for the 7th District. I can't see that Bagley has provided Sonoma county with the representation it deserves. The Democratic candidate, Mr. Forest, is another attorney--and I quit voting for lawyers for public office a long time ago, given a choice. Bernd is a refreshing person on the local political scene. He's a far cry from the pompous, legalistic asses who maim each other in the scramble to the public trough in Sacramento every season. Bernd is young, intelligent, honest. He has uncommon love for his country and doesn't hide it. He doesn't have a lot of pat solutions, like Cong. Tunney, for everything from bad water to bad breath. He's religious (unphoney type). I don't think anybody running on the AIP ticket is going to win any office this year, but it should make voters sleep better to know they voted for a man of high moral and ethical character, Glenn Bernd.

ARSON SUSPECTED — Firemen attack a pre-dawn warehouse blaze today ni San Jose which destroyed more than one million pounds of newsprint, valued at $500,000, stored for delivery to 16 Northern California newspapers, including the San Rafael Independent-Journal. Following the blaze, investigators said it was "definitely arson." (UPI Telephoto)

Five truck tractors and 10 trailers were destroyed in the fire, Devitt said.

He said there were no suspects, but investigators were seeking the occupants of an automabile which was seen driving slowly by Garden City's warehouse several times shortly before the fire was reported.

"It is also interesting to note," Devitt said, "that a Molotov cocktail was thrown through a window of the firm's office last May and caused about $5,000 damage."

Dequine said that since harassment of truck drivers in Marin began three weeks ago, Garden City drivers have reported themselves "sick" when ordered to drive I-J newsprint to San Rafael.

Garden City trucks picking up goods near the San Francisco waterfront have had tires slashed and stinkbombs placed in the cabs in the last two weeks, he said.

Criminal and civil contempt charges arising from driver harassment in Marin were sought against four labor unions, including the typographical union, in San Francisco last week. A petition filed by the NLRB charges the unions with illegal secondary boycott activity aimed at preventing neutral employers from doing business with the I-J.

Because of Garden City drivers reporting "sick," two I-J security guards yesterday picked up a shipment of newsprint at the warehouse. They were to have returned for more today.

Dequine said he thought the fire was set "because we have this stuff in storage" for the I-J.

Arson was first linked to the typographical union's 10-month-old strike against the I-J April 22 when homemade kerosene firebombs were thrown through windows of two Marin residences — one belonging to an I-J employee and the other to a 93-year-old Tamalpais Valley man who was apparently mistaken for an I-J employee with a similar name.

On June 15, an auto belonging to an I-J employee was set afire in a carpot of his Novato residence.

Two gasoline firebombs were thrown at the San Francisco residence of I-J employee Allan W. Daly on June 16, less than three weeks before Daly was slain by two intruders.

Two San Bruno youths have been sentenced to longterm commitment by the California Youth Authority in connection with Daly's death, and a San Bruno member of a union affiliated with the typographical union is awaiting trial on a murder charge in San Francisco.

Two other I-J employees narrowly escaped death July 8 when a Molotov cocktail was tossed through a window of the Petaluma residence of one of the employees.

Refuse was set on fire July 27 in garbage cans at the rear of the I-J's Novato office, damaging the exterior of the building.

Surrender Leaflets

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese curio dealers are buying up leaflets dropped over Japan by U.S. bombing planes in 1945 urging Japan to surrender. Dealers are paying 3,000 yen, $8.33, each for surrender leaflets.

Auto Industry Big User Of Rubber

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — The automotive industry alone now consumes more rubber than the entire nation did just a decade ago, according to The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

The company estimates that 5.8 billion pounds of rubber are being used in the United States in 1970, 3.6 billion pounds of it in motor vehicles. Ten years ago consumption was 3.5 billion pounds with 2.25 billion going into vehicles.

Teamster Is Arraigned On I-J Stinkbombing; March Trial Set

A member of Teamster Local 85 of San Francisco was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on two misdemeanors stemming from the stinkbombing of the Independent-Journal plant in San Rafael.

Ricardo Garcia, 38, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent to both counts and a jury trial was set for March 11. A pretrial conference at which lawyers will attempt to settle the case without it going to trial was set for Feb. 24.

Van Gogh's House

CUESMES, Belgium (UPI) — Cuesmes Town Council is seeking state and private aid to renovate the simple two-story farmhouse where painter Vincent van Gogh lived briefly in the late 1870s.

Garcia is charged under one code section which carries a mandatory three-month jail sentence for depositing nauseous material on a place of business and another similar section. He is accused of throwing a stink bomb on Monday and spraying a tree with nauseous material the next day.

CONGRESSMAN DON CLAUSEN:

HIS INDEPENDENCE IS ON THE RECORD

Thus far in the 91st Congress of the Nixon Administration, Don has voted in opposition to the Administration on 31% of all legislative proposals.

Of the four revenue bills vetoed by President Nixon during the First Session of the 91st Congress, Don voted to override the President twice, and to sustain him twice.

Any analysis of Don's voting record since 1963 will reveal that he is "his own man", when it comes to legislation and programs. Don does not vote any "party line" . . . he votes his conscience for the Nation and for the Redwood Empire and its people.

Co-Ed Found Slain; One Slim Clue

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York University graduate student, Patrice Leary, 22, was found slain in her Manhattan apartment Thursday. Miss Leary, whose body was clad in panties and a brassiere, had been strangled and stabbed repeatedly.

The body of Miss Leary, of Okoboji, Iowa, was found by two girl friends, Nancy Paul, 24, and her sister, Betsy, 23. The door was shut but not locked. The two girls looked inside, saw the body and ran, screaming, downstairs. The building's managing agent called police.

Miss Leary shared the apartment with Cathy Duchen 22. Other tenants described the victim, who moved into the building last month, as quiet.

Detectives said the apartment was a shambles and there were signs the victim had put up a fight.

"It's a mystery, it's a big mystery," a detective said. "We don't know if it was an outsider, an insider, or what." He said there was no sign of forced entry, but would not rule out burglary. Police said early today she had not been sexually assaulted.

Detectives said the only possible clue was a man seen near the apartment. "All the men in the squad are working on this one, and all her friends and acquaintances tell us the same thing—this was a nice, good, kid, who didn't fool around."

Police said in addition to her studies she worked as a teacher at a private school in Manhattan.

Miniature Saws

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Within the next decade technology may produce mini-chain saws weighing os little as four pounds that can deliver two horsepower from tiny gasoline engines, according to Omark Industries. The Oregon cutting chain maker sees chains that will cut both wood and metal.

Heavy Rains Hamper William Tell Meet

TYNDALL AFB, Fla. (UPI) —Heavy rains hampered the William Tell aerial weapons meet and forced cancellation of several missions scheduled for this the final day of competition.

California, North Dakota and Oregon units took leads Thursday in the F-106 F-102 and F-101 aircraft categories respectively. But final scores and standings will undoubtedly change after competition is completed later today.

First in the F-101 Voodoo category is the 119th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron from the North Dakota National Guard with 9285 points, second is the 409th All Weather Fighter Squadron from Comax Canadian AFB, B.C., with 7285 points, and third is the 60th Fighter Squadron from Otos AFB, Mass., with 5,130 points.

The 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Hamilton AFB, Calif., leads the F-106 Delta Dart competition with 10,348 points, second is the 318th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from McCord AFB, Wash., with 10,248 points, and third is the 71st Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Malmstrom AFB, Mont., with 6,488 points.

F-102 Delta Dagger competition is led by the 412th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Portland, Ore., with 10,500 points, second is the 148th Fighter Group from Duluth, Minn., with 9,972 points, and third is the 124th Fighter Group from Gowen AFB, Boise, Idaho, with 9,581 points.

Final missions will be flown today with the best air crews, ground crews and flight controllers awards announced Saturday.

American Airlines Studies Western

Westren flies over an area ranging from Minneapolis to Honolulu and Alaska and up and down the West Coast and had revenues of almost $250 million in its most recent fiscal year. It lost more than $11 million last year and has operated at a loss this year.

American said rumors of the merger talks were responsible for unusual activity in Western common stock on the stock market Thursday.

Halloween Parade Starting Point Reset

The previously announced starting point for tomorrow's Greenbrae Halloween parade has been changed to the Eliseo Drive entrance north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Stewart Boxer, chairman of the parade sponsored by the Greenbrae Property Owners Association, said yesterday the starting point was first scheduled for the firestation but was changed because it would have required children crossing Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Guilty Plea To Indecent Exposure

He had earlier been accused of a felony charge of the same offense which took place in Novato on May 25.

He is to be sentenced on Nov. 19.

Citizen News Goes Bankrupt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Attorney Allan L. Levine said Tuesday the Los Angeles Evening Citizen News was unable to come up with a $400,000 deposit and a plan for an arrangement to pay its debts.

Bankruptcy referee Russell B. Seymour then adjudged the paper bankrupt.

Levine blamed bad economic conditions for the paper's failure to raise the money and requested a 30 day extension, which was denied.

George T. Goggin, receiver for the paper, said possible bids for the assets has been received from the "Sen. Knowland group," presumably referring to owners of the Oakland Tribune and several other California newspapers.

The paper, formerly known as the Hollywood Citizen News, filed bankruptcy proceedings last August, two weeks before it suspended publication.

Teachers In Novato Ballot On Pay Stand

Novato teachers, thwarted in their bid for a 9 per cent pay increase, balloted yesterday and today to decide whether to give the Novato Unified School District board a week to meet their demands.

If their request is not fulfilled, according to the ballot proposal, sanctions would be applied against the district by the Novato Teachers Association.

Gregg W. DeGear, association president, said he was uncertain when the results of the vote would be known. Balloting was held at San Marin High School.

In a second vote, the 450 members of the teachers association are being asked whether they favor a strike, which has been threatened by some instructors.

DeGear said the scope of possible sanctions was unknown at this time, although he believed noncontracted services, chaperoning, bus duty, clerical tasks and other miscellaneous chores might be affected.

The teachers have refused a 6 per cent wage boost offered by the school district board.

The voting was approved at a teachers' meeting Wednesday on a recommendation from the association's representative council.

Teachers also hove complained about overcrowded classrooms, shortage of instructional materials and deterioration of morale.

Bomb Report To Superior Court

Patricia Lawler Coy, 46, of Strawberry, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of making a false report of planting a bomb at the Hall of Justice.

She is to appear in court for arraignment next Friday.

Mrs. Coy is accused of calling a sheriff's deputy on Oct. 8 hours after a real bomb exploded in a courtroom and saying she had planted a bomb in a waste basket on the court floor.

Her call caused the Civic Center to be evaluated for about half an hour. She was arrested later at her home after she had identified herself to the deputy on the phone.

Weather Could Help GOP In Texas Voting

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The weather Nov. 3 conceivably could determine if Texas will send two Republican Senators to the 92nd Congress next year or keep them split between the two parties as they are now.

The Senate race in Texas between Democrat Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., who ousted veteran Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the primaries, and Republican George Bush has developed into an old-fashioned "horse race."

The other senator is John C. Tower, a Republican, whose term expires in 1973.

If the weather is bad on election day, there is likely to be a low voter turnout. If this develops, Republican Bush's chances become brighter.

Both sides, with just days of campaigning left, are convincingly claiming to have the lead, although both admit that the race is very, very close.

The same situation, however, does not exist in the Texas governor's race. Incumbent Democrat Preston Smith is generally conceded to have a narrow, but relatively safe margin over challenger Paul Eggers.

Smith received an unexpected boost a couple of weeks ago when a few militant students booed him off the stage at the University of Houston. There was a sympathetic reaction in favor of the governor and Smith's campaign staff said the incident "put us ahead in Houston where we needed it most."

Eggers may again be the victim of another race upstaging his own. Two years ago he ran a credible campaign against Smith, but Texas Republicans put so much more emphasis on the Presidential race that Eggers appeared to suffer a good deal in the backwash.

This year the GOP theme has concentrated on winning enough U.S. Senate races to capture control of that body (they need seven more) and Eggers again appears to be taking second fiddle. The Texas Senate race has been branded by the GOP as one of the seven "musts."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has come to Texas twice to help Bush's Senate campaign, and seemed each time to give some attention to Eggers as an afterthought.

Nixon himself went to the Lone Star State this week on behalf of Bush. And there is no question that he is much more interested in winning Senate races than he is in winning gubernatorial ones.

Bush is trying to profit by a liberal-conservative split among Democrats as a result of Bentsen's defeating the liberals' only real friend in Texas—Ralph Yarborough.

"There is a wide split among the Democrats, and we're going to gain as a result," Bush said. But Bentsen disagrees over the extent of the division.

"We're getting Yarborough supporters back by the droves," he said this week. "They're turning up at nearly every place where we are campaigning." Former President Lyndon Johnson has made a few appearances for the Democrats trying to reunite them.

Both Bush and Eggers are waging low key campaigns and are generalizing on most of the issues. Bush uses the slogan "he can do more," and Eggers tries to sell the idea that Smith is a colorless governor who really is not too highly regarded by the average Texan.

Republicans traditionally do better in statewide elections in Texas where there is a low turnout. The low key campaigns of Bush and Eggers are designed to keep from stirring up too many Democrats in hopes they will "go fishing" on election day.

But he told a gathering of supporters in Midland, Tex., a key Republican stronghold, that "I hope the Gulf of Mexico is like a millpond on election day so labor can go fishing."

Labor and minority groups were the main strength of Yarborough, and Republican strategists hope that large numbers of them will not take the trouble to vote, thus eroding the traditional Democratic strength.

Other races in Texas have paled somewhat as a result of the hot Senate election. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, generally touted as the heir-apparent of Texas Democrats, should have no trouble overcoming token opposition by Republican Byron Fullton in his re-election bid.

The Texas congressional delegation—now made up of 20 Democrats and three Republicans—is expected to maintain that margin. The GOP is making strong bids in a few areas, but are not given much chance of picking up any new seats. They will re-elect Rep. Bob Price of Pamla who is unopposed, Rep. Jim Collins of Dallas, and Bill Archer of Houston, the GOP candidate for Bush's congressional seat.

The Texas legislature is expected to remain solidly Democratic. Republicans now have three of the 31 Senate seats: and eight of the 150 house seats. They may gain a few House seats, but that's about all.

Hearing Slated On Pesticides

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Assembly Agriculture Committee will hold hearings on pesticiedes in Sacramento in November and December, chairman William M. Ketchum announced.

Ketchum said that at its Nov. 23 meeting the Committee will be looking to the farming industry and the Department of Agriculture for a report on how two measures passed at the 1969 and 1970 session have worked out.

Mexican-Americans Blast Two Parties' Candidates

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new Mexican-American group said Thursday neither the Republican or Democratic parties has worked in the best interests of the Spanish-speaking people.

Abe Tapia, of the Mexican-American Political Association, said both parties discriminate against Spanish-speaking people and "gerrymander our people at election time."

"Jess Unruh has never been a friend of the Spanish-speaking people," Tapia said. "He has never sought solutions to our problems—problems of high unemployment, undereducation, high dropout rate, and poor housing, which we as a people rank high in this state.

"Instead, Unruh has authored a reapportionment bill which has sliced up our communities in Los Angeles, thus taking away our only block voting power in that area."

As for the Republican Party, Tapia said, "At least we know clearly where they stand..."

"Governor Reagan and Republicans have continually opposed Cesar Chavez' efforts to organize farm labor, and they've made no attempts to draw upon our people for governmental jobs," said Tapia. "Reagan has cut back funds for college Educational Opportunity Programs (EOP) under which most of our children are now getting into the colleges."

MAPA has endorsed Ricardo Romo of the Peace and Freedom Party for governor at its February convention in Los Angeles.

"We're supporting Romo, not the party," said Tapia. "It's the only way a La Raza (The Race) person can seek office these days.

"I can assure the standing political parties one thing, by 1972 this state will see a new power base made up of 1.5 million Spanish-speaking Californians," Tapia said. "At that point, we will begin to determine our own destiny."

Kettenhofen Best

TWO MARIN County men, Democrat William M. Bennett and Republican Ernest N. Kettenhofen, are competing for election as Third District member of the State Board of Equalization.

The winner will replace Democrat Paul Leake of Woodland, who is retiring after many years of effective service.

It has always seemed to The Press Democrat to be highly ridiculous that this strictly financial-management job should be a partisan rather than nonpartisan office, but that's the way the law reads.

The Press Democrat recommends Mr. Kettenhofen for the job. As a Marin County businessman who also operates a working farm in Lake County he has a dollars-and-cents interest and understanding of the high cost of taxes, and an appreciation of the problems peculiar to the Third District.

Mr. Bennett, on the other hand, is an attorney at law whose office is in San Francisco, which has its own member on the Board. As a Marin resident he is fully eligible to be elected from this district, but it seems to The Press Democrat that his opponent, whose own problems and interests are in the Third District, should be the one to represent us

EQUALLY important, as a farmer and as a businessman, Mr. Kettenhofen has first-hand experience with what California's lopsided tax structure, with its grass-roots emphasis on property taxes, is doing to farmers, to homeowners and to small business. His would be an expert voice in working to sensibly overhaul a tax structure that badly needs it.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Kettenhofen Has Ideas For Real Tax Equalization

There is an air of lethargic bureaucracy about the California State Board of Equalization's main office at 1020 N Street, Sacramento. We predict it will disappear in a hurry if Ernest N. Kettenhofen of San Anselmo wins election to that board on Nov. 3.

Kettenhofen is the Republican candidate for board member from the 25-county Third District, to succeed veteran Paul R. Leake of Woodland, who is retiring at the end of this year.

HE HAS SOME definite ideas about what should be done to make California taxation policies more equitable. He has been hammering at them in his campaign, which has taken him repeatedly to each of the 25 counties, stretching from San Francisco Bay and Sacramento to the Oregon line, which make up the Third District.

Tax relief through incentive credits.

Kettenhofen believes that those who make property improvements that reflect to the general good should not be penlaized for doing so by immediate tax hikes, but given a write-off as incentive to improve. This could be especially valuable in promoting environmental improvements, he notes.

Abolition or major revision of the inventory tax.

This tax is levied on inventory held by business firms each March. Kettenhofen calls it "the most unfair and inefficient tax now on the California statute books" and "a bonus to cheat." It results in warehousing in neighboring states to "clear out inventory" for the due date, he claims. It should either be abolished or based on average inventory throughout the year, he contends.

Revision of the Williamson Act.

This is the act that permits acreage to be placed in "agricultural preserve" for assessment unaffected by increased value through change in use of surrounding lands. In some counties, it has been used as a tax dodge by owners of small parcels of undeveloped land, contrary to its purpose. Kettenhofen would seek to enforce uniform application — a function of the board of equalization.

Uniform taxation of timber lands.

Some counties, contends Kettenhofen, are virtually forcing destruction of forests by taxing timber lands on the board footage of standing trees Others tax only that timber which is harvested — which Kettenhofen believes should be the uniform practice to encourage forest conservation. Again, uniform assessment falls within the jurisdiction of the board of equalization.

THESE ARE SOME specifics in "Kett's" campaign for the little-noticed state board that has wide powers over California taxation and assessment practices. As he proved while on the Marin County Board of Supervisor, "Kett" is a man who works hard for what he believes, so he can be depended on to do more than pay lip service to such reforms.

Running against Kettenhofen for the office is another Marinite, Democrat William M. Bennett of Kentfield. Bennett, a former California Public Utilities Commission member, is campaigning as a "friend of the consumer." But when it comes to specifics, he has proposed nothing comparable to Kettenhofen's platform.

We believe the people of Marin and the 24 other counties of the Third District will be best served by electing Ernest N. Kettenhofen to the board of equalization. And we think they will do it.

Kettenhofen Best Choice

After carefully considering the qualifications necessary for a member of the State Board of Equalization the publisher of this newspaper is convinced that Ernest Kettenhofen is the best-qualified to serve our county as a member of that most important body.

Now serving his third term as a member of the Board of Governors of our California Maritime Academy, of which he twice has been chairman, Mr. Kettenhofen has established himself as a successful businessman, rancher and property owner who knows what taxation is all about.

Campaigning as the spokesman for the taxpayer, he is able to draw on his vast experience and knowledge of the 25-county Third District which he seeks to represent when discussing taxes and tax reforms.

Ernest Kettenhofen knows the problems of the property owner, large and small, and the problems of government as well. He speaks for the taxpayer because he knows at first hand the growing burden he bears. He has the knowledge and know-how to do something about the tax burden.

Most importantly, Ernest Kettenhofen knows this area well, through his long association with the Maritime Academy, of which he is a prominent graduate, as well as his ownership of property in Lake County and his familiarity with Solano and Napa County and their tax problems.

Mr. Kettenhofen has devoted his life to public service, as a member of several boards and commissions, including the Board of Equalization in Marin County, county supervisor, Marin College Foundation president, co-chairman of the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All (CASA), hospital board director and chairman of a fund drive which raised $350,000 from private sources to help build the Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital, and Northern California chairman for successful passage of the proposition which created tax incentives for the maintenance of open space.

His background establishes him as a proponent of economy and equality in government and tax administration. He proposes to seek tax relief through incentive programs. He believes that those who make property improvements which generally benefit the public should not be penalized by immediate tax increases, as is presently the case.

Mr. Kettenhofen would abolish or revise the annual inventory taxes what he calls "the most unfair and inefficient tax now on the California statute books."

At present the inventory tax results in millions of dollars on inventories being warehoused in other states—notably Nevada — to await the California due date. He believes if this tax is not abolished, at least it should be based on an average annual inventory.

He also advocates revision of tax regulations under the Williamson Act which permits some lands to be placed in "agricultural preserves" to guarantee uniform application of provisions of the law, which is a function of the State Board of Equalization.

For these and many other reasons, we believe Ernest Kettenhofen to be the best qualified candidate to succeed retiring Paul Leake as Member, Third District, State Board of Equalization. A man who gets things done, an experienced and successful businessman, a rancher and property owner and a proven public servant of highest caliber, Ernest Kettenhofen should be everyone's choice for the Board of Equalization.

Tiburon Acts On Drainage Problem

The Tiburon City Council, stymied Monday in its attempt to award a contract for an interim solution to drainage woes in the downtown basin, took the step last night.

It awarded a $23,522 contract to J. R. Peters Engineering and Construction Co. of Santa Rosa to install a pump at a pond near Tiburon Boulevard and Mar West Sreet and dig a ditch across the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property.

Once completed, the pump will convey floodwaters through the ditch to an existing culvert under Paradise Drive near Mar West and out to Raccoon Strait.

The council had met in special session Monday to award the contract, but found it could not when City Atty. Robert I. Conn said that the two agreements needed were not ready.

Needed were documents from Belvedere promising to bear one-third of the cost of the work, and from the railroad giving the city permission to build the ditch on its land.

The agreements were in hand last night, and the council voted 3-0 to award the contract. Councilmen Branwell D. Fanning and M. Carlisle Becker were absent.

Assist. City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said Belvedere will pay $7,841, leaving Tiburon's share at $15,681. Of this, $7,500 will come from $10,000 budgeted by the city for flood control, and $8,181 from a special drainage fund put up by developer Fred G. Zelinsky when he built the Safeway market on Tiburon Boulevard.

A spokesman for J. B. Peters said the firm could begin work Monday and promised to complete the project by the end of November, before heavy winter rains hit the Tiburon Peninsula.

In other action last night, the council met with its planning commission to hear Marin County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell describe a new state requirement that cities must include a housing element in their general plans.

The county planning department is acting as a coordinator in preparing a first phase housing element for the county as a model for the cities.

Tiburon's housing element will define what shelter needs exist in the city and how construction of moderate income housing can fill them.

Planning Director Wayne E. Moody said the council agreed to take steps to appoint a citizens task force committee to develop goals and policies concerning housing in Tiburon.

Moody said he was asked to conduct an inventory of potential sites for moderate income housing.

The council adjourned to its next regular meeting Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Pay Hikes For Hillcrest Employees

Salary increases for Hillcrest Hospital employees were approved last night by the board of directors to be financed from savings in operational costs.

Administrator Joseph E. Horner said the increases reflected salary adjustments for individual employees to bring the scale up to standards of comparable hospitals. He said the average increase would be 2 to 3 per cent.

The salary adjustment costs will total $27,000 which Horner said is, in effect, being returned to the employees from operational savings brought about by greater employee efficiency.

Horner said that when he became administrator in June, a survey showed the hospital was operating at a 67 per cent productivity rate. He said that figure has been increased to 91 per cent productivity through new procedures and a recapturing of wasted time.

The Hillcrest Hospital board also:

REFURBISHING — Approved a six month schedule for refurbishing at an estimated cost of $25,000 to $30,000. Plans include painting the interior, installing carpeting, new lighting, cubicle curtains and revamped nursing stations.

GUARDS — Approved the concept of providing security guards during evening hours for better safety of employees. Horner said a private security agency would be employed on an hourly basis.

PHARMACY — Asked Horner to explore the establishment of a community emergency drug service in the district. The board said that at least one pharmacy should be open on a 24 hour basis.

EMERGENCY — Approved a plan to have a physician on duty in the emergency room around the clock on weekends. Horner said the new practice will start Nov. 28.

Monsoon Rains Take Heavy S. Viet Toll

SAIGON (UPI) — Torrential monsoon rains sent the Da Nang River on a rampage today, halting the war in that area and causing heavy loss of civilian life. But the heaviest fighting in months broke out in the Central Highlands, the Mekong Delta and Cambodia.

Phnom Penh dispatches said government troops today launched an amphibious assault across the Mekong River to root out Communist concentrations near Moat Krasas, 12 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, where the Communists ambushed a government convoy Thursday night and killed 14 men.

Reports from the field said a force of 1,500 Cambodians made at least three landings from World War II vintage landing barges along a stretch of riverbank running 10 to 20 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. One attempted landing was driven back by heavy Communist fire.

It was one of the largest operations mounted by government forces on the perimeter of Phnom Penh, and officials said government troops, thwarted in their attempts to land, crossed elsewhere and were moving along the riverbanks. Air support was called in and a spokesman said indications were the Communists suffered heavy losses.

Irrigation canals were used more than 6,000 years ago in Egypt and Babylon.

The rains in the Da Nang area where 20 inches of rain fell during a 26-hour period sent water up to 14 feet deep rolling across some highways. Four major highway bridges were washed out and the Da Nang River, swollen hundreds of yards wide and rushing along at 20 miles an hour, swept away hundreds of houses.

The river ripped away docks and mornings in the harbor area of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, and threatened to crush the German and American hospital ships Helgoland and Hope against their wharves behind a mass of debris.

There simply were no figares available on casualties, but military sources said they could be high.

The monsoon rains reduced American air activity to a new five-year low — only 19 air strikes were flown Thursday—for the second consecutive day.

However, heavy B52 bombers kept up their marathon pounding of the Ho Chi Minh trail with another 950 tons of bombs dropped in Laos, the U.S. Command reported. Bombing of the Ho Chi Minh supply trail has been heavier than at any time during the war, apparently in fear the Communists are trying to buildup for future offensives to strengthen the hand of their Paris negotiators.

The monsoon season is over in the Central Highlands and the southern tip of South Vietnam and heavy fighting was reported there. Communist forces said the Viet Cong carried out a series of vicious assaults in the Mekong Delta, the Central Highlands and in Cambodia.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said Viet Cong artillerymen killed 14 Allied troops and wounded 50 others Thursday night in an attack against a Cambodian troop ship convoy approaching Phnom Penh on the Mekong River.

Warrants Issued In Airport Arson Case

Warrants charging four Santa Rosa youths with burglarizing Gnoss Field and one of them with starting the Oct. 12 fire there were issued yesterday by the Marin County District Attorney's office.

Charged with arson is William P. Nance, 19, who is presently in the Sonoma County Jail on a stolen property charge.

Nance along with Wayne Armstrong, 19; Manuel Mosher, 15, and Charles Joseph Molina, 16, is accused of burglarizing the building.

Armstrong is also charged with attempting to commit petty theft.

Sheriff's officers have said that the youths apparently went to the airport to steal gasoline. After breaking the lock on a pump, they discovered they had to go inside the building to release the pump.

Once inside, they stole a tape recorder and a radio, according to officers. In order to cover fingerprints the building was then set on fire, officers theorized.

The fire burned a cafe, office and parts department as well as the $150,000 twin engine plane rented by cosmetics magnate William Penn Patrick and used by Sen. George Murphy in his campaign.

Waxwork Branch

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Madame Tussaud's, world famous London waxworks, has opened a branch in Amsterdam. The 50 wax figures displayed include the late Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, the Dutch painters Rembrandt and Van Gogh, and Anne Frank, the 13-year-old Jewish girl noted for the diary she kept during the Nazi occupation of Amsterdam.

Santa Ana Publisher Hoiles Dies At 91

Hoiles succumbed at Santa Ana Community Hospital where he was being treated for diabetes and uremia.

Tuberculosis Toll

MANILA (UPI) —Tuberculosis remains one of the top killer diseases in the Philippines, a country with 38 million population. Each year, tuberculosis claims an average of 27,000 lives.

9 Months' Jail For Air Hijack

BEIRUT (UPI) — Christian Belon, a 26-year-old Frenchman, was released from prison today shortly after a Lebanese court sentenced him to nine months in prison for hijacking an American airliner to Beirut last January.

Belon spent 21 days more than his nine-month sentence in jail awaiting trial. The court ruled his time should be counted off his sentence and ordered authorities to release him.

Belon said he hijacked the Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 because "I love Lebanon and the Arabs."

BACK IN VIETNAM — Lt. William Calley Jr., charged with the murder of 102 civilians in the 1968 My Lai massacre, loads his briefcase in a military Jeep in DaNang, South Vietnam. Calley arrived yesterday to interview witnesses of the alleged slayings near his old base at Chu Lai.

Combat Units On Withdrawal List

SAIGON (UPI) — Combat troops will make up close to half of the 40,000 Americans to be withdrawn from Vietnam between now and Christmas, the U.S. Command announced today.

Spokesmen said that two brigades of the 25th Infantry Division, which works in the provinces surrounding Saigon, and a brigade of the 4th Infantry Division, stationed in the central highlands about 250 miles north of the capital, would be pulled out before Dec. 25.

The withdrawal, when it is completed, will leave 344,000 Americans in the war zone. That number will be reduced, under orders from President Nixon, to below 284,000 by next May 1.

The Command said that in addition to the approximately 15,000 combat troops in the three brigades to be pulled out, another 25,000 men would come from "numerous small combat and support elements and activities of the Army, Navy and Air Force."

Spokesmen refused to name the exact units to be pulled out on security grounds.

Other announcements from the Command today did name five specific units that have "stood down," or stopped their assigned activities to prepare to withdraw.

The five units include four helicopter companies and an infantry battalion from the 4th Division. In all, spokesmen said, 1,980 men are involved in the pullouts.

Unruh Plans Stop In San Rafael

Assemblyman Jess Unruh of Inglewood, Democratic nominee for governor, will address a rally at about 3 p.m. Sunday at Carpenters Hall, 647 Lindaro Street, San Rafael.

The rally, planned by the Marin Unified Democratic Campaign, will begin at 1:30 p.m., and will feature entertainment, refreshments and appearances by local Democratic candidates.

Unruh's San Rafael appearance will be part of a motorcade through the East Bay, Marin and San Francisco. He is to speak in San Francisco at 3:30 p.m., a half an hour after his scheduled San Rafael speech.

Democratic headquarters in Mill Valley, San Rafael and Novato are handling arrangements for persons who want to join the motorcade to San Francisco by bus.

Calley Taking Statements From Vietnamese On My Lai Massacre

CHU LAI, Vietnam (API)—Lt. William Calley, charged with murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians in March 1968, took statements today from two Vietnamese men apparently connected with the alleged My Lai massacre.

Military officials at Chu Lai refused to identify the men either by rank or title, and would not say what connection they have with the Calley case.

Other sources said that one man was a civilian, and the other a Vietnamese army sergeant.

Calley returned to Chu Lai, headquarters of the Army's Americal Division, Thursday to gather defense evidence for use at his Ft. Benning, Ga., court-martial on the murder charges.

This huge American base was Calley's headquarters when he served in Vietnam as a platoon leader with the Americal Dvision at the time of the alleged massacre.

He continued to maintain his self-imposed rule of not talking to newsmen, despite numerous requests from reporters at Chu Lai for interviews.

Calley and his military attorney, Maj. Kenneth Raby; and the assistant prosecutor, Capt. John Partin, had planned to travel to Quang Ngai city, a provincial capital 18 miles south of Chu Lai, to gather depositions from Vietnamese witnesses and officials involved in the investigation of the My Lai affair.

But military sources at Da Nang, the major military headquarters for the northern sector of South Vietnam, said the torrential rains might continue until Tuesday or Wednesday.

All aircraft in and out of Chu Lai and Quang Ngai have been grounded. Quang Ngai airfield, just outside the city, is reportedly under three feet of water, with the level rising hourly.

Highway 1, which runs north and south from Chu Lai, was reported cut in both directions by the rising flood waters. In some places on the road, water was reported to be 14 feet deep.

Securities Theft Suspect Arrested

NEW YORK (UPI)—The FBI announced the arrest of a Las Vegas automobile salesman for allegedly transporting about $170,000 in stolen securities across state lines.

The federal agency said that James Levoy Satcher, 37, was arrested on a midtown street Thursday night after arriving from London.

The securities were stolen from a New York securities firm last August. Stacher will be arraigned in the southern district. If convicted he could get up to 10 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Charges Against Magazine Dismissed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Federal Trade Commission hearing examiner has dismissed charges that the Saturday Evening Post violated the law by offering its subscribers other magazines instead of refunds when it went out of business.

The examiner, Edgar A. Buttle, said refunds would have cost the post $20 million to $40 million and thrown the company into bankruptcy. His decision is subject to review or appeal by the full commission.

This Is The Season For Many Little Changes At Restaurants

This seems to be a season for restaurant changes.

Not big changes — but the brisker weather apparently inspires new ideas — in the menu, in remodeling, entertainment or hours and days of service. After the winter is over you can look for more changes — perhaps with some of the present ones being reversed.

IF YOU NOTICE some remodeling going on at Franchini's Chateau at Highway 101 and Lucas Valley Road, Niki Franchini has in mind installing a piano bar. This will be located at the right of the main doorway.

At the moment there is no telling how soon work will be completed and an entertainer selected — probably not until after Friday night crab cioppino dinners get well under way around the middle of November.

STARTING MONDAY, Don Johnson at the London Arms on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile will remain open seven days a week. This should extend at least through the winter when hot mulled wine is one of the season's specialties. Try it sometime when the weather is damp.

London Arms is the type of place you can visit many times and not lose interest in the people and the food — which speaks well for Don's fish and chips, Cornish pastries and friendly atmosphere. Any night you choose to take a count should show about 85 per cent of the customers as "regular visitors."

NEW ENTERTAINMENT is being featured at Holiday Inn at Terra Linda — the Lori English Duo. This is carried Wednesday through Saturday nights, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and starting earlier on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Lori English sings and plays the drums. Her pianist Bull Bullard has been working with her for the past 18 months. They have appeared at the Hungry I and Miako Hotel in San Francisco and Lori has been featured at the Petroleum Club in Calgary, Canada.

SAL IACHINO has a new trio of dinner specials at Romulus Italian Restaurant in San Rafael on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

These are prime rib at $4.25, veal scallopini at $3.50 and roast chicken $3.25. Prices are for a complete dinner, including antipasto, soup, salad, coffee and dessert. These specials are in addition to the regular dinner menu, which includes steak and lobster and a variety of Italian dishes. Baked lasagne is one of the biggest sellers here.

Romulus features two lunch specials every day at $1.50 — $1.75. They are changed from day to day and may include skirt steak, veal saute, stuffed bell pepper or any one of a number of dishes.

STARTING NEXT WEEK, Ramona's on C Street, San Rafael will start serving lunches again — but only on Tuesdays and Thursdays for the time being. This may be extended later. Hours of service those days will be straight through from noon to 10 p.m.

Ramona Stalling has just about decided to hold a Posadas ceremony again this Christmas season. But if she does, it won't include a "floor show." Says Ramona, "This is meant to be a religious ceremony for the children and can get out of hand if not handled right."

We'll know more about her plans in another two or three weeks.

BOOBY'S at 3741 Highway 101 north of San Rafael, which has been known primarily for its hamburgers at reasonable prices over the past three years, is now extending its food service to the morning hours.

Breakfast eaters will find a $1.50 repast served from 6 to 9 a.m. Mondays through Fridays which includes three eggs, link sausages, bacon and Idaho potatoes, plus hot buttered English muffin and jam. Coffee milk is 15 cents extra, but coffee refills are on the house. This may be extended into the weekends soon.

RON BRANDES, who operates the Bib 'n' Rib on the San Anslmo Miracle Mile and now has his own Missouri barbecue sauce featured in over 50 retail outlets in Marin County and San Francisco, recently had one case order from as far away as Saipan in the Marianas Islands. It just shows how word gets around. He plans now on expanding his marketing program. Who wouldn't, with such a potential?

Ron will have a new item for the holiday season — not his own product, but one straight from the Ozarks — a dry-cured country smoked ham. Hams will run about 12 pounds in weight and need not be refrigerated. In the Ozarks they are prepared by rubbing the cure into the meat by hand — not injecting it with a needle. You'll be able to try it out at the restaurant.

ANOTHER ANNIVERSARY PARTY (the eighth) will be held by McKee's in San Rafael Monday and Tuesday nights.

Jim and Jean McKee will serve a special anniversary dinner at $1.95 from 5 to 9 p.m., supervised by chef Don Caseldine, who has been off work recently because of illness but is returning for this special occasion. Entertainment will be by Gary Schneider at the Baldwin organ and although Tuesday is Election Day, closing the bar at that time is no longer necessary.

GORDON JONES informs me that Rubini's in Fairfax is not a member of the two-for-one coupon package — Marin Passport to Gourmet Dining.

Apparently there has been some misunderstanding as to the participating restaurants and the list is being checked by our display advertising department. I am told that an ad in tomorrow night's paper should give the correct information.

Rubini's is now featuring its Happy Hours period from 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesdays through Fridays. Double-size bar drinks go for $1 and hot and cold hors d'oeuvres are served.

GEORGE LOIZOS expects to open his new restaurant (where Cafe Bon Vin in San Anselmo has been located) the first of December. This is assuming that his wine and beer license is cleared by then and Fred Cherry has moved his Wine Discovery Shop to Sausalito.

George hasn't yet selected a name for his new operation but has several choices in mind. No lunches will be served for awhile and he'll be featuring dinners Wednesdays through Sundays. Dishes will be Mediterranean — Greek, Turkish, Italian, with perhaps some other specialties.

He will be assisted by his wife Bonnie and his father Angelo. All three are well experienced in the food business and this should turn out to be a pleasant and interesting family-type restaurant.

NO DOUBT you have eaten dinners at Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia and have enjoyed them. But have you ever tried the lunches here?

The chef's special is a juicy London broil with rice and salad at $2.25 and a number of fine omelets are featured — French onion, cheese, mushroom, with herbs and Basque style. With salad, French fries and coffee these run $1.95 — except the Basque omelet, which is more elaborate and $2.20. Another popular item is the chopped sirloin with onions.

Other selections for the midday meal include both hot and cold sandwiches, salads and crabs or shrimp louies.

Czech Leader Is Reported Removing Ultra-Leftists

VIENNA (UPI) — Czechoslovak Communist Party leader Gustav Husak is removing ultra-leftists from top posts in order to strengthen his own position, diplomatic sources said today.

After ousting supporters of his liberal predecessor Alexander Dubcek, Husak now is trying to get rid of hard line opponents who consider the earlier purges "too lenient", they said.

In a still-secret speech to district party officials last month Husak said the purges of Dubcek supporters should end, the sources said. He complained that some party organization—including the one in the Interior Ministry—overstepped its mark in the purges.

A total of 400,000 of the country's 1.4 million Communists were purged from the party this year, because of their support of the reformist Dubcek's course.

Husak has already fired two prominent hardliners, the sources said. Czech Interior Minister Josef Groesser, a leading leftist, was replaced by moderate Josef Jung. A few days later, Gen. Otakar Rytir, a staunch opponent of the reformists, was ousted as liaison officer with the Soviet troops temporarily stationed in Czechoslovakia.

The sources said Husak also rejected the leftist demands to try eight prominent intellectuals who had attacked the 1968 Soviet military intervention in leaflets. The trial, scheduled for Oct. 15, was postponed for "an indefinite period" at the last minute.

Ludek Pachmann, a chess grand champion and two other defendants—historian Jan Tesar and sociologist Rudolf Battek — were released last week from jail where they had been kept for more than a year.

Husak has pledged repeatedly that there would be no political trials in Czechoslovakia.

The sources said Husak is expected to demand further purges of Orthodox Communists in the next central committee meeting to strengthen the position of his own moderate supporters. The meeting originally was scheduled for September but was postponed twice.

It is expected now to convene in the second half of November.

5,000 Extra Tanks Stockpiled By NATO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-priority administration review has turned up the fact the United States and its NATO allies have about 5,000 more tanks in Europe than Pentagon officials knew about, the Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said the extra tanks had been stockpiled in West Germany for years as potential replacements for operational tanks knocked out in battle. It said they had not been included in Pentagon planning estimates of NATO armored units, however.

Consequently, the newspaper said, the Pentagon had considered the NATO allies to be badly outgunned by the forces of the Soviet Union and its Eastern European Warsaw Pact allies.

The reserve tanks, most of which are the latest models, could almost double NATO's tank strength, the report said.

The Post said discovery of the dimensions of the reserve tank force was said to have "stunned civilian and military defense officials at the highest levels."

SOMEWHERE IN ISRAEL

Beard Posts Bail After Arraignment

Black Panther Brian V. Beard, unsuccessful candidate for the Sausalito School District board in June, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a robbery charge.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. reduced Zeard's bail from $12,500 to $1,500. Beard posted it and was released from jail.

Beard and another Marin City man, Richard Charles Hamilton, 25, are accused of robbing two Ohio men in Sousalito Oct. 22.

The out-of-state pair said that Beard and Hamilton offered to drive them to a restaurant when they couldn't find a taxi. In the parking lot of the restaurant the men said that when one of them pulled out his wallet to pay Beard and Hamilton for the ride, Beard grabbed the wallet and pulled off the man's wrist watch.

The victims managed to grab Hamilton and call police, but Beard fled and was later identified from pictures.

Trio Nabbed In Novato As Pot Suspects

Three people were arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana in two separate cases today, Novato police reported.

Stephen Wayne Stewart, 20, of 223 San Felipe Way, Novato, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $215 bail to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Cuzner and Stewart were found asleep in their car at the end of San Jose Boulevard at 2:10 a.m. today, police reported, saying they found a substance thought to be marijuana in the car. Police also held Stewart on suspicion of possession of a fraudulent document or identification card.

Kathy Rucker was arrested when police found a plastic bag with a substance thought to be marijuana in her car stopped on Center Road at Wilmac Court at 2:03 a.m. today, according to police reports.

Tear Gas Weapon Arraignment Held

Terrence D. Maguire, 24, of San Francisco, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of having a tear gas weapon when arrested by the California Highway Patrol Saturday.

His case was continued to next Thursday for entry of plea to the felony.

Maguire was first booked into jail on outstanding traffic warrants and a search revealed a pen containing tear gas, officers said.

Blaze At White House West Routs President

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon was routed from his bedroom in his pajamas Thursday night by a minor fire which spread smoke throughout the Spanish style villa which serves as the Western White House.

White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon moved to a guest house on the five-acre estate and spent the night there.

"At no time was the president in any danger," Ziegler said.

The press secretary said the fire, which he described as "very minor," was started by an overheated fireplace which ignited a wooden portion of the thick dining room wall.

Ziegler said the fire broke out at 11:25 p.m. PST, shortly after Nixon had gone to bed following an exhausting day of compaigning which included a shower of stones, eggs, and bottles hurled at the president by demonstrators in San Jose.

Other members of the Nixon family were not at the Western White House when the blaze broke out. Mrs. Nixon spent the night in Washington and flew this morning to California to join the President at a rally tonight in Anaheim. Julie Nixon Eisenhower also was in Washington.

Tricia Nixon made an unscheduled overnight stay at Grand Forks, N.D., because of tire trouble on the plane that was to return her to Washington Thursday night.

Ziegler said the fire was detected by Mrs. Fina Sanchez, the wife of Nixon's personal valet. Fire trucks from the San Clemente and Camp Pendleton Marine Corps fire departments responded within six minutes and extinguished the flames, Ziegler said.

Ziegler said damage was minor, charring only a small portion of the dining room ceiling and wall but he added, "there was extensive smoke throughout the president's residence."

Ziegler said the fire apparently started from the fireplace in the President's second floor study. The fireplace overheated and ignited part of the common wall which runs from the first floor dining room up to the study on the second floor.

Arraignment On Felony Battery Count

Carl Ove Smith, 21, of 1290 Leafwood Drive, Novato, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of battery upon a police officer during a fracas following an auto accident earlier in the day.

Novato police said that while they were investigating an accident which occurred at 12:35 a.m. at Grant and Railroad avenues, Smith unaccountably punched Sgt. Richard H. Rudy in the face.

Smith and a companion, James F. Pate, 23, also of Novato, had been thrown from the rear of a pickup truck as it was turning a corner at the intersection.

Pate suffered a concussion and was treated at Novato General Hospital, but Smith was uninjured. The alleged attack on the officer occurred when an argument broke out between Smith and an unidentified witness.

The officer said that when he asked the witness to stop cursing, Smith hit him.

Yippies Say Leary Will Slip Into U.S.

PARIS (UPI)—A delegation of the Youth International Party (Yippies) just returned from Algiers said today that fugitive drug advocate Timothy Leary would appear at a Black Panther meeting at New Haven, Conn. next Tuesday.

The Yippie representatives laughed when asked at a news conference how Leary would slip in and out of the United States and said: "We're not going to tell you that."

They said Leary had "definitely" been granted political asylum in Algeria and would make his living from writing books.

Three members of a 12-man Yippie delegation which has been touring Europe and the Middle East and Africa appeared at the news conference at the American Students and Artists Center near Montparnasse.

They were Jerry Rubin, 30, of Cincinnati, Ohio, awaiting an appeals trial from a contempt of court sentence growing out of the 1968 Chicago riots; Stew Albert, 31, and Brian Flanagan, 27, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Folksinger Phil Ochs, of Cincinnati, played the guitar, sang antiwar songs, but did not speak. Another delegation member, Abbie Hoffman, reportedly sick with bronchitis in his hotel room, did not attend. He also is awaiting an appeal trial stemming from the 1968 Democratic convention riots.

Rubin said he himself did not go to Algiers because U.S. authorities would not allow him to travel to countries with which the United States does not have diplomatic relations, pending his appeal.

The Yippies said they were traveling around Europe to enlist students as Yippies in an international plan "to defeat American imperialism." Rubin said they were working closely with the Black Panther Party and that they regarded Eldridge B. Cleaver, "information minister" of the party in Algeria, "as our ambassador."

Quentin Alerted For Election Day Strike

San Quentin State Prison was alerted today for a possible general strike by inmates on election day in response to a list of demands that have circulated throughout the state prison system.

However, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said that rumblings of strikes go through the prison four or five times a year and only about one in 10 develops into anything.

The document listing 31 demands — some calls for reform and others revolutionary propaganda according to Park — calls for a strike by California's 25,600 state prison inmates on Nov. 3.

Such a strike would not disrupt the functioning of the prisons, Park said, since the inmates have the day off anyway.

Park said prison officials are prepared for any trouble.

Apparently the document was prepared somewhere in Sacramento by students and militants and released early this week, Park said. "We have not yet seen any demands and so forth for our prisoners," he said.

Demands in the document range from more black counselors to freeing all condemned men and political and war prisoners to Communist countries. Twelve of the 15 prisoners named are not in California State Prisons, Park noted.

Park said the list circulated through the prisons named Huey P. Newton of the Black Panther Party, attorney Charles Garry and Sal Candelaria, reportedly a Brown Beret, as a team to negotiate the demands.

Richardson Bay Red Tide Is Mass Of Harmless Dye

Alarmed citizens who called the San Francisco Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board to report a red tide in Richardson Bay will be relieved to learn the mass of color is harmless dye.

The board, with assistance from the federal and state governments, is discharging the dye through the Mill Valley and Richardson Bay sewage treatment plants.

The purpose of the study, according to Fred H. Dierker, the board's executive officer, is to determine "the sewage dispersion characteristics and dilution capability of Richardson Bay."

Its results, he said, will help the board define dispersal problems and permit more adequate regulation of waste discharges into the bay.

The dye, which is nontoxic and will not harm the environment, will be released through next week, Dierker said.

Staggering Amount Of U.S. Driving

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Americans drove enough miles on the highways last year to equal more than 2 million round trips to the moon.

The staggering total, as reported by the National Automobile Club, is 1,070,000,000,000 — one trillion, 70 billion miles. Two years ago the nation's motorists broke through the trillion mark for the first time and in 1969 topped that by 5.4 per cent.

Innocent Plea On Drug Counts

Donald Joseph Padilla, 23, of Tamalpais Valley pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing LSD for sale and possessing marijuana.

Padilla was arrested Wednesday after he sought to reclaim a sack containing what appeared to be $30,000 worth of LSD as well as some marijuana which had been found in shrubbery near his home.

British Lethal Gas Stockpile–100 Pounds

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's entire stockpile of nerve gas consists of about 100 pounds stored in an old underground air raid shelter separated from the world by a series of filters and a rabbit named Joe.

And none of the lethal gas has been manufactured in the country in more than two years.

This was the picture painted for newsmen Thursday when the Ministry of Defense, mindful of the recent uproar over nerve gas in the United States, opened its chemical warfare plant to the press for the first time.

It is located on an 800-acre former Royal Air Force base at Nancekuke on the Cornwall Coast, about 100 miles southeast of London. A high security fence shields it from the outside world.

Nevile Gadsby, director of the Chemical Defense Establishment of the Defense Ministry, said the ministry decided to hold the tour to allay anxiety about what he described as "extravagant rumors."

Newsmen were told that the 157 employees at Nancekuke spend most of their efforts on evaluating products developed outside Britain that are a potential threat in the hands of an enemy and in producing CS nausea gas and an antidote to nerve gas.

Nacekuke, operating on an annual budget of about $799,200 produced its last batch of nerve gas in February 1968, Gadsby said.

The plant is actually a number of metal buildings, each with one or several high chimneys through which carefully filtered fumes from laborotories are released.

About 100 pounds of nerve gas — Britain's entire stockpile according to Gadsby — is stored in special drums underground in a former air raid shelter.

Ventilation from the shelter is continually monitored by a rabbit named Joe through whose glass-walled house any fumes must pass.

Scintists examine the rabbit every couple of hours for any unusual signs indicating that there may be a leak.

"He is the most important thing on this site," said one ministry official. "He is an invaluable asset."

Homing Pigeon Tells When Junior's Safe

HOUGHTON, England (UPI) —Ten-year-old Stuart Griffiths' mother has a unique way of knowing that he arrived in school safely after bicyling four miles from home. She just waits for the homing pigeon the boy carries in his school bag and releases immediately upon his arrival.

"I must say it's a source of relief to us," says Mrs. Griffiths.

Times, News Face Imminent Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Newspaper Guild Thursday night set Monday at 6 a.m. as a strike deadline against either The New York Times or the Daily News, the city's only morning newspapers. The target for the pre-Election Day walkout will be decided "at the last minute."

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the guild, said the union would strike the paper with the most unsolved problems in the current contract negotiations. He said there would be no walkout if agreements were reached at both papers.

But Murphy described the outlook for a settlement as "very bleak" and added, "As of today, I've got to believe there's no way out of a strike."

War Relic Used

FUKUOKA, Japan (UPI) — The two sections of a Japanese destroyer which was split in half by U.S. torpedoes during World War II now serve as the foundation for a 2,296-foot breakwater at the entrance to the Hibikinada Sea off Northern Kyushu, Japan's southern island.

Army Reverses Murder Count

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army said Friday that the judge advocate general will appoint an officer to determine whether Green Beret Capt. John J. McCarthy Jr. will be retired for the 1967 murder of an alleged Vietnamese "double agent."

McCarthy, who was sentenced to 24 years in prison after his 1968 conviction, is now stationed at Ft. Huachuaca, Ariz.

McCarthy's conviction was invalidated Thursday by a three-judge Army court of military review.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—One week before the election, Gov. Ronald Reagan continued to hold a big lead over Assemblyman Jess Unruh, while Rep. John Tunney appeared to be pulling away from Sen. George Murphy, the California Poll reported today.

Pollster Mervin D. Field also reported that the Max Rafferty-Wilson Riles race for state school superintendent is a toss-up, while Evelle Younger continues to cling to a narrow lead in the fight for the attorney general's job.

Field said that a three-day cross-section survey completed Tuesday night showed Reagan with 49 per cent and Unruh with 37 per cent. The rest were undecided or supporting other candidates.

The figures are identical to those of last May, although Reagan had widened his margin in between.

The poll showed that while Reagan maintains his huge margin among Republicans (83-9), it is the fact that he only trails Unruh 58-25 among Democrats that may bring him victory.

"His (Unruh's) poor showing in this campaign has been due primarily to his inability to muster anything like the full potential voting strength of the Democratic party in California," Field asserted.

Tunney leads Murphy 48-41 in the U. S. Senate race. Since Murphy held a 45-41 lead last May, successive polls have showed the scales swinging slowly but steadily toward Tunney.

In the race for school superintendent, the poll reported that it called "one of the most dramatic shifts in voter opinion ever measured by the California Poll in a quarter century ..."

It gives challenger Riles a 43-42 edge over Rafferty. Only last August, Rafferty led 54-29. The poll suggested that an endorsement by San Francisco State College President S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley was a major boost to Riles' campaign.

Unruh Calls Reagan Guard Order 'Political Grandstanding' Tactic

HUNTINGTON BEACH (UPI)—Democratic challenger Jess Unruh says it's "political grandstanding" by Gov. Ronald Reagan to order up National Guardsmen election night to protect candidates. Unruh planned today to fly to Fresno, San Francisco and Sacramento for campaign discussions of higher property taxes. (See Reagan story, page 20.)

The Democratic gubernatorial candidate reacted indignantly Thursday when told that the governor was summoning the guardsmen to duty.

"Neither the governor, nor the governor's staff nor anyone else has bothered to tell me that candidates were in any trouble, that there was any threat on anyone's life," he said.

"I think the governor had an obligation to have called us first," he said, "regardless of the necessity or not, it's political grandstanding."

Reagan told a Sacramento news conference that because of "the general atmosphere and the threats from radical groups" he was calling up guardsmen — in plainclothes with protection experience—to watch political candidates.

Unruh delivered his remark standing on the beach here while preparing to criticize the governor for his acceptance of large campaign contributions from oil companies.

"I would have thought that if there were threats that necessitated calling out the National Guard that the governor would have had the decency to call me and to call the other candidates," he said.

"I have no evidence of any intent of violence," Unruh added. "If he has the evidence, then we should have been told about it before."

The Democratic nominee also said that the National Guard "has not offered us any protection at this point," but declined to say whether he would take it if it was offered.

"I have absolutely no evidence that that's necessary," he said, "but on the contrary, I don't have access to those facts."

Reagan Expresses Contempt For Anti-Nixon Protesters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today condemned violence that broke out at President Nixon's visit to San Jose and said "there is absolutely no justification for such intolerable behavior."

The Republican governor called the incidents "another example of the tactics used by those who refuse to recognize that ous system is the last remaining bulwark for freedom. They seek to tear down and destroy, rather than build a better world for all of us."

He said they "cast a shadow upon the hundreds of other young people who participated with respect at the rally for President Nixon and Senator (George) Murphy."

"As for the others—the relatively small band which engaged in the violence, I express my contempt on behalf of the citizens of California."

Reagan issued the statement early today at his hotel after arriving from San Jose. The incidents occured at the San Jose Municipal Auditorium where Nixon and Reagan appeared Thursday night at a rally to boost Murphy's reelection campaign.

About 1,000 protestors were outside the auditorium, chanting anti-war slogans. Eggs, rocks and bottles were thrown at the presidential car.

Petition Drive To Call Vote On Dope

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A group known as LUCHA, the League of United Citizens to Help Addicts, said Thursday it has collected 97,000 signatures on a petition calling for a special election to reform the state penal code.

LUCHA, which means "fight" or "battle" in Spanish, wants to revise narcotics laws to classify drug addiction as a socio-medical disease.

Spokesman Edward Aguirre said addicts need a complete educational, vocational and job placement service.

In order to qualify for the ballot, LUCHA must obtain signatures of 500,000 registered voters.

- I believe, that contrary to the current trend, it is time that people who choose to violate the law must be held accountable for their actions!
- Bail and probation are a constitutional right and a valuable tool toward rehabilitation; but once an individual has chosen to violate the terms of his probation or he fails to appear as directed by the court, I believe that he has forfeited the right to consideration of additional bail or again being granted probation.
- The apprehension of repeat offenders in our Marin County drug sub-culture stands as a frightening testimony to the urgent need for re-evaluation.
- I firmly believe that the Court has a dual responsibility in protecting the constitutional rights of the accused, WITHOUT jeopardizing the safety and well-being of society as a whole.

Clausen Asks Balance In Land Acquisition

The Point Reyes National Seashore is "one of the great conservation successes" of all time, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, told the Marin Property Owners Association yesterday.

But he said Congress must toil to standardize property acquisition procedures and make condemnation actions uniform nationwide. "What happens now, if you're condemned and try to go out and pick up comparable acreage?" he cautioned the 175 property owners in the audience.

He said the revisions must apply not only to highway rights-of-way, but to all acreage acquired for public use. Clausen offered to let public officials in the audience use material uncovered at Congressional hearings on the problem.

Turning to other recent Washington action, Clausen reported that up to $13 billion has been committed for mass transit development within the next 10 years. He said $3 billion was authorized in a bill passed just before Congress adjourned.

"We will not get involved in rolling stock," Clausen explained, but the program does include designation of special bus lanes on federal highways, and programs for building terminals and other facilities, for such problems as "the traffic crunch on the Golden Gate Bridge."

However, "I'm very disenchanted with the way the current leadership of Congress has been conducting its affairs," Clausen said. He criticized holding Congress in session until less than a month before election day, and said the lawmakers will have to return next month to work on highway, rivers, and harbors and other key 1970 legislation.

Clausen said one of the most urgent problems is "what kind of priority can we set to get the maximum good out of the tax dollar. We need not only tax reform but also revenue allocation revision . . . the property tax burder is at the limit."

Declaring, "I don't know how we can be nonpartisan," Clausen rapped "fantastic escalation" of federal spending programs in the 1960s. He warned the $5 billion welfare outlay nationwide in 1970 will mushroom to $12 billion by 1975 unless programs are launched to "make tax eaters into taxpayers."

He decried the fact that crime is costing the U.S. $51 billion, and stressed his opposition to communist and socialist efforts in the U.S. "If people . . . want those sort of things, I suggest we give them a one-way ticket to the country of their choice," Clausen said.

The property owners, during the business session of their annual meeting, reelected Rex Silvernale as president: William C. Corbett, Richard Nave, Albert Huber and Boyd Stewart, vice presidents; James Dougan, secretary, and Carlos Gonzales, treasurer.

Special awards were presented to retiring Supervisor William A. Gnoss and former county planning commission chairman Niels Schultz Jr., for their long public service.

Random House Sets John O'Hara Book

NEW YORK (UPI)—Random House has commissioned Matthew J. Bruccoli, an authority on Ernest Hemingway and F. Scott Fitzgerald, to write a 300,000-word biography of the late John O'Hara.

Bruccoli is a professor of English at the University of South Carolina and is editor of the Fitzgerald-Hemingway Annual. The book is scheduled for completion in 1972 and will be edited by Albert Erskine, O'Hara's editor.

Ecology Backers Unearth Auto; Will Be Crushed

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—The same San Jose State ecology activists who buried a new Ford Maverick in February dug it up Thursday.

The students unearthed the car with a large crane and placed the hulk of the once shiny body on a flat bed truck.

It was sent off to a scrap metal company to be crushed into a compact block of metal to be used as the cornerstone for the first rapid transit station in the county.

Project leader Rich Beadle said "the original concept was good, as far as it went. We pointed out, somewhat sensationally, the ecological evils of the automobile and the necessity for an alternative mode of transportation. However, we didn't go far enough."

Beadle said crushing the car represented the need for a yes vote on a local measure that would establish a rapid transit system.

Besides, the school had asked that the car be dug up so that the space could be used for an air conditioning unit.

Guild Members That Weave Together

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Tamalpais Weavers' Guild is celebrating its 10th anniversary this fall — thanks largely to the efforts of its founder and first president, Mrs. Betty Holcombe of San Anselmo.

"On our 10th anniversary," Mrs. Holcombe says, "there are still 12 of the original 31 members active in the guild, which I organized by inviting students in the late Marianne Rauschnabel's weaving class at the College of Marin to a pot luck picnic at the home of Mrs. Stanley Purdom in Nicasio. Our first official meeting was held on Aug. 16 at the College of Marin, and in September membership was opened to all interested."

REVIEWING THE accomplishments of the guild, Mrs. Holcombe said, "The guild has participated in the Conference of Northern California Handweavers annually since 1961 and was also hostess to the conference in 1963 and 1968. Since that year we have participated in the fair at the Marin Art and Garden Center, winning quite a few blue ribbons for our garden, including the top award this year for 'Best of Show in Amateur Gardens.' We have also participated in the Sausalito, Mill Valley and San Francisco Art Festivals.

"Though our main purpose is to promote interest and high standards in weaving, we are a very congenial social group, with special parties planned in the summer and at Christmas that include husbands and friends.

"We are eager to welcome new members," Mrs. Holcombe says, "and invite anyone interested to attend our meetings. We meet the third Tuesday of each month at 7:45 p.m. at Terra Linda High School. Mrs. Richard Kirkendall is our current president."

One is not likely to meet anyone devoted more single-mindedly to a hobby than Betty Holcombe, who keeps abreast of weaving interest through membership in many weaving guilds in this country, Canada, Australia and England.

LOCALLY SHE is a member of the Gravander Spinners in Mill Valley, where she formerly lived, the Loom and Shuttle Guild of the Bay Area and the Cruickshank Tapestry Weavers, which meets in Marin.

She organized the last group, naming it, as a result of a workshop with the late Ronald Cruickshank, for the Scottish weaver who worked in both Gobelin and Aubusson factories in France.

"We use the Gobelin techniques and vertical looms in our work in this guild," Betty says.

The weaving enthusiast has developed her skill under leading weavers, such as Malin Selander of Sweden, Else Regensteiner of the Chicago Art Institute, Stanley Zielinski of Quebec, Canada, Polly Yuri of Lake Almanor, Ida Grae of Mill Valley, and at the Penland School of Crafts in North Carolina and the College of Marin.

SHE HAS been a chairman of the Conference of Northern California Weavers and was co-chairman and program chairman for the conference in San Francisco in 1968.

Presently on the board of directors of the new National Weaving Organization, Handweavers Guild of America, she is chairman of its steering committee.

"I'm a weaver, spinner, dyer and my newest hobby is bobbin lace," Betty says. "I hope eventually to form a Marin group of " 'Bobbin Lacers'."

MRS. BETTY Holcombe, founder and first president of the Tamalpais Weavers' Guild, which is celebrating its 10th anniversary, is a leader in many weaving organizations. She is working on an abstract black and white tapestry using the same techniques as those employed in the famed Gobelin tapestries.

Marin Women

Status Of Asian Women Compared

A report on the status of women in Japan, Korea and the Philippines was of special interest in her talk on international problems given by Mrs. Russell E. Wallace yesterday afternoon for the Sausalito Woman's Club.

World problems chairman both the California State and national organizations of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Wallace, who lives in Mill Valley, escorted the group of 26 American university women who joined members of the International Federation of University Women for seminars and a tour of the above named countries and Hong Kong.

The women they visited were the "Creme De La Creme of their countries," she said, for only a small percentage of women go to college, and most of them had master's or doctorate degrees and were leaders in government, education, business, law or medicine.

For the most part, women in Japan are thought of as "delicate sweet-scented flowers who are always at the man's side, largely in the home," she remarked.

The role of women in Japan and Korea, she noted, is affected by the social structure throughout the Orient that is built on inequality rather than equality, according to a higher and lower echelon for all aspects of life and relationships. This, she believes, is a result of Confucianism.

SHE SAID the distinctions are integrated into the language, which expresses by different verb endings and other means such relationships as younger-older, boss-secretary and the like. She found there is even a special "women's language," which has more expressions of politeness which men do not use. It is a more flowery dialect, she said.

Mrs. Wallace said she was amused by one fourth generation Christian woman — about 45 to 55 — who said, "I do not use the women's language. My friends are shocked about this."

Mrs. Wallace explained that Japanese women seem to want to be modern and to be modern means to emulate the United States.

"This woman," she observed, "said she was very Americanized. I didn't ask her what she meant by Americanized, fearing it might mean being quite rude and leaving out all the polite expressions."

The women, especially a group of members of the Japanese Association of University Women who met the Americans graciously at 5:30 a.m., impressed her with how open, friendly and emotional they were.

"They were, however, very touchy about the lack of information about Japan among their visitors since they knew everything about the United States." Mrs. Wallace attributed this to the early show of English in their schools, the American post-war occupation and the fact that so many were graduates of American universities.

Her conclusion was that the role of women in Japan is changing but more slowly than might appear from the first glimpse you get of Japan.

"THE POSITION of Korean women," Mrs. Wallace said,

Little Goblins Of Tiburon And Belvedere Are In For A Treat

By MOLLY MARIN

A big open house for little goblins (just those who live in Belvedere or Tiburon and are under 10 years old) will be held on Halloween at Mr. and Mrs. Mark Noble's home on Crest Road in Belvedere. For the fifth year, they will welcome costumed spooks to bob for apples and then dry off with a huge stack of towels, taste the apple cider, converse with a skeleton which rises from an old trunk (voice by Mark Noble), visit a witch brewing a cauldron of dry ice and explore a spook house.

Holly Noble, who will serve hot cider and brandy to the goblins' parents, explains the haunt evolved as a means of attracting more Halloween fun to her house, because the first Halloween they lived on Crest Road only a few children came. About 300 people are expected on Saturday night!

Thinking of her daughters, 4 and 6, Holly says, "Adults forget how much Halloween means to children, but it's almost as important as Christmas."

A WITCH will serve the punch from a steaming cauldron when the children who live in the apartment building at 260 Canal Street in San Rafael arrive for the building's third

ANIMAL PORTRAITIST

She Insists On A Live Interview

By PAT BALMES

Lily Fast, nationally known animal portraitist, moved to Marin last May and began to paint horses for the first time. She is exhibiting her oil paintings of Marin horses at the 1970 Grand National Horse Show at the Cow Palace this week.

"You get to know horses if you sit around on them and move them when you're little," she says.

Teaching herself to paint horses, Lily studied them in their pastures and made clay models to experiment with bone structure.

"HORSES' BONES cannot be disguised by fur, as dogs' sometimes are," says Mrs. Carl Fast, who until now has specialized in dog portraits.

"I want to get an impression of the horse's personality," the artist explains. "I insist upon seeing the animal."

She trudged through deep mud to interview a stolid black Morgan.

"I make a polaroid picture and then a pencil sketch. From these I paint the oil portrait in my studio in my home."

Lily takes her finished painting back to the pasture to check the color of the coat. She finds horses are quiet in their homes. Her dog subjects were much more nervous when brought to her studio.

ONE OF Lily's first horse portraits hangs in the office of the San Francisco police chief. Her subject was Fred, a Morgan prized by the San Francisco mounted police for his courage in dashing into the surf to save drowning swimmers. In April, 1962 Sgt. Frank Rafferty dashed Fred, the surfer, into the ocean to throw a lariat to a 15-year-old swimmer. Fred dragged the boy back to the beach.

LILY FAST puts finishing strokes on an oil painting of two Arabian horses owned by Mrs. Ted Draper of Santa Rosa, which is part of her exhibit this week at the 1970 Grand National Horse Show at the Cow Palace. A nationally-known portraitist of almost every kind of animal, Lily moved to Marin in May. Here she became interested in specializing in horses.

DEAR HELEN:

With Christmas not too far away, perhaps you could print something about the relative value of gifts. Our society tends to place a monetary value on everything, so it's no wonder kids pick it up. Have you noticed how every kiddy television program promotes the most expensive toys, dolls, games — even cereal — not necessarily the best?

We operate a foster home and on birthdays and holidays we run into the problem of how to help these youngsters select gifts for their families — with whom there are often close ties. Now, maybe the fact that they've been kicked around a bit has something to do with it, but we're constantly surprised at how much emphasis they place on the monetary tag.

The other day our little foster daughter was worrying about Christmas presents for her mother and dad and six brothers and sisters, all scattered in foster homes. I suggested that she get busy early and make cookies or candy. Helen, she laughed in my face. She would rather not give anything, she said, than "cheap homemade stuff." (As you know foster money is limited —we can afford ingredients for baking, but not $5.00 gifts.)

For years our own family has had fun with Christmas cooking. Some of our nicest memories are of opening those boxes of fancy gingerbread men and other treats. Should I try to persuade our foster child that gifts from the heart are better than those from the pocketbook? My husband says we have offered, and been refused, so now we should forget it and let her search for store-bought things she can't afford. We love her as one of our own. At age 11, are her values set beyond change? — OLD-FASHIONED

DEAR O.F.:

Argument doesn't rub in values, but you'll be surprised how fast they rub off on your foster daughter as she watches the fun of Christmas giving at your house.

I'll bet a gingerbread man to a snickerdoodle that by the middle of December she'll be as involved in holiday cooking as you are. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm shocked at you, Helen. You seemed to condone an adulterous live-in arrangement between a soon-to-be-divorced man and the woman he intends to marry "when he's free." When the man's father wouldn't speak to him because of this, you agreed with his mother that the attitude is hypocritical, inasmuch as he had always liked and approved of his son's future bride.

Adultery is adultery, whether it's an "adult decision that harms no one vitally" or not. That father has more sense than the rest of you combined. — SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED:

Sorry, you read me wrong. To condone or condemn wasn't the question, since the decision had already been made.

I simply agreed with the wife that her husband should not expect to resume friendship after the marriage with a son he had all but disowned before. Snubs aren't that easily erased.

How much less hypocritical to say, "While I'm disturbed about your choice, I care for both of you very much . . . and here's to an early wedding! Right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This letter about father and son marrying daughter and wife reminds me of "Mark Twain's Puzzle": He wrote — I married a widow with a grown daughter. My father fell in love with my step-daughter and married her, thus becoming my son-in-law and my step-daughter became my mother because she was my Dad's wife.

My wife gave birth to a son, which was, of course, my father's brother-in-law and my uncle for he was the brother of my step-mother. My father's wife became the mother of a son. He was, then, my brother and also my grandchild for he was the son of my daughter.

Accordingly, my wife was a grandmother because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time. And as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather — I AM MY OWN GRANDPA READER

"is much farther behind than that of the Japanese women. The birth rate in Korea is one of the highest in the world. The women have large families, not because of religion but because women with large families are traditionally honored. Birth control programs are making headway very slowly.

"It is an agrarian culture. Daughters are put over the wall of orphanages to be brought up until they can come back to work on the farm or get money for the family somehow."

Mrs. Wallace described one young woman, a Fulbright scholar at the University of Chicago, who had been forced to come back to a marriage arranged by her family — just like the Chinese system.

"Fortunately her husband was a little bit more modern," she commented. "When she had two sons, the family was allowed to have their own home. Our meeting that she attended was the first time she had been allowed out at night."

Many bright young women like this have received help through the international fellowships program of the AAUW. The situation was somewhat different in the Philippines, Mrs. Wallace found.

THERE THE average family has seven children, and there are many of 13 to 15, she said, but women have a much greater role than in other Asian countries. — MPS

Computer Monitor Tells Company To Keep Hemlines Below Knee

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — A fashion firm that follows the dictates of customers via continuous computerized-monitoring is keeping hemlines over the knee, at the midcalf, and, sometimes, down to the floor for spring.

The obedience to computer reports on customer tastes was reflected throughout the spring collection of the Joan Leslie Fashions Inc., designed by Kasper.

John Pomerantz, president of the Joan Leslie division of Leslie Fay Inc., a fashion conglomerate with nine subdivisions, said the midcalf and below-the-knee hem lengths were also in the Jasper designated fall and winter offerings.

"We've been great," he said, making note of the fact that this variety of lengths hasn't hurt business in the current fashion season.

Pomerantz said in its price range, $75 to $225, the firm is the biggest in the market.

"Via our computers we know what is selling and what is selling well in various sections of the country," he said.

He indicated that the modus operandi must be correct for the firm's stock hasn't slumped like those of some other fashion houses.

For spring, the Kasper collection reflects also the effect of flower children in their granny dresses — shaping up as one influence for late afternoon and evening clothes.

The high necked, long sleeved, floor sweeping dresses are reminiscent of styles worn by women at the turn of the century. In other fashion shows during the last several weeks, the old fashioned style made new fashioned by the flower children cropped up repeatedly. Fashion accents with these and other country girl outfits included white boots with floral patterns appliqued on them, shoulderwide straw hats—and more.

Evening Handbags

Handbag designer Hilde Walborg believes in sending off evening dresses in a blaze and she has created a group of glittering bags to do just that. A cyclinder, both small and large, is completely paved in rhinestones and has a lift-up lid that is a delicate expression of open-work metal. A pouch, also rhinestone paved, has a lift-up frame for easy interior access and a rounded fluid appearance.

Gold Meters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Among the more than 38 million residential gas customers of utility companies, there probably are fewer than 100 customers with genuine gold-plated meters. According to meter-maker Rockwell Manufacturing Company, gold meters are installed only to honor "milestone" customers. These may be the 10,000th 100,000th or half-millionth customer added to company lines, depending on the size and age of the utility involved.

ON BEING BLACK

First Black On The Job Is Expected To Be Perfect

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

Black firsts are happening in all fields. The first black big league quarterback, the first black mayor, the first black congresswoman, the first black television series star, the first black beauty queen, the first black Nobel Prize winner, the first black President (whoops, scratch that last one).

Locally, there are such firsts as the first black salesman in a department store, the first black secretary for a local firm, the first black secretary for a local firm, the first black teacher or principal in a school and the first black family in a neighborhood.

Black firsts are an interesting phenomenon, an attention-drawing special attraction. Like the dancing bear in a side show. People watch this curiosity dance and are surprised and even applaud the fact that he performs — just like a human.

This should not be considered unusual, for we Americans have long applauded firsts — the first man to walk on the moon and so on. It just so happens (for obvious reasons) that America's firsts have been whites. Blacks, at this late date, are second firsts.

The fact that such a category exists says a great deal about the depth of our racial complex.

ONE CANNOT deny that firsts are necessary to get any project into motion. Not only that, firsts precede seconds, thirds and so on. So the need for black firsts cannot be dismissed.

But many of those who fall into the first-black category — unimpressed with the distinction — made some interesting statements about their prestigious positions:

A secretary — "My coworkers are overly polite and cautious around me. It makes me nervous."

A salesman — "Everyone is waiting for me to make a mistake. Man, I wouldn't give them the satisfaction. During business hours I definitely TCB (take care of business)!"

A major league ball player — "I know the second or third black can do just as well as I'm doing. Maybe better. I guess that's what all the black-white hullaballoo is about. Whites know this, too."

A manager — "I still hate the thought of white paternalism. It's kind of hard on your ego. Even when you're prepared and qualified, you can't help but wonder if you are just that sought after 'black ornament.'"

AN ENTERTAINER — "The responsibility to other blacks is overwhelming. When I know my people dig me, I think twice about what I do and say. I'd hate to let these people down."

A young executive — "I'm an odd cat. I do my job and well, I think. But there's no one else — black or white — out from my mold."

There's a general feeling here that "how I perform may affect the chances of those blacks coming after me." These folks don't want others to form opinions about all blacks based upon them.

It's unfortunate that society has placed such a heavy burden upon the shoulders of these black firsts.

"Girls as Human Beings" will be the topic of Charles Lavaroni, who will speak at the Thursday meeting of the Tamalpais District of Camp Fire Girls and its leadership training group. The meeting will take place at 9:30 a.m. at the Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

All Camp Fire Girl leaders and interested parents are invited to attend.

Director of teacher training at Dominican College, Lavaroni has been a teacher, principal and assistant superintendent in public schools.

District chairman Mrs. Donald Miller will preside. Mrs. Henry Bigall, chairman of the leadership training group, arranged the program. Assisting are Mmes. Jack Feldman, Blue Bird chairman; Gerald Gustafson, Camp Fire chairman; and Robert Stager, junior high chairman.

TWENTY-YEAR pins have been presented to seven members of the Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary 7816, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Mrs. Ward L. Peters of Carl H. Krey Auxiliary 1123 of Vallejo made the presentations.

Mmes. Marie Westlund, Ralph Eckhardt, George Scherba, Charles Thompson, Grover Owen and Harold Harker, all charter members of the auxiliary were given the pins.

J. F. HUFFAKER and C. W. Kuhn will be guest speakers at the Weeders and Seeders Group of the Novato Newcomers Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Carl Ferreira in Novato at noon Monday.

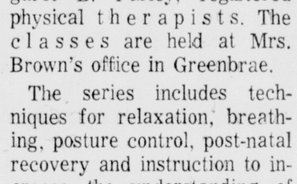
Their topic will be "How We Grow Our Vegetables" and chairmen are Mrs. Daniel Lyons and Mrs. Carl Ferreira.

"LIVE AND LEARN" is the theme of the Tuesday evening program planned for the November seminar of Operation Lace. Guest Speaker will be Glen Roberts of the Redwood Empire Insurance Agency, whose subject is "Telephone Techniques." Another special feature will be a workshop on Lexicology by Ione Wilson, member of San Rafael Toastmistress Club.

The meeting, sponsored jointly by the Insurance Women of Marin and Sonoma Counties, will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Bank of Marin in San Rafael.

NOVATO GARDEN Club members have chartered a special bus to attend the annual holiday show at the Oakland Auditorium on Monday and will leave the Community House at 9 a.m.

Reservations are being accepted by Mrs. H. B. Beadle, bus tour chairman. Members will stop at Jack London Square for lunch.



The club will have an entry in the show and three members will also have individual exhibits.

A five foot tree made entirely of the dried heads of lily of the Nile will be flocked and have ornament on it. The tree will also be exhibited later at Novato's holiday show on Dec. 4 and 5. Mrs. George Whitten heads the committee working on this exhibit.

Mmes. Fielder Nordstrom, Anthony Jurkus and Mrs. Whitten will have exhibits in the miniature tree division.

EDUCATION FOR Childbirth announces a nine week series of classes in November for expectant parents. There will be a Tuesday and Thursday evening class beginning next week. Both classes meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Instructors will be Mrs. Gunhild H. Brown and Mrs. Margaret B. Farley, registered physical therapists. The classes are held at Mrs. Brown's office in Greenbrae.

The series includes techniques for relaxation, breathing, posture control, post-natal recovery and instruction to increase the understanding of the processes of pregnancy, labor and birth. Husbands are invited to attend six of the sessions, which include films on childbirth.

Expectant parents must have written permission from their physicians to enroll. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Brown's office.

THE MARIN County Women's Bowling Association will sponsor a luncheon party Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael.

Proceeds will go to the Bowlers Victory Legion which provides wheelchairs, therapy materials and recreation equipment for Veteran Hospitals. Mrs. Ronald Baccei is the committee chairman and is assisted by Mmes. Al Hoffmann, Herb Twillman, Marion Ray, and Tom Chu.

Extent And Demand Of Day Care Centers In Marin Told In Report

Throwing a spotlight on Marin's need for adequate child care facilities, newly-formed Marin chapter of National Council of Jewish Women announced results of their study describing how young children of working mothers are cared for in Marin and extent of the demand for facilities.

Mrs. Sydney Bloch of Mill Valley, who has a master's degree in public health education, compiled the analysis. Her findings will be added to a national survey conducted by 100,000 council volunteers across the country. It will be presented in December to the White House Conference on Children and Youth by Mrs. Muriel Dublin Keyserling, former head of the Women's Bureau of U.S. Department of Labor. NCJW is the only non-professional group invited to submit material.

Mrs. Bloch's report points out a phenomenon which seems to be occurring in Marin since 1959, a polarization of population into high and low income families. Possibly due to high cost of individual home ownership, she says, it is causing middle income families to disappear. Working mothers from homes where two parents work contribute to the high incomes and the need for more child care facilities. Workers from one-parent homes have an even greater need, the report states.

According to her report there are three types of day care facilities in Marin: Marin County Childrens' Centers, licensed day care facilities and group day care programs.

The director of Marin County's Children's Center pre-school programs, Joseph Denhart, heads three sections. Head Start, a federally-financed program available to three and four-year-olds from low income families, cares for pre-schoolers four hours daily during the school year. No fee is charged families receiving public assistance.

His second section is State Pre-school Education. Certified by the Department of Social Social Services, it is a state Head Start program with similar eligibility.

The third section is Children's Centers which provide day care for children of working parents. About 10 per cent of Head Start children remain for the day care program.

About 150 children are served. The waiting list is long. This program is planned to enable low income parents to enter special training programs which will enable them to get off welfare. Eighty per cent of these children come from one-parent homes. For the most part parents are of low income or on assistance or entering special training programs. Children of public school teachers are eligible also. Cost is from five cents to 56 cents an hour, according to ability to pay. Centers are open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Bussing is coordinated with school districts where children study. The three Marin Centers are in Marin City, San Rafael and Novato. The San Rafael center's plant is so small they can offer no Head Start program, only day care.

Day care at Children's Centers for two children for a month might cost about $40. Denhart points out that two bills are now before the State Assembly to drastically cut funds to day care centers, which he believes are necessary because they are a bridge between being on assistance and working.

Since training programs for low income workers pay $1.65 per hour, private day care fees would be prohibitive, according to the report.

Day Care Centers do not take infants or sick children. Denhart feels the answer to day care problems may come from industry which is beginning to provide day care as a fringe benefit.

Marin's second type of facility is county licensed day care homes for less than 10 children. (There are numerous, but uncounted, women in every neighborhood who take care of children without benefit of licensing.) Fees are roughly $5 a day on drop-in or weekly basis. A low cost facility which would take infants is needed.

Day care homes are recruited by pamphlets left in public places. Applicants are interviewed, fill out applications and submit references. Their homes are inspected for fire safety. A medical report is submitted on husband and wife. Fingerprints of both are taken to check against child molestation records and drunk offenses files. Chest X-rays are taken. Applicants are questioned about attitudes on discipline and toilet training. But there are no education requirements. Licenses are renewed once a year. Two preannounced visits are made annually to the licensed home. There is no formalized training program for licensed women or basic health and food handling training.

"There are only three social workers for the whole county to supervise these day care mothers, in addition to their other social services duties," says Mrs. Bloch, who advocates more formalized training.

The third category, Group Day Care Programs, provides day care for 10 or more children. Programs are licensed by the State Department of Social Welfare which also regulates ordinary nursery schools. Full day care is given children of employed parents from morning to late afternoon. Extended Day care refers to care for school-age children before and after school.

State standards for these larger day care facilities require more legal and financial responsibility, more rigid requirements of physical plant and qualifications for staff. The "going rate" is about $100 a month for full day care. In Marin in June, 1970 there were 36 day nursery schools; only five provided all-day care.

The council emphasizes the need for more all-day care facilities including infant care programs. They plan to be the catalyst to bring all interested in day care together for a workshop, according to president of the Marin chapter, Mrs. Murray Rayden. — P.B.

Halloween Night Parties Planned

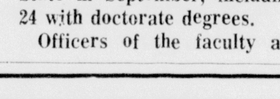
annual Halloween party Saturday.

Spooky green and black lights, ghosts, a scarecrow and Dracula will haunt, along with the witch, Mrs. Mary Green, who has been visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Robert Altomare, one of the organizers of the party.

Approximately 20 children from 2 to 12 years old will attend. Also involved in the party planning are Mrs. Joseph Emanuele, Mrs. Elizabeth Bourne and Mr. Altomare.



TRAVELING IN the Soviet Union, Mrs. Ursula McCarthy of San Rafael has visited the city of Samarkand and writes that the people are colorful in their native garb, warm and smiling.

"I strolled into a school yard at bell time," she writes, "and was invited in and had a delightful conversation with the principal and a 16-year-old student."

She stayed on the seventh floor of a three-day-old hotel with no working elevator or hot water yet — and even sometimes no cold water, she says.

NEW SONOMA State College faculty members and their spouses will be honored at a cocktail party Sunday from 4 to 7 p.m. at Los Robles Lodge in Santa Rosa.

The annual event is sponsored by the officers of the faculty. Sixty-two new faculty members came to Sonoma State in September, including 24 with doctorate degrees.

Officers of the faculty are Dr. Kenneth Marcus, chairman; Dr. Duncan Gillies, vice chairman; and Barbara Biebush, secretary.

MR. AND MRS. Albert F. Budde of Petaluma recently returned from a one-month tour of Europe, where they visited rural areas of France, Switzerland and Northern Italy.

DOUGLAS STUART Thompson of Claymont, Del., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart M. Thompson of San Rafael, will wed Ann Elizabeth Sloan of Newark, Del., Nov. 27 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Siler Sloan of Raleigh, N. C.

Mrs. William T. Stephen of San Rafael is the future bridegroom's grandmother. He is a graduate of Richmond Union High School and the University of California, received a Ph.D from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and was an instructor and did post doctoral study in chemistry at the University of California at San Diego. Douglas is a research physical chemist at the experimental station of the E. I. du-Pont de Nemours and Co. in Wilmington, Del.

The future bride is an assistant professor in the college of home economics at the University of Delaware.

CLAIRE E. POYNTER

Miss Poynter Is Engaged

Announcement of the engagement of Claire E. Poynter to Richard H. Dougan has been made by her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Poynter of San Rafael.

Claire is a graduate of San Rafael High School and attended the College of Marin. She is employed by Herb's Pool Service in San Rafael.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dougan of Nicasio and the brother of Sandy, Kathy and Bonnie Dougan. Mrs. Margaret Dougan of Bolinas is his grandmother.

A graduate of Terra Linda High School, he attended the College of Marin and is stationed at Ft. Rucker, Ala., with the Army.

Rising Property Tax, Welfare Cost Linked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported today that property taxes in 46 of California's 58 counties rose during the last fiscal year primarily because of rising welfare costs.

The tax hikes, Flournoy said in a statement, ran "as high as 56 per cent, with several over 40 per cent, and a 20 per cent increase common."

The controller said action must be taken at the state level "to direct these welfare costs away from the local property tax and bring about a more equitable distribution of the tax burden."

Flournoy said Yuba County reported the largest rate increase, $1.88, which pushed its rate to $5.21 per $100 assessed valuation—the highest in the state outside of the $12.82 total city-county rate applying to San Francisco.

Mariposa County dropped its rate 26 cents to lead the counties reporting decreases and to achieve the lowest rate among all the counties, $1.64.

Flournoy said other rate cuts were in Colusa, Del Norte, El Dorado, Lassen, Nevada, San Benito, Sierra and Tuolumne counties.

The rates were unchanged in Placer, Siskiyou and Tehama counties.

Crocodile Held On The Way Out

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Kenya's chief game warden says the African crocodile may soon go the way of the dodo and the bison unless poaching is contained in the Lake Rudolf area.

"Here we have several species of animals and birds, and unless poaching is controlled now, lots of them are going to disappear, especially crocodiles," said Peter Jenkins, passing through San Francisco on his way to a wildlife conference at Lake Tahoe.

Crocodiles are sought after for their hides.

Plea Of Guilty To LSD Charge

Edmund Peterson, 19, of Sonoma, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing LSD. A second count of having marijuana was dismissed.

Peterson, who had originally been accused of two felony counts, is to be sentenced on Dec. 11.

He was arrested last June while hitchhiking in Novato. Officers who picked him up on a traffic warrant said they found a bag of vegetable material as well as 24 pink tablets.

Innocent Pleas In Pot Case

Three men charged with possessing marijuana for sale arrested in raids on houses in Lagunitas and Sleepy Hollow Monday entered innocent pleas yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday for Ellsworth Roy Smith, 23, and Richard Evans Cannings, 27, both of no fixed address, and Earl James Pitchford, 29, of Lagunitas.

Durg agents said they seized over 150 kilos of marijuana in the raid as well as equipment which seemed to indicate the group may have been involved in dropping marijuana into Marin from airplanes.

Out of 23 religious albums made by Tennessee Ernie Ford, six have earned him gold records for high sales.

National Guard Slated To Protect Candidates

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan today said National Guardsmen have been called on to protect candidates on election night.

The governor told a news conference that the guards, who will be in plain clothes, were called "because of the general atmosphere and the threats from radical groups that are surrounding this particular period."

"There has been a strengthening of security for a great many people and this has been offered to our opponents also," he said.

"There is no general alerting of the guard," Reagan said. "I don't wish we should get into details."

He told newsmen that there have been threats "on the part of these radical groups nationwide" that election time "was going to be a time for increased activity on their part." He said the threats have been made "for over a year."

Asked if he took the threats seriously, Reagan said, "In the job I'm in I'd be a darned fool not to." He compared it to a bomb threat, saying, "It may be a phony, but who can ignore it? You have to empty the building and search."

No Charge Filed

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against David Brown, 23, of San Francisco, arrested Saturday in Mill Valley on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

ONE CANDIDATE WE CAN ALL AGREE ON

ROBERT smallman FOR JUDGE

Endorsed by Marin's leading newspapers . . .

DAILY Independent Journal Est. 1861
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

18 EDITORIAL PAGE San Rafael, Calif. Tuesday, October 20, 1970

Experience And Approach Qualify Smallman For Judge

Thirteen candidates entered the non-partisan primary scramble for the Marin Municipal Court judgeship being vacated at year's end by Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. From this confused and confusing contest, the two who emerged as top vote-getters for a November runoff were Robert A. Smallman and Ernest C. Zunino.

In the primary, it was exceedingly difficult to assess the candidates. Few issues developed among the 13, and with such a large field of contenders, those issues that appeared were not sufficiently explored.

Smallman and Zunino have now campaigned long enough so that issues have appeared, and where the two stand on them has become established. Still, many voters have not heard either candidate, do not know either candidate, and do not understand the workings of the municipal court.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT handles misdemeanor criminal cases. These are the cases carrying maximum penalties not to exceed one year in county jail. It also handles preliminary hearings on the more serious crimes, which go to superior court for trial. In addition, it is the traffic court — and traffic cases, principally parking tickets which scarcely ever go to trial, make up most of the amazing total of some 150,000 filings per year which pass through Marin Municipal Court.

Aside from traffic, the business of municipal court - the cases likely to come to trial — consists about half-and-half of misdemeanor criminal cases and of civil cases involving damages not to exceed $5,000. The bigger civil cases go to superior court.

A municipal court judge, then, needs experience in both civil and criminal matters, since he will handle about as many of one as of the other. Traffic cases, despite their volume, take up relatively little of the court's time.

SMALLMAN HAS BEEN in legal practice in Marin County for 18 years. He served two years as a deputy district attorney (prosecuting criminal cases) and five years as a deputy county counsel (handling civil cases for the county and the school districts).

Zunino has practiced law in Marin for six years, all as a deputy district attorney.

BOTH CANDIDATES feel that Marin judges have been too lenient.

Zunino's solution to this is simple. He would, he says, hand out tough sentences in his court, whatever the other judges did.

Smallman's solution is more practical. He would try to get all the municipal court judges to agree on more uniform and more severe sentencing. Otherwise, he points out, attorneys simply will get their cases transferred away from the one "tough judge."

Smallman also stresses the power of the judge to prevent delays that thwart justice — instead of contributing to them, as some Marin judges do. A judge does not have to delay trial to consider frivolous motions. He does not have to grant continuances just because the defense asks for them. Smallman feels (as does Chief Justice Warren E. Burger of the U.S. Supreme Court) that such delays destroy confidence in the legal process — besides needlessly overloading the courts.

IN HIS APPROACH to the job he seeks, Smallman shows greater understanding of its powers and its limitations that does Zunino.

Both on experience and on his approach to law, order and justice, Robert I. Smallman deserves election to the municipal court bench.

Ross Valley Reporter

THE PRACTICE OF ELECTING JUDGES, and sheriffs, fire chiefs, police chiefs, and county schools superintendents, is hopelessly out of date and against the best interests of John Doe. But here we are again, charged with filling a seat on the Marin Municipal bench, an appointment that should be made by some kind of non-partisan judicial council. Anyway, Robert Smallman gets our endorsement, overwhelmingly. Smallman is qualified for the job, and his opponent, Fairfax's Ernest Zunino, is not. Smallman has 18 years of law practice behind him, including the DA's office, county counsel's office, and a private law practice involving criminal, civil and municipal law. Zunino, an attorney for eight years, has worked only as a criminal prosecutor, but of course the Municipal courts have to handle all kinds of matters, most of them unconnected with criminal law.

PACIFIC SUN - October 21, 1970

Sun endorses Smallman for judge

The Sun endorses the candidacy of Robert Smallman for municipal judge in the November election. In doing so the Sun joins a substantial list of Smallman's opponents in the June primary who have also endorsed him. They include Leonard Bjorklund, Howard Morehouse, Charles Best, Harry Rice and Frank Solomon.

Among Smallman's principal qualifications is the fact that he has served on all four sides of the legal fence. As a deputy district attorney he prosecuted criminal cases, as a deputy county counsel he prosecuted civil cases and as a practicing attorney he has defended in both criminal and civil actions. As a consequence Smallman would bring to the bench an understanding of varied approaches to court work.

Smallman is qualified to serve as judge. His opponent is not. The most charitable thing one can say of Ernest Zunino is that he is not of judicial stature.

The Terra Linda NEWS
Vote Smallman for judge

The unfortunate events this fall at the Marin County Hall of Justice spotlighted by national news coverage has thrust the judgeship election into the critical category.

Robert A. Smallman is the candidate who seems best equipped to inspire confidence and provide judicial leadership at a time when the preservation of law and order and the efficiency of the court system have come under attack from all quarters.

He combines a mature appreciation for law and order with a clear understanding of the problems and causes that precede an individual's courtroom appearance to defend his innocence. Smallman believes that the American judicial system is sound and that breakdowns in its efficiency to deliver verdicts without intolerable delays rests with the failure of judges themselves to be decisive.

He is dedicated to improving the courts by exercising stern, but fair, judgement that will exercise the weight of society's disapprobation for lawbreakers. His 18 years of broad legal experience in all facets of the law - criminal, civil and municipal - including service as a deputy district attorney, give him a distinctive background in both prosecution and defense which his opponent lacks.

In Smallman, Marin County voters have the opportunity to vote for a man who combines the qualities of a firm judge with a fine human being, dedicated to the U.S. Constitution and Constitutional safeguards for the individual. Smallman deserves your support.

MILL VALLEY RECORD-

For judge of the municipal court we cast our vote for Robert A. Smallman, an attorney who has had diversified experience in the field of law which should qualify him as a fair judge. It is perhaps significant that several of the candidates for the judgeship who lost in the primaries are supporting Smallman for the post they wanted.

CLAUDINE CARLSON
To sing Tuesday

Claudine Carlson To Give Concert For Dominicans

Mezzo soprano Claudine Carlson will present a concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

The concert will be a benefit for the Isaac Stern Music Scholarship Fund established by the violinist at Dominican College in 1962.

The Paris-born singer is a member of the New York City and Washington, D.C. Operas and the Manhattan Opera Theatre. She divides her time between the East and West Coasts, performing in oratorios, song cycles and operas. She has appeared internationally with orchestras from Japan and France to Hollywood and with the San Francisco Symphony under Arthur Fielder.

$9.5 Million Airport Called Pentagon Waste

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon wasted more than $9.5 million in a crash program to build an airfield in South Vietnam in 1966, the General Accounting Office has charged in a report to Congress.

The money was wasted in the construction of a fighter plane base at Tuy Hoa, the report said. It quoted the Defense Department as saying it departed from normal construction procedures because the base was urgently needed during the American buildup in Vietnam. Pushed to completion within a year, the project cost $52 million.

The accounting office said the waste resulted from duplication of construction equipment already on hand in Vietnam, from purchase of equipment without competitive bids, and from contractors' fees that were double the going rate in Southeast Asia.

FAMILY

"It's A Mad, Mad, Mad World" — Five strangers learn of hidden wealth from a dying gangster. This triggers the greed within each and a hilarious carnival of chases ensues. Fantastic slapstick comedy with huge cast of characters.

"2001: Space Odyssey" — Far reaches of outer space are explored in this highly imaginative science-fiction production. Over-long but astounding sights and sounds. It is subject to any interpretation the viewer may put on it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Adam at 6 A.M." — A film about young people, made by young people presents this drama about a young man's quest for a more meaningful way of life. It captures something of the gap and polarities dividing us as a nation.

"Airport" — Outstanding star-studded cast in this gripping story of the working of a large airport during a paralyzing blizzard. Build up very intense and may be too exciting for the younger children.

"Dr. Zhivago" — With magnificent scenery and music the story of Dr. Zhivago's life in Russia during the revolution is told in flash back. A momumental version of prize winning novel.

"Grand Prix" — The lives and loves of four international racing drivers are contracted as film follows them through a season of racing. Very long but superbly photographed.

"Jenny" — An unwed pregnant woman and a man reclassified by Draft Board decide on a marriage of convenience. She does not fit in with his artistic, pot smoking friends so the quarreling begins.

"Monte Walsh" — That time in American history when Eastern progress came rolling over the old wild West. It is a serio-comic study of lonely dispossessed men with no job market for their skills.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. A strong film makes use of violence and frequent profanity.

"Sicilian Clan" — Head of a Mafia clan arranges a jail break. The contrast between their profession and personal morals is well dramatized. Film travels slowly over too familiar roads. English subtitles.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bird with Crystal Plumage" — In this Italian made film one terrifying sequence after another creates sustained terror and horror as a psychopathic killer with a knife stalks his women victims. Some very bloody death scenes.

"Blood Rose" — The leading character is an eccentric painter and botanist who specializes in beautiful women and plants that are poisonous to touch. He wife is disfigured and goes insane. Lovely young women are lured to the chateau to provide living skin for transplants, etc. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"C.C. and Company" — Motorcyclist is caught between two worlds when the degenerate gang he rides with turns against him after he falls in love with a high-fashion photographer. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Lovers and Other Strangers" — Amusing, well acted comedy about a couple who have been roommates and decide to marry. A series of vignettes about their relative's marital affairs are inter cut into the wedding preparations. Bedroom scenes abundant.

"Waterhold #3" — Crime pays off well in this offbeat, bawdy satire of the great American western. A man whose motto is "get what you want before the other fellow does" does just that. Lively cast supplies a steady stream of unabashedly sexy humor.

"Passion of Anna" — A compelling story, well acted and masterfully photographed. Ingmar Bergman crystallized the basix dilemmas of existence in a complicated relationship of four complex people on an isolated island. English titles.

ADULTS ONLY

"Boston Strangler" — Semi-documentary film deals with investigation leading to the arrest of a psychopath who mutilated and murdered 13 women in Boston between 1962 & 64. Grim subject treated with restraint.

"Joe" — Chilling but excellent tragi-comedy about today's dangerous polarization of life styles. Language and explicit sex shocking, but ring regrettably true as do film's implications about violence in America. Memorable performances.

"M-A-S-H" — Hillarious, subtle anti-war comedy of three army surgeons who develop outlandish life-styles to survive the gore that passes before their eyes. Sex, nudity and profanity.

"Stolen Kisses" — Sophisticated French film about a young man, a misfit, who finally gains maturity through many failures and experiences.

"Thomas Crown Affair" — A sophisticated tale of a female insurance sleuth becoming an intimate companion of a thrill seeking millionaire to trap him for masterminding robberies of banks.

Ross Players Set New Play

"Absence of a Cello," a comedy popular on Broadway and in London last year, will open a run on the Ross Valley Players stage Nov. 13.

Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through Dec. 5 in the Barn at Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross. Mona Horwitz will direct.

The play by Ira Wallach details the complications encountered by a music-loving scientist trying to convince a potential corporate employer that he is no frivolous "effete intellectual."

Artists' Workshop To Open Show On Sunday

Eighteen members of the Dorothy Williams Artists' Workshop in Kentfield will open a month-long exhibit Sunday at Peacock Gap Country Club. Works will be shown in a wide variety of styles and media.

Hours for the gallery and restaurant are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Low Work Bidder

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO —Low bidder at $149,782 for reconstructing four-tenths miles of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Route 17 and the west gate of San Quentin State Prison was Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael, the California Division of Highways has reported.

THIEVERY?

Trumpeting About A Brash Bray

The donkey stole the elephant.

That was the indignant charge yesterday by the vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, Elizabeth Rowen of San Rafael.

What angered her was what she termed the unauthorized use of the Republican Party's official symbol on a mailer for a Democratic candidate. The stylized symbol of the elephant, with three stars on its back, was copyrighted and patented by the Republican National Committee, and its use required written permission from the national committee, she said.

The symbol was used on a mailer from a group calling itself Republicans for Responsible Government, and backing the election of Michael R. Peevey, Democratic nominee for state Senate.

James Dougan, of San Rafael, chairman of the group, conceded that he did not have any permission to use the symbol, but argued no copyright or patent had been infringed upon because it was in black and white only, whereas it is in color on official Republican Party literature. Deletion of the colors, he said, was supposed to have made it clear that there was no official Republican approval of his group's backing of Peevey.

Symphony Guild Auction: Dinner Party With Tullah

An evening with Tullah Hanley, the millionaire belly dancer who donated part of her fabulous art collection to the De Young Museum, will be the most extraordinary of many things to be sold in a public auction Nov. 7 at the Babcock Mansion in San Rafael.

"The Whole Works" auction starting at 6 p.m. is a major fund-raising project sponsored by the Marin Symphony Guild in support of its many activities. Entertainment, unusual services and whimsies, as well as objets d'art, will be offered according to the cochairmen, Mrs. Alan Jarach and Mrs. John Collette.

Buyer of the evening with Tullah must agree to give a dinner party for her as guest of honor. She will bring her own Indian band and do her specialty dance.

Among unique services to be auctioned for private parties or clubs are performances by musical groups, such as a trio composed of Jean and Lucien Mitchell and Charles Meacham, a program of Scandinavian music featuring Mabel Pittenger, a 10-piece dance band led by Meacham and the Big Time Operators, a barbershop quartet.

Extraordinary things to be auctioned will be consultations with psychiatrists, interior decorators and architects; drawing of a will, a vasectomy, a gourmet dinner cooked in the home, a 10-foot garden sculpture; a pie, cake, soup or casserole every month for a year; and a chance to conduct the Marin Symphony in one number in its annual spring pops concert.

Also auctioned will be a guided horseback ride, a dinner for 20 with entertainment, use for a weekend of ski houses and a tennis lesson by tennis pro Barry Mac Kay.

Music by the Las Galinas Sanitary District Non-Marching Band will be the kick-off for the event, and other entertainment will be marches played by the 35-member Terra Linda Band.

The Third floor of the 25-room mansion at 16 Culloden Park road will be a cabaret with entertainment by folk singer Betsy Chapman, the Sweet Adelines and the Big Time Operators.

Special prizes offered will be a ski weekend in Squaw Valley, two tickets to an Arthur Rubenstein concert and a bidet.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Harold Becker, 226 Magnolia Avenue, San Rafael.

$10,183 Robbery Of Bank America Branch

HARBOR CITY (UPI)—A Bank of America branch here was robbed of $10,183 Thursday.

Police said two bandits entered the bank through a rear door shortly before noon and demanded money from a teller. The bandits, apparently unarmed, fled in a red automobile.

Unmanned Satellite Launched By Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today orbited an unmanned earth satellite, Cosmos 375, the news agency Tass said.

The craft was placed into an elliptical orbit ranging from 1345 miles to 333 miles above the earth. Tass said it was making one complete revolution every 112.4 minutes at an angle of 63 degrees to the equator.

Invading Bandit Kills Bartender

LINWOOD (UPI)—A shotgun-wielding bandit walked into a bar here early this morning, lined the patrons up against a wall and killed the bartender when he tried to resist, police said.

Clifford A. Wilkinson, 45, the bartender at the Clover Room, reached for a sawed-off pool cue when the bandit had his back turned. The gunman wheeled and allegedly fired once, the blast catching Wilkinson in the face, neck and chest, killing him outright.

Police said the man took about $50 from the seven partrons, and another $250 from the cash register. He allegedly clubbed patron Joe Williams, 54, across the head with the butt of the gun and escaped out the rear door.

Silver Harmonica Worth $500

SINGAPORE (UPI) —Hong Ching Wing, 36, owns a 13½-ounce solid silver harmonica worth $500 and claimed to be one of the three of its kind in the world.

The two others are believed to be owned by professional harmonica players Tommy Reilly of Britain and Sigmond Groven of Norway.

War Critic Belittles Nixon's Troop Pullout

A free lance writer, who covered the Vietnam war for 18 months, last night called the United States' continued involvement in Indo-China "an exercise in all-American idiocy."

The writer, Helen Lawlor Emmerich, had been scheduled to speak jointly with Tevenick Koujakian, but ended up speaking alone when the expert on China employed by the Stanford Research Institute failed to appear.

Mrs. Emmerich, who said she trained for several months with South Vietnamese troops and made five combat jumps with paratroopers during her 18 months overseas as a free-lance writer, blamed the U.S. involvement on ". .glib information officers and military 'lifters' " who are misleading the citizens and government officials on the war's status.

Speaking to a slim turnout of about 30 persons at the College of Marin, Mrs. Emmerich — who says she has spent "more time on the front lines than most GIs" — said she was "100 per cent behind any young man who resfuses to put on a uniform that represents the U.S. military."

She said she would support her 22-year-old son, recently classified 1-A, in his decision to leave the country rather than be drafted.

She attacked President Richard Nixon's troop pullout, saying that there are 14 support troops for every combat soldier in Vietnam. "Therefore, its easy to withdraw lots of troops without really affecting the actual fighting war," she said.

Mrs. Emmerich's appearance was sponsored by the Marin Professionals for Peace, headed by Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt of Ross. The group formed after the U.S. invasion of Cambodia.

Conviction On Manslaughter

SANTA MONICA (UPI)—A former California Highway Patrolman was convicted of voluntary manslaughter Thursday in the stabbing of a 50-year-old woman.

John R. Rupert, 26, who was a CHP officer for 18 months, was convicted of the slaying of Mrs. Mary McNeil. He was also found guilty of assault in the beating of Mrs. McNeil's daughter Linda, 22. He reportedly hit her with a coffee pot.

Superior Court Judge Lawrence J. Rittenband set a Nov. 19 sentencing date for Rupert.

Measure A's Author Is Not Forest

An advertisement for Joseph A. Forest, Democratic candidate for state Assembly, claims that Forest is the "author" of Measure A, the peace referendum, but this is not accurate, his boss said yesterday.

Forest is a deputy under County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who said Anne West of San Anselmo had written the measure calling for troop withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

When the board of supervisors asked the county counsel to draft the measure, Forest did the drafting and therefore is the "draftsman" for Measure A, explained Maloney.

The question of authorship was raised by Mrs. West because she is afraid measure A will be taken as a partisan issue.

"I am grateful that candidates on both sides of the political fence have endorsed Measure A, and I make this correction in the hope that voters will continue to consider it on its merits," said Mrs. West.

She said her statement is nothing personal against Forest. "In fact, I'm going to vote for him. But I just wanted to make sure Measure A would remain nonpartisan."

Mammoth Cave in Kentucky played an important part in the War of 1812, providing saltpeter to make gunpowder.

Aide Reports Red Tape Is Hurting HUD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is a bureaucratic weakling in urban renewal projects, a federal official said today.

Norman V. Watson, acting assistant HUD secretary for renewal and housing management, said the department has been choked by red tape. Watson said major reforms are needed, if HUD is to meet the critical needs of cities.

Watson said there are so many legislative and administrative restrictions to follow in considering urban renewal proposals that flexibility is lost.

"We have taken on a Herculean mission in trying to eliminate slums and blight," Watson said. "But then we proceed through a series of legislative and administrative restrictions to create a bureaucratic weakling to do the job."

Watson made the remarks a speech prepared for t National Association of Housi and Redevelopment Officials.

He said the most importa change would be the reductio of program requirements.

There should also be a method to ensure money fo housing will be available when and in the amounts needed to complete approved renewal plans, he said. Many projects are slowed or stopped entirely after they begin because of a shortage of funds, he said.

THE GREAT PUMPKIN GOES TO SCHOOL

Restaurant Splits Mill Valley

By GEORGE NEVIN

Shall a restaurant and bar be permitted at 38 Miller Avenue?

What would appear to be a simple question for Mill Valley's city government has stirred a storm of controversy among residents who feel that the question is really, "Whither Mill Valley?"

That question will be answered Monday when the Mill Valley City Council decides whether to allow two young businessmen to open a restaurant-bar in the empty building that once was Brown's furniture store.

Probably few local issues have aroused so much interest in Mill Valley in recent years. About 450 persons signed petitions and letters against the plan, while supporters gathered 200 signatures.

Opponents ask, "Should the sound of music and cars be allowed to disturb the peace and tranquility of Mill Valley? Should a nightclub atmosphere be allowed to intrude on what essentially is a quiet residential community?"

The opposing forces first collide Oct. 19 before the city's planning commission. After a stormy three-hour public hearing, during which charges of "Eastern money," "Mafia-controlled interests" and "another Trident" were heard, the commission voted 4-2 to issue a use permit.

Opponents of the plan promptly appealed the permit to the city council, which will consider it Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

In the middle of the controversy, and somewhat puzzled by it, are two 28-year-old men, Michael Lerner and Philip Needleman, who say they never anticipated any trouble.

"We just wanted to do a community service for Marin and Mill Valley," Needleman said. "We had driven by this old building and seen it empty and had thought, 'Wouldn't it be nice to put a groovy restaurant there where all kinds of people could come and enjoy good food at a reasonable price?' "

But while Lerner and Needleman were making their plans, thinking the use permit was a mere formality, rumors were circulating. 8hese said the two long-haired men were going to import "Eastern money," were controlled by gangsters and would make Mill Valley a hangout for dope addicts and criminals.

On the night of the planning commission hearing, the applicants went to the hearing expecting to find, as Lerner said, "an informal meeting with eight or 10 people sitting around a table."

Instead they found a gallery full of hostile citizens drawn to city hall to protest something, though they didn't know exactly what.

"We were naive," Needleman said. "We thought we were doing something good for Mill Valley. We didn't think anyone would be against us."

Jeffory S. Morshead, who made an impassioned plea against the restaurant that night, said "their mistake was in not selling the community on their idea. Some public relations would have made a big difference."

Just what do Lerner and Needleman want to create at the old furniture store at 38 Miller Avenue? What has moved 450 persons to protest so vigorously?

As they describe it, the restaurant-bar will seat 400 and feature live music twice a week. On other nights music will be piped in. Folk, jazz and rock will be presented, much of it by local groups.

On the second floor, an art gallery will be built. Local artists will be given a chance to display and see their wares.

"But the main thing," Needleman said, "will be the restaurant. We want it to be the nicest thing in Mill Valley. The interior and tables will all be wood."

To those who have said the restaurant will be another Trident, Lerner replied, "It will have a nice interior and be softly lit, but that's the only similarity. We don't want a hip Playboy Club."

One of the most frequently heard charges is that loud rock music will blast forth every night.

Needleman: "The building is soundproofed, and we'll put in more soundproofing. Besides, it's hard to eat with loud music going all the time, and the main thing is the restaurant, not the music."

As for the other contentions, they can't imagine how they have been linked with the Mafia, but the "Eastern money" charge apparently stems from the fact that both men came to Marin from New York three years ago.

"Our investors are all local people," Lerner said simply.

On the other side of the issue, Normand Black, owner of El Marin Florist, feels that no matter how many objections Lerner and Needleman answer, their restaurant still will be "out of character with Mill Valley."

The city's planning commission and architectural advisory committee "have been trying to preserve the character of the community for years. They've gone against the oil companies and the food stores because they feel Mill Valley's charm has to be protected," he said.

Black, one of the prime organizers of the drive that netted the petition signatures, said he does not oppose the restaurant because Needleman and Lerner have long hair.

"If Frank Lloyd Wright himself wanted to have this operation, I'd still say no," he maintained.

Although "the times are changing and we have to make room for young people and their ideas," Black said this can't be done at the expense of other people.

With the main issue still to be decided, a spinoff from the controversy has developed. Many citizens bitterly attacked the planning commission, and especially chairman Robert E. Burton, for granting the use permit. Several have called for resignations.

Even the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce has got into the act. The chamber's businessmen's committee issued a statement saying that Burton "used his position with prejudice."

"We don't know Mr. Burton, and he wasn't prejudiced for us," Needleman said. "We felt it was a fair hearing, and Burton just dealt with the facts. He wouldn't be led into emotionalism like the people wanted him to be."

Lerner said he hopes "Burton doesn't lose his job just because of us." Both pointed out that the string of conditions imposed on them before the commission granted the permit proves that the group was trying to do its job for Mill Valley.

The conditions include a promise to soundproof the building, valet parking for 60 cars, a private security force and closing by 2 a.m.

The two say they have met the terms of the city's zoning ordinance and legally cannit be denied the permit. "If we lose the appeal," Needleman said, "it will be on emotional and not legal grounds." He said they would take the city to court if the council turns them down.

"Our mistake," Lerner said, "was being too honest with them (opponents). We could have sent a lawyer to represent us, but we went ourselves and let everyone see what kind of people we are. And legally, we didn't have to say we were going to have live music — the restaurant ordinance allows that."

Needleman said he doesn't think "the people are against our plan, because it's a good one. They're against our long hair. They fear the unknown. But we're businessmen just like them."

If the planning commission later finds that Needleman and Lerner violated the terms of the use permit by creating a nuisance with noise or traffic, it can revoke the permit.

"We stand to lose everything if that happens," Lerner said, "so you can be sure we'll work to see that it doesn't. If we make too much noise, we'll be closed down for disturbing the peace.

"If we don't provide all the things we say, it's our headache. We'll be driven out of business and lose thousands of dollars. We're not about to see that happen."

Chain Crash Injures Four Near Novato

Four persons, injured in a five-car chain collision on Highway 101 north of Novato yesterday, said they would see their own doctors for minor injuries, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the accident occured one-half mile north of San Marin Drive at 5:30 p.m. when an unidentified motorist slowed to make a left turn.

Three cars stopped in time, officers said, but were hit by two others.

The patrol identified the first three drivers as Pedro L. Villa, 35, of Geyserville, John J. Wagner, 45, of Santa Rosa, and Gloria W. Johannsen, 22, of 94 Candlewood Drive, Petaluma.

Their cars were struck by one driven by William A. Bearn, 53, of 411 Stuart Drive, Petaluma, officers said. The vehicles then were struck again by the fifth, driven by Robert A. Trombetta, 48, of Santa Rosa.

Wagner and Miss Johannsen complained of neck pain, as did a passenger in the Johannsen car, Rosemary Hoffman, 39, of 211 Basset Street, Petaluma. Bearn suffered a small cut on his lower lip.

Apartment Application Is Rejected

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night rejected an application to build 48 apartments on two acres between Olema and Sir Francis Drake boulevards.

The commission said the project density, as proposed by the builders, Oak Creek Corp., was too high, according to secretary Ernestine Healy.

The commission told the developer it would accept 36 units on the plot, Mrs. Healy reported.

The Fairfax Planning Commission also:

BUS HUT — Recommended that the city council allow the Fairfax Lions Club to build a bus stop shelter on city land at the Manor stop on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

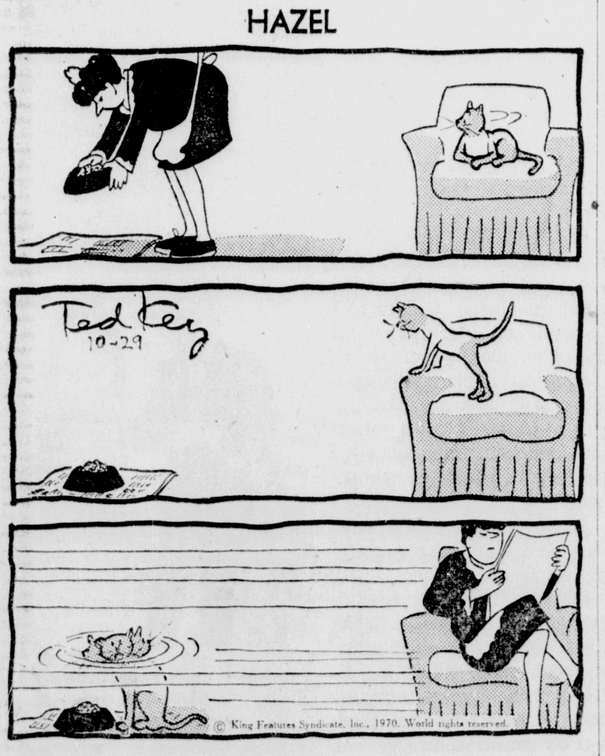
NEW YORK (UPI) — National Airlines decided to add a bit of atmosphere to its in-flight movies so it is now serving popcorn — hot or buttered — during flick-time to passengers on flights between Miami and London.

HAZEL



High Speed Chase Ends In Arrest

A 23-year-old man was booked at Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of car theft following a high speed chase by police in downtown San Rafael.

George Edward Myers, of no known address, was arrested on suspicion of car theft, reckless driving and attempting to evade arrest.

San Rafael police said the arrest came after an officer saw Myers driving on Fourth Street with no lights on at 8:25 p.m.

An officer pulled his patrol car behind the vehicle Myers was driving and turned on his red lights. Myers, according to police, quickly accelerated, turning right onto Lootens Place, right again onto Third Street where he ran a stop sign and careened off a curb, then left onto Brooks Street again hitting the curb, and finally left onto Second Street where another bounce off a curb wrecked the car.

After the chase, San Rafael police received a call from John E. Jackson Jr. of 6 West Hillside Avenue, San Anselmo, who reported his car had been stolen from near Fourth and C Streets.

Police told Jackson his car had been recovered.

Myers was held in lieu of $1,200 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Another Name On Stone Plaque

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Another name—the fourth one this year—has been cut into the stone plaque at the Hall of Justice honor roll of San Francisco policemen who have been killed in the line of duty.

Stonecutter Joseph Vierhaus Thursday chipped the name of Harold L. Hamilton into the plaque. Hamilton, who becomes the 78th name on the list of fallen officers, was killed Oct. 19 while breaking up a bank holdup.

Police Chief Alfred J. Nelder and Officer Sam Hamilton, brother of the slain policeman, were present for the ceremony. Also paying tribute to Hamilton, the father of four young children, were 40 police recruits and members of the Police Officers' Wives Auxiliary.

Carlton Tells Of Order To Disperse

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — A San Rafael police lieutenant testified yesterday in Solano Superior Court that he was certain a shouting mob behind the Independent-Journal on Valentine's Day could hear his repeated commands to disperse given over a loudspeaker located a block away.

The testimony of Lt. James Carlton came in the eighth day of the trial of seven men accused of 36 felonies and misdemeanors during a violent demonstration outside the newspaper plant.

"There's no doubt in my mind they (the commands) could be heard on Julia Street," said Carlton, who was jointly in charge of a force of police which had been summoned to control the demonstration.

Defense attorneys read from testimony given by Carlton in another court case that there was "some question," apparently by other officers, as to whether his commands to disperse could be heard, but Carlton would not alter his testimony yesterday.

Carlton said he gave the dispersal order numerous times over a 50-minute period from his command post atop the Fidelity Savings and Loan Association at Fifth Avenue and B Street.

Although conceding he could not see the noisy mob which had gathered outside the I-J delivery entrance, Carlton had testified earlier the loudspeaker, obtained from the state disaster office, carried "tremendous amplification."

The crowd gathered after a car attempted to enter the delivery area, despite barrricades set up at the mouth of Julia Street, and Carlton admitted yesterday he was "upset" over the arrival of the vehicle and wanted it removed.

(The defense contends the car's arrival caused the outbreak of violence which led to the arrest of the seven defendants.)

One defense attorney, Robert Y. Bell, tried to show that one of his clients, Alvis Dean Bailey, 43, was arrested prior to the orders to disperse. Carlton testified yesterday he began giving the commands about 12:50 p.m., although he had told a grand jury commands began about 1:25 p.m.

Carlton said he had decided 12:50 p.m. was correct after "reviewing my memory and researching the incident."

On trial, besides Bailey, are Nimmes H. Shelton, 41, Charles P. Vance, 56, and James S. Brooke, 36, all from San Francisco; Joe E. Reese, 32, of Hayward; Terry W. Lansing, 20, of Berkeley, and John J. DeMartini, 47, of Mill Valley, vice president of International Typographical Union 21.

It was in support of DeMartini's union, on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7, that the Valentine's Day protest was called.

The trial, switched here after the defense claimed it couldn't get a fair trial in Marin, is to resume Monday. No court was held today because of dedication ceremonies in the Solano Hall of Justice, converted from a high school.

Five Use Permits Get Approval By Sonoma Board

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Five use permit requests, including mobile homes, kennels, a service station and building addition, were approved yesterday by the Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. received approval for an addition to its communications equipment building on Mill Street in Valley Ford.

Mobile homes to house agricultural employees were approved for Ted and Lee Brains, 8250 Petaluma Hill Road, Penngrove, and Robert J. Dowds, 954 Liberty Road, Petaluma.

ROLLINS-Garrison Assoc. received a permit for a gasoline service station and living quarters at 3438 Petaluma Boulevard North, and Robert M. McCullach was permitted to construct kennels for breeding and boarding at 3606 South Ely Road, Petaluma.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Less-Discussed State Propositions Also Deserve Careful Vote

Some of the 20 state propositions before the voters next Tuesday have received relatively little attention. Some of them are of relatively little importance, but all deserve careful consideration.

PROPOSITION 2 would put into the state constitution a provision that in case of the incapacity of the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, controller, secretary of state, treasurer, or superintendent of public instruction, the state Supreme Court could name a person to fill the office.

We see no need for such a provision. Further, we suspect it would produce harassment of these officials through filing of suits by malcontents claiming they were incapable of continuing to serve. Vote "NO" on Proposition 2.

PROPOSITION 3 would move ahead the dates for submission of the state budget and its passage by the legislature. We see little that would be acomplished by this. No recommendatoin on Proposition 3.

PROPOSITION 4 is in a different class. It would move ahead the date for action on the state school appropriations bill, so that it would be passed earlier than the budget. This would be of great help to the school districts, whose budgets must be prepared before they know how much they will get from the state. Vote "YES" on Proposition 4.

PROPOSITION 6 would allow investment of part of the State Teachers' Retirement Fund in common stocks — which is permitted for other state retirement funds under an amendment passed in 1966. There is some danger in such investment; however, it would enable the fund to increase and, if care were taken, reduce the load on taxpayers. With some reservations, we suggest a "YES" vote on Proposition 6.

PROPOSITION 8 would give the state superintendent of public instruction an additional non-civil service assistant. We see no need for this; it merely adds another job. Vote "NO" on Proposition 8.

PROPOSITION 10 would remove the ceiling from interest rates on loans of $100,000 or more. This would merely add to inflation. Vote "NO" on Proposition 10.

PROPOSITION 11 would give the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners additional powers to regulate the educational requirements of chiropractors. This should not be in the constitution, but since it already is, the change can be made only there. Vote "YES" on Proposition 11.

PROPOSITION 12 would allow county supervisors to set their own salaries. As things stand, the salaries are set by the legislature, but it takes its cue from the county supervisors, who then are able to pass the buck for a raise by saying "the legislature did it." Propositon 12 would put the responsibility where it belongs. Vote "YES" on Proposition 12.

PROPOSITION 13 would increase from $5,000 to $10,000 the tax exemption of completely disabled veterans, and extend the exemption to their widows until they remarried. We feel this is justified. Vote "YES" on Proposition 13.

PROPOSITIONS 14, 15 and 17 make minor changes in the state constitution by briefer language and elimination of obsolete sections. Proposition14 would give the lieutenant governor appointive power he now lacks in his own office. All three deserve "YES" votes.

PROPOSITION 16 is a rerun of the proposed revision of requirements for calling a constitutional convention which lost in June. As we pointed out then, it is so poorly drawn that it does not serve the purpose for which it was intended. Vote "NO" on Proposition 16.

PROPOSITION 19 would make usury by a non-licensed lender a felony — yet it would not apply to licensed lenders even though they charged equally high interest. This is discriminatory legislation and should be rejected. Vote "NO" on Proposition 19.

Backer Explains Zunino Stand

You have been speaking of the leniency of courts in your paper from time to time in the past and now you choose someone who will surely perpetuate the present attitude found in the Marin courtroom.

On the other hand, we have a choice on Nov. 3 of a gentleman, Mr. Ernest Zunino, who has said and will do if elected this: 1. Uphold the laws of the state and land and issue firm but fair sentences within these laws regardless of what a county judge plebiscite or lawyer plebiscite may decide. 2. Initiate positive programs for reducing the case backlog within the courts, realizing this backlog is both costly and unfair to defendant and the peoples' court . . .

Don't Short-Change College Of Marin

Mr. L. Wellington's recent blind attack on Propositions B and C was both unreasonable and unfair.

Wellington asks us to jettison the College of Marin on the basis that taxes could possibly go up sometime in the next 16 years.

In fact, the new proposal is less than we are paying now. The college staff has come up with a proposal that eliminates the current 35-cent override for construction and replaces it with a 25-cent override for operations.

With the passage of Proposition C, construction could begin on the long-awaited Novato campus. To delay would be to place the burden on the old override and triple expenses.

To shortchange an institution so thoroughly dedicated to this community would be to shortchange ourselves. . .

The things I learned at the College of Marin have made the most important difference in my life. Please, let's not let these hard-working people down.

Law And Order Need More Support

What and where is "law and order"?

I quote from last Saturday's (Oct. 24) I-J:

"Squads of armed Negro men drove up to the Cairo (Ill.) police station and opened fire three times in six hours late Friday and early today. In the third attack, hundreds of rounds of gunfire ripped into the police station for 35 minutes. Police gunfire drove the men back for the third time."

Can we, everyday citizens who are fortunate enough to live in Marvelous Marin, stand by quietly and passively, watching our neighbors' troubles quickly becoming our own? We profess to be rational men and women who are able to recognize an inequity in our lives and take positive steps to cure it. Can we not now justifiably demand stability in the land which we admire so greatly?

Congressmen await the opinions of the electorate. Law enforcement personnel yearn to know they have the people's backing.

Turn on, tune in, act today — law and order depends upon each and every one of us.

Program Coverage Lack Deplored

It astounds me that your paper did not cover one of the most enlightening political events in Marin County I have seen in a long time.

Proposition "A", the peace referendum, sponsored a program at Drake High School which drew over 250 people. Candidates for office, Mike Peevey, Peter Behr, Joe Forrest and Bill Bennett appeared on the program and endorsed the proposition. United States Congressman George Brown gave a complete and fascinating talk about the history of our involvement in Southeast Asia. The evening was concluded by a powerful and convincing film made by Bess Myerson Grant entitled "You Don't Have to Buy War Mrs. Smith." The film which was produced by "Another Mother for Peace" should be seen by anyone who is interested in where our country is going and where our tax dollars are going.

I noted that on that same evening (Oct. 19) the I-J gave wide coverage to a dinner held for George Murphy. I realize that the dinner had news value but surely the I-J can cover more than one news event at a time — it is the only daily around these parts.

Payroll Listing Invades Privacy

Brickbats and Hiss Boo to the I-J. . .

In your attempt to "inform" the taxpayers of how their money is being spent by listing the various county payrolls, you are invading the privacy of all Marin County "public servants." Is it really necessary to list names, position and salary? If you need fillers why not just list position and salary?

Many Assisted U.N. Observance

The members and friends of the Marin Chapter of the United Nations Association of the U. S. A. all join in expressing gratitude to all those who made possible the solemn observance in Marin County of the 25th anniversary of the United Nations.

We offer thanks to the I-J for the thoughtful editorial and coverage of Dianne Feinstein's address to an attentive audience, to Judge Joseph G. Wilson who served as honorary chairman, to the San Anselmo Police Department, to the Festival Theater Foundation, and to all others who contributed talent and support in many different ways.

THE DRUMMONDS

United Nations' Weaknesses Born At San Francisco Charter Session

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The best thing that can be said for the United Nations on its 25th anniversary is that it is still around.

That's good. We need the United Nations, however cumbersome and impotent. It is encouraging that, according to Gallup, 87 per cent of the American people consider its preservation "important."

THE REASON the United Nations is weak is because it was born weak in San Francisco in 1945.

It has not been allowed to become stronger because the nations who might want it so can't agree to on how to do it. And those nations which want to keep it weak have a veto over any amendment to the charter.

The consequence is that the United Nations has become bigger and bigger, which is good; and weaker and weaker, which is bad.

The shortcomings of the United Nations evident during the past quarter-century are things which have not suddenly and unexpectedly developed. Its shortcomings were embedded into the structure of the United Nations by the charter itself.

TO APPRECIATE the United Nations' present plight, it is necessary to look briefly at what went on in San Francisco.

The Soviet Union insisted that all power to keep the peace be vested in the U.N. Security Council. It then insured that it could immobilize the Security Council by demanding a Big Power veto over any action the council might want to take. The council wasn't even allowed to offer peaceful proposals for any problem unless all the Big Powers could agree.

The Soviets have used the veto relentlessly from the beginning until today the Security Council is a hollow shell.

MOSCOW'S POSITION at San Francisco was: Take the United Nations as we want it or we'll go home. Nobody wanted that.

The charter calls for a multi-national U. N. peace-keeping force. The United States has been urging it for years, but the Russians have continously vetoed it.

THERE WAS ONLY one tiny breakthrough in the veto-wall at San Francisco.

Until the last days of the drafting, the Soviets demanded that no issue was to be allowed to come before the General Assembly without prior approval by the veto-controlled Security Council. Under that provision the Soviet Union not only could stop the Security Council from acting; it could stop the General Assembly from speaking.

Moscow finally yielded because most of the nations showed they would rather abandon the United Nations than abandon free speech.

THE UNITED NATIONS survives and has done some useful things.

In its first year it provided the forum which enabled President Truman to focus enough world pressure on Russia to cause Josef Stalin to withdraw Soviet troops from Iran.

Because The Soviets were unwisely boycotting the Security Council at the time, the United Nations was able to put itself behind the defense of South Korea.

Under the venturesome leadership of the late Dag Hammarskjold it helped maintain the sovereignty and unity of the Congo.

More than ever, because of its ever-enlarging membership, the United Nations is today a microcosm of the world. It reflects faithfully its turmoil and conflicts. That is its weakness — and its strength. This is why it would be well to have Red China in the United Nations if its admission is not used as an excuse to force any other nation out of the United Nations.

Best Fight In Senate: Birch Bayh Vs. Sam Erwin

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Had they met for the heavyweight championship of the world, the match would have been a promoter's dream and a sportswriter's heaven.

Ervin vs. Bayh. Four rounds. Senate chamber. Sellout crowd. No closed-circuit television.

In this corner, Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina, the 74-year-old veteran of countless legislative bouts. A crowd pleaser with a southern style. A spotty record with many wins, many losses, but never stopped.

And in this corner, the young challenger, 42-year old Birch Bayh from Indiana. Ambitious, talented, hoping to use the match as a stepping-stone to bigger things.

WITHIN THE LAST two years, these two senators — Bayh and Ervin — have clashed head-on four times on four vital issues.

Round one: In the fall of 1969 President Nixon asked the Senate to confirm the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court.

Ervin, along with all southerners, immediately embraced and endorsed Haynsworth, a conservative neighbor from South Carolina. Bayh led the opposition.

The nomination was rejected. Score the first round for Bayh.

ROUND TWO: Rejected on Haynsworth, President Nixon submitted the name of another southern—Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida—as his choice for the Supreme Court.

Again Ervin placed his legislative skill, influence, and oratory at Carswell's disposal. At first reluctant, Bayh again led the fight to defeat the nomination.

Again the Senate rejected the nomination. Score round two for Bayh.

ROUND THREE: After a long delay, the Senate began consideration of a constitutional amendment calling for direct popular elections of presidents. For the first time, Bayh was on the defensive. As floor manager of the constitutional amendment, the Hoosier senator was forced to pick up a two-thirds majority, not only to pass the amendment but to kill the filibuster.

And right in Bayh's path was Ervin, leading the opposition to the direct popular elections proposal.

Three times Bayh sought to bring the amendment to a vote with a cloture petition. Three times, Ervin rounded up enough votes to deny him.

Finally, the constitutional amendment was put aside — dead for the year. Score round three for Ervin.

ROUND FOUR: Defeated on popular elections, Bayh turned to another constitutional amendment—this one designed to prevent discrimination between the sexes.

Using the same tactics which served him so well before, Ervin prevented the Senate from voting. In fact, he added an amendment — specifically exempting women from the draft—which Bayh said would kill everything.

Round five: After the elections, Bayh plans to make a new effort at passing a constitutional amendment with a revised version designed to elemeniate some of the objections. There was no immediate indication whether Ervin would countr-punch.

Mill Valley's $70,000 Problem: Pile Of Dirt On Miller Avenue

The slide is 634 days old today, and Mill Valley still can't figure out how to get rid of it.

The slide is hopelessly tangled in legal issues, partly because the land involved is not in Mill Valley but in county territory, and partly because the land's owner, Thomas Collison, now lives in Spain.

In almost two years, the city council, although enormously concerned about the mess on Miller Avenue, has done little to make it go away. Monday night the councilmen balked at spending $3,500 to hire a soils engineer to study the slide and determine its cause.

Such a study is needed if City Atty. Leland H. Jordan is to take Collison to court and recover the cost of removing the slide. If the engineer testifies that the slide was caused by Collison's land, the city can collect.

In the meantime, City Engineer Stanley M. Bala repeated his warning that a prolonged rain could cause further sliding. If a major storm hits, he said, he would again advise the council to close Miller Avenue in the slide's vicinity.

He pegged the cost of removal at $70,000, but it appears that no one — Collison, Mill Valley or Marin County — has that kind of money to spend on a lot of mud.

IN A STEP that should prove that government can be very responsive to the people, both Belvedere and Tiburon have established official committees to work toward saving the environment.

Belvedere's committee for the environment and Tiburon's ecology committee, both recently formed, are joining in an effort to provide residents of the communities with a central site to which they could bring recyclable materials.

Although plans aren't firm, the groups hope to accept Fred Zelinsky's offer of a recycling depot at the Safeway store on Tiburon Boulevard.

These two committees are the first real steps taken by any city in Marin to attack the ecological crisis. Other cities should follow suit.

MILL VALLEY dog owners, take note — the city council soon will pass a law requiring that you keep your dog on a leash whenever you take him to a school, park or downtown.

This is how I read the intent of the council, which has been deluged with complaints from downtown merchants and shoppers about packs of dogs roaming the streets.

The council has wanted to enact a leash law for some time, but was held up by legal questions. These appear to have been resolved.

The councilmen recognize, however, that a leash law won't solve the problem. "Enforcement is the big hang-up," Councilman Robert H. Andresen said. But the Marin County Humane Society has promised to round up unattended dogs if Mill Valley so chooses.

Probe Fragments Will Be Returned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department says fragments of a Russian satellite that fell on parts of the Midwest last month will be returned to the Soviet Union.

Officials said arrangements still are being made for Russian officials to officially identify the fragments, one of which weighs 600 pounds.

The State Department did not specifically identify the satellite, but presumably it is Cosmos 316, chunks of which dropped Sept. 28 near Beaver, Okla., and Pratt, Kan. The fragments are being returned under a multilateral treaty which provides for the return of space objects or astronauts who land on foreign territory.

Geothermal Hearing Full Transcript Due

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Joint Committee on Atomic Development and Space will publish the full transcript of last month's hearings on geothermal resource development in California, chairman John Briggs announced.

The Fullerton Republican said that geothermal sources may provide a clean source of energy for electric power generating plants, desalted water and vast mineral development.

Last month's hearings, held in conjunction with the Geothermal Resources Board, focused on recent steam well research in the Salton Sea area, and witnesses testified to the availability of technical knowledge to use steam from natural wells.

Testimony was to the effect that there are enough natural steam wells in California to provide power for the next two hundred years.

Briggs says the natural steam wells in the Imperial Valley are the largest in the world, and that they could begin to provide water and power for the entire desert within the next 10 years.

"The need for fossil or nuclear power plants could possibly vanish if we are willing to pay for the research," Briggs said." The cost of electricity and water could be substantially cut also.

"The value of lithium and other recoverable minerals from the geothermal brine may well reduce the cost of power and water to nearly zero."

Briggs said Reykjavik, Iceland, and Bardello, Italy, rely on geothermal steam to heat their cities and provide power for generation of electricity.

Molotov Bombs Into Motor Pool

EL TORO MARINE CORPS AIR STATION (UPI)—Two men tossed Molotov cocktails into the motor pool area at this Marine base early Thursday then escaped under fire from military police.

Authorities said the firebombs caused no damage. They were thrown over a chain-link fence into the area.

Two MP's on duty fired three shots at the suspects, but apparently missed.

Sociologist To Give Lectures

Dr. T. C. Esselstyn, chairman of the sociology department at San Jose State College, will speak Monday night and Tuesday morning at training sessions for Marin County Probation Department volunteers.

The class will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Adaline E. Kent School, Kentfield, and 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church, San Rafael. The sessions are open to the public.

Esselstyn will discuss impact of law enforcement and probation officers on current criminal problems.

We're Democrats. And, we're proud of it.

We're Californians. And, we're proud of that, too.

Up until recently, what our party wanted was generally good for our State. That's why we worked hard for our party. But, this year, in the big race, what our party offers is not what California needs.

Governor Reagan is an honest man. An effective leader. He's not afraid to meet the hard issues head-on. He's got guts. And good, common sense. He's not just another politician.

Drop us a line. Let us know that you, too, are a Democrat—or an Independent—who is supporting Governor Reagan.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Some Strange Things Suggested In 'Controlled Land Use' Approach

Fusselman

A number of strange situations come to mind when one considers the several statements made by the speaker at the Marin Conservation League's recent meeting (the basis for the column last week).

For instance: The gentleman was reported as saying that housing developments create corresponding service requirements such as schools, sewers and police which cost taxpayers money. Also he was quoted thusly: "The contention that houses do not pay their own way we found is correct", basing his conclusion on a long-term benefit to the taxpayers on a study his firm recently concluded in Palo Alto. He further predicted the same result if a land use study were undertaken in Marin County.

IT WOULD BE interesting for him to spell out just who the taxpayers are in his estimation. It seems to me that most of the houses in Marin are occupied, most of them with taxpayers.

Does he mean that the fat little tax bill just received must be charged to other elements of the property than the house? Or is he saying that the combination of house and lot doesn't pay its way? Who is the patsy? The owner of unimproved land — land which because it is unimproved is not assessed as high as the lot with a house on it, unless it is considered "vulnerable."

Now, just where does he end up with his values? He recommands stalling by zoning "volnerabe" land into acre lots to kill sales. The owner will then demand and probably get a reduction in assessed value.

His remark, "Our program is a selective one . . . " sounded a little like he was making a pitch. If he was, I wonder where he has been?

FIVE OR SIX years ago something like $40,000 was paid to three people for a land use survey of West Marin. Now, add to that the following:

The planning department spent, for the five years ending June 30, 1970, $1,546,612 and was reimbursed $158,833 in fees, leaving a net outlay of $1,387,774. To this add $336,797 estimated to be spent by June 30, 1971, a total of $1,724,570.

It is reasonable to assume that this last amount plus the West Marin layout constitute six years of land use study, as the small amount of reimbursement is a reflection of a practical stand-still of bulding. You may recall that the planning staff built a small replica of Marin showing hill and valley. (It was said that they had miniature houses which they moved around to study where traffic would originate under various use of the land.

It appears that if the speaker was making a pitch, he is up against a worked-out mine. "There ain't no more gold in them thar hills".

THIS BOARD of supervisors has fallen into the same trap as the others. Harken to this; it is a condition that is becoming constant: In addition to abdicating, they are making work for the little hand that leads them.

They were told on Tuesday that homes along Ocean Parkway at Bolinas will slide into the ocean unless repairs are made immediately. Bud Baar wanted to have soil tests made to determine the cause. The others wanted to know about legal responsibility and cost. So what was done? You guessed it. Chairman John McInnis asked the administrator to have ready for the next meeting the county counsel's opinion and a cost estimate of a soil test.

This is how they make work for the administrator, the high priced one. He will write a letter to the county counsel. He will dictate the answer to a secretary, as had the administrator. The same thing will take place at the public works department. This all keeps the administrator busy for he will than dictate a report to the board.

THE SECRETARY taking the board's minutes could have simply sent a memo to the two departments, who then could address their answer to the board for its netx meeting. This, of course, would be all too easy and would not help to make work for the gent.

One day that whole phony setup will blow up in their faces, and won't they be red!

A. M. writes: "Why can't a person who has had jaundice donate blood? P. S. I believe he is cured."

Serum hepatitis is a form of liver disease that develops in a person who has received blood serum from a victim who had viral hepatitis. Or to put this another way, serum hepatitis is the most serious complication of blood transfusions. Jaundice (yellow discoloration of skin and whites of eyes) is a common symptom of hepatitis. More important, the causative viruses remain in the bloodstream for a year or more after the desease is apparently cured.

THIS IS why blood banks do not want donations from a person who had jaundice, even though there are causes other then hepatitis. What really bugs blood centers is that many people with viral hepatitis do not have jaundice. The disease is mild and easily passed off as a cold. When these individuals donate blood the recipients run the risk of developing serum hepatitis. Estimates show that, in this country, there are 30,000 cases of transfusion-induced hepatitis a year.

A solution to the problem may be near. Tests have been devised for detecting hepatitis-associated antigen (HAA) in blood that is likely to cause transfusion hepatitis. Under the electron miscroscope. HAA appears to be a virus-like particle. Following its discovery, a rapid test was devised to detect blood containing the HAA. Although the tecnique is less than 100 per cent perfect, it should prevent considerable disability and death from transfusions.

ROUTINE screening of donor blood for HAA is now urged. Preliminary tests show only one to two units out of 1000 prints are positive. The incidence varies with the source of the blood. It is highest in paid donors (one in 20) and lowest in volunteer donors (one in 200).

The main obstacle to detection is the short supply of the reagent needed for testing and which comes from hemophiliacs who have received hundreds of transfusions. They have a considerable supply in their blood to counteract the Australia antigen.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

OUT OF PLACE

S. L. writes: I have had vaginitis and cervicitis. The doctor thinks that my uterus is out of place (turned). He advises an operation to put the uterus back in its normal position. Is this procedure dangerous?

REPLY

It is a major operation and many physicians recommend a pessary to determine whether repositioning the uterus will eliminate the cervical infection. I assume your physician has made microscopic studies of the secretions and you have had the usual treatments for cervicitis and vaginitis.

BAD FOR ARTHRITIS

L. C. writes: I've had arthritis for years and have taken different kinds of medicines that are supposed to be good for it. Why doesn't somone develop a medicine that is bad for arthritis and maybe it will go away.

REPLY

This is the first unusual suggestion that has come our way for a long time. Your sense of humor and a few aspirin will keep you well.

HOME CANNED BEETS

B. B. writes: Is it dangerous to use beets that were canned in the home?

REPLY

No, provided they were canned properly.

Cambodian City Sleeps In The Midst Of War

By BARNEY SEIBERT

Its once busy docks — Cambodia's only deepwater port facility — are virtually empty. Its vast harbor one recent day was occupied only by two unemployed tugboats and a small Cambodian naval craft. Its waterfront park has grass knee deep. Its beautiful broad beach is almost deserted.

Hillside villas where rich Cambodians and foreigners once came to relax, swim and breathe the salt air are empty and the paint is fading.

The city remains one of the showplaces of Southeast Asia but the thriving trade it enjoyed when it was a major Viet Cong supply source before the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk last March 18 is gone.

The anesthesia that induced Kompong Som's slumber was induced by the Viet Cong.

Its highway link with the capital, Phnom Penh, Highway 4 — the U.S.-built "Friendship Road" — has been intermittently cut by the Communists throughout the six-months-old war.

In the first two weeks of October the highway was closed for five days and unsafe for travel the rest of the time.

Highway 4 serves Cambodia's only oil refinery. Fuel trucks make the run whenever they can, bringing petroleum to Phnom Penh, which on the average has only a 30-day supply on hand and is forced to dip into reserves whenever the highway is closed for any length of time.

In convoys of two or more trucks, each pulling a trailer, the fuel tankers make their way slowly and gingerly past the spot in the Kirirom Pass, 58 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, where two fuel trucks were bush whacked by the Communists earlier in the month. The rusting, burnt-out hulks of blasted trucks lay in the ditch alongside the highway.

There is military traffic on the highway, too, when it's open —including trucks laden with logs for Cambodian security posts. The timber is used to bolster existing bunkers or to build new ones at the bridges and check points along the route.

When they feel it's safe, Peugeot taxis which ply the rural roads of Cambodia buzz back and forth, picking up and discharging passengers and cargo. There are occasional buses on the road as well, but they range from empty to half filled. The country people apparently prefer to take their chances in a taxi and the city folk aren't travelling yet along Highway 4.

Highway 4 begins on the swampy plain at the edge of the Mekong River. For its first few miles in Phnom Penh it is called "Boulvard U.S.S.R." in honor of the Soviet Union which gave Cambodia some of the university buildings along the route. That end of the boulevard serves Phnom Penh's airport.

The highway skirts the provincial capital of Kompong Speu, left half in ruins by a bitter battle last spring between Cambodians, South Vietnamese and the Viet Cong. Then it loops in lazy curves upward toward the 1,200-foot Kirirom Plateau, which has been in Communist hands since July 29.

From Trapeang Kralang, 42 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, to the Kompong Loeu River, 40 miles farther south, which "African Queen" style river boats ply, the Viet Cong may be on the road at any instant.

From the river crossing southwest, the road descends to a table top coastal plain solidly cultivated in rice, then climbs over a coastal range of hills along a narrow peninsula, at the tip of which sits Kompong Som.

So long as the middle third of Kompong Som's vital route to Phnom Penh remains insecure, the picture-pretty seaport's slumber is likely to remain protracted.

British Carrier Has Soviet Naval Escort

TELEVISION REVIEW

A Vibrant Starlet: Susan Saint James

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Susan Saint James, that splendid young performer on NBC-TV's "The Name of the Game," flopped on the couch of her two-room dressing suite at Universal Studios and talked for an hour about almost everything but show business. She is something special.

She is leggy, she is huskily throaty, she is funny in a vibrant manner that recalls Carole Lombard, she is contemporary, she is direct, and she loves the Los Angeles Rams. What man could ask for anything more?

To say that she is one of Hollywood's genuine free spirits is an understatement. Although she is a very nice girl who is quite happy in her work as a series regular, her life style is definitely outside the glamorous boundaries of the movietown establishment.

She drives a Volkswagen camper, and sometimes sleeps in it. Or sometimes she sleeps in her studio dressing suite; one of the rooms, the small one in back, is a bedroom. And then sometimes she sleeps at friends' or relatives' places. She does have an apartment in a marina area—but, she says, "I'm still into it there—the smog and crowds and driving.

"My dream is buying a farm while I'm working. Right now I'd like to have a little house around here and practice living, healthily.

'Being healthy is where it's all at. You've got to wake up in the morning wanting to live. You can't beat up your body when you're young and then expect to be able to get everything back by reforming in middle-age. And look at some of the kids too. I see some of the stuff they're pushing at me, and it's so unhealthy."

When the series started, she wasn't as svelte as she is now. She got into a health kick about a year ago. "I used to gain 30 pounds, then lose 20—very bad." She's cut back sharply on her smoking too.

She runs a lot. "I don't mean jogging—I mean running." She runs a mile every day. A lot of the time she runs at about 9:00 at night, at Fairfax High School in Los Angeles. "I really tear that last half mile," she says.

Whatever it is, whatever she's doing, she looks great. She wore her hair long and loose and natural, and it highlighted the fine bone structure of her face, which will do her a lot of favors when she's 40 and over. She's a natural later on for that sexy, famished look.

She was born in Los Angeles and reared in Rockford, Ill. She was a model in New York and then in Paris, and then she was an immediate hit when she did a two-hour NBC-TV movie called "Fame is the Name of the Game," from which her present series was drawn.

She knows herself pretty well. Her friends on the set, she says, treat her like a pal. "I'm not an awesome kind of girl." But it's pretty clear she wouldn't mind getting some long, low whistles and distant awe. I don't know what's the matter with those guys. I felt like whistling.

Expert Seeks Solution To Blood Waste

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An authority on frozen blood today offered a solution for a problem that plagues hospital blood banks—waste of transfusion blood that sits too long on the shelves.

Dr. Morton Grove-Rasmussen, medical director of the Massachusetts General Hospital Blood Bank, said the problem could be virtually eliminated if hospitals would use a technique to convert a portion of their liquid blood inventories to frozen red cells.

Grove-Rasmussen, who made his remarks at the 23rd annual meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks, said his hospital has been experimenting for the past seven years on the use of a hospital frozen blood center. He said that an estimated 10 per cent of blood supplies are lost after the 12-day life span of the vital red cells.

Grove-Rasmussen said the problem could be solved "if hospitals would freeze approximately the same percentage of blood as that currently wasted by outdating."

In another paper delivered to the association, two military scientists reported that blood donors who smoke within two hours before giving blood adversely affect the oxygen content of the blood they donate.

Fund Request Action Sought

Marin County Economic Opportunity Council will be asked to concur with a family planning funding request to the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, at the EOC's meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the San Anselmo city hall.

W. Robert Loma Jr., executive director for the EOC, said the Planned Parenthood of Marin has submitted the fund request.

Committee reports and council action also are on the agenda for the Marin City Worry Clinic and for prevocational and vocational office skills programs.

U.S. Medics Will Leave Jordan Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department reports most of the 200 U.S. military personnel sent to Jordan with medical help after the civil war will leave the country by the end of this week, but they will leave behind $250,000 worth of medical equipment.

The department said King Hussein had requested the equipment, including X-ray machines and two complete operating rooms, be left in Jordan for the continued treatment of war victims.

Snag Discovered In Street Digging Plan

Centro West Street in Tiburon, resurfaced only two weeks ago, may be torn up soon for a fireline extension.

The new paving job was disclosed by the Tiburon city engineer as the Marin Municipal Water District board prepared to approve routinely a request by the Tiburon Fire Protection District for the pipe under Centro West. The board tabled the plan. (For another water district story, see page 1.)

Engineer Ray W. Foreaker Jr., who is running for a water board seat, blamed the water district for failing to notify the city of the fireline plans.

District Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger replied that Tiburon Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher knew of the plan and should have notified the city.

"I think that's just an excuse, Bill," Foreaker retorted.

Seeger said, "The fire chief asked for this and I assumed he had liaison with the city."

Board president Robert G. Anderson also shunted the blame to the fire protection group. "Well, Jesus, don't try to blame the water district for somebody else's errors. Are you being critical of the water district?"

"I am being critical of the water district, yes," Foreaker replied.

The board tabled approval of the $15,214 job pending search for an alternative to digging up the street. The water district would chip in $6,010 and do the work for the fire district.

Chief Buscher told the Independent-Journal he had notified the city's director of public works orally of the work, but had thought the water district would notify the city officially.

Marin Municipal Water District Board Also:

TOILETS — Awarded a contract of $8,600 to Hayco Inc. of Greenbrae for installation of concrete block toilet buildings at Phoenix Lake and Potrero Camp.

PIPE — Awarded a $5,371 contract to Collins Pipe Inc. of Oakland for corrugated metal pipe. The estimate was $8,700.

CHECK — Accepted a check for $1,402 representing the third payment of the district's share of a $22 million award in an antitrust judgment against Anaconda American Brass Company. The district's total is to reach about $15,000.

ENCROACHMENT — Agreed to an encroachment onto water district land by a fence to be built by Thomas J. Zilka of 15 Escalon Drive, Mill Valley, near the Alto tank.

PIPE MOVE — Hired Edward P. Morphy for $300 to $450 to appraise the new rights-of-way required for the Manzanita pipeline relocation. The pipe must be moved to accommodate widening of Highway 101.

BRET HARTE — Asked Seeger to hire an appraiser to set values on three parcels of land bordering the Bret Harte tank lot so that larger tanks and an access road to Bret Harte Road can be put it.

WHITE'S HILL TANK — Accepted appraisal by Morphy that about two and one-half acres at the White Hill tank lot is worth $17,900. Budgeted to buy the properties is $25,000.

FIRE EXTENSION — Approved a joint financing effort to put a $10,856 fire line extension under Washington Avenue in Santa Venetia and decided to finance a further extension of $3,000 to eliminate the dead end in the line.

Subdivision Gets Nod Over Pleas

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 337-home subdivision in Benedict Canyon was approved by the City Planning Commission Thursday over the strenuous objections of nearby mountain residents.

Opponents claimed the development would create too much density in the mountain area, add to traffic congestion and damage the area's ecology.

Deveolper William Bono, of Allied Canon Co., who has been battling for the right to put houses on 200-acres of the tract, has a $5.6 million damage claim pending against the city over the refusal of the City Council to approve a 394-acre tract map for the same property.

Mansfield Leads Effort To End ICC

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The oldest and largest of the federal government's regulatory agencies—the Interstate Commerce Commission—is facing a fight for its bureaucratic life.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana is at the forefront of efforts both inside and outside Congress to abolish the agency which regulates the multimillion dollar railroad, trucking, barge and household movers industry.

Mansfield has introduced a bill in the Senate to put the 83-year-old ICC out of existence in 18 months. "There is a need for modernization of the federal regulatory setup and the ICC is the place to begin," Mansfield says.

Ralph Nader agrees. A report by a team of his consumer investigators termed the tradition-encrusted agency "an elephant's graveyard for political hacks" that should be abolished.

The agency has also generated some bad publicity of its own.

H. Neil Garson resigned his $30,000-a-year job as ICC secretary in March after acknowledging before Congress that he falsified checks to collect payment from the government for hotel bills which already had been paid by industry groups.

Garson's admission came six months after Virginia Mae Brown, then ICC chairman, refused to allow commission members to accept payments from industries they regulate for appearances at conventions and other industry functions.

President Nixon gained authority from Congress in January to appoint a permanent chairman of the ICC as part of a move to give the agency some continuity in its policies.

Tydings Asked To Join Group

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., says he has been asked to join the "Operation Alert Board" of the American Security Council, a new political action group.

Tydings said Thursday John M. Fisher, president of the council, urged him to contribute $10 to $1,000 to the $238,000 fund earmarked to defeat liberal senators, including Tydings.

Tydings said: "it is ironic that the American Security Council, in its try to defeat me, at the same time wants me both to serve on its board and contribute money dedicated to my defeat. I must be doing something right."

Homecoming Game For San Rafael

The San Rafael High School Bulldogs have one more hurdle to clear before next week's Marin County Athletic League football showdown with Terra Linda. They must get by the San Marin Mustangs tonight in their homecoming game on the Bulldogs' field.

(See stories of tomorrow's games on page 40.)

The Bulldogs, like the Trojans undefeated in league play, will be favored to run their record to 4 — 0, but coach Bob Muster does not take San Marin lightly, despite the Mustang's league record of 1 - 2.

"We watched them a few times, and they have enough things to scare you. They've been in every ball game they've played," Muster said.

He feels it will be important for San Rafael, led by the running of flanker Scott Duncan and fullback Mark Farrar, to get on the scoreboard first, in order to minimize the importance of the field goal, as authored by San Marin placekicker Urbano Boucsiequz.

Chances are that the Mustangs, who have had trouble moving the ball inside the 25 yard line, will not get much closer than that to San Rafael's goal; the Bulldogs have limited their league opposition to a single field goal in three games.

San Marin coach Bob Martin is not dispirited at the prospect of playing San Rafael after losing to Terra Linda last week, 21-15, but he is aware of the Bulldogs' power. "They're an explosive club. Duncan and Farrar can go all the way on you," he says.

San Marin is hurting, while San Rafael is healthy, and that doesn't do much to shorten the odds against the Mustangs. They may be without the services of ace defensive back, Marty Larsen, who twisted an ankle against the Trojans.

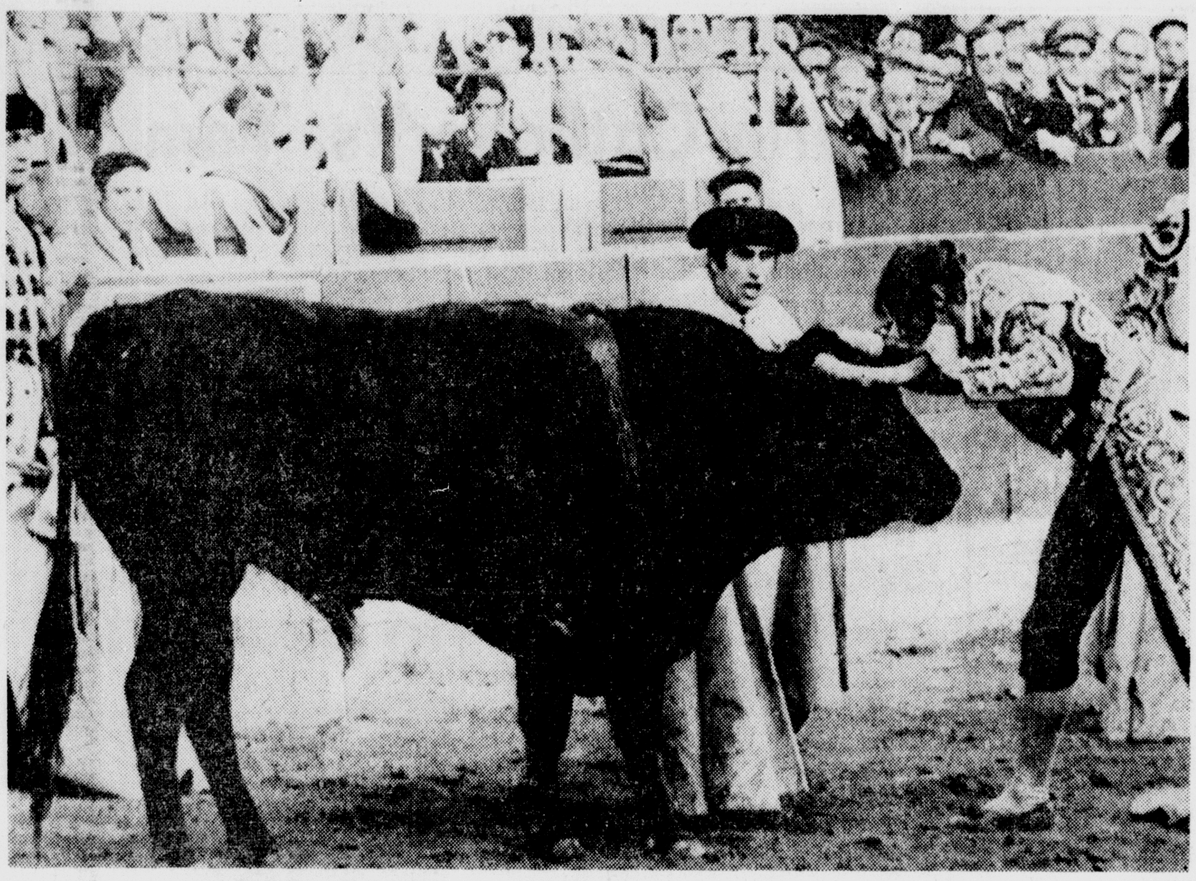
The Bulldogs, who roughed up Redwood last week, 28 - 0, will be out to stop San Marin's unpredictable quarterback, Jim Nakamine. Muster describes him as a threat on rollouts, and says, "the kid bootlegs the ball pretty good."

SHARON WALSH WINS; TO FACE ANN JONES

ABERAVON, Wales (UPI) — Sharon Walsh, San Rafael's 18-year-old junior tennis champion, reached the semi-finals of the Dewar Cup indoor tennis tournament yesterday by beating British Wightman Cup player Joyce Williams, 8-6, 6-2.

Miss Walsh was scheduled to face former Wimbledon champion Ann Jones of Britain today in the semi-finals. Miss Jones yesterday defeated Francoise Durr of France, 7-5, 6-4.

Top match yesterday in the men's competition was Briton Paul Hutchins' upset over top-seeded Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.



HARDLY THE MOMENT FOR A CHAT

In a show of bravery, Spanish bullfighter Manuel Benitez, known as "The Cordobes," came face to face with his opponent recently at the Saragossa bullring in Spain. To the delight of the crowd, he grabbed the bull by the horns and looked him straight in the eyes. (UPI Telephoto)

Marin To Host DeAnza

The Tars, whose season record stands at a single win against five losses, have every right being down psychologically after what happened to them a week ago in Vallego. Not only did they lose to the lowly Solano College Falcons, 30-21, but in the process six players from the Kentfield team were ejected from the game.

Tar coach Dick Read, who in 14 years coaching at Marin had a total of three players thrown out of games prior to last Saturday, officially protested the game this week to the Bay Area Collegiate Officials Association.

The protest was denied, however, by association director Bob Fitzhenry of Drake High School, who told Read that since no films were taken of the game, there was nothing the association could do. Read said, "Once a decision like this is made there isn't anything we can do about it."

There may not be much the Tars can do about De Anza, either. The Dons have won only two of four games this year, but they have been playing without star quarterback Jay Cruz, out since September with a broken foot.

Cruz, who directed the Dons to a 28-20 win over Marin last year, will be in the starting lineup tomorrow. How lucky can the Tars get?

To make matters worse, the Tars have come down with the flu en masse, and at least three players — end Wendel McReynolds, defeusive back Homer Hall and tackle Doug Best — are listed as doubtful starters because of it.

Halfback Pat Green also may not see action due to a hip pointer.

Read is not too optimistic, but he says, "I've got a good feeling about this one. The team's been working hard, and you can't ask for more than that."

Flood Indicates He May Sign Contract

NEW YORK (UPI) — Curt Flood indicated today that he may be the first reluctant signer of a $100,000 major league baseball contract.

The 32-year-old outfielder, who sat out the 1970 season while he challenged the reserve clause in the courts, learned Thursday that Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will not approve the contract Flood is negotiating with the Washington Senators if it does not include the reserve clause.

"I still think the reserve clause stinks," commented Flood. "But, frankly, like everybody else, I've had some business reverses and I need the money."

Flood said that Bob Short, owner of the Senators, "offered me more money ($100,000) to play with the Senators next year than I get ($90,000) for playing with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1969." His continuing negotiations with Short suggest he might reluctantly sign a standard contract with the Senators while, at the same time, continuing to challenge the reserve clause.

Kuhn indicated such a compromise was possible when he said Flood could continue to play and still sue because the district judge had said it wouldn't affect the case.

"I resitate to put myself in the position of speculating what the appeal court might say," Kuhn replied when asked if the court might rule the case no longer relevant if Flood plays under a standard contract.

Kuhn also said the Senators would not have to send a player to the Philadelphia Phillies for the privilege of negotiating with Flood if they do not reach an agreement with him. Short indicated during the World Series that he would send a player to the Phillies just for the privilege of negotiating with Flood.

Flood started his suit after refusing to report to the Phillies after being traded by the Cardinals. The Supreme Court ruled in 1922 that baseball was not inter-state commerce and not subject to anti-trust laws. The ruling has not been overturned over the years, although the definition of interstate commerce has widened.

Flood, who left his current home in Copenhagen to negotiate with Short, said he had "been under tremendous pressure for the past year while fighting the suit.

"Things are going so bad for me now," he chuckled, "that it would be just my luck to jump out of a window and live."

TOUGH DAY FOR JACK

Aaron In Golf Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Tommy Aaron has a 64 for the lead in the $100,000 Sahara Invitational and Jack Nicklaus is 12 strokes back, but the defending champion hasn't given up yet.

Nicklaus has won this event four times.

He got off to a bad start in Thursday's first round when he shot a five-over-par 76 on Paradise Valley Country Club course with a set of borrowed clubs. Nicklaus' caddy had his and didn't show up with them on time.

Aaron, 33, a smiling Georgian, shot a first round 32-32 for a two-stroke edge over Don January, the grizzled Texan, and Joe Carr, the New Englander who now calls Honolulu home. January shot 33-33 at Sahara-Nevada Country Club. Carr played the same layout in 32-34—66. Par at both courses is 36-35—71.

Nicklaus had one birdie and six bogeys on his card of 37-39 —76 and he was still able to smile. He recalled that he took a 77 on one round when he won the Sahara in 1966.

In today's second round of the tournament, which ends Sunday, Nicklaus had his own clubs back and a new caddy.

Of the starting field of 160, 57 broke or matched par on a balmy day in the first round. There was little wind and the sun was bright with temperatures near 76.

Larry Hinson and Roy Pace, a couple of young pros, shot 67s and there were 11 in the 63 bracket including former Sahara winner Chi Chi Rodriguez, Tom Shaw, Terry Dill, Pete Brown, John Miller and Kermit Zarley.

There were a few name pros over par. Ken Still, winner of the Kaiser Open last weekend, took a 72 at Paradise. Frank Beard shot a 73 at Sahara-Nevada. Doug Sanders, Sahara awinner in 1959, shot a 74, three winner in 1959, shot a 74, three won the title in 1961, had a 73.

Aaron, winner of the Atlantic Classic last May, had nine birdies and two bogeys on his card of 32-32. He sank a 22-foot putt, a 17-footer and a couple of 15-footers.

"I hit a lot of good irons," he mused. "I hit the ball close to the hole. Of course, you got to get it in even when you hit it close."

Unknown In Dunlop Golf Lead

Beames shot a four under par 68 for a total of 137 in the $28,000 event.

A stroke behind were Lee Trevino of the United States, Gary Player of South Africa, Graham Marsh of Australia and Guy Wolstenholme of Britain.

FIRES 66

Trevino charged to a six under par 66 which broke the course record by a stroke.

"I'm going to stick with that small ball," he said later. "In fact, I'm going to use it in preference to the big American ball when I play in the World Cup in Buenos Aires in two weeks. I don't think you can win a tournament using a big ball if the other players are using the small ball."

Trevino was often astray with his driving but managed to play a number of remarkable recovery shots. He dropped a 20-footer for a birdie at the ninth and a 35-footer for another birdie at the 11th.

Player posted a 67 which included five birdies and the little South African later described it as "a fantastic round."

NO ZIP

Tony Jacklin complained there was no zip in his shots after finishing with a 71 for a total of 146.

Arnold Palmer came charging back to pick up two birdies and an eagle on the back nine to finish with an even par round of 72 after being three over after the sixth hole. He had a two round total of 143.

"I drove badly, the worst I've driven it for seven or eight years," Palmer said. "That wind was pretty wicked this afternoon."

Warriors Take On The Bulls

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It is difficult to believe but the San Francisco Warriors host the easiest of four opponents in their current home stand tonight when they meet the Chicago Bulls, 8 o'clock in civic auditorium.

The revamped Bulls, who are 4-2 and third in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division, bank on regulars Jerry Sloan, Chet Walker and Bob Love with rookie Jimmy Collins and newcomers Jim Fox and Matt Guokas supplying the reserve power.

During the current homestand, the Warriors, who have already dropped a decision to the Philadelphia 76ers (7-2), also go against the defending National Basketball Association champion New York Knicks (8-2) and Baltimore Bullets (4-3).

The Knicks and Bullets lead the Atlantic and Central divisions, respectively, while the 76ers are second in the Atlantic ond Bulls third in the Midwest.

Series Loot Is Divided Up; 18 Grand For Each Oriole

NEW YORK (UPI) — For destroying the Big Red Machine, each member of the world champion Baltimore Orioles is richer by $18,215.78.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Thursday the amounts of the shares earned by the victorious Orioles and vanquished Cincinnati Reds. The Reds, beaten in five games, took home $13,687.59 each.

DECREASE

Both figures represented a decrease from the amounts earned by the members of the 1969 champion New York Mets and the losing Orioles. The drop was attributed to a decrease in attendance in both the post-season playoffs and the Series. Members of the champion Mets earned $18,338.18 while each of the 1969 Orioles took home $14,904.21.

In 1969, the playoffs drew 274,001 and the Series 272,378 for a total of 546,379. This year, the playoffs drew 194,867 and the Series 253,183 for a total of 448,379.

The Orioles gave out 31 full shares and $10,200 in cash awards while the Reds awarded 32 shares plus $7,550 in cash awards. The Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost the National League playoff to the Reds, had 31 shares with $8,400 in cash awards and the Minnesota Twins, who were beaten by the Orioles in the American League playoff, gave 32 full shares with $6,950 in cash awards. The top three teams in each of the four divisions share in the playoff and Series receipts.

PIRATES, TWINS

Shares for members of the Pirates amounted to $5,913.49 while each of the Twins received $5,901.47.

The shares for the second place teams were: New York Yankees $1,179.11; Oakland A's $1,272.34; Chicago Cubs $1 064.64; Los Angeles $1,108.75.

The third place teams received: California $923.55; Boston $267.86; New York Mets $278.68; San Francisco $267.84.

Time To Get Cracking, Says Madden

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders face an old nemesis Sunday in Kansas City, the Super Bowl champion Chiefs, and as Coach John Madden sees it, it's time to get cracking.

The Raiders, who have come on strong of late after a wretched 0-2-1 start, have won three straight and will have to keep going if they are to survive in the American Football Conference battle.

But it's not going to be easy. In addition to two games with the Chiefs and one each with Denver and San Diego in its own division, Oakland must face Cleveland, Detroit and San Francisco. Those three teams have a cumulative record of 13-4-1.

Madden says there is one advantage of playing the Chiefs. "We don't have to spend a lot of time with the movies to get the players acquainted with the Chiefs.

"The last two weeks, we've been preparing for teams we haven't known much about (Washington and Pittsburgh)," he said. "But we know all about the Chiefs. For awhile last season, it seemed we were meeting them every other week."

In two late regular season meetings, the Raiders defeated Kansas City, 27-24 and 10-6, but lost the big one, the AFL championship to the Chiefs, 17-7.

Bonavena Readies For Clay With An Easy TKO Victory

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Oscar "Ringo" Bonavena, who must look Cassius Clay in the eye before the year is up, hardly ruffled his curly hair Thursday night as he pounded Brazilian Luis Fuastino Pires senseless for the third time in their three fights.

"I wasn't too worried after the third round," said the gabby Argentine.

It was no wonder.

Bonavena's vicious left hook to the Brazilian's head in the third had the loser so groggy that he couldn't defend himseld and the referee forced Pires to take an eight count, even though he didn't go down. The blow opened a bloody cut over the right eye.

Pires' seconds threw in the towel for the TKO with two minutes and 40 seconds gone in the fourth round for Bonavena's 44th victory in 53 fights, and his 35th by knockout.

Bonavena, ranked No. 1 contender for Joe Frazier's heavyweight crown by the World Boxing Association (WBA), said that he is unofficially scheduled to meet former champ Clay somewhere in the United States on Dec. 7. But he said the date is not concrete yet.

(Boxing circles in the U.S. reported that negotiations were underway for sites such as Cleveland, Boston, Miami and Atlanta).

The 28-year-old Bonavena, who owns a chain of men's clothing stores and sometimes sings and dances in a nightclub act, said Clay is "the big chance" and he will train seriously for the fight.

He said earlier this week he always has had respect for Clay and was impressed with Clay's easy victory over Californian Jerry Quarry in Atlanta, Ga., last Monday night.

The loss was the sixth in 22 fights for the Brazilian — three of them at the hands of Bonavena.

Bonavena weighed 207 to 210 for Pires.

Washington Probably Out Of Packer Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — As Sunday's encounter with Green Bay draws near, it appears more likely that San Francisco's Gene Washington, the No. 1 pass catcher in the National Football Conference, will miss the game.

Washington, who has a pulled hamstring muscle, was unable to participate in full-go workouts Thursday and Coach Dick Nolan has indicated that he'll keep his ace pass catcher out for at least another day.

If Washington is unavailable for duty, either Jimmy Thomas, a wide receiver in college but a running back with the 49ers, or rookie Preston Riley will fill in for Washington.

Seals To Host Sabres Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) — The California Golden Seals, inching ever so close to their first National Hockey League victory of the season, take their 0-7-2 record against the expansion Buffalo Sabres tonight.

In their last two contests, both on the road, the Seals dropped a close 3-2 decision in St. Louis and battled to a 2-2 deadlock in New York.

Buffalo comes into the Oakland Arena with a 2-6-1 mark, good enough for fifth place in the NHL East.

Tamalpais Cross Country Runners Assured Of Title

Tamalpais High School's cross country team clinched at least a tie for the Marin County Athletic League championship yesterday with a 19-36 victory over San Rafael High School.

And in the process, Tam's Mike Arago set a new Tamalpais course record by running the 3-mile course in 15:21.6, breaking Novato's Ron Elija's record by 21 seconds.

The victory closed out Tam's dual meet season and gave the Indian runners a record of five wins, no losses and one tie. Novato, the team which tied Tam, is also undefeated but has one more match remaining.

A secret recipe. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Carl Beam, Master Distiller, is just as particular about the ingredients that go into his Bourbon as his wife is about the fruits and vegetables she puts up for winter. That's because Carl is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

FISH AND GAME

A Fantastic Day Of Fly Fishing

By AL GIDDINGS

SMITH RIVER, Del Norte County — An unbelievable day of fly fishing!

A 42½-pound salmon for Pete Valconesi and a 37-pounder for Marty Medin, both males; a 33½-pound female for me and a 29¼-pound female for Steve Truttman. All on flies. Each salmon larger than any each of us had caught before. It's fantastic!

Last Monday Marty Medin of Woodacre, Pete Valconesi and Steve Truttman of Point Reyes, and I took off for the Smith River in Del Norte County, never realizing that we were to hit the jackpot.

WE CAME UP in two trucks plus my car, bringing along four small boats, the one-man boats for the fly fisherman, which are very maneuverable and light for easy launching, and give you enough room to move around in while battling a fish.

It was a 350-mile trip, taking most of the day. We had about an hour to look over the river, trying to figure where we would go the next morning.

Up at 4 a.m., then out to the river. We were there first, so we launched all the boats, rowing out to a spot above a very deep hole off a gravel beach where we anchored. Nothing moved, no fish were jumping, nothing looked exciting. We fished about an hour and Valonesi caught a small chub salmon, about a four-pounder.

THEN IT HAPPENED! Truttman yelled, "fish on!" About an hour later we saw him land his fish, and when he held it up from downstream, it sure looked big!

(When a fish is hooked, the angler pulls the boat anchor, rows ashore as best he can, holding the rod with his knees or in one hand. It's not easy!)

The biggest fish Truttman had ever taken in five years of fishing the Smith River was a 27½-pounder, and that was three years ago; so you can see that he was pretty happy. And then Marty hooked one! Oh, brother, did he have a time, and when he landed it, all 37¼-pounds of it, he just about passed out!

ABOUT THIS time, I feel a hit, set the hook, and being the first time fishing for king salmon on the Smith, I wonder what is going to happen. If I lift anchor, row the boat to the beach and hold the rod with my knees I figure I would be in the drink. So Marty, who is in a happy mood, came over, pulled my anchor and took me to shore.

Then it was up and down the river with my fish. Once it took off down the rapids to the next hole. Using a No. 6 fly, a golden comet, tied to a 12-pound test leader just scares you no end at times. And people! I had 20 people following me down the river, advice from every angle. I just knew that fish would get off!

TIME PASSES . . . I fret . . . get impatient with Marty when he says maybe it's foul hooked. Good grief! Then I'd have to release it. It's illegal to keep a snagged fish. Then finally it came close, and we see that it's mouth hooked, and we're all happy. Finally we land it, probably one-quarter of a mile below where it was hooked.

Then Pete hooks his big one. Can you imagine landing a 42½-pound fresh salmon on a fly with 12-pound test line? Well, Pete did! His largest previous fish had been a 31-pound, 12-ounce fish, and Marty's 29-12. Mine was probably a little old 12-pounder from Papermill Creek in Inverness.

SO HERE WE were, with four fish weighing a total of more than 142 pounds. We took the fish to the "Ship Ashore," a sportsmen's hangout here. Pete got a 40-50 pound trophy pin for his fish, and Marty and I got 30-40-pound trophy pins for ours. Pete's fish was the second of the year registered for the green and silver pin. A 58-pounder had been previously registered, but it was not taken on a fly.

YOU KNOW, we fished the rest of the day with little action. Oh, Pete caught a 25-pounder after his big one, but released it! We figured he was blowing his stack. We fished until nearly 5 p.m. — almost a 12-hour day of casting a fly. Beat? We were exhausted!

I stayed in bed this morning but those three went fishing while I'm writing this article. But just writing about it is giving me the fever.

Where's my fishing rod?

Novato To Host Drake

The Novato High School Hornets and the Drake Pirates, neither of whom figure any longer in the Marin County Athletic League football race, meet tomorrow afternoon, probably to determine third place, at 1 p.m. at Novato High School's field.

This game, originally scheduled to be played tomorrow night at San Rafael, has to be rated a tossup. Both teams have lost two games in league play (Novato is 1 - 2, Drake is even at 2 - 2), and both have suffered from the same malady - difficulty in reaching the end zone. Novato is averaging only six points a game, the Pirates just nine.

WINNERS

But both teams are coming off wins and should be "Up" for this one. Drake downed Tamalpais last week, 10 - 6, while Novato edged Salesian of Oakland, 10 -7 in a non-league bottle.

Offensively, the game will pit the rushing of Drake's John Loan, Steve Hale and Tom MacAusland against the passing of Novato's Marty Moroski.

"I think he's the key to their ball club," Drake coach Bob Franceschini said of Moroski, who will be throwing to, among others, split ends Jack Straw and Dave Judnick.

INJURIES

Healthwise, Novato is in better shape, with no serious injuries, according to Scott. But Drake is less than 100 per cent. Franceshini announced on Wednesday that offensive guard Don Seward and halfback Jim Dominguez are both out for the season. Seward suffered a compound fracture of a thumb last week, and Dominguez reinjured a bad ankle.

Radio station KTIM (1510 AM) will carry the game live, with Bob Dinsmore doing the play-by-play.

Junior Hornets' Chance To Tie In Warner Grid

The Novato Junior Hornets go into this last weekend of the Marin County Pop Warner Football League season with a chance to tie the Terra Linda Junior Trojans for the league championship.

The Trojans finished their league schedule last week with a 4 - 0 - 1 record, which the Hornets could equal by defeating Drake Sunday in a 3 p.m. game at Novato High School.

In other season-ending league games Sunday, The San Rafael Junior Bulldogs meet the Redwood Junior Giants in Larkspur, and the Tamalpais Junior Indians host the San Marin Junior Mustangs in Mill Valley.

Terra Linda closes its season with a non-league game against San Carlos in Terra Linda.

LIKE LION STALKING A DEER

Trojans Cautious Of Redwood

The Terra Linda High School Trojans approach tomorrow's Marin County Athletic League football game against Redwood cautiously, much in the way a lion stalks a deer. The only question is how long the fight on the Larkspur School's field will last.

The odds are that the Trojans, undefeated in league play with four wins, will roll past the winless Giants and into a confrontation for the championship next week with San Rafael. Gametime tomorrow is 2 o'clock.

But Terra Linda coach Don Lucas is still not overly confident. "I'd rather play a team that's 6-0 than one that's 6-6," he says. He notes also that Redwood's whole season is directed toward beating his team, and, in addition to that, the game will be Redwood's homecoming.

With quarterback Larry Kerr and tailback Matt Bowman leading the way, the Trojans ran at will against San Marin in a 21-15 win last week, and should have little difficulty doing the same against the Giants.

"I know they're the toughest team we're going to play this year," says Redwood coach Phil Roark. "They're aggressive and they've got good size up front."

As if things weren't bad enough for Redwood, the Giants lost two players on one play during scrimmage Tuesday. Senior Gary Schunk, middle linebacker and offensive guard, suffered a slight neck fracture and was hospitalized, ending his high school football playing days.

Shunk suffered the injury when he slammed into quarterback Bob Brown, a junior, with Brown suffering a cracked rib. He will be out at least a week, and possibly the season. Schunk is in a body cast.

The Giants will also go without fullback Andy Anixter, who is out indefinitely with a hurt ankle, while the Trojans' will operate with a badly decimated defensive backfield. Mike Sanderson, Guy Rodriguez and Rob Mackey are all on the injured list.

Sonoma State Favored Over S. F. State

The Sonoma State College Cossacks, riding the crest of a three-game winning streak, will be favored to make it four tomorrow afternoon when they host the San Francisco State Gators at 2 p.m. at Bailey Field in Santa Rosa.

After dropping their first two games, the Cossacks from Rohnert Park have defeated Azusa Pacific, University of California at Davis and last week Oregon Tech 21-20 at Klamath Falls, Ore. S.F. State, on the other hand, has suffered six losses without a win.

Sonoma State coach Carl Peterson regards the Gators with caution. "We have the utmost respect for San Francisco State," he says. "We know that any team (coach) Vic Rowen puts on the field will be tough."

But the Gators, who dominated the Far Western Conference in the sixties, have been anything but thought this year. Their strong suit seems to be their kicking game. Punter John Jarvis is averaging 37 yards a kick.

Sonoma State, on the other hand, has been a pleasant surprise in this, only their first year of varsity competition. Freshman quarterback Ernie Simon has sparked the offense, last week throwing three touchdown passes. Two of them went to split end Jack Trujillo, who also caught three other passes.

Another hero last week, and one of the reasons the Cossacks are improving on defense each game, is freshman safety Bob Sears of Novato, who grabbed three interceptions.

PRIDE AT STAKE

Marin Catholic Vs. Tam

Nothing but pride will be at stake tomorrow when the Tamalpais High School Indians and the Marin Catholic High School Wildcats clash in a non-league football game at 1:30 p.m. in Kentfield.

The Indians of Mill Valley have little to lose except their pride; they've dropped three straight Marin County Athletic League games after winning their opener.

The Wildcats, however, stand to gain some pride, as well as stature that may gain them reentry into the MCAL, from which they bowed out two years ago after serving for years as the league's doormat.

An upset of previously unbeaten St. Patrick's of Vallejo last Saturday night put coach Rev. John Heaney's crew over the .500 mark with a three-win, two-loss record, and they can be counted on to be up for Tam. "The kids are enthusiastic. It's the big one for them," Heaney said Wednesday.

The pressure, however, will be on the Indians, who are coming off a tough, 10-6 loss to Drake. Marin Catholic hasn't beaten an MCAL team in eight years, and the Indians would just as soon not break with precedent.

Both Tam and Marin Catholic are predominently running teams, but the key will probably be whether Tam can stop the Wildcats' passing attack. Quarterback Steve Sherry, who is brilliant when he is right, was right last week, throwing two touchdown passes through the stingy St. Pat's defense.

The Wildcats' rushing attack is carried by fullback Pat Parnow and tailback Mark Lewis, who together are averaging 150 yards per game. Tam's workhorses are Bil Washington, who twice this year has gained more than 100 yards, and Clifford Hall, who is also a super defensive back, averaging an interception a game.

Seniors Golf Reaches Semis

Jordan and Mercer were each credited Thursday with upsets.

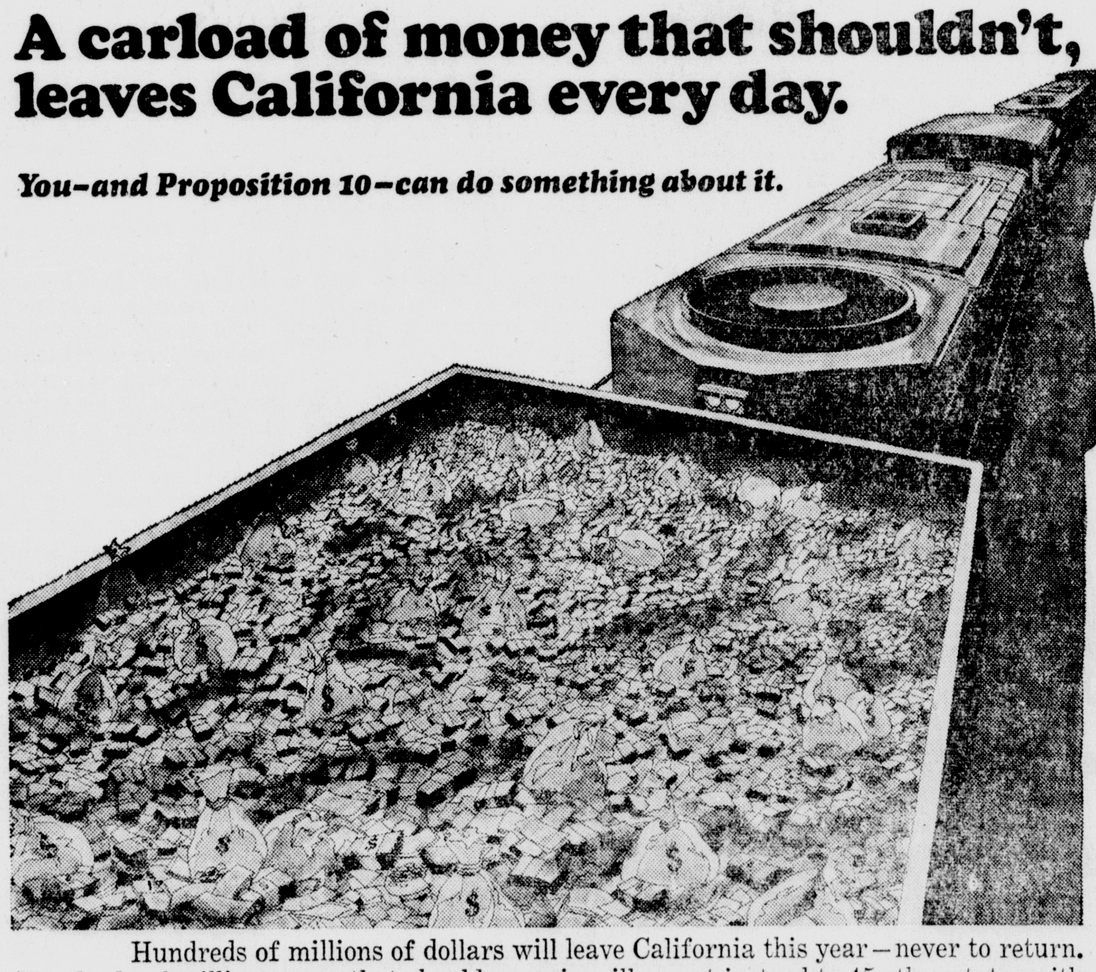
You—and Proposition 10—can do something about it.



Hundreds of millions of dollars will leave California this year—never to return. Hundreds of millions more that should come in will go out instead to 45 other states with more modern laws. About ¾ of a billion dollars in all that should be spent here for new construction—generating thousands of new jobs.

Why?

Because large business loans can earn far more interest in almost every other state in the nation. That's why New York passed a law like Proposition 10 way back in 1850.

Proposition 10 will put an end to this money drain. And do it without costing you a penny or affecting the interest you pay in any way. (In fact, it might even lower it in the long run.)

How can Proposition 10 guarantee this?

Because it only applies to loans over $100,000, made to corporations and partnerships. The kind of loans so vital to the construction industry.

The State Legislature passed Proposition 10 unanimously and Governor Reagan signed it. Former Governor Brown supports it. So do business and labor unions. But their endorsement can't make it law without your YES.

Your YES on 10 November 3rd will keep California money here, where it'll do the most good.

Paid for by Californians for Yes on 10.

Can-Am Finale Sunday

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — The finale of the 10-race Canadian-American Challenge Cup series — the 13th annual Times Grand Prix — is set Sunday with New Zealand's Denis Hulme and the revolutionary Chaparral 2J expected to duel for top money in the $100,000 event.

QUALIFYING

Two days of qualifying got under way today over Riverside International Raceway's 3.3-mile, 9-trn road course.

Hulme, the No. 1 driver on Team McLaren, already has wrapped up the Can-Am series this year with 112 points. That's more than twice the total earned by the No. 2 driver, Lothar Motschenbacher, who has 57.

But Jim Hall's controversial Chaporral figures to give Hulme's orange-colored Group 7 racer all it can handle.

In the ninth race of the series at Laguna Seca two weeks ago, the radical Chaparral "vacuum sweeper" set a course record of 116.327 miles per hour in qualifying. But driver Vic Elford, an Englishman, blew an engine in practice and had to miss the race.

Hulme, the defending champion here, had the fastest time of 123.109 miles per hour as 15 cars took the course for the opening of practice Thursday.

SECOND BEST

The Chaparral had the next best time of 120.977 while Chris Amon of New Zealand was clocked in 120.609 and Hulme's Team McLaren teammate, Peter Gethin, timed in at 119.758.

If the Chaparral wins at Riverside, it could be the last race for Hall's revolutionary machine. There is talk of declaring it illegal because the car utilizes a pair of rear fans to help hold it on the ground.

Two Upset Wins At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI) — Stymied and Shining Bus scored upset wins Thursday in the Tyro and Marina-Pacific purses, the twin features at Bay Meadows.

Stymied, with Paul Caballero aboard, pulled away from Mr. Forsman in the stretch to score by two and a half lengths in the Tyro. Stymied covered the mile in 1.36 4-5 and paid $24.60 to win.

In the Marina-Pacific, Juan Gonzalez brought Shining Bush from last place to circle his field and win by three quarters of a length going away. Shining Bush sped the six furlongs in 1.08 4-5 and paid $12.20 to win.

Delvecchio Joins Elite NHL Group

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Delvecchio became only the sixth player in National Hockey League history to score 400 goals Thursday night and then broke a 3-3 tie with his 401st regular season tally in leading the Detroit Red Wings to a fight-filled 5-3 win over Boston, The Burins' first loss.

The only other NHL action saw the Philadelphia Flyers move back into a second place tie in the West Division with the idle St. Louis Blues on a 3-1 comeback win over the Los Angeles Kings.

"Gordie stays up there with Alex and Frank Mahovlich," said new Coach Ned Harkness in abandoning his shift of the 42-year-old Howe to defense. "It's like taking Alex's right hand away from him when Gordie isn't playing on the line."

Howe, who added his 767th goal later in the third period, made his 1,000th assist on Delvecchio's fifth goal this season at 5:38 of the final period. Howe now has five goals this season.

75,000 EXPECTED AT STANFORD

It Just Might Be Deciding Weekend In Pacific-8 Race

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

UCLA, its season shattered by Stanford last Saturday, shoots for respectability against poor Washington State tonight while kicking off the weekend that could just about decide the 1970 Pacific 8 Conference football race.

The Bruins, 2-2 in the league race and 4-3 overall, lost to the front-running Indians, 9-7, last week in what coach Tommy Prothro called "our best game of the year."

Against the Cougars, 0-3 and 1-6, they are meeting the league's poorest team. Prothro and the Bruins haven't exactly given up all hope for the Pac-8 title because they figure Stanford has three tough customers left in Oregon State, Washington and improving California.

"Our chances are almost but not quite non existent," Prothro said after the Stanford loss. "But you never know about this game. Strange things happen."

Stanford, at 4-0, is the odds-on-favorite to make it all the way, unless it meets a stumbling block in Oregon State this Saturday.

The men who make the odds don't think any such thing is possible. They are so sure they refuse to quote any odds on the game.

The Beavers rely a lot on the running of fullback Dave Schilling, the league's second leading ground gainer with 634 yards, and a defense which features a six man line, a bit out of style in these days of defensive front fours.

While Stanford is hosting OSU, California is in Los Angeles against deflated USC and Oregon is at Washington. Oregon is 4-1 in the league race, California and USC are 2-2 and Washington is 1-2.

In the odds, USC is picked by 13 points over California and the Oregon-Washington game is listed as being even.

California coach Ray Willsey, despite an impressive 45-0 victory over Washington State last week, is apprehensive about the Trojans.

In the PCAA, Fresno State (3-0) plays at San Diego State (2-0), ranked 14th nationally, in the game which could decide the conference title. Fresno is 6-1 overall and has scored 194 points while the Aztecs are 6-0 and have scored 199.

In the other games involving PCAA schools, San Jose State hosts Utah, Long Beach State is at home to Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, Pacific is at UC Santa Barbara and Los Angeles State is at Hawaii.

Today is Friday, Oct. 30, the 303rd day of 1970.

The moon is new.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio.

On this day in history:

In 1941 a German submarine torpedoed and sank an American destroyer, the Reuben James, although the United States was not at war.

In 1948 an Army transport arrived in New York City from Germany with the first refugees to enter the United States under the Displaced Persons Act.

In 1965 48 South Vietnamese were killed accidentally when the wrong area was bombed by American planes.

A thought for today: American playwright George Michael Cohan said, "No matter what may happen, whatever may befall, I only know that I'm mighty glad to be living, that is all."

Total Retail Sales Are Reported Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department estimates last week's total retail sales throughout the nation were $6.9 billion, down 1 per cent from the week before.

Sales were down in most categories, except for service stations; lumber, building, hardware and farm equipment dealers; and eating and drinking establishments.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Worry About Brilliant Opponents; They're Like You

Pay careful attention to the advice that follows, because this is the only bridge column in the world that gives you the straight stuff: Stop what you're doing at the bridge table, now and then, to take a good look at your opponents. If you think you can get away with it, try pinching them. The idea is to convince yourself that they're the same fair-to-middling players you've known for years; they haven't suddenly become geniuses. This simple procedure helps you with the kind of hand shown today.

UNHAPPY RUFF

East overtook the queen of spades and continued the suit. East then led a third high spade, and South unhappily ruffed with the ten of hearts.

West was delighted to overruff with the queen of hearts, and South had to lose a club trick sooner or later. Down one.

South agonized at the third trick before he ruffed with the ten of hearts. He went through the familiar pantomine of a deep thinker doing his stuff, but he simply wasn't thinking about the right thing. If South had looked to his right he would have seen that East was a retired businessman who made his last good play at the bridge table in 1958.

OFFER CHANCE

South's best plan for the hand is to offer East the chance to make a mistake. Instead of ruffing the third spade South should discard the three of clubs.

East would look at dummy's diamond weakness and would automatically switch to a diamond, hoping to develop a diamond trick for his partner. Now South could win the diamond and lead out the ace and king of trumps to make the contract.

BRILLIANT MOVE

It's quite true that a brilliant East might see that the third round of spades had given South something to think about; that if South's trumps were solid he would ruff the third spade and go about his own plans. So a brilliant East would lead a fourth spade, and South would then have the chance to agonize about how to ruff.

Tell the truth now: How many players in your game are brilliant enough to lead a fourth spade in this situation?

VTR Recovering From Suspension

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. About two years ago I took a "flyer" in VTR, Inc. After a dazzling performance, the stock was suspended from trading on the ASE. I understand that the company's chances for weathering the storm have improved. Any information you can give me will be appreciated. — C.M.

A. Having successfully weathered an eight-month trading suspension in 1965-66, VTR may again be able to turn operations around. In midsummer VTR secured three loan extensions to 1980 on debts aggregating $7 million. In return the three noteholders were given the right to elect 60 per cent of VTR's directors and warrants to purchase 60 per cent of the company's stock. Sales for the first half of 1970 were $14.4 million compared with $18.6 million the year earlier. A $1.1 million deficit, equal to $0.39 a share, was also reported for the period. Take available loss for tax purposes.

Q. Would you explain the disadvantages of buying stocks in "odd lots"? Because of the penalties involved, I have been advised not to buy less than 100 shares of any one issue. What are these extra fees? — P. F.

A. On major exchanges most stock transactions involving less than 100 shares are not traded by auction. They are handled by odd lot dealers who buy or sell at the next round lot price after receipt of order, plus or minus an odd lot differential. In addition, a service fee of $15 or 50 per cent of the commission, whichever is less, is charged on all stock orders of 1,000 shares or less.

Most of the anthraci6e coal mined in the United States comes from Pennsylvania.

RENAULT 16 FOR 1971

California Case To Get Supreme Court Review

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has agreed to review a lower court ruling that California may not cut off unemployment insurance payments to a worker whenever his former employer files an appeal.

The court will hear arguments in the case later this term and will follow with a written opinion.

The California Department of Human Resources Development appealed to the Supreme Court after losing a "class action" brought in the U.S. District Court for Northern California by the Contra Costa Legal Services Foundation of Richmond, Calif.

Three federal judges found that California's unemployment insurance laws violated the U.S. Social Security Act by halting benefit payments to about 5,000 eligible workers annually because of employers' appeals.

In a brief filed by California Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch, the state contended California employers would lose up to $800,000 a year if the lower court decision is not reversed.

Cautious Tone Marks Light Day

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices closed mixed in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange today. Analysts said the dull session reflected general pre-weekend caution and a lack of external incentive.

Shortly before the final bell, the Dow Jones Industrial Average was up 2.05 at 755.61. But of the 1,577 issues crossing the tape, 745 declined and 514 advanced.

Turnover amounted to around 10,250,000 shares, compared with 10,440,000 shares Thursday.

Closing prices included: Am T & T 43 3-8 up 1-2; Beth St 21 up 1-4; Chrysler 24 1-2; DuPont 117 1-8 up 5-8; Ford 49 3-4; Gen El 86 up 1-8; Gen Motors 70 3-8 up 3-4; and IBM 294 off 3 1-4.

Electronics moved in both directions, although selected issues in the group came under marked selling pressure as a result of poor third quarter earnings reports.

Other leading stock groups including steels, oils, chemicals and motors also moved on both sides of previous closings.

Among thenday's most active issues were International Paper, Fairchild Camera, and University Computing. The last two reported losses for the third quarter.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

American Reserve, Penny To Merge

Directors of J. C. Penney Co., Inc., New York and the Great American Reserve Corp. of Dallas, Texas have approved agreements of a proposed merger on the basis of 51 per cent of a share of Penney common stock for each outstanding share of Great American common stock.

If Great American stockholders approve and other conditions are fulfilled, including receipt of a tax ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, the merger should be consummated by the end of the year.

Penney will open three new stores in November, increasing its retail space by more than 500,000 square feet. One store is in San Diego. Two other units in Riverside and Sherman, Texas are relocations to larger buildings.

DEL MONTE CORP. has agreed in principle with United Brands Co. (formerly United Fruit Co.) to acquire United's Guatemala banana operation. The transaction will not be completed until 1972, when the acquisition will more than double Del Monte's banana marketing. Del Monte's net income for the third quarter was 36 cents per share, compared to 20 cents for the same period in 1969.

PACIFIC SOUTHWEST AIRLINES has been granted permission by the California Public Utilities Commission to begin flight service from Long Beach to San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and San Diego. Plans are to begin with four flights daily from Long Beach to San Francisco - and possibly flights to Oakland later. Pacific Southwest has reported third quarter earnings of $1,695,000 on revenues of $27.1 million, compared to $1,229,000 on revenues of $21.3 million during the 1969 period.

DR. PEPPER CO. will increase its fourth quarter dividend to 9 cents per share from 7.5 cents per share, payable Dec. 1. In the nine months ended Sept. 30 earnings after taxes were $4.3 million compared with $3.6 million in the same period last year.

SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. opened its 12th department store in the Bay Area this week in San Bruno. Two others are under construction and will be opened next year in Santa Cruz and East San Jose. A store in the Northgate area, Marin County is projected for 1972.

DYMO INDUSTRIES, INC., Berkeley reported first quarter sales of $18.1 million compared to $17 million during the 1969 period. But net income was 11 cents per share, compared to 26 cents per share last year, attributed to depressed market conditions.

STANDARD OIL CO. of California third quarter earnings were $116.8 million or $1.38 per share, compared with $111.5 or $1.31 per share in 1969. Net income for the first nine months was $327.9 million or $3.87 per share, compared with $340.3 million $4.01 per share for the comparable period of 1969.

FIDELITY SAVINGS and Loan Association has opened its first office in Santa Clara County on Blossom Hill Road in South San Jose. Fidelity, third largest savings and loan association in Northern California, has assets of over $400 million.

U.S. STEEL CORP. earnings for the third quarter were $33.6 million or 62 cents per common share. Nine months income was $108.5 million or $2 per share, compared to $150.9 million or $2.79 per share for the first nine months of 1969.

HYATT INTERNATIONAL CORP. of Burlingame and Mercantile Industries, Inc. of Chicago have agreed to merge. Hyatt International is engaged in the development and management of hotels outside the continental United States. Mercantile Industries operates a 53-year old national finance company and a casualty insurance company, which will remain as subsidiaries of the new Hyatt International.

ROBERT PEDERSON of Lucas Valley received tribute the other day from the Golden Gate chapter of the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers "for the affection and esteem held for him by fellow members of the heating and air conditioning industry. But the testimony was somewhat diluted when his partner Lawrence E. Shea in Shea Equipment Co. of San Francisco received a certificate as Saint of the Year "for his patience and forebearance" in putting up with him.

Five Candidates For Hospital Board Seats

Marin Hospital District voters Tuesday will fill three board vacancies from a slate of five candidates.

Of the three incumbents seeking reelection, only Marion C. Ibach has faced election before. Appointed to the board in 1946, she has successfully fought for her seat five times. Mrs. Ibach, said the other day, she is basing her reelection on past experience and performance.

For directors Thomas E. Proctor and George H. Folsom, the November ballot represents their first opportunity to learn whether district voters approve of their appointments in March 1967 and May 1969 respectively.

Challenging the three are Winston R. McCall, a San Anselmo airline pilot, and Dr. Robert W. Schrier of Mill Valley, an assistant professor of medicine at the University of California Medical Center at San Francisco.

Schrier says he is running because the board has lacked leadership in meeting the problems posed in hospital expansion and community mental health involvement.

Schrier said that he was asked to run for the board by a "group of interested citizens" who feel the hospital board has been "insular and unresponsive" to community needs.

Schrier said he agrees with expansion of the present hospital facility as opposed to creating satellite hospitals but said that expansion has not been thoroughly investigated by the present board. He said the present board has not bothered to approach interested groups and individuals for their opinions of what type of medical services Marin County should be supplied by the hosptial.

Schrier is married and the father of four children.

McCall, 43, says he is running for the hospital district board because he has enough free time to delve adequately into problems faced by the hospital. Listing proposed hospital expansion and the mental health center's relationship with the county's mental health program, McCall says there are questions which have been left unanswered by the current hospital board.

He said he would like to define the center director's responsibility to both the hospital district board and the county board of supervisors.

Also he feels the proposed expansion of the hospital should receive further investigation.

A graduate of Northwestern University, McCall is a real estate speculator when not piloting a plane. The father of three children, he lives at 116 Chapman Place, San Anselmo. Folsom, a retired industrialist says like Mr. Ibach and Proctor, that he rests his reelection on his past experience on the board.

He, like the other incumbents, favors expanding the hospital at its present location as opposed to "fractionalizing services" by building other small hospitals.

Current structuring of the county's mental health program, which greatly involves the hospital district's Community Mental Health Center, is not a final solution, says Folsom, but "it is workable." What is needed, he said, is greater cooperation between the hospital's staff and the county's staff to insure the mental program does not become embroiled in another struggle similar to last year's.

He views the problems which beset the mental health program as stemming from a lack of leadership within the program. The solution, he claims, is the selection of a capable administrator for the hospital district's mental health center. (Following Proctor's statement, Dr. John S. Guerrant was selected to head the center. He was the unanimous choice of both the hospital district board and the county board of supervisors.

Pop Star Admits Adultery Charge

A divorce court granted the decree to Dunbar after Miss Faithfull, a singer and actress, dropped her petition seeking a divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

125th Starfighter Down In Germany

BONN (UPI)—The West German air force lost its 125th F104G Starfighter today. The supersonic aircraft crashed near the Bavarian town of Hilzkirch, the Defense Ministry said.

The pilot of the American-designed plane parachuted to safety.

'After-Fact' Contraceptive Is Under Review By FDA

HOUSTON (UPI) — An "after-the-fact" contraceptive under review by the Food and Drug Administration FDA could be on the U.S. market within three years, a drug company official said Thursday.

Dr. William N. Hubbard Jr., vice president of pharmaceuticals for Upjohn Co., said the drug could have wide-ranging effects on fertility and disease treatment.

Hubbard told the Houston Society of Financial Analysts the pill could be used once a month before the beginning of the menstrual cycle to induce menstruation.

The drug also could be used at any time to induce menstruation by women who fear they have conceived, or as a substitute for surgery in legal abortions during the first three months of pregnancy. The product would induce natural, spontaneous abortion, Hubbard said.

He said the drug still was experimental, but could be on the market in three or four years following FDA testing. The drug, based on prostaglandins also can be used to treat peptic ulcers, thrombosis, high blood pressure, heart and kidney diseases, asthma and arthritis.

A DuPont Seeks Deleware's One Congressional Seat

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI)—"I'm for Daniello," reads a sticker pasted to the dashboard of Pierre S. "Pete" Du Pont's car. It refers to John D. Daniello, the Democratic congressional candidate.

It is there, says the 35-year-old Republican Du Pont, as a "constant reminder I must work, work, work to win this election" to tiny Delaware's one congressional seat.

Pierre's great-great-great grandfather, E. I. Du Pont, founded a great industrial empire from a gunpowder mill on Brandywine Creek in 1802. He is the first Du Pont to seek statewide public office since T. Coleman Du Pont was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1924.

There was another Du Pont in Washington, Col. Henry A. Du Pont, elected by the state legislature to the U.S. Senate in 1906. But he was defeated in 1916 after the state law was changed to elect congressmen by direct popular vote.

Pierre Du Pont, who has been in the Delaware House since 1968, describes himself as a strong Nixon supporter on Indochina and the issues of crime, violence and drugs. He claims to be neither a dove nor a hawk on the war, but a "realist."

Daniello, a county councilman, advocates a planned withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina, thinks polluters should be taxed and is stressing the economic issues, especially unemployment which he estimates at 6.4 per cent in Wilmington.

Du Pont, a mechanical engineer (Princeton '56) and lawyer (Harvard Law '63), knows the DuPont name does not guarantee victory in Delaware. Some people, he says, will vote against him because of it. But he adds "there are a lot of undecideds. There seems to be no real feeling among the people one way or another."

Raids To Free Prisoners Urged

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The founder of the "Remember the Pueblo Committee" has proposed that mercenary commando raids be carried out against North Vietnam to free American prisoners of war.

The Rev Paul D. Lindstrom Thursday told a news conference here that he was given the idea by American military officers whose contingency plans for joint American-South Vietnamese raids had been supposedly vetoed by civilians in Washington.

Lindstrom, a member of the John Birch Society, said he plans to hire foreign mercenaries to carry out the riads.

iLndstrom, who formed his own church in Illinois, said the State Department is "soft" in its approach to Vietnam. He said it has made no "sincere" efforts to free the American prisoners.
